University Women receive Dr. Jones into membership

With Lula Jones Garret

Dr. Gladyce Bradley Jones, professor in the department of education at Morgan State College, has been received into membership of the Baltimore chapter of the American Association of University Women.

ASUW is the association with which Dr. Mary Church Terrell, Washington, went to bat to break segregation bars. For, while the association has been liberal on the national level, local chapters are not generally so gracious.

The Baltimore chapter maintains headquarters in its Charles street club.

Susan Webb, granddaughter of Dr. Effie Ellis, pediatrician of Provident Hospital, tell of the needs of her department and promised to cooperate with her in carrying out some of her plans.

The discussion continued as the group enjoyed delicious sandwiches, coffee and cakes served at a beautifully laid table which was highlighted with shamrocks in recognition of St. Patrick's Day.

In addition to Mrs. Henson and Dr. Ellis members present included Mesdames Genevieve Lee, Majorie Mitchell, Mary Edwards, Juanita Rice, Clara Colbert, Virginia White and Kathrine White.

The next meeting will mark the first anniversary of the club and members will have Mrs. Bertha Proctor as hostess.

TWENTY WOMEN MEET

When "The Twenty Women" (club) met with Ellen Stewart, Sunday, there was a delightful surprise in store for them.

Along with the elaborate buffet supper, there was a fashion show....and a gentleman to lend charm....what with Hue band Sam, to share entertaining.

About for the evening were: Mesdames Marie Brown, Queenie Lane, Florence Murray, Ann Burton, Elizabeth Snead, Rebecca Swindell, Margaret Hall, Violet Lindsay.

Mesdames Louise Williams, Lillian Harris, Julia Gambrill, Zelma Johnson, Louvenia Hall, and Miss Mabel Scott.

COMEDIES SCHEDULED

The current production of the Arena Players is two one-act comedies. One, an American work, "The Happy Journey," from the pen of Thornton Wilder, author of "Our Town," has all the intimate touches which go to make up a highly amusing family comedy. The second play is an adaptation from the French comedy, "The Bronze Lady and the Crystal Gentleman" by Henri Duvernois. In it you will recognize the elegant touch of the continental comedy.

Making their debuts with the group in the Wilder comedy are Mary Carter, as Mrs. Kirby Ma), and Verna Day as the married daughter, Beulah, also Osborne Boykin as Arthur, the son.

The rest of the cast includes Cora Williams, last seen in Tennessee Williams' "This property is Condemned," and Arthur Thorogood from the cast of "27 Wagons Full of Cotton."

A last minute substitution has been in casting Joe Colbert, a newcomer as the stage manager in place of Irvin Turner, who was chosen to portray the role of Donald, along with Christine Moore, (formerly Beulah) who plays Rheba in the Hilton Horseshoe production of "You Can't Take It With You" starring Charles Coburn.

The Bronze Lady" cast includes Joyce Somerville and Jim Campbell, both new players on the arena stage, and Carroll Seward, Joe Wilson, Joe Colbert, and Sam Wilson.

A highlight of the show will surely be the exhibit of the works of Clinton Smith, talented young Baltimore Artist, who has recently been added to the scenic design staff of the Arena Players.

The Arena Players an energetic group of young working adults, enthusiastically engaged in the business of play-making, was organized by its managing director, Sam Wilson, in September of 1953.

It presents all of its plays in the theatre-in-the round or arena style. For the initial season the group is being housed at 1908 Warwick Avenue a cottage on the campus of the Coppin State Teachers College.

MRS. WOODLAND SHOWERED

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Maryland Dental Society surprised Mrs. Lettie Woodland with a baby shower at their last meeting which was held at the home of Dr. Maybelle Weaver in Morgan Park.

Those who bedened her with gifts were:

Mesdames Llewellyn Walker, Olga Rodney, Alice Sykes, Jeanette Christmas, Maybelle Weaver, Elise Hunt.

Mesdames Vivien Burnett, Vivian Alleyne, Mamie Williams, Mabel Byrd, Eula Mae Watts, Mamie Jones and Bernice McDaniels.

At a meeting previous to this, the ladies were anxious to know more about state legislature and the coming elections and invited Harry Cole and Robert Watts, attorneys to express their opinions and to enlightened the group on politics.

H.M. CLUB MEETS

The H.M. (you know) Club held forth at a dinner party-ollo, Saturday night. Dr. Charles Woodland took his co-hosts to the Modelo Club for the affair at which he, Dr. W. Leroy Rerry, Rivers Chambers, Edgar Ewing, William Gosnell, Charles Law, Howard Murphy and Dr. Ted Phifer hosted. Nice members there was James Murphy.

