Nelson Re-arrested in $160,000 Theft

Seized again on eve of Bureau trial

Accused of trying to pass $20 bills in third arrest

BULLETIN

Unable to post $3,000 bond, Charles Nelson was taken to jail in Rockville, Md., Thursday, following arraignment before U.S. Commissioner F. Archie Mentyard in Bethesda. A hearing was set for May 5, at 2 p.m.

WASHINGTON

Charles H. Nelson, 27, already charged twice in the $160,000 Bureau of Engraving theft, was arrested again Wednesday night and accused of trying to pass another "hot" $20 bill.

Nelson faces trial Monday under an original indictment naming him, James R. Landis Jr., William Giles, Roger Patterson, and Miss Edith I. Chase, in the theft.

Nelson is also scheduled to appear before U.S. Commissioner Cyril Lawrence today (Friday) on charges of trying to pass some of the stolen money two weeks ago.

Secret Service agents said that in the most recent case Nelson tried to pass a bill in Glen Arden, Md.

He was arrested at his home in the 5400 block of Chapel Oaks dr., Chapel Oaks, Md., Wednesday night.

Facing arraignment with Nelson before the U.S. Commissioner today are William F. Johnson, 36, and Wilbert G. Evans, 27.

Johnson was arrested with Nelson two weeks ago after they allegedly tried to pass a stolen $20 bill at a grocery store in nearby Maryland. Evans was arrested the same evening at a downtown movie house where the cashier reported to police that he had passed one of the "hot" bills.

fair contribution from the Federal Government to state-supported institutions, the U. S. Office of Education arrived at a percentage of 66.4 of the total operational funds.

The appropriation for 1955 cuts the government's contribution to 61.9 per cent. Howard gets 31.1 per cent of its budget from private sources, President Johnson stated.

Plant Broke Down

Concerning the power plant, Dr. Johnson described it as a dangerous hazard having "48 diseases." He said it had broken down 17 times last year.

Questioning the term "disease" used by the Howard president to describe the three boilers, Senator Thye asked who had inspected the boilers.

Dr. Johnson said he had taken Rep. Fred E. Busbey of Illinois, chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on HEW, to see the boilers.

Congressman Inspected

The congressman, he said, "put his head inside the abdomen of one of the boilers and when he took his head out, the word 'diseased' was the only one that could describe what he saw."

The list of "accumulated deteriorations in seven categories," Dr. Johnson said, totals $297,000. The university's request to the HEW department totaled $3,088,574. That sum was cut to $3,055,218, he added.

Edward Baxter, liaison representative for special institutions, HEW, then said the department is recommending $272,000 for a power substation and $4,438,000 for a pre-clinical medical building.

Teachers Needed

Dr. Johnson also asserted that in order to implement the medical program, the university will have to have 91 additional teachers in pre-clinical branches in the next four years.

"We are short over 30 of those now," he stated, adding: "The university cannot wait until the day of need for those teachers, but they will have to be trained and produced currently."

The Howard university president charged there has been a "policy change" in government to scuttle the plan agreed upon for the development of the university. Howard, he said, would get less money, percentagewise, than it has in the last 20 years.

Enrollment Cited

Senator Thye commented that he would not accent to this statement because the university has had a decrease in students. (Dr. Johnson had stated that enrollment dropped from 7,231 in 1948 to 3,119 in 1954.)

The educator also added that a Phi Beta Kappa society had just been set up at the university, but if the school were examined now, that society would be taken away.

Senator Thye told Dr. Johnson he (Dr. Johnson) was condemning government officials in the same manner the educator had done the first time he had testified.

Statement of Despair

He told Dr. Johnson he "wondered whether you are putting up a backlog to be shooting at." Dr. Johnson replied that this was the first time he had made "a statement of despair" in 20 years.

The urgent plea by Dr. Johnson cited the need for the following:

Outside Bar

Atkinson was accused of selling the agent two capsules of heroin outside a bar in the 1500 block Laurens st., for $6.

Local narcotics officials said a search of Mr. Thomas's 1951 Buick turned up 76 capsules, five of which contained heroin. Thomas claimed the capsules had been left in his car by two strange women whom he picked up to give them a ride to their homes.

Local agents searched Honest's home on Monday and found 200 empty capsules (enough for $600 worth of narcotics), a fully loaded .25 calibre automatic, a sawed-off rifle, and a box of milk sugar often used to dilute pure heroin. A fully loaded .32 caliber automatic was found in the suspect's car, it was testified.

Narcotic officers who made the actual arrests were: Lt. Joseph Carroll, Sgt. Jacob Simonsen, Officers George Olesh, Clarence Roy and Phillip Smith.

tendent John Procope said in his annual report dated Dec. 31, 1953: "Up to the end of 1953, we have not been able to collect sufficient cash to meet the cost of running the hospital."

$41,000 In The Red

The report shows that the hospital ended the year $41,256 in the red, and Mr. Procope's report added that because of lack of money, "obsolete equipment is kept, frequently long after the dictates of good management decree."

