IN TRAINING CAMP:

White Sox unveil new backstop, Earl Batty

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The Chicago White Sox unveiled a new young catcher, Earl Battey, here Tuesday as they dropped a 10-8 exhibition game to the St. Louis Cardinals.

The young Californian was the only White Sox colored player to see action. The Sox divided their camp into two squads for the day. Outfielders Minnie Minoso and Bob Boyd, and pitcher Connie Johnson remained in Tampa.

Minoso Bedded With Flu

Minoso still is confined with an attack of the flu and currently is out of action.

Battey caught the first three innings of the game. On his one trip to bat, he was called out on strikes. The Cardinals' 20-game winner, Harvey Haddix, fed him two straight change-up pitches. These caught the inexperienced youngster off balance.

Hits Into Force Play

On his only throwing chance, he nipped Stan Musial on an attempted steal of second base.

Rookie first baseman Tom Alston, appearing as a switch-hitting pinch hitter for the Redbirds, rolled into an infield force play.

Battey is only 19 years old. However, both general manager Frank Lane and pilot Paul Richards speak enthusiastically of him.

The lad was signed last June, the day after he was graduated from Jordan High School in Los Angeles. At Jordan, Battey played four years of varsity baseball. He was also forward on the basketball team.

With Colorado Springs

He was picked up by Hollis Thurston, Sox Pacific Coast scout supervisor, and assigned to Colorado Springs, of the Class A Western League.

A 6-foot, 1-inch, 190-pounder, Earl is righthanded all the way. In commenting on him, Lane had this to say:

"This boy looks awfully good—big, strong and smart, despite his youth. He's the next thing to what (Roy) Campanella must have been when he was on the way up."

Campy's 'Tops'

"And Campy's my idea of the 'tops' in big league catching."

Richards, talking about Battey to newsmen a short while later, declared:

"He's going to be a 'helluva' catcher in a year or two"—LACY.

Portsmouth buys First baseman

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (ANP)—Promising colored athlete has been purchased by the Portsmouth Merrimacs. He is Johnny Barbee, first baseman from Pampa, Texas of the West Texas New Mexico League.

Barbee, a resident of Durham, N.C. comes to Portsmouth with an outstanding reputation as a hitter.

The right handed batter played 131 games for Pampa last season, batting .367. He hit 34 doubles, three triples and 19 homers. He batted in 112 runs. In 488 trips to the plate, he slammed out a total of 179 base hits.

Jim Hamilton, owner of the Pampa club, told Frank Lawrence, boss of the Mass that Barbee "is an outstanding and highly respected player."

Barbee started with the Black Yankees in the Negro National League.

Reds twirler loses debut

TAMPA, Fla. — Former Birmingham Baron ace Bill Powell was nicked for five hits in two innings as he made his major league debut on the mound for the Cincinnati Reds here Sunday.

The big righthander was charged with the loss as the Reds were downed, 8-3, by the Chicago White Sox.

Cuban duo shows promise as Nats drop exhibition to Yankees, 4-3

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The remodelled Washington Nats dropped a 4-3 exhibition decision to the New York Yankees, Wednesday, despite a gallant effort on the part of their colored Cuban duo, Carlos Paula and Julio Becquer, to pull the game out of the fire.

The Yanks pushed a run across in the bottom of the ninth when Gil McDougald raced home on Berberet's one-out sacrifice fly.

The Nats' two Cubans had helped knot the count at 3-all in the eighth inning of a catch up game, in which the Yanks had led since the fourth.

Singles To Center

Paula, leading off the Washington eighth, worked the count to three and two, looking very bad swinging at a low, wide curve for the second strike. However, this was forgotten when he stroked the climax pitch for a line single to center.

Becquer came up in the same inning with none down and men on first and second, the latter being Paula. Julio clouted a two-one serve to right, scoring Carlos and sending the other runner, Dan Porter, to third, whence he tallied a moment later on a sacrifice fly.

Afield Paula had two put-outs, one a difficult chance on which he hawked Bob Cerv's well-hit drive that died in the wind and suddenly changed course.

Howard Plays

Elston Howard, getting his first chance of the spring in the Yanks' lineup, was the hero of the early innings. For it was he who set up the advantage of which the Bombers held until the Nats tied it.

The young rookie, converted into a catcher by Casey Stengel, caught the first four innings. And it was his triple in the fourth with two along ahead that shot the world champs into a 3-0 lead.

His first time up, in the second, Howard swung on lefty Bunky Stewart's first pitch and bounced out to the infield.

In the fourth after Gene Woodling had homered to put the Yanks ahead by one run, McDougald walked and Jerry Coleman singled to center.

Score 2 Men

Howard then came up to smash a one-one curve down the left center slot to score his two runs.

Afield he was credited with two strikeout putouts but had no pop foul or throwing chances.

