AMONG 2,800 AT ANDERSON CONCERT—Shown entering Baltimore's Lyric Theatre, these guests were among the 2,800 standing-room only crowd which attended the Marian Anderson concert last Friday.

Voodoo beat accompanies Hazel Scott

PORT-AU-PRINCE — The world famous piano boogie-woogie of Hazel Scott, accompanied by voodoo drums, enlivened the closing moments of the five-day celebration of Haiti's 150th anniversary last week.

The New York artist and Marian Anderson shared the spotlight, the latter thrilling the vast assemblage with a rendition of the national anthem.

Miss Scott's accompaniment was beaten out by voodoo drummers who came from the Haitian mountains to participate in the ceremonies.

President Paul Magloire in his gold - braided uniform danced with Haitian bells at a ball in the Presidential Palace, the closing event of the festival.

Ambassador and Mme. Roger Bercegal de Lile, of France, the country from which Haiti won its independence 150 years ago New Year's Day, headed the foreign diplomats.

AFTER THE CONCERT—Following her concert at the Lyric Theatre, Miss Marian Anderson is shown as she entered the Fellowship House for a reception, accompanied by Mrs. Mae R. Gellman, executive secretary of the sponsoring Baltimore Fellowship, and Marshall Waters.

New York a lonely town says lovely press agent

NEW YORK — Nerve, good looks and a striking mane of blonde hair are the ingredients Virginia Wicks combines to make her one of New York's top press agents. The current issue of Look Magazine reveals the story of this glamorous gal's climb from obscurity in an article entitled "Career Girl Press Agent."

The piece features five pages of pictures of the beauteous Virginia with some of her girl-edged clients — Ertha Kitt, Ella Fitzgerald, Harry Belafonte, Nelson Eddy, Jean-Pierre Aumont.

Press agentry on this scale is big business; Virginia spends over $30,000 a year on combined business and personal expenses. Her cab fare alone runs as high as $200 a month, the story says. This does not include plane and train fares to cover her appearances at the numerous engagements of her clients in all parts of the country.

Despite the glamour of her career, the magazine reports that Virginia finds business an inevitable companion. "Sometime it gets me and I think I'll quit," she said. "Two seconds later, I'm all wrapped up in it again."

Virginia's two children would probably have preferred Long Beach Cal., her home town to New York. They spend little time here with their very busy mother. Her normal working day runs from 12 to 16 hours during which time she has to care for her business and office, her home, maid and children.

The feature bears out the fact that glamour, loneliness and complicated financial operations are the unhappy lot of a press agent—even one as beautiful and successful as Virginia Wicks.

When you order Rye—are you getting Rye?
Before you answer "Yes" please read this!
The United States Government's official definition of straight rye whiskey is—"Straight Rye Whiskey is straight whiskey distilled from a fermented mash of grain of which not less than 51 per cent is rye grain." So if you've been drinking something you thought was rye, read the small print on the label. If you discover it isn't rye, get a bottle of RYEBROOK, "The Flower of Maryland Rye," distilled under the personal supervision of Frank L. Wight.
Rye brook is Straight Maryland Rye Whiskey, 5 years old. 86 Proof. Distilled and bottled by The Cockeysville Distilling Co., Inc., Cockeysville, Maryland.

Anti-riot vigil costs $1 million

CHICAGO — Since last Aug., when violence first broke out over a colored family's living in the Trumbull Park housing project, police claim nearly $1,500,000 in salaries and expenses have been spent to keep down recurring race riots.

According to Police Chief Timothy O'Connor, nearly 1,000,000 man hours have been put in by his force to keep vigilance over the once "all-white" community.

Since it was O'Connor who vowed to keep men at the project as long as they were needed, details numbered anywhere from 200 to 1,100 men daily. The larger figure represents about one-seventh of the total police force in Chicago.

Despite the remarkable vigil, sporadic outbursts have continued almost by schedule, but at the low rate of one a month. Since August, nearly 104 persons have been arrested, including 83 for disorderly conduct and four for firearms violations.