It is known that Provident has had to forego installation of another X-ray room; rebuilding of the elevator, and installation of air conditioning in the operating room.

One source suggested that if the staff doctors alone paid their pledges the air conditioning improvement could be made and they as well as their patients would benefit. This is especially important in view of the fact that as staff members they benefit from having hospital privileges.

No Pledges Complete

Another source pointed out that not one of the 31 staff members who pledged $19,975 has completed payment, and in fact only $4,791 has been collected from this group in the three years.

Four of these staff members pledged $1,000 each. One has paid $500; two have paid $125 and $200. The fourth has paid $750. The first three payments were made in 1951 and '52. The $750 payment was April 8, of this year.

Of the staff doctors who pledged $500-$800, five have paid nothing.

Only Paid $374

Of the 19 doctors and dentists in the city who promised $5,275, to date, only $374 of this amount has been paid by four physicians. The other 15 have not paid anything.

One board member who asked to remain anonymous confirmed to the AFRO that the non-payment of pledges has brought them much concern.

Another member said that he had remained away from a recent board meeting where the matter was scheduled for discussing because he felt it might prove "embarrassing."

Board Members

Members of the interracial board of trustees are Courtlandt Brown, Mrs. Vivian Alleyne and J. Arnet Frisby, George Mendom, Otto Pinkett, Mrs. Violet H. Whyte, the Rev. J. O. Williams, M. $35,000 suit filed for cat's bite

WASHINGTON

What might be one of the most expensive cat bites in history was described in a suit filed in U. S. District Court Tuesday.

Mrs. Essie James, 1400 block U st., nw., and her husband, Moses, are asking $35,000 for a cat bite which Mrs. James says she sustained on Aug. 20, 1953, at the Buckingham Hospital for Animals, 2100 block 14th st., nw.

Mrs. James charges that she was bitten on the left hand by a cat at the institution and that severe consequences have resulted.

Charges Permanent Injury

She charges that the cat's bite has caused permanent injury to her left hand and that she has suffered serious damage to her nervous system and great pain therefrom.

For damages allegedly suffered by her as a result of the incident, Mrs. James is asking for $25,000.

For the loss of his wife's companionship after the incident and other alleged hardships, Mr. James is asking for $10,000.

The suit, which was filed against Alan F. McEwan, trading as the Buckingham Hospital for Animals, asks for a jury trial.

It was reported that this original photo had been "cropped" to show only Private Schine and the Army secretary, on orders given by a member of the investigating committee.

Republican Viewpoint

By HARRY A. COLE

After the City Council election of 1951, the following things became very clear:

1. That a colored candidate could be elected to public office in the Fourth District;

2. That it would be necessary to keep the citizenry alert to political maneuverings;

3. That some effort had to be made to encourage our citizens to register and to vote.

Three long years have passed and it is the opinion of the writer that District is now ready to give birth to a new era in Maryland politics.

See Some Success

No one single person was selected to work to realize this scheme. All were invited but few answered the call. In spite of the small number who participated in the various projects, some success could be measured.

The first idea has been conveyed to the public at large. This one fact has caused the Pollack faction much alarm.

The idea was to get a representative number of colored candidates to run along with competent white persons. In an effort to realize this aim, many meetings were held and many thoughts exchanged.

Present at these meetings were all the Republican ward executives of the Fourth District, some of the party stalwarts from downtown, some of the leading Democrats, and many leaders of various political clubs.

Intra-Party Strife

The final resolve was that the project could be successful if intra - party strife could be avoided and partisan politics could be laid aside. To a large extent, there was common agreement on a sound program for election.

Various persons were contacted to determine if they would be interested in running. Many declined.

The slate decided upon was Harry A. Cole, State Senate; and Furman L. Templeton and Emory Cole, House of Delegates.

This was done understanding that these men had become a part of the Baltimore community and had creditable reputations in the community.

Known In Fourth

It was believed that because they were known in the Fourth District community, it would be easier to get the voters out to support them.

These candidates were indorsed by the 13th, 14th, 15th and 17th ward Republican clubs. These are the wards which comprise the Fourth Legislative District.

An arrangement was reached by which genuine support would be given to the colored Democrat who survived the primaries. This was done to show unity of purpose as well as insure the election of all factions.

After all, it was the purpose which had to be accomplished rather than to bolster the individual success of any particular person.

The final answer rests in the hands of the voter. If he comes out and votes and remains aware of the efforts of the opposition to split his vote, he will have representation in Annapolis.

It's up to us, that is, you and me.

Samuel Stewart House candidate

Samuel R. Stewart, nightclub operator of 311 W. Preston st. has filed his candidacy for a Second District seat in the House of Delegates.

Mr. Stewart is now 11th Ward executive of the fourth, fifth and sixth precincts.

Born and raised in the neighborhood where he lives, Mr. Stewart is well acquainted with the community and its problems. In business about 21 years, Mr. Stewart conducts his club at 850 Linden ave. where neighborhood residents are accustomed to dropping in for advice on projects of community concern.

Joined Office Site Fight

He joined community leaders in the united effort to prevent the displacement of 1,000 families in the 5th Regiment Armory area to make way for a new state office building center.

When choice of the site was a heated issue between city and state officials, Mr. Stewart financed transportation for scores of the neighborhood residents to attend the public hearings to protect their interests.

Chairman of the house committee of the Monumental lodge of Elks, he is also grand deputy for the state of Maryland. He is also affiliated with the Masons.

POLITICS

Another Republican Viewpoint

By J. C. JASPER

Many people are of the impression that we are governed by a Republican State administration.

Nothing can be further from the truth.

Not only have dozens of Democrats been appointed or permitted by Governor McKeldin to head or control important departments, but while he chases around delivering orations, the political business of his office is conducted by his Democratic law associate who sits behind McKeldin's desk in his Baltimore law office.

Whatever anyone wants must be passed on by this Democrat, who has his hand in every matter.

Makes The Decisions

He makes the decision whether bills passed by the Legislature should be signed or vetoed by the Governor. He makes many appointments himself and he is advised beforehand of every case before any State Boards and commissions, and he often dictates the action to be taken by them.

The same applies to the Attorney General, a Republican appointee of Mr. McKeldin. Many of the Democratic assistants have been permitted to stay in office.

In fact, one Democratic assistant was appointed only recently by the Republican Attorney General, undoubtedly at the request of the alleged Republican Governor.

Both have filed for re - election and will ask Republicans to nominate them again. Fortunately Mr. McKeldin is being opposed by real Republicans.

Lawyers Who Work

Hapless Republican lawyers, who work for the Republican ticket year in and year out, sit and gaze longingly for the emoluments of which they are deprived.

As he is now a candidate officially, Republicans will now expect Mr. McKeldin to give persons why he should be supported in the primary election.

Colored voters of both parties will want to know why he steadfastly refuses to direct General Reckord to integrate the Maryland National Guard so as to conform with the practice of the Federal Government.

He refuses point - blank to do anything about it; although a word from him will do the trick.

Quiet On Guard

He complains loudly about the unwillingness of Baltimore hotel owners, to open their doors to colored, knowing his complaints mean nothing, but keeps mighty quiet about his own refusal to act in the National Guard matter.

For his words concerning the hotels, he has been commended by Hew Wilkins of NAACP.

Mr. Wilkens evidently has not been advised about the National Guard matters. Mrs. Lillie Jackson, take notice, please.

In order to fool colored Republican voters more completely, the McKeldin, dominated City Committee has elected William Reid as vice - chairman and much is made of that fact.

Actually it means nothing except an empty honor. The strings will be pulled as usual, by the downtown b'hoys and Mr. Reid will do as he is bid by those who control the committee.

He has plenty of ability and courage, but he will have no opportunity to display it.

Democratic Viewpoint

By ROBERT B. WATTS

George P. Mahoney appeared before the Frontiers Club last week and made many friends among those present.

Dr. Byrd, his opponent, appeared the week before and from the comments and observations that resulted from these two appearances, Mahoney emerged the victor by a wide majority, in terms of appealing to those present.

He did so because many felt the man was sincere and outright. He did not give the impression that he was a crusader for minority groups — he is not.

He did not give the impression he was appealing to the racial identity of the audience of the moment — he was not.

Common Sense Principals

He gave, rather, the impression of being a man who answered the questions propounded on the basis of common sense principles of decency and fairness.

His forthright statement on the Baltimore Municipal Guard issue was the clincher, for Dr. Byrd's was not as forthright and direct.

So far, it seems that Mr. Mahoney has a clear and decisive edge over Dr. Byrd among the colored voters and the appearance of the two men before such a distinguished body helped to crystallize this advantage.

Opportunity For Byrd

Dr. Byrd still has the opportunity to gain strength but he will have to be more direct and positive to convince his audience he is sincere.

Now, according to law, all who were to file have done so, and the time to really begin the job of formulating decisions has arrived.

Issues will be presented in rapid fire from now on and it is necessary that all Democrats among us begin now to help educate the voting public.

I am hoping that men in all walks of life will join in the campaign to express themselves with respect to the issues and the ability of the various candidates.

Tackle The Problem

It has always been my hope that men in public life, with no political ties, men of great stature and personal appeal, would come forward and tackle the problem of guiding our votes in the right channels and for the right man.

There are good and bad candidates among the 2,000 who have filed and it will take the best in us, our greatest efforts, to so channel the votes that our strength will have its maximum effectiveness.

We do not have the power to elect a Governor but if our vote is solidly behind a victor who wins by a small majority, then it is shown that our vote is worth cultivating.

The way to cultivate our vote is to work toward our goal of full and complete citizenship.

This is the job for all well thinking leaders who are mindful of the great potential that comes from a vote well cast and well directed.

What is most important, however, is that we as a group DO GET OUT AND register AND VOTE.
