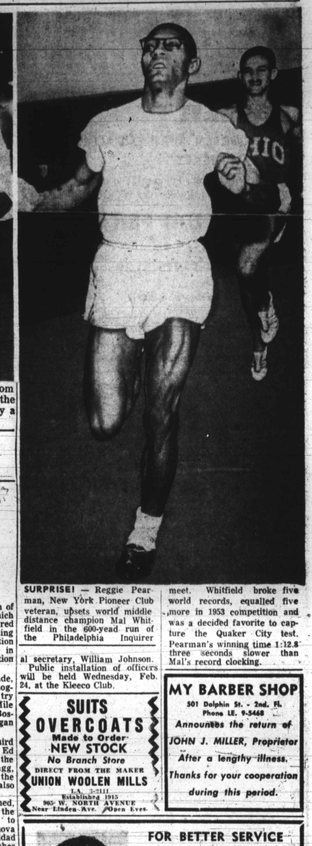
YOU'RE NEXT—Benny Washington, veteran track official and football commissioner of the CIAA, shows Herman Wyatt, a high jumper from San Jose State, the list of competitors in his event. Wyatt tied for second in the Star games with a disappointing 6-foot leap.

FEMME FLYERS—Tennessee State college's crack women's relay team were outstanding features of the Star's track meet at the Armory last week. Shown with coach Ed Temple are Mae Faggs (right), holder of the women's AAU 100-yard dash record of 11.1 secs., who won the 100-yard dash event at 11.4 in addition to running anchor on the relay team. Cynthia Thompson (left) finished third in the 100.

SMASHED RECORD—The AFRO's alert cameraman, Cliff Moorehead, caught Mike Agostini, white, second from left, about to turn in a 9.6 second performance in the 100-yard dash for a new indoor record. On the right of the winner, are Ken Kave, of Morgan; Bob Keegan, Seton Hall, and Art Bragg, unattached, who was nipped by a hair. On the far left is Lindy Remigino of the NYAC.



SURPRISE! — Reggie Pearman, New York Pioneer Club veteran, upsets world middle distance champion Mal Whitfield in the 600-yead run of the Philadelphia Inquirer meet. Whitfield broke five world records, equalled five more in 1953 competition and was a decided favorite to capture the Quaker City test. Pearman's winning time 1:12.8 three seconds slower than Mal's record clocking.

Bear quartet in Hub meet

Mile Relay, sprint stars to Boston

The speedy mile relay team of Morgan State College, which last Saturday handily captured the top event in the Evening Star track games, sees action again tomorrow (Saturday) in the Boston Athletic Association meet in Boston, Mass.

The quartet of Herman Wade, Otis (Jet) Johnson, Jimmy Rogers and Josh Culbreath will try for the Intercollegiate One-Mile Relay Championships in the Boston AAU meet, a race Morgan has never won.

Ken Kave, who finished third in the Star dashes, and Ed Waters will be entered in the sprints this week. Art Bragg, who saw his first action of the season last Saturday, will also compete.

Bragg, now running unattached, took the 70-yard dash in the Star meets but bowed to Michael Agortini, a Villanova College freshman from Trinidad and the 80 and 100 yard dashes which the Baltimore speedster had captured last year.

The Variety Club Invitation meet, Whitfield vs Pearman, New York Pioneer Club vs Philadelphia Inquirer, which is the greatest indoor track event of the year, will be held Wednesday, Feb. 24, at the Kleeco Club.

Morgan-Howard swim meet later

The swimming meet between Morgan State college and Howard University, originally scheduled for tomorrow (Saturday) has been postponed until Feb. 6.

The Morgan natators, undefeated in conference competition, meet Tennessee State's championship "Sharks" here Feb. 2 at 4 p.m.

Matson inks Card pact

Team acts to quiet 'jumping' rumor

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Fullback Ollie Matson has signed a contract to play football with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football league in 1954, the pro club announced Sunday.

The Grid Cards announced the early signing of Matson to cut down gossip that the great running star might be jumping to Canada.

