Miss Chandler, Mr. Catlin exchange vows in St. James

With Lula Jones Garret

A vision in white chiffon velvet, satin and lace, Roslyn Rebecca Chandler floated down the aisle of beautiful old St. James Episcopal church, Saturday at noon, to exchange vows with Glascoe Catlin.

The bride is the daughter of Elisha Chandler and the late Mrs. Chandler, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. Ingram. He is an the faculty of School 453, and she is assistant children's librarian at the Pennsylvania avenue branch of Enoch Pratt Library.

Miss Chandler was given in marriage by her father, and her wedding ensemble of velvet, with side paniers of Alecon lace over satin, was completed with a finger-tip veil held by a tiara of pearls, and a white prayer book topped with white orchids.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Phyllis C. Green, as matron of honor and Misses Sylvia Ingram, Etheline Barland, Agnes Williams and Frances Tillman, bridesmaids.

Mrs. Green was gowned in pink velveteen and carried a spray bouquet of blue iris. The bridesmaids, who wore pink velveteen frocks, carried pink carnations. All were head pieces of velveteen to match their dresses.

Albert Alexander was best man, and ushers were Linwood Holman, Francis Green, Elmer Catlin of New York, and Louis C. Grant.

The ceremony was read by Father Cedric Mills. William Parrott was at the organ and Sinclair Swan was soloist.

A reception followed at the Ruxton ave. home of the bride. For the wedding and reception, Mrs. Ingram selected a gown of navy lace. Her corsage was of orchids.

Among out-of-town guests included:

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Chandler, Mrs. Francis Moss, Mrs. Nellie Carter, Miss Elizabeth Armstead, Mr. and Mrs. J. Calloway, all of Richmond, Va.; Miss Margaret Washington and Mrs. Bessie Washington of NYC; Mrs. Viola Ames of Philadelphia.

Miss Doris Volley, Miss Irma Wilkins, Miss Barbara Smith, all Richmond; Mrs. Bertha Watts, NYC, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mathews, Mrs. Cephas Barnes, Mrs. Ruth Harrison, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Catlin of NYC.

MISS CAULK WEDS

Pretty as a picture in pale gray suit, white petal hat, tipped with a rose veil, and yellow rose corsage, Pauline Gaither Caulk became Mrs. Samuel Rodgers, New Year's Eve.

The ceremony, read by the Rev. Reginald Daniels, took place in the home of her mother, Mrs. Annie Caulk, and climaxed the romance that began in August, when the couple met.

Miss Caulk was attended by her sister, Olive, who wore a gown of blue, enhanced with beads and a corsage of red roses. Wallace Blackwell was his brother's best man, and only members of the immediate families were about to witness the ritual and toast the couple in champagne afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackwell will be at home at 1501 N. Bentalou st. after the tenth.

MISS BROWN BRIDE

Miss Delores C. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Stanley was married on Sunday at five o'clock to Richard Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beatrick Cannon.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Octavius Graham of Knox Presbyterian church. Mrs. Thelmas Gamby was soloist.

Miss Edna Johnson attended the bride and Herman Briscoe was the best man.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Josephine Maxwell, for about 80 of their friends.

Miss Brown graduated from the Dunbar high school and attended Morgan State College. Mr. Cannon is a graduate of Douglass High and has recently been released from the Armed Forces after serving for two years in Germany.

The Cannons are residing at 1530 John st.

Miss Anna Laura Lee wed to Joseph Thomas of Baltimore

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Blessed Sacrament Catholic church was the setting Tuesday morning for the marriage of Miss Anna Laura Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. E. Lee Jr., and Joseph H. Thomas Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Thomas, Dundalk, Md.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Raymond Amiro, pastor. Serving as altar boys were John Maloney and Joseph Trumbull. Mrs. Nancy Farmer presented a half hour of prenuptial music.

Enters With Father

The bride, escorted by her father, was radiant in a Queen Victoria gown of off-white nylon tulle and imported Chantilly lace over antique champagne satin. Her finger-tip veil of bridal illusion was held by a coronet of pearlized for-get-me-nots and rhinestones. She carried a rosary of pearl prayer book, topped with a white orchid and showered with lillies of the valley. Caught in the showers was a rosary of crystal beads set in silver filigree. The prayer book and rosary were a gift of the bridegroom.