His first inning error paved the way for a Washington threat, but nothing came of it. In his anxiety to field a topped ball by Tom Umphlett, Howard overran it, couldn't pick it up, and the batter was safe.

Jim Busby followed with a single to center, but Roy Sievers rapped into a third-to-first double play to end the inning.

Paula and Becquer were the only members of the Nats Cuban contingent on hand.

Scull Reports

Angel Scull, in whom Manager Bucky Harris is placing considerable hope, did not report until Wednesday morning, and did not make the trip from Orlando.

The fourth of the lot, Juan Delis, was reported on his way from Havana and expected momentarily."—SAM LACY.

REMEMBER, HE COST $100,000:

Alston's lame back worries Ed Stanky

By SAM LACY
AFRO Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Eddie Stanky, who has been known to question just about everything, is now asking another one.

"The Brat," sharp - tongued, quickwitted manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, would like very much to know why ball players must have muscles in their backs. Particularly one who cost his bosses $100,000.

Reason for Stanky's concern is the injury which has almost sidelined his prize rookie, Tom Alston. The former A. and T. college first baseman carried a $100,000 price tag when the Redbirds purchased him during the winter.

"He got hurt—pulled a back muscle—in our rookie school over in Deland, "Stanky told the AFRO the other day. "I haven't had a chance to see him swing the bat," he added.

"Ive seen him in infield drills and he looked good. Defensively, he's major league right now," Stanky gloated.

He's Big And Agile

"He's big, tall, lone and amazingly agile for his size. But I'm more anxious than a lot of people to see him swing a bat," the peppery pilot admitted.

"He is smart and has an excellent attitude. They tell me they used him in public relations out at San Diego during the off season. That speaks well."

"The Doc' (Trainer H. Wayne) says we're responding to treatment. He should be ready within another few days. I can hardly wait!," complained Stanky.

Alston Frets, Too

Alston, in the meantime, is as impatient as his manager. He spends the clubhouse at 9 a.m. daily. This is two hours before the squad is due. He receives treatment. Then he willingly engages in pepper ball drills and warm-up exercises.

"I don't know what happened in Deland," he says. "All I did was fall down one day. My back started hurting me and I couldn't swing a bat. It never happened before, so I find it hard to explain."

Newk loses 1st game in spring test

MIAMI (NNPA) — Don Newcombe, making his first start in a baseball game since the memorable third game of the World Series, was tagged with the loss in the clubhouse at 9 a.m. daily. This is two hours before the squad is due. He receives treatment. Then he willingly engages in pepper ball drills and warm-up exercises.

"I don't know what happened in Deland," he says. "All I did was fall down one day. My back started hurting me and I couldn't swing a bat. It never happened before, so I find it hard to explain."

MISUNDERSTOOD STAR:

Power says being traded to A's was a good break

By SAM LACY
(AFRO Sports Editor)

ORLANDO—Fla.— Best thing that could have happened to Vic Power was to get away from the New York Yankees.

That conclusion, reached by outsiders sometime ago, was drawn by the ball player himself at breakfast here Sunday morning.

The Puerto Rican rookie and his coach, Judy Johnson, ate with the writer at a small cafe on Church Street. A short time later they were due at the Tinker Field ball park where the Philadelphia Athletics met the Washington Senators in a spring training exhibition game.

Feels Sold

"I feel sure I can make the Athletics team," declared Vic between mouthfuls of hotcakes and sausage. "But if I don't it won't be because I didn't get a proper chance."

Both Power and Johnson agree that the A's are sincere in wanting to field the best team possible, regardless of color.

"Being traded to Philadelphia was the best thing that could happen to me," Power continued. "I wasn't happy in the other (Yankee) organization. There were so many little things they did to make me look bad.

Recalls Story

"Like that story that got out last summer, saying I wanted to take a week off to rest at a time when I was leading the American Association at bat.

"It wasn't true, but nobody bothered to ask me about it, so there was nothing for me to do but try to forget it.

Manager Suggests

"What actually happened was that Harry Kraft, my manager at Kansas City, suggested that it was what I wanted.

"We were playing Toledo and I was in leftfield. A guy, I don't remember who it was, hit a low line drive toward the corner.

"I figured it was good for two bases and played it to check the runner from trying to stretch it. When I got the ball, I couldn't see any chance of getting him at second, so I threw to third.

"When I came in after the inning, Kraft told me I was out of the game, that (Cliff) Mapes was playing left from now on.

Manager Answers

"I asked him why, but all he said was it looked like I wanted a week off to rest. And before I could answer, he ran out to the coach's box.

"We lost the ball game, so the next day he told me I was in left, that I was being paid to play ball, not to take a week's rest in midseason.

"That day I got four for four."

Remembers Conversation

When Power had finished telling the story, this writer remembered a conversation with president Clark Griffith of the Senators, during the winter.

"I'd like to find out how much you know about this boy's attitude," Griff said. "We'd like very much to have him but we've gotten some pretty bad reports.

"I'm curious to know how many of them are true and which are not."

The AFRO confessed to knowing very little about Vic's personality. All the writer had heard had come from Dan Bankhead, who had formerly played with Power in the Puerto Rican Winter League.

Potential, Boomed

Bankhead spoke in glowing terms of Power's potential as a player but, apparently, saw nothing wrong with his attitudes. At least, he made no mention of them.

"Take that knock Howard (Elston Howard, Yankee teammate at Kansas City) is supposed to have given me," Vic went on.

The other day the papers quoted him as saying I was swell-headed and hard to get along with, and that I don't like to hustle.

"I don't believe Howard actually said those things because I don't believe he thinks them.

"What I really think is that the idea was planted by somebody else. I won't say who—and that the St. Petersburg interview with Howard was so slanted as to make it come from him.

Got Along

"We got along well when we were roommates, and I don't think I did anything to give Howard that impression.

"As for Howard, I think he's a good ball player. And if they give him a fair chance—which I doubt—he'll make the club.

"He's young and strong. He has a line clubhouse at 9 a.m. daily. This is two hours before the squad is due. He receives treatment. Then he willingly engages in pepper ball drills and warm-up exercises.

"I don't know what happened in Deland," he says. "All I did was fall down one day. My back started hurting me and I couldn't swing a bat. It never happened before, so I find it hard to explain."

Yogi Berra says Howard 'doesn't look bad . . .'

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Elston Howard, making his initial appearance in the New York Yankee lineup, played the first four innings of the game in which the Yanks edged the Washington Nats, 4-3.

He caught starting pitcher Jim McDonald for three frames and relieve Harry Byrd for one. He had two putouts, no strikeouts, and got one hit in two at-bats.

Asked for his opinion of the new catching candidate after the game, Berra declared:

"You've got to remember it was his first game as a catcher. He's in need of a little polishing but he didn't look bad."—LACY

Pulled back muscle holds Tom Alston to limited action

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. Rookie first baseman Tom Alston, who had to leave the camp by a pulled back muscle, made his second batting appearance of the spring training period here Tuesday.

The $100,000 purchase from San Diego bounced into a force play at second when he went to bat as a pinch hitter in the sixth inning of the St. Louis Cardinals' 10-8 win over the Chicago White Sox.

On his one previous exhibition at bat, against the New York Yankees, Sunday, Alston also bounced out to the infield—LACY

BANNON—In loving memory of my dear mother and grandmother, JENNIE BANNON, who passed away, March 10, 1950.
We saw you fading like a flower, But we could not make you stay; Kindness you was love and power, Until God called you away.
Oh! We loved you so
And our hearts ache for you today,
We'll miss you more than words can tell
And you've gone so far away;
By Her Loving Daughter,
MARY E. BANNON;
Grandchildren,
ERNEST BANNON, SR.
Great-Grandchildren,

DOROTHY P. HICKS.

DAVIS—In loving memory of our dear Son and Brother, LEON, who passed away one year ago, March 11, 1953.
We do not forget you, LEON,
Nor do we intend to;
We think of you often and will to the end
Gone for one year; and forgotten by some you may be;
But deep in our memory you ever will be.
Sleep on, dear Son, we all loved you well.
But Jesus loved you best.
Loving MOTHER, SISTER, BROTHER and FAMILY

DODSON—In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, GEORGE ISAAC, who passed away, March 7, 1947:
Some have gone and many remain
Safe in the arms of God to abide;
To meet again in the morning
Where there will be no more tears to chide.
Gone but not forgotten.

HOLLY—In memory of my beloved husband, GILBERT HOLLY, who called home three years ago, March 14, 1951:
You're gone where only my prayers may follow.
So this I pray from sun to sun,
That I who mourn may be united With you, when life's last day is done.
Wife, IDA.

JACKSON—In memory of my dear wife, our mother,
MARTHA J. JACKSON,
who passed away on Mar. 13, 1951:
We have lost our dear one, our companion.
Life linked with our own,
And day by day, we miss her more
As we walk through life alone.
Loving Husband, ROBERT.
And Daughters, ALTHEA AND PHYLLIS.

MINOR—In loving memory of my dear mother, BELLE MINOR, who passed away March 12, 1948:
A token of love and remembrance
Of a mother I shall never forget;
Her memory to me is a treasure,
Her loss a lifetime regret.
Loving memories never die
As years go on and days go by.
In my heart a memory is kept
Of the one I loved and will never forget.
Daughter,
PHYLLIS.

PITTS—In loving memory of my dear Aunt, SARAH K. PITTS, who passed away March, 1911:
Oh, Lord, keep green the grave of my dear Aunt