They had as guests Raymond Harris, James Scott, Waddell Thomas and James Tyson of Washington; Ernest Wetmore and Edward Reid of New Jersey; James Pitts, Allen West and Ernest Wright of Philadelphia; Dr. Johnson of Havre de Grace and Dr. Uyssses Bourne of Frederick.

EXHIBIT AT MORGAN

Hard-working Richard Long, of Morgan State college faculty, stazed a delightful art exhibit in the college refectory, Wednesday evening.

Exhibited were paintings and prints by Gwen Ferris of New York City and paintings by Bernard B. Perlman of this city.

Charming co-eds presided at a refreshment table. Scores of Baltimoreans dropped in to see, or purchase. The exhibit will be open from 9 to 5, daily, until the 26th.

SEE FASHIONS

The Barlinds (club) had a sneak preview of Valentine fashions the other night. Verna Day and Elsie Colona did the modeling.

Members about to enjoy the styles, plus the refreshments included Daisy Ravenel, Thompson, Vera Flint, Doris Wallace, Betty ...., Audrey Pinderhughes, Hazel Givens, Elsie Scott and Sarah Gray.

Joslyn Ferrell, Dr. Braxton wed in Morgan College Center

Miss Joslyn Ferrell, daughter of Mrs. Adelelie E. Ferrell and the late Joshua T. Ferrell of Chestertown, Md. became the bride of Dr. John S. Braxton, Jr., here, Friday.

The ceremony, in Morgan State College Christian Center, was performed by the Rev. Edgar Ward and the Rev. Marcus Wood. Mrs. Francis Hill was organist and Gerald Wilson and the Morgan College Sophomore Quartet sang.

Dr. Braxton is the son of John S. Braxton, Sr. of Philadelphia, and a practising physician in South Baltimore.

Wears Ice And Tulle

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Forrester C. Ferrell, wore a formal wedding gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The full skirt was made with a night train. Her veil of nylon tulle was waist length, and she carried a white Bible covered with satin and lace and marked with white satin ribbons touched with red rosebuds.

Sisters Attend

She was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Robinson and Mrs. Inez White of Chicago, Ill.; and Mrs. Louise Spencer of this city; a friend, Mrs. Laura Phillips and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lilyan Ferrell, both of this city.

The attendants wore nylon net frocks in blue, yellow, periwinkle, lavender and pink, respectively. They carried old-fashioned corsages.

The junior bridesmaid, Janet Wood, was gowned in aqua net and carried a nosegay of spring blossoms. Marilyn Ferrell, niece of the bride, who wore blue net, a beret of flowers and carried a basket of blossoms, was flower girl. John Spencer, Jr. was ring bearer.

Mr. Edwards Best Man

Thomas J. Edwards of Philadelphia was best man. Ushers were Robert Trotmon of Philadelphia; Selvin Gumbs of Philadelphia, Edward Day and Theodore Patterson of this city.

For her daughter's wedding, and the reception which followed in the Center, Mrs. Ferrell wore a dusty rose net gown, with matching gloves and hat, and an orchid corsage.

For their wedding trip to Boston, Mass., the bride wore a two-piece suit of rose with matching gloves and hat and brown shoes and bag.

Dr. Braxton, who attended Lincoln University (Pennsylvania) and West Virginia State College, studied medicine at Howard University. He interned at Philadelphia General Hospital and took post-graduate courses at Mercy-Douglass Hospital.

Mrs. Braxton took nursing at Provident Hospital, School of Nursing and won her degree in nursing education at Maryland University. She is at present nursing supervisor at Morgan State College.

110 attend Scout Dinner

One hundred and ten Girl Scout, leaders and friends of Scouting heard Mrs. Violet Hill Whyte plead for more volunteer youth workers at Bristol Girl's annual dinner meeting, Monday.

There is not a delinquent child in which there is not some good, the speaker told the group. "We have the finest children in the world, but many are woefully neglected. All they need is intelligent leadership toward strong minds, bodies and characters," Mrs. Whyte said.

Mrs. Irene Joell presided at the dinner meeting. Pep songs were led by Miss Aretha Jennings, district director of District Eight, Baltimore Area Girl Scout Council. A movie completed the program.

Awards Made

Citations for special services to the district went to Clement Nixon, James Dyer and Robert Burkett.

Service pins also went to Girl Scout leaders. The recipients included:
