TOWN SCENE

Luncheoning at Emerson Hotel, Wednesday, as chic looking group of matrons and maids (their special interest being the men-at health campaign) as the town affords, Vivian Pendleton, being on the sponsoring committee, was hostess-in-chief.

Thereabouts were Dr. H. Maceo Williams, Catherine Hagler, Margaret Galbreath, Harriet White, Dukye Woods, Robbie Chissell, Shirley Kyle, Mrs. Hamilton, Wilhelmina Garner, Ivy Harris, Meriam Brown, Ella Edemy, Kay Carter, Jean Cummings, and Lula Patterson.

For a moment, there, at the Me-De-So ball, Friday evening, I thought that Fennette Jefferson Hall, whose favorite quip is "I've been thrown out of better places than this" was going to demonstrate exactly what she means by the expression.

The cotillion brings to mind the rumor that is floating about town that one of the '53 debs, Shirley Lottier, Morgan State College junior, and Thomas Hughes, who will graduate from the same college in June, have been Mr. and Mrs. since May.

PEREGRINATORS

Violet Winder Winston, of this town before becoming the bride of Dr. Leslie Winston of Richmond, Va., was here for a week visiting her sister, Mrs. Inetta Gross. Former club members gave a party for her, the hostesses being Estelena Showers, Edna Nash, Mary Maiden, Mary Fernandez and Genesta Lane. Incidentally, Dr. and Mrs. Winston have recently adopted the most adorable three-year-old baby girl.

Mesdames James H. Murphy who will be joined over the week end by Mr. Murphy) and Mrs. William Dixon are in New York this week. Went up on Tuesday to the bon voyage parties for Dr. and Mrs. Henry Welcome.

Off to Philadelphia last week end went Phi Beta Sigma men, to the regional conference being held there. W. W. Carter of NYC will preside. In attendance from here will be Alfred A. Dixon, Dr. Robert J. Hill, George S. Whyte, Douglas Camper, Leroy M. Gibson, Dr. J. Franklin Phillips, John W. Woodhouse and Joseph Jenkins.

Dr. Hill and Messrs. Whyte and Camper attended the banquet of Nu Sigma chapter in Philly on Monday evening, which closed the chapter's Bigger and Better Business celebration, and featured Lester Grainger as speaker.

Hill children party honorees

Allan C. and Angela P. Hill were honorees at a birthday party, recently, given by their mother, Mrs. Mary Sturdivant of 2908 Bellegrove Road.

Guests were:

Vivian Bates, Patricia Durant, Genora Durant, Jean Bowie, Bettye Wallace, Laurie Garrett, Cornell Wright, Roy Durant, Kenneth Jackson, W. Andre Miles and Loren Miles.

Clubs observe national Home Demonstration Week

Some 116 homemakers, who are members of the Homemakers' Clubs in this city, joined more than 18,000 women in Maryland in observing the Ninth National Home Demonstration Week, this week.

The Maryland Homemakers Club program being part of a nation-wide extension home economics program, is probably the most far-reaching voluntary educational movement for women. Women who are taking part in the program study almost every phase of homemaking and family living.

They select from a wide range of topics in the field of nutrition, clothing, home management, home furnishing and family life. This year groups in Baltimore City are taking part in clothing, family life, home furnishing and nutrition.

At the present time, there are eight homemakers, clubs organized in Baltimore City. They are the Phyllis Homemakers' Club, the Arlington Homemakers' Club, the Frontier Christian Homemakers' Club, the Alpha Homemaker's Club, the Clifton Avenue Homemakers' Club, the Eastside Homemakers' Club, the Modernistic Homemakers' Club and the Two Nighters Homemakers' Club.

All homemakers are welcomed to join any of these clubs or, new clubs can be organized with a membership of twelve, by contacting Miss Ethel L. Bianchi, home demonstration agent, ORleans 5-3900, or at her office at 1500 Lexington St.