Matson is now in the army, stationed at Fort Ord, Calif. Because of his great play in 1953 with the Fort Ord Warriors, he was voted the football player of the year in the U. S. armed forces.

In 1952 Matson was a rookie star for the Cardinals after serving during the summer as a member of the U. S. Olympic team. He was drafted into the army as soon as the football season ended that year.

He is expected to be discharged in time for the 1954 grid season.

Baltimore Orioles release 'Satchel'

Senators, Giants 'not interested' in signing aging mound ace

Satchel Paige was cut off by the Baltimore Orioles on Tuesday.

The lean righthanded pitcher, generally recognized as one of the greatest hurlers of all time, was placed on waivers, release by general manager Art Ehlers.

According to Ehlers, Satchel, admittedly 45 years old, "simply does not fit into our plans for 1954 or the future."

Neither the Washington Senators nor the New York Giants are interested in Satchel Paige as an addition to their respective pitching staffs for 1954.

Calvin Griffith, vice president of the Senators, and veep Club Feeney, of the Giants, both denied newspaper reports that they might seek the elongated righthander who Tuesday was released by the Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles' boss said he is "endeavoring to build a young club and Paige has reached a point where his pitching value is questionable. I do not think he can help the club now.

"By giving Satch his release at this time, I am enabling him to make a deal for himself as a free agent. He may be able to catch on with another club before the season opens. I wish him the best of luck."

Status Long In Doubt

The status of Paige has been in doubt here since Ehlers moved to Baltimore to take over the club after serving three years in a similar capacity with the Athletics at Philadelphia. Aside from the fact that he has withheld forwarding a contract to the veteran pitcher, Ehlers brushed off all questions with the remark that he would have been regard to Paige with the assertion, "We haven't yet determined what we will do about him."

Although the Tuesday announcement was no great surprise it came somewhat suddenly. However, the Orioles were compelled to make some disposition of Satchel before February 1; otherwise he would have been delcared a free agent under base ball law.

Hot Worth $25,000

While the Ehlers statement of Tuesday spoke only of Paige's inability to fit into the Oriole picture of the future, the Baltimore head man previously had expressed dissatisfaction over Satchel's 1953 performance when he was with the St. Louis Browns.

Several times, Ehlers referred to Paige's poor record "as a $25,000 a year" pitcher Satchel finished the season with a 9-9 won-lost mark.

Paige entered organized baseball in 1948, and won 108 games losing one in helping the Cleveland Indians to the American League pennant and world championship. He was with the Indians in 1949, barnstormed and played with the Kansas City Monarchs in 1950, and returned to the game when Bill Veeck took over the Browns in 1951.

When Veeck, who was Paige's biggest booster in the game, was forced out of the majors, and the Browns were sold to a Baltimore syndicate, Satchel's future immediately darkened. The culmination point was reached with Tuesday's action.

Morgan cagers open stiff second half

Victors rally in final period after trailing in third quarter

A ten-game schedule which opens February 2 against Smith University in Charlotte, N. C. will wind up the current season for the Morgan State College basketball squad.

With an eight to six season record, the Bears will buckle down to bettering their tally, but face stiff competition.

In a Southern tour beginning with the Smith game, the Morgan cagers have to face A. and T. College in Greensboro, N. C. on February 3, Winston-Salem Teachers in Winston-Salem, N. C. February 5, and North Carolina College at Durham, on February 6.

The cagers return home to the Hurt Gymnasium on February 8, for what is expected to be the team's most exciting conference game of the season. This game will pit Morgan against St. Paul; and simultaneously will pit St. Paul's "basketball king," Ralph Bacote against New York City freshman, against Morgan's basketball "czar," Ernie Garrett, sharp shooting Newark, N. J. junior, who's maintained a 25.2 game average this year.

Two more home games will follow, with Morgan meeting Virginia State on February 13 and Smith on February 15. A repeat game with Howard University will be played in Washington, D. C. on February 17, while a contest with Lincoln University here on February 20 will close out the current season.

In the only non-conference game of the month scheduled the Morgan Bears will meet the Loyola College Greyhounds here February 12 for the third Lincoln Day meeting. In the two other contests Morgan has lost by close scores.
