COOKING FUN

Task - it, a - taskit, please pass the hot bread basket, so goes the morning breakfast chorus. There's nothing like a batch of fresh - baked hot breads to help start the day with a tune!

Hot breads are especially popular for breakfast because they can be mixed up in a jiffy and baked while the family assembles to eat. These same qualities make them perfect for luncheon or dinner, when the hot bread specialty contributes an extra touch of glamour.

Take an ordinary meal add a quick hot bread and presto, you have a special meal. Such is the case with Cheese Corn Meal Biscuit Ring, a glorified biscuit - type hot bread with chopped pimiento and grated cheese throughout. This picture-pretty bread is an ideal luncheon accompaniment, served with a deluxe Waldorf or chicken salad.

Coffee Cake

Quick coffee cakes are always popular and when you find one you like, it's nice to make it again and again. One of the most glamorous you'll find is Pineapple Ring Coffee Cake. A rich butterscotch and silvered almond topping lends a festive party touch and gives a wonderful flavor contrast to the crushed pineapple hidden in the coffee cake ring.

Although most quick breads are served hot from the oven, Coconut Tea Bread is a delicious treat served either warm or cold, as you like.

No mention of quick breads is complete without the popular doughnut. This recipe for Frosted Doughnuts is just a bit different from usual, with rolled oats in the dough for a sweet, nut - like flavor. For an extra special treat, the doughnuts can be split in half and filled with vanilla pudding.

Cheese Corn Meal Biscuit Ring
Makes an 8-inch Ring

2 cups sifted enriched flour
¾ cups Quaker Enriched Corn Meal
5 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
1/3 cup shortening
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 cup milk
½ cup grated sharp cheese

Sift together flour, corn meal, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add pimiento. Add milk, mixing lightly only until mixture is dampened.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to 3/8-inch thickness; brush with melted butter. Cut with floured biscuit cutter (small size). Dip the buttered side of each biscuit in the grated cheese. In a well greased 8-inch ring mold, stand the biscuits on end with flat sides of biscuits together. Sprinkle remaining cheese over the top.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Let stand in ring mold for 2 or 3 minutes. Invert and then turn right side up. Brush with melted butter.

Pineapple Ring Coffee Cake
Makes 8 Servings

Topping:
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup slivered almonds
grated rind of one lemon

Coffee Cake:
2 eggs, beaten
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup milk
2 cups Aunt Jemima Ready-Mix for Pancakes
1/3 cup melted shortening
1 cup drained, crushed pineapple

For the topping, mix together butter, brown sugar almonds and lemon rind.

For the coffee cake, gradually add sugar to beaten eggs, beating until fluffy. Add milk and pancake ready - mix, stirring lightly until combined. Fold in melted shortening and crushed pineapple. Pour batter into well-greased 1½-quart ring mold or 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle the topping over the batter.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 minutes for the ring mold, 25 minutes for the 8-inch square. Cool for 2 or 3 minutes in pan; turn out on wire rack. Turn right side up immediately.

Coconut Tea Bread
Makes 1 Loaf

1 cup shredded coconut
2 cups Aunt Jemima Ready-Mix for Pancakes
1/3 cup sugar
½ cup chopped nutmeats
1 egg, beaten
1¼ cups milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Place coconut in shallow pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Stir occasionally until golden brown. Mix together pancake ready-mix, sugar, nutmeats and the toasted coconut. Add beaten egg and milk; fold in melted shortening.

Bake in a greased waxed paper - lined loaf pan (4-in. size) in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about one hour. Serve warm or cold.

Frosted Doughnuts
Makes 2 Dozen Doughnuts

2 tablespoons shortening
2 eggs
¾ cup sugar
3½ cups sifted enriched flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup milk
¾ cup Quaker or Mother's Oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

Melt shortening; cool. Beat eggs until thick; beat in sugar gradually. Add cooled shortening. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and spices; add to egg mixture alternately with milk. Fold in rolled oats.

