Senator Lee for the Ticket.

A great mass meeting of Democrats was held at Rockville on Tuesday. Senator Blair Lee presided and made a fine speech strongly endorsing the ticket and urging all of his friends to do likewise. In the course of his speech Senator Lee said:

"I submit that the expression of our primary system does not prevent a statement of any fact in a candidate's record which may have a bearing upon his qualifications for the office sought. The campaign in the primary is before the jury of the Democratic voters, and no pertinent facts should be kept back from them. The use of epithets and the statement of that which is untrue are, of course, objectionable and should react upon the man who uses them.

"I disagree with the old gentleman at Denton and contend that it is my duty and my purpose to support Mr. Harrington and his running mates in this election. They have been passed upon by the verdict of the Democratic primary and that verdict is binding during this campaign upon all party men.

"In all practical human movements—and the Democratic party is a practical human movement—there must come a time when discussion ends and action takes its place.

BOWS TO WILL OF MAJORITY.

"Popular movements have throughout history continued to split upon differance of ambitions, of opinions and of methods. To avoid such differences and make results possible the rule of the majority is the rule of our party and, in fact, the cornerstone of all representative forms of government.

"One hundred and seventeen thousand voters went to the polls and voted on September 14; some 64,000 of them voted for Mr. Harrington and some 53,000 of then for me. Now it is my duty to bow to the will of the Democratic party."

Work no Terrior to This Farmer.

The farm chores for this winter have no terrors for Martin Rickards, who lives in the lower end of Baltimore hundred of Delawars, and who has been an ardent rooter for the American League baseball teams. This year his neighbor, Alvin Tunnell, a strong Philadelphia fan, bet Rickards that the Phillies would win the world's championship and agreed that the loser would have to split the wood, water and feed the stock and do the farm chores morning and evening from now until May.

Both were in Selbyville last week when the result of the final game came in over the wire, and Friday evening Tunnell did both his own and his neighbor's evening work around the barn. He announced that although he would stick to his bargain, he would hire a man to do the work for him.

Good Paint

is cheap; and Devoe is not the only good paint; it is one, of a dozen; and, very likely, the only one in your town—there are hundreds of middling and bad.

You can see what chance there is of another good one there; perhaps one in ten at the most.

Bad paint is dearest; middling is dear; costs 2 or 3 times as much as the best.

No matter about the cost a gallon; that isn't it; the cost a square foot; the cost a job; better yet, the cost a year.

There's a whole education in paint in this advertisement.

Charles P. Jones, Millington, sells it.
