Crack track stars enter Armory meet

Rhoden, Tenn. girls, HU and local teams to compete Jan. 26

WASHINGTON

The crack Pioneer Athletic club track team, featuring Harry Bright, former Cardozo high school half-miler, Reggie Pearman, the 600-yard great, and Roscoe Brown, former national 1,000-yard champion, will compete in the Evening star games Jan. 23 at the National Guard armory.

According to the sponsors this year's event will surpass previous meets because the track and field competition is not in conflict with any other similar affair along the seaboard.

In addition to special events which will find track stars from Cardozo, Armstrong and Dunbar competing, the track men of Howard University and the famous girls team of Tennessee State will participate.

27 Events

The New York Athletic Club, Pioneer A.C., the Grand Street Boys, Manhattan college, Fordham University, New York university, St. John's college, the German-American Athletic club of Brooklyn, the CYO of New York, the Police Athletic League and others will play a major part in the 32-event card which will start at 7:00 p.m., a half-hour earlier than in former years.

From the New York Athletic Club will come Charlis Capozoi, Georgetown's former champion two-miler; Horace Ashenfelter, winner of the Olympic 3,000-metre Steeplechase; Bill Ashenfelter, former Penn State distance star; Fred Wilt, one of the all-time greats among American distance men, Lindy Remigino, Olympic 100-metre winner and former Manhattan star; Richard Lynn, Metropolitan pole vault champion and one of the top club mile relay team members.

Paul Ewing, former Notre Dame track captain, a 9.6 man in the 100 yard dash has been nominated for the Exchange Club Sprint Series but may not be able to break into an all-star field for that event.

George Rhoden Entered

The Grand Street Boys, through their coach A. A. Wimer have nominated Andy Stanfield, Olympic 200-metre champion for the sprint series and George Rhoden, former Morgan State Star, one of the nation's top 600-yard men for the 600. A relay team also may run for the Grand Street Boys.

From the college, New York university will be represented by both a mile and a two-mile relay team. Both are improved over last year's top performers.

Weiner threatens to withdraw from National Boxing body

Says he'll quit if Archie Moore defends crown against Joey Maxim

If Light-Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore defends his crown against Joey Maxim on Jan. 27, as planned, Frank Weiner, chairman of the Pennsylvania State athletic commission, received to withdraw from the National Boxing association a day before the fight.

Commissioner Weiner made the announcement, Monday, during a press luncheon he gave at Law Tendler's restaurant.

The Pennsylvania commission is meeting here a day prior to the scheduled fight.

Weiner said he is going to recommend leaving NBA if that organization has not suspended Moore for his failure to meet Harold Johnson, whom NBA had ordered Moore to fight by Dec. 24.

Instead, Moore signed for the Maxim bout in the territory of the NBA; and, the Miami commission, a member, approved the bout.

Weiner said managers are now picking fighters that their boxers can't lose to. "The NBA needs guts," he said. "That organization should say who a fighter must fight and suspend him if he doesn't."

He pointed out further that Johnson of Philadelphia is the No. 1 contender.

Jones, Molaham Supporters

George Jones of Williamsport, and John Holahan, Pittsburgh, are expected to support Weiner's withdrawal move.

The commissioner said both members of the State ring board have indicated that they will go along with the recommendation.

Weiner also feels that there are too many TV fight bouts. Also taxes on sports are too high. These two issues will also be brought up when the commission meets prior to the Moore-Maxim fight.

Morgan cagers touring south

With four conference wins and two losses to their credit, the Morgan State college cagers left Baltimore Thursday on a three-day Southern tour.

The Bears were scheduled to meet Hampton on Thursday for their first game, St. Paul Friday, and Virginia State Saturday.

On Monday, Jan. 18, Morgan will meet North Carolina college in the Hurt Gymnasium here, and on Tuesday, A. and T.

Twelve team members were taken on the week-end tour.

Bill Hendrick and Wilbert Wells have been sidelined with an arm injury, and Gardner with an ankle injury.

The local team is sporting an overall 4-5 record for the season.

