COOKING FUN

There's an old saying that "the seasoning makes the stuffing." How true, but it needn't stop there.

While you've got the poultry seasoning down off the shelf, try some other ideas with it. Corn Bread, flavored with a little poultry seasoning makes a wonderful addition to the harvest meal.

Turkey Pie is a delicious way to use leftovers from the big feast and this dish is especially tasty if it has a poultry seasoning pastry. This spice blend also goes well in meat loaf and is delightful as a seasoning for hamburgers.

Poultry seasoning was developed to give the homemaker a quick, handy way of flavoring stuffings of fowl, fish, veal, pork and other meats. It is a skillful blend of sage, perhaps the most important stuffing spice, thyme, and sometimes, other spices.

In making this product the spice mills are adjusted so that the mixture is ground together, thus pounding the flavor of one herb or spice into the tissues of the other. This gives poultry seasoning an especially fine smoothness of flavor.

For most homemakers, poultry seasoning is an adequate flavoring by itself. However, if you have a special liking for sage or one of the other ingredients, it is a simple matter to add more of the one you want to standout. In this case, the poultry seasoning acts as a good base for the flavoring and is still quicker to use than if you tried mixing each spice separately.

In the following recipes, the American Spice Trade Association suggests a few different uses for poultry seasoning during the holiday seasons as well as a good old fashioned Corn Bread Stuffing.

Turkey Pie With Poultry Seasoning Pastry

3 tablespoons turkey fat, butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
3 cups cooked turkey, cut in to small pieces
½ cup cooked sliced carrots
½ cup cooked peas
¼ cup chopped celery
2 teaspoons minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

Heat oven to 425 degrees F. (hot). Melt turkey fat, butter or margarine in a sauce pan; stir in flour. Gradually add turkey stock (to make turkey stock, cook turkey bones in water) and cook until slightly thickened. Add remaining ingredients; pour into a 10 x 6 x 2inch baking dish. Cover with Poultry seasoning pastry (see recipe below).

Poultry Seasoning Pastry

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/2 cup shortening
4 tablespoons water

Sift together first 3 ingredients. Cut in shortening until flour particles are the size of peas. Add water. Toss mixture only until flour is dampened. Form into a ball. Roll to ⅛ inch thickness on a lightly floured board.

If desired, cut two turkey cutouts in pastry with turkey-shaped cooky cutter, before placing over the pie. Trim, turn under and flute edge. Bake 35 to 40 minutes or until brown. Yield: 8 servings.

Corn Bread Stuffing (Southern Style)

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 eggs, beaten
5 cups toasted bread cubes
3 cups toasted corn bread crumbs
½ cup turkey stock or water
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons poultry seasoning

Melt butter or margarine in a deep kettle; cook until onions are limp. Add celery, parsley, egg, bread cubes and crumbs. Combine turkey stock or water with salt and poultry seasoning; stir into the mixture.

Stuff body cavity and crop of a 10 to 12 pound turkey, weighed after head, feet and organs have been removed. Yield: Sufficient stuffing for 10 to 12 pound ready-to-cook turkey.

Poultry Seasoning Corn Bread

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup corn meal
½ teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning
1 egg, unbeaten
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
⅓ cup water
¼cup shortening, melted

Heat oven to 450 degrees F. (very hot). Combine first 6 ingredients. Add egg, milk and water; mix only until ingredients are wet. Stir in shortening. Do Not Overmix. Pour batter into a hot, well - greased 8 inch square pan. Bake 30 minutes or until done. Yield: nine 2½ inch squares.

LEFTOVER IDEA—One of the many extra uses for leftovers from the holiday bird is this delicious turkey pie. Recipe in "Cooking Fun."

EASY -- Does It

Simple, day - to - day care will keep your appliances in good order and cut down a great deal on repair bills.

Keep a small paint brush handy for brushing crumbs from your toaster every day after it's used. Wipe the outside of the toaster with a slightly damp cloth to keep it shiny.

If waffle batter spills on the outside of the waffle baker, let it "bake" before removing. Then wipe off with a damp cloth and polish dry with a soft dry cloth.

Grids on a waffle baker can be cleaned with a stiff wire brush.

Never wash the grids with water as this will damage the pre-treatment which has been given to them.

Keep coffee - makers of any type well cleaned and sweet if you want every batch of coffee to taste good. Oils permitted to remain in them become rancid and spoil the freshly made coffee.

Filter cloths should be rinsed with cold water after each use. Change them when they become too stained or well used.

Never let cords rub against appliances when they're in use. Heat and friction may cause the insulation of the cord to wear off.

No thermostat control on your iron? Don't let it get too warm. Switch off the iron frequently and let it cool before using when it gets too warm.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Quick supper of ham scallops satisfies hungry appetites

A yum yum good casserole dish is this fix-in-a hurry ham scallop.

This sumptuous and creamy oven dish is real - real easy to make, and for that matter may be mixed ahead of time and popped into the oven just before the meal.

All the foods in this terrifically good baked dish are "made for each other." Mushroom soup makes a "sauce supreme" to hold together the tasty ham, fluffy rice, green pepper and eggs. The cheese makes a golden topping as tempting to see as to eat.

Ingredients

1 12-ounce can chopped ham, diced
3 cups cooked rice
1 green pepper, very finely chopped
3 hard cooked eggs, sliced
1 10½ ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup
¾ cup of water
1 cup grated American cheese

Preparing Rice

To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1 cup uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.

2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking.

3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use.

For extra fluffy, tender, separate grains allow the rice to steam for an additional 10 minutes, with heat off, but without removing lid.

Method

Mix together the ham, rice, green pepper, hard cooked eggs, mushroom soup and water. Place in a 2-quart oven dish. Sprinkle the cheese over the top. Place in a 350 degrees F. oven for 30 minutes or until the cheese is bubbly and the green pepper the desired degree of doneness.

This recipe makes 8 generous servings.

THREE OTHERS BURN TO DEATH:

5 persons killed in holiday crashes

PHILADELPHIA — A department of recreation teacher and four other persons were killed in automobile accidents during the Christmas holiday week, while three more died of burns.

The eight victims were:

MRS. DOROTHY J. HILTON, 27, of 1436 Wharton st., sister-in-law of the Rev. Calvin L. Jones, pastor of Mt. Hebron Baptist church, Wharton and Carlisle sts.

FRED DIXON, 20, of 1315 N. 22nd st.; his wife,

MRS. NANCY DIXON, 24, same address.

MRS. LUCHIOUS SIMON, 22, of 1864 N. Taylor st.;

WILLIAM COTTMAN, 62, of 722 N. 44th st.,

NAZARETH COOPER, 65, of 335 Poplar st.,

MRS. WILLA MAE MIXON, 42, 1235 N. Dawen st.;

VIRGIL HUNT, 30, of 2245 N. 13th st.

Mrs. Hilton, who taught at Northern Liberties center, Third st. and Fairmont ave., was pronounced dead at Graduate hospital. Following a collision at and Lombard sts., she was thrown from the car her husband, Arthur, 30, was driving.

Mother Injured

Her mother, Mrs. Nellie J. Brown, also of the Wharton st. address, and Miss Elizabeth Newton, 883 Belmont ave., were passengers in the auto. Mrs. Brown, suffering a fractured rib, was also taken to Graduate.

The other driver, Arthur Jones, 32, Lombard st. near 22nd, Saturday, was held in $2,500 bail for the grand jury. He was charged with involuntary manslaughter and drunken driving. The hearing was before Magistrate James Donnelly.

Mrs. Hilton was a graduate of William Penn High school. She received a bachelor of science degree in home economics from Cheyney State teachers college.

Funeral Thursday

She will be buried in Mount Lawn cemetery, Thursday, following one o'clock services at Holy Trinity Baptist church, 18th and Bainbridge sts. where viewing will be on Wednesday night.

The Rev. Charles R. Jones is pastor of the church of which she was a member. He is the father of the Rev. Calvin L. Jones. A sister, Bernice, also survives. Roscoe Wormley is mortician in charge.

Crash On Road

The crash in which the Dixons died occurred early on Dec. 28 when their car coming up from North Carolina rammed the rear of a parked truck on Route 40 about 20 miles south of Wilmington, Del.

Five persons were injured, including the three children of the Dixons, all of whom were younger than four years. Adults injured was 18-month-old Philip Simon, son of the other victim of the accident.

Lost Control

Police said that Mr. Simon was driving the car, apparently losing control of the wheel on a curve so that it crashed into the rear of the truck, whose driver, Lee Hunter of Washington was standing nearby.

The children fell out of the car, but the adults were trapped having to be released from the wreckage by use of acetylene torches.

The injured persons were taken to Delaware Hospital.

Furnace Tender

Cottman, a furnace tender, died in Philadelphia General hospital, 9:30 a.m., Sunday. He was admitted, Saturday, at 11 p.m. Firemen of Engine 16, Belmont and Girard aves., found him on the front porch of the 44th st. house.

An upholstered chair and the bed in Cottman's first-floor rear apartment were found blazing. The man is believed to have fallen asleep while smoking.

Cottman was a veteran of world war 2. A daughter, Mrs. Tennie Hill, lives at 5118 Ogden st. Funeral arrangements, under direction of Roger S. Wright, had not been completed at press time.

Fire In Tin

Cooper was pronounced dead on arrival, Thursday morning, at Hahnemann hospital. Deputy coroners Alfred Simkins and Anthony Primante said he apparently started a wood fire in a tin container in his first floor room.

His clothing ignited, Cooper was carried out by Timothy Shives, 43, 862 N. Marlboro st. Shives, a plumber, was working on the building. Flames, which spread to furniture in the room, were put out by firemen of Engine 21, 826 Newmarket st.

Cooper's body was identified at the morgue by Sarah B. Pickett, also of the Poplar st. address. She said she was a friend of 18 years.

Body Held

Although the Savin funeral home was designated to have charge of arrangements, the coroner's office was still holding the body at press time in an effort to locate relatives. He is said to have been separated from his wife for 18 years.

Hunt succumbed in Frankford hospital, Tuesday, four days after he was admitted. He was burned while at work at the Federated Metal Works, Richmond and Hedley sts.

Deputy Coroner Frank Lewis Dal said he suffered third-degree burns over 65 per cent of his body.

Hunt was buried, Tuesday, in the national cemetery at Beverly, N. J. Service for the world war 1 veteran were held, Monday night, at Greater Saint Joseph's Baptist church, Sydenham st. and Columbia ave.

The Rev. Preston L. Walker, pastor, officiated. The Rev. Mr. Walker stated that both Hunt and his wife, Mrs. Susie Hunt, were ushers at the church.

The car in which Mrs. Mixson was driving was operated by her husband, Willy, 44. It ran off Route 611 Mt. Bethel, ten miles north of Easton, hit a tree and plunged into a creek at about 4 a.m. The wife was killed instantly and the other occupants of the automobile taken to Monroe county hospital, and treated.

Matron freed of charges involving boy

Bartender, accused of selling beer to minor, faces probe

PHILADELPHIA

Police Inspector John Driscoll, Monday, promised to conduct a personal investigation into the cases of a minister's wife arrested on a lottery charge and a bartender accused of selling beer to a youth, 18.

The minister's wife was accused of sending a 12-year-old boy into a lottery "drop" to place two numbers bets for her.

Both defendants were exonerated, Sunday, following a hearing before Magistrate John F. Daly at the 23rd police district court.

Driscoll told the AFRO, Monday: "I strongly feel that both defendants should have been held in bail because each contributed to the delinquency of minors."

Defendants Listed

Mrs. Genevieve Reid, 49, 1200 block N. Wellington st., wife of the Rev. Clayton L. Reid, assistant pastor Abyssinian Baptist church at Marvine and Berks sts., was arrested by Detectives Stephen Sable and Edward Cahill about 2:55 p.m., Saturday. They served a warrant from Magistrate Thomas Costello on information received from the boy.

Mrs. Reid, said Driscoll, first denied any knowledge of the numbers plays. However, when confronted with a piece of paper found in her pocketbook that matched the piece in which the plays were written, she admitted the charges, the detectives testified.

At the hearing, Tomlin Campbell, Republican ward leader in Mrs. Reid's area, threatened AFRO photographer, LeRoy Brown. Brown took the picture.

Campbell told the AFRO, Monday that Mrs. Reid only plays numbers, she doesn't collect them. He said it was his opinion she had not violated the law and, therefore, should not be prosecuted.

"There were a lot of hoodlums in court the same day. The papers and photographers could get pictures and stories of these," he declared.

Admits Sending Boy

Mrs. Reid, by telephone conversation, admitted sending the numbers plays by the youngster. She stated that she had dreamed numbers and "Just decided to play them and see what would happen."

She also said that Campbell had gone with her to the hearing.

"He's our ward leader," she explained.

Magistrate Daly denied that he knew Campbell was in court. He said that Campbell did not speak to him about Mrs. Reid's case.

"I understand he is not allowed in court," the magistrate declared.

He further declared that he did not know the AFRO's photographer; had been interfered with, or that there had been any objection to a picture being taken.

Russell Harris, 33, 1800 block of Wellington st., the man to whom Mrs. Reid had sent the numbers plays, was held in $500 bail for action of the grand jury.