McKeldin on radio if enemy strikes

Marylanders would hear Governor McKeldin on their radios soon after an enemy attack, according to Sherley Ewing, State Civil Defense Director.

Ewing said this week that it would be very important that the Governor go on the air as soon after an enemy attack as possible to help "allay panic" and reassure the public.

HEADED FOR STARDOM — The Jackson Sisters, Lela, 19, (left); Sylvia, 20 (third from left), and Josephine, 18, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Jackson, 76 Monmouth st., Newark, N.J., pose with Fred Allen, popular M.C. of NBC-TV's "Judge for Yourself," after winning first place on a recent appearance on the talent show. In constant demand by NYC night clubs, radio and TV program sponsors, the talented artists appeared last Friday on CBS color TV program in NYC. Josephine is interested in journalism and is studying the profession first hand as a volunteer helper in the office of the New Jersey AFRO-AMERICAN.

HEADIN' FOR EUROPE—Nick Gaston, owner of the Club Old New Orleans, 1214 18th st., nw, is so enthusiastic over the work of The Caravans, that he is planning to send them to Europe. The group of Washingtonians, after 26 weeks on Capital Caravan has been stopping the show in its two weeks at the club. Trained by Les Williams, they are left to right: Albert Thomas, (front) bass; back: Joseph Bragg, second tenor; Abe Graham, baritone, and Arthur Roane, first tenor.

Mrs. Klinger's recital pleases

WASHINGTON — The Capitol City Choral Ensemble presented Herma Klinger, soprano, in a recital Sunday afternoon in Metropolitan Wesley AME Zion church before a large audience.

The artist has a beautiful voice. She effectively used it to the best possible advantage during the entire program.

Her opening number, "Ave Maria" by Schubert, was received warmly by the audience. Then, "O Divine Redeemer," by Gounod, and "Angels, Ever Bright and Fair" by Handel, gave the listeners confidence that they were in for a splendid recital.

In the next group of songs, we heard the rendition of "Oh Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me?", and the "Dove Song" from the opera, "Le Nozze Di Figaro," by Mozart." There was increasing applause from the audience. As one person remarked, "good music is good anywhere."

We were next entertained with a group of old English Songs: "My Lovely Cecelia," by Monro; "Come Again Sweet Love," by Dowland; "Passing Boy," by Purcell; and "The Lass with Delicate Air," by Arne. Seven other numbers were also heard.

The two final selections, "Keep Me From Sinking Down," by Still, and "When I get Through," by Gearld, were sung by Mrs. Clinger and Les Williams, baritone, her accompanist. They drew long applause from the audience. Indeed, tears were seen running from eyes of many of the hearers, who were happy through such heartfelt singing. — I. C. B.

Music maker fined for lounge fracas

An out-of-town musician was fined $35 and costs Tuesday in Northwestern police court on a disorderly conduct charge stemming from a disturbance in the lounge of the musician's union in the 1500 block Argyle ave.

The fine, imposed on William McDonald, 23, of the 1000 block N. Bentalou st., was ordered suspended by Magistrate E. Everett Lane.

Appearing against the Detroit musician was Arthur Davidson of the 500 block W. Mosher st., who identified himself as supervisor of the union's lounge. Mr. Davidson said that when he asked Mr. McDonald, to leave the lounge on Monday, since he was not a full fledged member of the local union, Mr. McDonald responded by hitting him (Mr. Davidson) in the mouth.

Mr. McDonald denied the allegation and said that he had only raised his hands to protect himself.

Wheatley foundation sets annual meeting

CLEVELAND — The National Phillis Wheatley Foundation will hold its sixth annual meeting here next Sunday, at which time a review of the drama, "Stranger in the Land," will be presented.

The foundation is planning to present the drama to the public during "Brotherhood Week," in February.

The foundation has invited over 1,000 high schools and colleges throughout the nation to join in the May 7 celebration of the 200th anniversary of Phillis Wheatley, the first American colored poet.

Selassie takes Ike's bid for capital visit

WASHINGTON, D.C. (NNPA) —James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced last week that Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia has accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to visit Washington as his guest.

Tentative dates for the emperor's visit are May 19 to 21, Mr. Hagerty said. Emperor Selassie will spend several days here and then tour the United States.

The visit will mark the first time that a sovereign of Ethiopia has come to the United States although the Emperor travelled extensively in Europe before World War II.

ALONG THE AVENUE

A wonderful fellow, Frank "Floor Show" Culley, is making things hum at the CLUB CASINO, with a driving brand of music that proves highly pleasing to the ears.

Naturally there is a story connected with the why and wherefore of the name "Floor Show," and Frank modestly admits that it was bestowed on him as a tribute to his antics as a music maker.

When Frank started in the rhythm business a few years ago he found that the customers went slightly mad when he began to stride up and down the aisles of a nightclub blowing his saxophone for dear life.

He varied his act from time to time by jumping up on tables and walking along the bar, and the more of this he did, the more the customers applauded.

"Came one night when Frank was playing her, in a local club and the manager watched his intently. When he finished, the manager told him: "Man you are a floor show all by yourself."

And that, George, was that. The name stuck tighter than a mustard plaster, and Frank is living up to it everynight at the CASINO, that is until Sunday when he bows out for the terrific outfit of Cecil Young who starts playing on Monday night.

Frank has also cut several sides for the Atlantic label, one of the best sellers being "Coleslaw." Listening with great interest to the work of the group on Tuesday night was another top flight saxophonist Bill Swindell who takes care of the music at the beautiful CLUB AMBASSADOR.

At the COMEDY CLUB, the Dixon brothers will usher in another music master in the person of Big Jay McNeely on Monday. The musical chores are currently being handled by the capable Joe Holiday.

McNeely is another of the romping type of musicians and should prove to be a hot item at the club.

One of the most underated aggregations in town is the Jolly Jax trio which can be heard at East Baltimore's fun spot, CLUB ORLEANS. The boys have a lot of talent and the music they play need take second place to no one.

Of interest, not must George, but still of interest comes the news that out of the 124 records which have sold over a million copies, are by colored artists. These would be:

"Glow Worm, Paper Doll, You Always Hurt the One You Love," Mills Brothers; "Gypsy, To Each His Own," Ink Spots; "I Apologize, My Foolish Heart," Billy Eckstine; "Nature Boy, Too Young," Nat King Cole; "Choo Choo Ch' Boogie," Louis Jordan; "Into Each Life Some Rain Must Fall" Ella Fitzgerald and Ink Spots; "Jumpin Jive," Cab Calloway.

Back on the local front, club owners are reporting that the storm Sunday night really wrecked business and they haven't received yet. However, they aren't too discouraged since things appear to be getting back to normal and this weekend should find a lot of customers looking for amusement and relaxation.

RICTOR'S RED FOX LOUNGE is offering the talents of Lou Bennett and his Hammondtones and they're the finishing touches on plans for a gala Cuban Festival set for an early date.

CLUB TIJUANA is doing a nice business with Gene Ammons who is currently on the bandstand at the popular club.

J. C. Bailey is still the perfect host and the food is still some of the best in town.

Marlow "You Name It and I'll Play It" Morris, is still caressing soothing notes from the organ at CLUB 1017. He never seems to run out of songs and to all of them he adds a distinctive touch that improves on the original, as difficult as it might sound.

PM is still holding on the services of Teddy Bourne and his Tip Toppers and it could not happen to a nicer group.

A swing around the rest of the circuit shows Bill Wilson at the CLUB FROLIC, the Valentino's Trio at the KNOTTY PINE CLUB; and an all-star floor show at GAMBY'S featuring the talents of Jill Parks, Lolita Tajja, the Toppers, Jerome Berry, Reuben Woods and his Ambassadors of Rhythm. Have fun.