Try this great NEW gasoline in your car
"TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA
Latest triumph of Esso research!
You can have absolute faith in NEW "TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA. It is a new product development of the famous Esso Research Center. It is a super-refined gasoline . . . plus three great additives that give you protection against knock, protection against stalling and protection against valve sticking. Here is a gasoline engineered to meet the total power and anti-knock requirements of even the highest-compression new cars. For millions of older cars it means better working horsepower and better total engine performance. If you've tried it, you know what we're talking about. It is the finest gasoline made by the Esso Standard Oil Company in its many years of product leadership . . . it's by far the largest-selling premium gasoline in the area served by Esso Dealers. See your Esso Dealer for a tankful today.
THE BEST GASOLINE YOU CAN BUY!
TOTAL POWER means:
• POWER for quick starting in any weather • POWER for fast warm-up • POWER to resist cool weather stalling • POWER to kill off knocks and pings • POWER to take steep hills in stride • POWER to pick up swiftly and smoothly from a standstill • POWER to get the most possible working horsepower from any engine under today's all-round driving conditions
KNOCK AND PING are completely stopped in millions of cars, particularly in the overwhelming majority of new cars and especially those with high-compression engines.
FULL PERFORMANCE is made possible for many other new cars which now have their sparks deliberately retarded to prevent knock.
COOL WEATHER STALLING and power loss caused by carburetor icing are effectively combated by an anti-stalling ingredient. Esso Extra was the first fuel to give you this extra value.
BETTER MILEAGE and better all-around performance can be obtained in short trip, round-town driving this winter by motorists who formerly used "regular" gasoline.

Additions made in basketball leagues

Division of Amateur Sports basketball teams, under the supervision of the Bureau of Recreation, made last minute additions to their 12 player rosters this week.

The deadline for registering player contracts is Friday, Jan. 15. The Bureau will accept contracts for registration after midnight of the season, except to replace a player who has entered the armed services. Only players having contracts are permitted to play in Division of Amateur Sports leagues.

Each team is allowed to red line no more than 12 players. Players in midget, junior and intermediate leagues must submit a Health Department proof of their birth dates along with their signed contract and are also responsible to secure an identification card from the Bureau of Recreation at 1129 N. Calvert st.

Action of the Amateur Athletic Union in bypassing Mal Whitfield as a candidate for the Sullivan Award, highest amateur citation in the nation, was denounced by many liberal writers in the week just passed.

New York—In the whole broad field of sports there are only a few men more talented and more consistent than Major Sammy Lee, of the United States Army Medical Corps. They are the brassbound mugwumps of the Amateur Athletic Union, whose gift for making themselves ridiculous surpasses the finest of competitive skills.

If anybody has entertained any dreamy notion that 1954 would witness progress in the administration of amateur athletics, such ideas must have been dispelled on the last day of 1953. That morning the papers announced the selection of Sammy Lee as a recipient of the James F. Sullivan Memorial Trophy, presented annually to "the athlete who shall have contributed most to amateur athletics during the year."

Tiny Major Lee, incomparable diving champion of the 1948 and 1952 Olympic Games, could have qualified splendidly for the Sullivan Award in any one of the last eight or nine years—excepting only 1953. In 1953 he did not compete.

In any other year the choice would have been universally applauded, for Sammy Lee is a champion in every conceivable respect, far and away the best in the world at his specialty, an officer and gentleman and sportsman, as personable and popular as a man can be. His qualifications for the Sullivan Award in 1953, however, were exactly those of a fat man on the corner.

The A.A.U.'s Infinite Inept Touch

Thus the bumbling waxworks of the A.A.U. has managed, with its infallibly inept touch, to bestow a richly merited honor on a thoroughly deserving guy in the only circumstances that could possibly make him appear foolish.

Several weeks ago when balloting was in progress, Major Lee commented on the topic in a letter to the New York Herald Tribune's Jesse Abramson. "Whoever wins the award this year will certainly feel a little embarrassed, I'm sure," he wrote, never suspecting that the A.A.U. was going to put its fumbling finger on him.