Turn out on floured board; knead gently a few strokes. Roll out about 3/8 inch thick. Cut with floured doughnut cutter. Fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees F.) until brown, turning once. Drain on absorbent paper. Frost with chocolate confectioners' sugar frosting.

For a special treat, split unfrosted doughnuts just before serving. Fill with vanilla pudding (using a cook book recipe or a package mix). Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar or drizzle with a thin chocolate confectioners' sugar frosting.

Little lights solve problems

The old story about valuable things coming in small packages is certainly true when it comes to "little lights" for your home!

For instance, if yours is one of the millions of homes with unlighted closets, you can solve the problem with ready-to -use automatic closet lights.

These lights, say General Electric Monowatt engineers, are designed to be attached to the door frame, and the light is operated by the action of the door on a self - contained push button switch, turning the light "on" automatically when the door is opened and "off" when the door is closed.

Pre-wired, an automatic closet light does away with the need for special electrical connections. Just screw the assembly to the door frame and plug the attaffed cord into the nearest convenience outlet.

Handy Household Light

If you've ever damaged your good disposition trying to find something in the back of a dark storage area, closet or cabinet, you'll be glad to know about ... the handy household light, a miniature utility light, complete with nine-foot cord and a swivel suspension hook for hanging the light up while you work.

It plugs into any convenient outlet and is invaluable for illuminating hard-to-get-at corners. And incidentally, if the man of the house has a home workshop, he'll use the light frequently to cut down shadows and improve visibility inside cabinet work and on cutting tools.

New Night Lights

There's an innovation in the night light field, too — a "hang-up" model with a translucent ivory plastic shade. Pin it up anywhere on the wall — near a staircase, in the hall, beside a medicine cabinet — for nighttime safety and convenience.

And you can even get a specially - designed "little light" for night-time telephoning. The phone light, which will burn all night on less than a penny's worth of current, has a base plate that fits securely under a desk phone or hangs from a hook beside a wall phone, and the seven - watt bulb is mounted on a swivel so that you can direct the light right on the phone dial.

Tri-colored cocktail

Happy is the hostess with this different recipe for a colorful cocktail in her file.

Easy enough to make to use for everyday dinner, "Tri- Color Cocktail" is a perfect first course for the most pretentious entertaining. Complementing each other in color, flavor and texture Calavo avocado, pear and bright cranberries are combined with chilled orange juice and lemon for a flavor thrill for the most sophisticated appetite.

1 medium - sized Calavo
1¾ cups cubed canned or fresh pears
¼ cup cooked sweetened whole cranberries
1¼ cups chilled orange juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
Granulated sugar

Cut Calavo into halves, remove seed and skin, and cut fruit into cubes. Combine with pear and cranberries. Blend chilled orange juice, lemon juice and rind with sugar to taste. Pour over fruits and serve very cold.

Serves 5 to 6.

Lieutenant and GI die

CAMP PICKETT, Va. — A car loaded with soldiers sped through a stop sign near here last week and struck another automobile, killing both drivers and injuring the other three passengers, according to state police.

The dead persons were Lt. Clarence L. Woods Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Woods of Pine Creek Mill, Va., and a white soldier, Robert Ammons, 21, Fairview, W. Va.

The impact spun both cars across the highway into a wooded area and tossed Lieutenant Woods from his vehicle. He died instantly of a fractured skull and a broken neck. Ammons (rank unknown), the driver of the speeding car, died 24 hours later.

The injured soldiers, all of whom were passengers in the car driven by Ammons, were: William B. Boolharst, 20, Genesee, Pa., the owner of the speeding auto; Raymond R. Bender, 21, Box 251, Indianola, Penna., and Robert E. Botsch, 22, Wyoming, Del.

The latter two who were asleep on the back seat were not seriously injured. Boilharst who was riding up front was taken off the critical list Sunday.

The accident occurred at 9:45 p.m., last Monday night, one mile east of Blackstone

Service set for William Johnson

William Johnson, 83, died Thursday at his home at 939 N. Eutaw st. He had been ill for some time.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at St. James Episcopal church, with the Rev. Cedric Mills as officiating minister. Burial will be in Arbutus cemetery. The body will be on view at the home on Friday afternoon.

At one time Mr. Johnson was among the leading caterers in this area and he served some of the most distinguished families and glittering social affairs in this city and on the Eastern Shore.

One of his annual assignments was the providing of catering services for the St. Andrews Dinner held shortly after Thanksgiving and regarded as one of the outstanding social events of the season.

Daughters Survive

Mr. Johnson is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mary C. Spellman, former superintendent of the Barrett Training School for Girls, and Miss Elizabeth Johnson.

He was born in Annapolis and entered Howard University in the early 1880's. He graduated from the normal school and a short time later entered the now defunct Spencerian Business School in Washington.

The school was interracial, a rarity in Washington before the turn of the century. Through sheer ability Mr. Johnson graduated from the school at the head of his class, but a dark cloud marred the victory he had won.

Sat In Audience

There was strong sentiment against a colored student appearing in such an exalted position at the commencement exercises held at the local First Congregational church.

And so while the rest of his class sat on the stage, Mr. Johnson sat in the audience.

After leaving Washington he went to Talbot County, Md., where he became a teacher. In 1898 his uncle, Daniel Johnson, a Baltimore caterer, died.

Took Over Business

Mr. Johnson came to Baltimore and took over his uncle's business. He moved into the Eutaw st. house which has been in the family since 1879.

A short time later Mr. Johnson married Miss Mary Mitchell who had been his uncle's secretary. She died in 1905.

Mr. Johnson worked as a caterer until the early 30's when he retired. He was a member of St. James church and took an active role in the affairs of the St. James Male Beneficial Society until the organization ended its activities several years ago.

FRANCIS CRAWFORD GUEST OF PARENTS

The captains and their workers are as follows: 1 to 4 front row, Lavinia Clinton, James Jones, general chairman, who has year takes up where A. A. Prestwidge left off; Miss Roberta Chapman, secretary, board of managers; Robert A. Abbott, chairman, board of managers; Mrs. Katherine Pounds, vice-chairman, board of managers; Sterling Bumgardner, Mrs. Easter Clanton. Second row 1 to r, Mack Overby, Julian Watson, William C. Darden, Coleman Henry, Haywood Bryant, William Clanton. Standing 1 to r, Perlie Jones, James Stewart, the Rev. James A. Everett, newly elected pastor of New Shiloh Baptist church; Rudolph D. Wheeler, executive secretary, and Ulysses Harris.

Wife divorces 'too kind' mate

William Taylor of 2209 E. Chase st, tripped himself by being "too kind" to his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Taylor, here this week.

In the proverbial comic strip manner, Mrs. Taylor, who now lives at 1830 E. Eager st. became suspicious when Mr. Taylor was over solicitous about her entertainment.

Pointing out that she and her husband were married on May 11, 1953 and separated on August 21, the same year, Mrs. Taylor said:

Offered Movie Trip

"He came home from work at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. I prepared supper. After supper a friend, Amy Richards, came in. He said 'You can go to the movies.'

"I told him I didn't want to go to the movies, but he kept insisting. I said to Amy 'Something is wrong. He's acting strange.'

"But we left, and walked around for a while, then circled back to the house.

"We went in, up the back stairs, and eased to the bedroom door. We looked in. My husband was in bed, but not alone. In his anger I had my surprising him with a woman guest, he ordered me from the home. I left."

Following the testimony, Mrs. Taylor was awarded a divorce and her maiden name, Pinder, restored.

Second Triangle Blamed

Also laying the break - up of his marriage to a third person was James Fleming of Jessups, Md., who divorced Mrs. Amy Fleming of 1605 W. Franklin st.

