Revival at Coliseum sells no holy water

By SHIRLEY KYLE

"Baltimore needs a revival!" With these words, the Rev. Russell A. Roberts assured his listeners that he is not conducting a quack program during his Faith Crusade, at the Coliseum.

At the opening session, Wednesday night, some 2,500 persons leaned forward in their seats when the handsome, young evangelist accused them of being exploited by pseudo-philosophers and charlatans.

"We've come here with no roses to sell; no holy water to sell;" the Rev. Mr. Roberts insisted. "All we have is the spirit of God. We want to save souls."

Uses Handkerchief

Though "slightly hampered by a neck microphone, the evangelist captivated his audience as he delivered one of the most soul stirring sermons Baltimore has heard since Billy Sunday.

A symbolic feature of his sermon was the white linen handkerchief he held. At times he waved it like a banner; other times, like a sword.

"Let me tell you Christians, there needs to be a revival in Baltimore," he repeated again and again.

"We have come to a city where a policeman is shot down 200 feet from a colored hospital, picked up, and carried 11 blocks away.

"I tell you, Baltimore needs a revival!"

"We've got to stop talking about living in heaven and start living right here," he said, pounding the handkerchief to the floor.

Body Trembles

Then, embracing himself so tight until his body trembling, he shouted:

"God has got to come into your life. He has to get all over you; get all through you; get all in you."

The audience shrieked. Two women fainted. A man leaped into the aisle yelling, "Yes, Lord. Yes, Lord."

As the young evangelist began to chant, "You must walk like Jesus, take your burden to the Lord," one could sense the spiritual emotion filling the Coliseum.

The Rev. Roberts leaped up and down, waving the white handkerchief, announcing, "He is able." The audience did the same.

He came down from the stage and the audience swarmed in the aisles. Like he surmised, they were a "gospel - hungry people."

'Let Me Pray'

Returning to the stage, he closed his 45-minute sermon saying gently, "Let me pray with you. Someone who wants his home blessed, let me pray with you."

With out-stretched arms, the handkerchief still waving, he continued, "Some mother who has a sick child, let me pray with you."

One by one, the people walked to the front of the stage. A young mother, her eyes red from crying, carried her tiny baby forward.

An elderly couple walked up, followed by hundreds who wanted the evangelist to pray with them.

As the people returned to their seats, Rev. Roberts sat down, slowly placing the symbolic handkerchief in the coat pocket of his French silk suit.

But the people continued to pray aloud.

Ward Singer,

Another feature of the program is Miss Clara Ward and the nationally famous Ward gospel singers.

Dressed in white rayon crepe robes with pastel colored stoles and shoes, the eight - membered group captivated the audience, opening night, with their renditions of:

"I Just Can't Make It By Myself," "This Little Light of Mine," "Surely God Is Able," "King Jesus Is All I Need," "The Old Account Was Settled Long Ago," and "The Old Land Mark."

Members of the octette include: Miss Ward, accompanist and soloist; her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Ward, founder of the group, and the Misses Marion Williams, Marguerite Gilmer, Catherine Parham, Thelma Jackson and Frances, Steadman.

Miss Jackson and Miss Steadman are former Baltimoreans.

60 Churches Sponsors

The revival, which is being continued Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, at 8 p.m., at the Coliseum, is being sponsored by over 60 local churches.

A 300-voice chorus, composed of church choirs, throughout the city, furnish the general music. The chorus is directed by the Rev. Luke G. Reynolds.

Chairman of the committee is the Rev. Ward D. Yerby. Other ministers who officiated at the opening night session were: The Revs. V. T. Williams, Timothy Boddie, Peter Jennings, A. J. Payne, Baxter Matthews and J. M. Reynolds.

CHECKERS IN JAPAN—Pvt. David W. Powell of Baltimore, plays checkers with a Red Cross Grey Lady in Japan, where he is a patient in the Tokyo Army hospital. Before his hospitalization, the 26-year-old soldier was an ammunition handler with the 57th Field Artillery Battalion's Battery A in Korea. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powell, 34 N. Popplelton st., entered the Army in August, 1952, and arrived overseas last June.

No eviction of tenants in county---Birmingham

By ARTHUR RANDALL

More than 300 persons, Wednesday night, heard Michael J. Birmingham, chairman of the Baltimore County Board of Commissioners, assure residents of the Turner and Sollers Homes housing projects that there would be no eviction of tenants there.

Citing his interest in the problem for the past three years, Mr. Birmingham advised the residents of three developments that he had worked out plans to keep Turner Station area families adequately housed.

The meeting, of which the Rev. Davis Banks was chairman, was held in the gymnasium of the Sollers Point high school. The Rev. Mr. Banks was introduced by C. Quinn Jackson of the 12th Dijtrict Democratic Club.

To Allay Fears

Mr. Birmingham told his audience that he had come to the meeting primarily to allay the fears of the tenants that they would be evicted on the date the Federal Housing Authority had advised them was the deadline date for evacuation of the temporary wooden homes in Turner and Sollers—May 31.

He said that while it is true that Turner Homes would be torn down, the tenants who live in this project would be assigned houses in Sollers Homes, which would remain under the auspices of the FHA for an indefinite period of time.

Meanwhile, he said, Mr. Jacob Shinro, who owns the land upon which the Turner Homes were built during the war, is to construct permanent brick rental units there, giving previous tenants priority in applications to move back into them.

Lyons Homes To Be Sold

Mr. Birmingham consisely stated that before the month was over, the land of the Turner area would be returned to Mr. Schapiro, but he reiterated his pledge that the FHA had promised that they would house all families in the Sollers project in homes which have been brought up to standard.

Switching to a discussion of Lyons homes, an FHA permanent brick project, Mr. Birmingham pointed out that the Federal government was relinquishing control of it in the near future.

He said, however, that arrangements had been made, through the Home and Housing Loan Agency, for tenants to purchase the units in which they live.

Pay Own Utilities

In the case of double units, he said, joint contracts could be worked out between tenants of each unit.

In the case of multiple units he stated, a corporation could be formed among the various tenants and the multiple unit purchased.

He warned, however, that in no case could a single unit be purchased by a single tenant and that in dropping out of the picture, it would be necessary for the county to install separate gas and electric meters and impose costs for handling of sewage and cutting up the streets for necessary adjustments.

He emphasized the fact that the tenants of the homes would have priority in purchasing them.

Committee Named

After Mr. Birmingham had spoken, he opened the floor for questions and various details of the developments were brought out by questions of interested people.

The chief county commissioner stated that in working out these solutions to the housing problem of the area residents he had had the advice of a representative committee.

He named its members as the Rev. James A. Elliott, pastor of New Shiloh Baptist church. Dr. Joseph Thomas, physician, and Charley Morris, president of the 12th District Democratic Club, all of Turner Station;

Also Charley Moore, Henry Knox and Julius Recquard, builders or businessmen, all of Lansdowne; Joseph Dundalk, management representative from the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Rev. Jeffries Nominated

At the conclusion of Mr. Birmingham's remarks, State Representative Roy Staten spoke, lauding Mr. Birmnagham as a man who "never goes back on his word."

The Rev. Mr. Banks, in closing the meeting, noted that the county Democratic faction headed by Mr. Birmingham had nominated the Rev. William J. Jeffries of New Shiloh Church as a member of the county executive board, an unprecedented action in Baltimore County.

Patrolman Walter E. Myers and Cpl. Fritz Paul of the Dundalk Police Department were on hand to see that the meeting was orderly.
