The corn crop will not be anything like as large in this county as was anticipated. The heavy wind and rain storm in August is believed to have shortened the yield from 25 to 50 per cent.

Twenty-five hundred Italian reservists were aboard the Italian steamship Tomaso di Savoia, which cleared from New York last Thursday for Naples. Several hundred more left Saturday on the Dante Alighieri.

Mrs. George Brice met with a severe loss this week. Marvel King, the finely bred stallion which Mr. Brice raised, died on Monday of intestinal trouble, and Mrs. Brice has lost a number of her hogs from cholera.

Mr. Walter B. Strong left Kent this week for a trip to the Panama Exposition in California and other interesting places in the far west. He will join his wife and friends at St. Lake City and proceed to California with them.

The prevalence of fever in Chestertown impels us to advise every one to boil their drinking water. It would also not be a miss if the Water Board would investigate the condition of the water, and we advise our dairymen to look into the quality of the milk.

Mr. J. Hall Denny's Ford runabout was turned over between Worton and Chestertown Monday when Mr. Roy Barnett, who was driving, lost control of it, and ran it in a ditch. No one was hurt. Mr. Thomas Dixon, Jr., accompanied him.

Seventeen large trout were caught with hook and line off Chester bridge on Thursday night, while 15 were caught the night before. It is said that very early in the morning the fish may be seen by the hundred around the bridge and on their way up the river.

There are 221 pupils enrolled in the high school and 120 in the primary department. Twenty two new pupils were enrolled on Monday. Washington College opened on Wednesday and it is said that there are more applications for entrance than there are accommodations.

Capt. Capel caught a number of fine large trout in his pound net up the river one morning last week. This is a most unusual occurrence, and the like has hardly been known in that section of the river. Capt. Rollison also caught a large quantity in his pound at the mouth of Morgan Creek.

Mike Thompson, former coach at Washington College, has been signed to coach the Baltimore City College eleven. Mike will be seen on the local gridiron this fall. Coach Kibler has returned to Washington College and is looking over the new material preparatory to picking his squad to represent Washington this fall.

THE Kent News, of course, will say this morning that the result of the primary on Tuesday is a repudiation of Borrollism, and the theory of economy as practiced and proclaimed by the Antis, but the truth of the matter is that the result of the voting shows that so far as the county at large is concerned the people are with the Antis, but that something more than the issues involved in the campaign were the determining factor in the result.

NO, SIR.

Prior to the primary hundreds of Organization Democrats boldly declared their intentions to "cut the ticket if the 'antis' won". Will the defeated turn the other cheek?—Enterprise.

Not on your life, brother. The Anti-Organization made no such threats before the primaries. We are Democrats and every man in the faction may be depended upon to support the ticket loyally, regardless of the method by which it was nominated.

THE RESULT IN KENT.

We must confess that the result of the primary contest on Tuesday in Kent county was a great surprise not only to the TRANSCRIPT, but to hundreds of people in the Organization and Anti-Organization factions. It is useless for us to undertake to explain how it all happened. The remarkable feature of the whole affair is that such a result could happen, when the sentiment among the great bulk of the people of the entire county was that the Anti-Organization faction would either win their entire ticket or that the result would be a divided ticket. No one dreamed that the Organization would make such a clean sweep, notwithstanding their ante-primary claims and indeed the apparent inactivity of a number of the staunch leaders of the Organization faction in Chestertown gave rise to the opinion on primary day that the Antis would have a walkover. The result proves the contrary and this condition makes the outcome all the more unexplicable. Nor do we know that it is necessary to offer any explanation. We are beaten, and that is all there is to it. We have been beaten before and have taken our medicine, and bitter as the dose may be to some, we advise all of our friends to make the best of the situation, and let's all get together for a rousing victory at the polls in November.

RESULT IN THE STATE.

The result of the primaries throughout the State was precisely of the same character as that of Kent. Counties that were regarded as absolutely certain to go for Lee, if public sentiment is any indication, were as mysteriously put in the Harrington column, and the doubtful vote throughout the State unquestionably overwhelmed the sentiment of the great majority of the tax-paying element of the voters. It has been hinted that as much as $1,000,000 was distributed throughout this State to defeat Senator Lee, and the result shows clearly that something more than persuasion had its influence. The Baltimore Sun and the Baltimore City News had for weeks been heralding reports of an immense campaign fund to attract the doubtful vote. The unexpected and the unprecedented result of the primary will no doubt set the people to thinking, and while the outcome is a stunning blow to the great mass of the people, it may perhaps lead to the awakening of an indignation at such practices and bring about legislation that will forever put an end to the debauchery of our electorate.

IT SEEMS inconceivable that the sentiment of the voters in Chestertown was so strong against the vital interests of the tax-payers that the Anti ticket was so overwhelmed by the vote right here in Chestertown. And up to Wednesday morning it was impossible to believe that any candidate on either faction could receive such an astounding majority as 184, 156, 123, out of a total of less than 500. But it was done right here in Chestertown. And yet the other districts in the county agve most of the Anti candidates a majority. There is something wrong some where.

OUR DEATH RECORD.

MRS. ELLEN WRIGHT NICOLS.

Mrs. Ellen Wright Nicols died at the University Hospital, where she was taken last Friday morning, after the sad accident reported in our last issue. Mrs. Nicols was in her 79th year. She was the widow of the late Richard Lloyd Nicols, and was before marriage a Miss Wright. For some time past she had made her home with her son, County Commissioner Harry Nicols, and she was very well and favorably known in this and Queen Anne's counties, in which latter county she was born. She is survived by three sons: County Commissioner Harry Nicols, of this county, G. Wright Nicols, of Roland Park, Baltimore, and George Nicols, of Baltimore. Funeral services were held at the home of her son, Mr. George Nicols, 2119 N. Calvert street, Baltimore, on Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The remains were brought to Tolchester and interment was made in St. Paul's cemetery at 5.30 o'clock, on Monday afternoon. Undertaker William T. Hicks had charge of the funeral arrangements. The pall-bearers were: P. A. M. Brooks, T. G. Wroth, G. B. Westcott, Chas. M. Brown, Walter Prances and Chas. T. Rich.

MRS. ELIZABETH PRICE.

Mrs. Elizabeth Price, widow of the late Joseph Price, died on Thursday, at her home, near Lankford, of the infirmities of age, aged 83 years. Mrs. Price was one of the best known women in this county. She was a woman of the most refined manner and of the highest christian character and those who knew her, loved her for the beauty of her character and the sweetness of her manner. She was a devout member of Christ M. P. Church for years and was a regular attendant upon its services when her health permitted. She leaves two daughters who have been devoted to her during her declining years. Mrs. Marion Walbert, with whom she made her hovne, and Mrs. Carrie Colescott, of Camden, N. J. Funeral services will be held this Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. Dr. W. R. Graham. Interment will be made in Chester cemetery. The pall-bearers will be: Messrs. I. R. Leaverton, James Rell, James Walbert, B. F. Rash, J. H. Simpers and Frank Skirven. Undertaker Charles L. Dodd will have charge of the funeral arrangements.

GEORGE A. BLAKE.

George A. Blake, aged 64 years, for many years a member of the Elkton bar, died Sunday night. He was a native of New Jersey and a graduate of Princeton University. When a young man he came to Elkton and for several years was principal of the Elkton Academy. He afterward studied law and was admitted to the bar. In politics he was a Republican and was twice nominated for Judge in the Second Judicial Circuit, composed of the counties of Cecil, Kent, Queen Annes, Caroline and Talbot. He served several terms as president of the Board of School Commissioners of Cecil county and Mayor of Elkton. He was for years identified with the business interests of Elkton and for 20 years was secretary of the Mutual Building Association. He is survived by one son, Charles Blake, of Elkton.

The five-months old infant of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Copper, of Chestertown, died Tuesday. Funeral was held Thursday at 10 o'clock, Dr. Barrett, officiating, interment in Chester cemetery. Undertaker, Chas. L. Dodd.

JOHN E. JACKSON.

Mr. John E. Jackson, of near Crumpton, aged 77, died Wednesday, Sept. 1, of acute dysentery. He leaves a wife and two children, Mr. John F. Jackson, and Miss Ida, of Chestertown; one sister, Mrs. Wesley Chaires, of Kenton, Del. Interment in Chester cemetery. & Sparks, undertakers.

Base-Ball at Galena.

One of the best base-ball teams ever organized in upper Kent was seen in operation at Galena on Friday, Sept. 10, when it sent the strong Middletown aggregation down to defeat by the score of 20 to 8. Finn, who was on the mound for the visitors, was unable to produce a mixture of curves, drops and speed ball that would puzzle the batters of the team. Although it was the third game out of nineteen that he has lost this season speaks well for Galena.

GALENA VS. ELKTON.

The same team will cross bats with the fast Elkton team at Galena to-day (Saturday), Sept. 18th. The Elkton team is a first division team of Delaware-Maryland league. Horsey, of the New England league; Hoch, the famous catcher for the University of Penn; Cliff Hoover, who demonstrated his brilliancy in last Friday's game; Lit Crew and other well-known ball players. Any one desiring to see a good game of ball cannot afford to miss this.
