ERTOWN MARBLE AND ANITE WORKS,

JUDGE ELLIOTT DEAD.

Heart Trouble Fatal to the Eminent Jurist.

Judge Thomas Ireland Elliott, a member of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, died Sunday afternoon at his home, 2026 Mount Royal avenue, after an illness of nearly three weeks. Death was due to heart trouble.

Members of the family were prepared for the end. They had been informed earlier in the day by Dr. Charles W. Mitchell, the attending physician, that the jurist's heart action was weak and irregular and that the end could not be far off.

When the end came his wife, Mrs. Corrine Vickers Elliott and their only child, Clara Vickers Elliott, were at his side.

It believed the illness of the jurist but a recurrence of a similar attack suffered several years ago while he was touring in Europe. No alarm for him was felt until the latter part of last week. A few days after he was stricken ill he seemed to be recovering rapidly. Last Friday, however, a change in his condition was noted and from that day on he gradually sank until it was seen that there was but little hope for his recovery. It was recalled Sunday by friends of the jurist that only a few days before he was stricken he attended a dinner at the Baltimore Club given to Albert C. Ritchie, Attorney General-elect, and at that time seemed in perfect heath.

Judge Elliott was known for his fearlessness. He did what he believed was right regardless of the opinion of anyone and he was always ready to defend his actions publicly or otherwise. He knew the law and on several occasions he had lively tilts with officers in the office of the State's Attorney, as well as with others. He feared no one and although a Republican in politics was not a partisan.

Born in Baltimore on Christmas Day, 1856, he was the son of the late Professor William Elliott, Jr., who for 30 years was president of the Baltimore City College. Judge Elliott received his early education in the public schools in Baltimore and later entered Princeton University and 1876 was graduated with honors. He was elected to the Supreme Bench in 1906. He leaves a widow, who is a daughter of Mrs. Harrison W. Vickers, Sr., of this town, and one daughter. Funeral was held Tuesday with interment private in Greenmount cemetery.

OUR DEATH RECORD.

T. ALBERT HULME.

T. Albert Hulme, son of Mrs. Hannah E. Hulme and the late Thomas A. Hulme, died early Sunday morning at the home of his brother, 2201 St. Paul street, Baltimore. Death was due to a combination of diseases. He had been ill for 10 days. Before coming to Baltimore Mr. Hulme lived a number of years in Kent county near Galena, Md., where his family is well known. Besides his mother, he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. S. Harry Conover of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Fannie DeShields, Mrs. J. Herbert Johnston and Miss Charlotte C. Hulme and L. Zaidee Hulme, all of Baltimore. Two aunts, Mrs. J. Monroe and Miss M. C. Hulme, and a cousin, Mrs. Thomas J. Boyce, all of Philadelphia, also survive. A sister, Miss Charlotte Hulme, with her aunt, Miss M. C. Hulme, left recently for California to spend a year and are now in San Francisco. They have been notified of the death.

SANTA CLAUS

HAS JUST ARRIVED WITH THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF TOYS, CANDY, NUTS AND FRUIT THAT HAS EVER BEEN DISPLAYED BY B. S. SUTTON & SON.

We expect to sell more goods this Christmas than ever before, because we are going to sell at the very lowest price possible. We wish every one would compare our prices with other stores in this county, and also the quality of the goods, and then judge for yourself.

Our store will be decorated more this Christmas than it ever has been, because we have more help and clerks of better service, and they're only too glad and willing to show the goods.

Santa Claus will be here in person WEDNESDAY, DEC. 22nd, with Nuts, Candy and Apples for the children folks, and he wants to see all the children, as well as the old and young folks, so as to make him happy, as he has lots to visit, and is getting older all the time, and he cannot stay long at a place.

We have all kinds of Toys, Nuts, Candy, Oranges, Raisins, Bananas and everything that can be found in a well equipped store.

WEDNESDAY'S WILL BE OUR SPECIAL DAY. Candies, from 8c to 40c; Nuts, from 13½c to 40c; Sugar 5