Attendants in Green, Gold

Misses Earline Lord, Bainbridge, Ga.; Lillian Alice Fox, Tallahassee, and Mrs. Ruby Mae Kirton, Baltimore, were the bride's honor attendants.

Bridesmaids were Misses Carole Blow and Henriette Edmonds; Mrs. Frances Little Patterson, Eugene Grant, Ronald Watts, Theodore Newman, Donald Patterson, Frederick Brown, Ernest Anderson, Jr., R. E. Lee 3rd, brother of the bride, was head usher.

Assisting the ushers were the Rev. Moses G. Miles, Messrs. Cornelius Bell, Sam Coppedge, S. Tanner, Stafford, Ned Shute, A. S. Gaither, Hansel Booker, Bernard Jenkins, E. E. Ware, Howard Brockington and Doctors L. N. B. Foote, W. H. Hollins, and Theodore Cooper.

Art Center Reception

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. E. Lee Jr., parents of the bride, held a reception in the Carnegie Library Art Center immediately following the church ceremonies.

Greeting the guests at the door were Mrs. George W. Gore Jr., and Mrs. W. A. Campbell.

Miss Edna Calhoun, Jacksonville, and Miss J. Baker, Willie White, A. A. Turner, Sadie Gaither, R. R. Wright, W. S. Stevens, A. C. Briggs, Helen Coleman, W. R. Perkins, Betty Norwood, Mesdames Ernest Ward, P. Stewart, S. Stafford, Edmonds, A. W. Shute, W. V. Nixon, Charles Bates.

The guest book was kept by Misses Betty Ann King and Sarah Bright. Co-ordinating hostesses were Mrs. Birdie L. Jones, Mrs. Harry Stewart, Mrs. Irma Hollins. Serving at the punch tables were Mrs. Grace Gray Johnson, Mrs. S. Tanner Stafford, Mrs. Evelyn Kidd and Mrs. Marie King. Pouring were Mrs. A. E. Martin, and Mrs. E. E. Ware.

The bride's table was overlaid with an ivory satin cloth handmade by Mrs. Birdie L. Jones, aunt of the bride.

The groom's table holding miniature boxes of fruit cake as souvenirs was attended by Mrs. Polly Fears and Miss Leona Tookes.

Wedding Trip

The bridal bouquet was caught by, Miss Louise Shute as the bride tossed it from the stairway of the ancient art center, which is located a few steps from Mr. Lee home on the Florida Agricultural Mechanical University campus, where she was born, slightly more than a score of years ago. The bride and groom left amid showers of rice for their wedding trip to Chicago.

After several days in Chicago, the pair plan to spend the remainder of the holidays with the groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Thomas of Dundalk and Baltimore.

The bride chose for her travelling costume, a two-piece woolen dress in tones of green, a rich brown lizard shoes and bag and smart hat in matching tones with lizard trim.

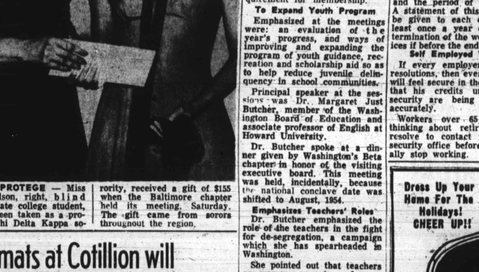
PHI DELTA KAPPA HEADS — Meeting in Washington, Dec. 28 and 29, the executive board of Phi Delta Kappa, national teachers' sorority, made plans for an expanded program in 1954. Attending, left to right: Ora Lee Thomas, Indianapolis, Ind.; Hellyn B. Johns, Nashville; Kathryn R. Thomas, Washington; Mabel S. Bouldin, Chicago; Supreme Basileus Marion H. Bluitt, Washington; Hilda G. Bryant, Nyack, N.Y.; Gladys C. Nunnery, Jersey City; Addie H. Johnson, Atlanta; standing, Grace H. Racker, Brooklyn; Rosetta D. Elliott, Chicago; Valeria E. Rinehart, Chicago; Helen W. Maxwell, Brooklyn; Mayola L. Senior, Toledo; Cleo V. Daniels, New York City; Gwendolyn Brown, Chester, Pa., and E. Theresa McIver, Catonsville, Md.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS IN D.C.:

Phi Delta Kappa's brass eye juvenile delinquency



SORORS' PROTEGE — Miss Muriel Wilson, right, blind Morgan State college student, who has been taken as a protege by Phi Delta Kappa sorority, received a gift of $155 when the Baltimore chapter held its meeting, Saturday. The gift came from sorors throughout the region.