He meant that the A.A.U. had contrived to make the trophy a hollow distinction by arbitrarily eliminating from consideration American's two outstanding performers in foot-racing—Mal Whitfield and Wes Santee.

The year 1953 was distinguished by performances in many fields, and it is conceivable that some candidate might have fairly defeated Whitfield and Santee in competition for the Sullivan award. No sportsman, however, could feel any real sense of triumph over an electin from which these men were barred.

Sammy Lee deserves gold. They have given him brass.

Whitfield 'Greatest of His Time'

Competing indoors and out, at home and abroad, Whitfield conducted throughout 1953 the world's most spectacular one-man assault upon time. The two-time Olympic champion at 800 meters sent records flying right and left.• He is the greatest runner of his time, certainly one of the greatest of any time.

Santee is the nearest thing to a four-minute miler ever produced in this country. His 4.02.6 and 3:44.2 are the best times ever made by an American at a mile and at 1,500 meters. He may become the first man in the world to travel a mile in four minutes on his own power.

These two names were left off the Sullivan Award ballot because of rumors that the men violated some provision of the amateur code during European tour last summer. No charges have been brought against them, up to now the rumors have not been supported, and at least one regional official of the A.A.U. has investigated and declared Whitfield and Santee in the clear.

The men are eligible for amature competition anywhere in the world, but not eligible for this nation's top amateur award. Don't ask what manner of nonsense we have here. What we have here is the A.A.U. in its normal form.

Greetings of the season, everybody. It's a new year. It's the old A.A.U.

Maj. Sammy Lee of the U.S. Army Medical Corps, two-time Olympic tower champion, has been voted the AAU's Sullivan Award as 1953's most outstanding amateur athlete. It is an oddity that he was even included in the balloting, since service kept him out of competition the entire year. A still greater oddity was the award committee's failure to include Mal Whitfield and West Santee, 1953's outstanding track stars.

The Sullivan Award Committee headed by International Olympic Committee President Avery Brundage of Chicago, is being excused by the AAU for overlooking Whitfield and Santee. Almost identical mockeries are employed to those used in 1950 when Yale's Jim Fuchs was left off the ballot after revoiting the shot put records and in 1952 when Harrison Dillard, after winning his second Olympic championship, was not included. Whitfield and Santee are accused but not convicted of offending amateurism. The AAU would like you to believe that a Sullivan Award winner must be above all suspicion.

Unfortunately Dillard's elimination from the 1952 voting and Whitfield's in 1953 prevented one of these great athletes from becoming the first Colored winner since the award was instituted in 1930. Such Colored standouts as Jesse Owen, Johnny Woodruff, Eulace Peacock, Buddy Young and Frank Dixon, among others, failed to make the grade.

Convention Gossip Eliminated Dillard

Since Dillard was the 1948 Sullivan Award runnerup to Bob Mathias on his surprise victory in the 100 meter dash at London, it was particularly noticeable when he was left off the 1952 ballot after winning the hurdles at Helsinki. Dillard was nominated that year but Brundage's committee chose to heed a convention rumor that the hurdles ace had demanded $350 for expenses from his home in Cleveland to compete in a Washington, D. C., indoor meet.

The story National AAU Secretary Dan Ferris gave out to quiet criticism regarding Whitfield and Santee is that they are being investigated concerning alleged misconduct while competing in Europe last summer. Whitfield's case pertains to stories about an attempt to hold up a meet promoter for extra expenses. Other AAU people, however, insist Whitfield and Santee already have been suspended from one year of foreign competition along with Olympic champions Parry O'Brien and Sim Iness, and Olympian J. W. Mashburn for alleged over-exuberance in European cities last summer. Ferris insists the charges against Whitfield and Santee still are open and will not be settled until the AAU bigwigs meet in New York, February 21.

But Ferris, on behalf of the AAU, does admit that Whitfield and Santee kept out touring squads in business last summer. They went to Europe early in July with the first of three groups and stayed close to two months because the second and third groups did not contain enough stars to satisfy the European meet promoters. Ferris admits that if Mal and Wes had refused to stay in Europe at least the third trip might have been canceled. They are being thanked in an odd manner.