Detectives said the case resulted from the small boy bringing the numbers plays and giving them to police officers who were investigating Harris at the time.

The Taproom Case

Detectives Harold Jones, William Rice and Alexander Pulnick arrested Peck Johnson, bartender at Marties taproom, 1853 N. 20th st.

Putnick said a routine investigation was taking place in several taprooms. He and the other two officers observed a youth drinking beer. When questioned, the youth, Robert Robinson of 1935 N. Lambert st., admitted purchasing the beer in the taproom.

Robinson said he went in the cooler, got the beer, then paid the bartender 25 cents. He could remember doing this at least three or four times recently.

Contradicting Robinson, Johnson denied serving the youth. He pointed out further that he did not even know he was in the "place."

Driscoll's View

Driscoll said he did not believe Johnson because there were only 12 persons in the taproom at the time.

"He knew the boy was there all right. But what can we do other than bring such offenders in?"

In stressing the importance of not selling intoxicating beverages to minors, Driscoll referred to five youths, ages 16 and 17, who were arrested, last week, on charges of intoxication and attempted robbery.

These boys said in written statements that they were able to have someone (anyone hanging around a state store) go in and buy for them all they wanted. The same thing held true, they said, with persons hanging on the corners near taprooms.

Detectives At Liquor Stores

Detective Mathew Gaines of NC CID, who investigated the case of the five youths, said they were little concerned about the whole issue. Their records showed that four of them had been charged with burglary.

"I feel strongly," said Miller, "that a juvenile aid detective should be placed around the state liquor stores. Perhaps, then we could apprehend some of the criminals who purchase whiskies for minors."

He recalled that five minors, ages 14 to 17, were also drunk when they killed two persons and seriously injured six others, last Feb. 20. Four of the youngsters are now serving life sentences in Eastern State penitentiary.

TAP TURNER BURIED — Active pallbearers carry Tap Turner's body out of his house on N. 4th st., past a host of businessmen, sportsmen, school teachers and neighbors on their way to Evergreen cemetery, where funeral services were held for the aged club operator. The two front pallbearers are Olden Sharpe and Aubrey Cousins. Others, some of whom can be seen, are John Fleming, William Ferguson, Ivan Roache, Frank Turner, Sumner Madden, George Brice, Norman Jones and Alex James.

1,000 PERSONS VIEW BODY:

Heart attack fatal to South Side businessman

RICHMOND

Funeral services for Leroy (Gabe) Armstead, 61 of 2402 Old Dominion st. were held Monday at the C. S. Cunningham funeral home, Dr. W. L. Ransome, pastor of First Baptist church, South Richmond, officiating.

More than 1,000 persons had passed through the funeral home to view the body prior to the funeral services.

After working all day at the place of business, Mr. Armstead had been talking with some friends a few minutes before he suffered a fatal heart attack about 6:40 p.m., Dec. 23 in his shoeshine parlor on Hull st.

Parade Careers

Mr. Armstead's career was a close parallel to that of Jackson Ward's Beverly F. (Tap) Turner who was killed in his club, a rendezvous for sportsmen since the turn of the century, at Second and Jackson sts.

Both entered business about the same time and both reputedly enjoyed police protection for many of their dealings. Mr. Armstead served as a bondsman and had a reputation of being able to "fix" court cases.

Asbury Park may mix city council

ASBURY PARK — There's a strong possibility that this liberal resort city will become the second in the state with a colored councilman in 1954.

Councilman Joseph R. Fly submitted a letter of resignation to City Manager J. Oliver Armstrong on Dec. 21.

Prominent civic and interracial leaders have suggested to Mayor George A. Smock 2nd, and the City Council that Dr. E. A. Robinson, treasurer of the Housing Authority be appointed to fill the vacancy.

Mayor Liberal

Major Smock enjoys the respect and confidence of the colored electorate who gave him strong support in his successful re-election bid last May.

The mayor has demonstrated his gratitude for such support from colored voters during his administration by appointing several colored persons to top departmental positions.

Mr. Fly, a prominent funeral director, was appointed to the City Council in 1944, and was re-elected last May with Mayor Smock on the United Citizens' League ticket.

Councilmanic Trend

John T. Wright, a young taxi service operator, became the first colored candidate to be elected to the city council in Englewood in November, 1952.

Colored citizens in Newark, through the NAACP and allied civic groups, are formulating plans to try and elect their first colored councilman next May when the City Commission government is terminated.