WASHINGTON — Intensified efforts aimed at curbing national juvenile delinquency will be a major program of the National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa during 1954.

This was the main item on the agenda of an interim meeting of the sorority's executive board here at Rhode Island Plaza, Dec. 28-29. Supreme Basileus Marion H. Bluitt, of Washington, presided.

The sorority is made up of women, professionally in the field of education who are engaged actively in the teaching profession or in a supervisory, or administrative position. Community activities also a requirement for membership.

To Expand Youth Program

Emphasized at the meetings were: an evaluation of the year's program and ways of improving and expanding the program of youth guidance, recreation and citizenship and so as to help reduce juvenile delinquency in school communities.

Principal speaker at the sessions was Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, member of the Washington Board of Education and associate professor of English at Howard University.

Dr. Butcher spoke at a dinner given by Washington's Beta chapter in honor of the visiting executive board. The meeting was held, incidentally, because the national conclave date was shifted to August, 1954.

Emphasizes Teachers' Roles

Dr. Butcher emphasized the role of the teachers in the fight for de-segregation, a campaign which she has spearheaded in Washington.

She pointed out that teachers as women, parents and community workers must make de-segregation a workable thing, since they are among the leaders who are trying to make this a better world for children.

She further emphasized that the non-white teacher must make the positive step because she knows more about the ways and workings of integrated teaching than the non - white teacher.

Taking cognizance of the current national emphasis on the juvenile delinquency situation, Mrs. Bluitt made it clear that Phi Delta would train the big guns on this issue during 1954. Specific instructions are to be given local chapters for the program.

Last year Phi Delta Kappa gave over $3,000 in scholarships to help young women who are to become teachers.

Attending the meeting here were:

Supreme Basileus Bluitt, First Anti-Basileus Helen W. Maxwell, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Second Anti-Basileus Addie H. Johnson, Atlanta; Third Anti-Basileus Rosetta D. Elliott, Chicago; Supreme Grammateus Mabel S. Bouldin, Chicago;

Supreme Epistoleus Kathryn R. Thomas, Washington; Supreme Tamiouchos Gwendolyn A. Brown, Chester, Pa.; Supreme Tamias E. Theresa McIver, Catonsville, Md.; National Program Director Grace H. Racker, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Editor-in-Chief of the "Kappan," Valeria E. Rinehart, Chicago; and National Publicity Director Mayola L. Senior, Toledo, Ohio.

Diplomats at Cotillion will honor Dr. Mary Church Terrell

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — With unparalleled glitter, elegance, poma and pageantry the fifth Christmas Cotillion will be presented on Dec. 30 at Convention Hall.

The diplomatic reception which precedes the Cotillion proper will have representatives from more than 30 nations gathered to do honor to Dr. Mary Church Terrell, the guest of honor, who will be presented the diamond Cross of Malta.

Flying in from Chicago for the event will be Mrs. Lucie T. Thompson, national president of the Business and Professional Women's club, and from Jersey City, with a party of 16, Mrs. Cordelia Green Johnson national president of the Association of Beauticians and Cosmetologists.

Coming From Washington

Mrs. Jane Morrow Spaulding, the assistant to the director of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare will head the party of more than fifty from Washington.

A new feature is that Cecile Roberts, brilliant young pianist of Washington, will make her debut with the Philadelphia Orchestra in the Rachmaninoff Second Piano Concerto.

Miss Roberts, who has been studying in Paris for the past four years is a graduate of the music school of Howard University and has won acclaim from her teachers for her excellent technique and interpretation.

Debut Performance

Another debut performance on the Convention Hall great organ will be that of Lafayette Henry Cable who will play the prelude music, and for the procession.

When the Philadelphia Cotillion Society presents its highest award to Dr. Terrell, honor will be done to one of America's greatest fighters for human rights in the opinion of Municipal Court Judge Herbert E. Millen.

"Dr. Terrell's distinguished record covers nearly 66 years of unrelenting activity in behalf of equal rights and now at the age of 90 she can look back upon a lifetime of fruitful and meaningful achievement," Judge Mullen who is president of the society, added

Dr. Terrell's recent activities have been climaxed with the decision of Washington restaurants to admit and serve all patrons and the similar action by civic theatres to permit attendance by anyone without regard to race.

SIGMA SPEAKER—Dr. Mesdames Chesterton-Mangle, world traveler and lecturer and director and editor of the Religious Press Committee addressed the Tuesday dinner meeting of Pi Beta Sigma sorority which met here Dec.28-30. She spoke on "Can Brotherhood Work!"

Olive Tip

Here's a suggestion for a delicious dish for the holiday turkey — "Barbecued Lamb and Olives." The lamb is cut into cubes and cooked in a wonderful, tangy barbecue sauce and ripe olives are added just fifteen minutes before serving. This is delicious served on hot steamed rice.

Barbecued Lamb and Olives

1 onion
1 clove garlic
1 cup tomato catsup
1 cup water
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons brown sugar (packed)
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
Dash cayenne pepper
1 pound lamb shoulder
Oil
8 small onions
½ cup ripe olives

Barbecue Sauce: Mince onion and garlic. Add remaining sauce ingredients and simmer while browning meat.

Cut lamb into 1½-inch cubes and brown in oil. Drain off excess fat. Pour sauce over meat and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1½ hour. Add halved onions and cook 1 hour longer. Add olives 15 minutes before serving. Good on hot steamed rice.

Serves 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Griffin mark fiftieth anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Griffin of 2316 Rosedale st., formerly of the 1526 W Lanvale st., celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Wednesday.

Mrs. Griffin is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Yerley of Northumbland County, Virginia. Mr. Griffin is the son of the late Octavious Griffin of Lancaster, County, Va. They were married at the home of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Steven Ross, 152 Dolphin st., by the late Rev. Jones Watkins.

The couple has been members of the Enon Baptist Church for 48 years. They have taken active part in all Church activities. They have one daughter, Mrs. Mary Griffin Smith, a son-in-law: Douglas Smith; and one grandson, Tra Markus Smith, 4 years old.

Reared Kin

During the 50 years of their married life they have helped to raise many of their nieces and nephews, including Mrs. Jeanetta P. Wilson, beautician; Lewis Banks, principal of High School of Northumbland County, Virginia; Mrs. Bessie Moore Davenport, graduate of The Maryland Baptist Center School of Religion; Mrs. Gladys Randolph, practical nurse; Stewart Banks of Salem, Va., Mrs. Anna Williams, graduate of Cortez Peters business school, and wife of Archie D. Williams, attorney.

Mrs. Griffin is a member of the Enon Baptist Church choir, the Flower Circle, the Ivy Leaf Circle; The Volunteers and helped to organize the Better Health Unit of the church.

Social Security

By William H. Thomas

The time is approaching when nearly everyone will be making New Year resolutions, a good custom, especially when those new resolutions add to our general welfare.

I wish, like to suggest a few resolutions which if followed, would add to each worker's enjoyment in his old age and to his family's well being in the event of his death before reaching 65.

First, I would like for each employee to resolve to see to it that beginning with the first quarterly report in 1954 each employee will be reported under his correct name and social security account number.

This resolution should be easy to keep. It will be easy if every employer, when he hires a new employee, will copy in his records, the social security employee's social security account number as well as his name.

Apply Immediately

If the employee has never had a social security number, or if he has lost his number have him apply immediately at the local social security field office for a new number or for a duplicate of his old number.

If the employee cannot be spared from his work to go to apply in person for his number, have him fill out one of the blank social security account number application forms and mail it to the social security field office.

Every employer should also resolve to give each