Mr. Fleming told the court that he forgave his wife after discovering her misconduct, but that she never forgave him for surprising her. He said that on June 22, 1946, they argued because she wanted to go to a party and he objected.

When he went to sleep, he said, she left, and he has not seen her since.

With the divorce, the court gave Mr. Fleming custody of two of three children born to the couple. The youngest, now with a sister of the mother in Denmark, S.C., was left for later decision by the court.

Coach accuses brother in theft

An assistant football coach at Morgan State college appeared in Northwestern police court on Wednesday to press a larceny charge against his brother.

Alvin "Boo" Brown charged that his brother, Robert H. Brown, 32, had taken several items of his (Boo Brown's) clothing from the home they share in the 2000 block McCulloh st. The garments were later traced to a local pawnshop.

The defendant pleaded guilty and was given a suspended sentence of 60 days by Magistrate E. Everett Lane. He was also placed on probation for a year.

Valued At $90

The coach said that he discovered the alleged theft of the $90 worth of clothing on Sunday, and that after repeated questioning his brother admitted that he had pawned the garments

Expressing regret that the matter had to be aired in open court, Boo Brown blamed the alleged theft on a "personality maladjustment" of his brother and said:

"I hope he will submit to a mental examination by state doctors."

The coach testified that his brother had taken other items of value from members of his family for a period of two and a half years.

Admits To Charge

Robert Brown, who identified himself as a Morgan graduate, admitted taking the clothing and said he planned to use the money to return to school and obtain a teaching certificate.

(Morgan college records list a "Robert H. Brown" who graduated in 1949 with a major in biology.)

"I did not take the clothing with a malicious intent," he told Magistrate Lane.

Funeral services held at Mt. Calvary

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillian Adams, 49, of 1407 W. Mosher st., were held Thursday afternoon at Mount Calvary Baptist church.

Confined to her home since August due to illness, Mrs. Adams died Saturday. She was the wife of Richard Adams.

She is survived by her daughter, Miss Hilda Adams; and three sisters, Mrs. Louise Bell and Mrs. Hilda Taylor of Baltimore, and Mrs. Victoria Yancey of Alton, Va.

Insect pest control survey undertaken

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—A survey that will keep Maryland's important insect pests under continuous observation during the growing season has been announced by Dr. Ernest N. Cory, head of the entomology department at the University of Maryland.

The insect pest survey will give entomologists up-to-date information on insect populations and make possible advance warning of dangerous outbreaks.

The project is in cooperation with the economic insect survey section of the plant pest control branch, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Given jail term for movie assault

Accused of assaulting an attractive young matron by placing his hand on her as she sat watching a motion picture, Robert R. Horton, 26, of the 2500 block Flora st., was sentenced to 90 days in jail on Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Pettiford, 26, of the 300 block N. Gilmor st., testified in Northwestern police court that the alleged incident took place on Tuesday afternoon in a local theatre.

A tall and well - dressed brunette, Mrs. Pettiford told Magistrate E. Everett Lane that she was seated alone in the theatre when Mr. Horton sat down beside her and made the alleged advance.

Reported To Manager

She testified that when she objected, Mr. Horton got up from his seat and went to the rear of the theatre. She reported the incident to the manager who in turn summoned Officers Leroy Moody and William Cheeks, who placed Mr. Horton under arrest.

The officers also placed a charge of indecent exposure against the defendant when they noticed that his clothing was open.

Mr. Horton pleaded guilty to both charges. Magistrate Lane sentenced him to 90 days on the exposure count and 60 days on the assault charge, both sentences to run con-currently.

Extra payments on GI loans permitted

Veterans holding GI mortgages can make extra payments to their lenders at any time or can pay off the entire loan without a penalty charge the Veterans Administration has announced.

William L. Limburg, manager of VA's Baltimore regional office, said that the minimum extra payment a veteran may make is at least the amount of one month's payment, or a flat $100.

More than 10,469 veterans in this area have already repaid their GI home loans in full since the beginning of the GI loan program in 1944.
