Along the AVENUE

Just for kicks, let's take a tour along Baltimore's night life beat.

First stop of the evening is at the CLUB ORLEANS, 715 N. Gay St., where entertainment is offered by Jimmy Fox and His Tear Droppers, a rocking combo that has returned to the club by popular demand, no less.

Might as well move on to the back and have a seat at the long bar, graciously presided over by the lovely Louise Williams, who has been serving the customers at this popular spot since March.

Before that she worked at several East Baltimore spots and at a club on the Avenue. She likes her job, the people she meets, and always has a wide smile for the customers.

You'll like the service and the drinks at CLUB ORLEANS, a name that is a landmark in the night club field.

Next stop is the CLUB AMBASSADOR at 1936 E. Fayette St., where something jumps every night in the week. Currently playing at the club are the Mello-Jacks and, George, how they play. Talk about jump music, these lads take off. The frantic tenor man you hear is "Wild Man" Perry, who sets a fast pace for the other guys to follow.

Coming up on Monday will be the music of the Jolly Jaxs. Forgot to mention there is continuous entertainment from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. and the prices are easy to take.

Let's move across the street to TILLIE'S, one of the newer places on the Eastside and one of the best. Sam Taylor's Mello-Aires are making the fine music you hear, so take a seat at the bar or in the spacious dining room and give a listen.

Next week Lou Bennett will blow in for an engagementn, prior to opening at a downtown spot. This will be the first chance for Eastsiders to hear Lou on this side of town and they are in for a treat.

Grab a cab and spin over to the ROSE ROOM at the OLDE MILLE on Fremont near Edmondson Ave. Get a look at the beautiful lounge. Ever see anything like it? Sink into one of those easy chairs, order a tall drink, listen to the soft music and just relax. It's warm and friendly in the ROSE ROOM, take your time and enjoy yourself.

The Avenue is next on the list and the first stop will be at the COMEDY CLUB. As you walk in, nod to Julia, the lady in the hat check booth, one of the nicest persons on the Avenue.

The two handsome young men you see waiting to greet you would be Ike and Howard Dixon, owners of the club. They are there to make sure you will have a wonderful time, and you will, George, you will.

The music should be familiar, since it is being played by Lester Young, who blazed to glory with the old Basie outfit. Remember "Lester Leaps In" and other tunes of that glorious era?

The "Pres" has kept abreast with the changing styles in music and sounds as wonderful as ever.

Across the street is the CLUB CASINO where Curtis Harmon and his Topnotes are making with the music. Here's an up and coming group that is booked to go places.

Nice thing about the CASINO is that you can always spot someone you know. The next attraction at the club will be Bob Joyner and His Four Jets. More about them next week.

Let's make the next stop the SILVER DOLLAR CAFE at Laurens and Fremont Ave. This is the spot that was rebuilt after the market fire and it is a beaut. The lights are just soft enough and the drinks are the best.

Almost 2 a.m. so let's hustle up to CLUB TIJUANA where progressive jazz is king. Sonny Stitt is on the bandstand and the rapt look you see on the customers is proof positive that the Stitt brand of music is gone, gone, gone.

Stitt closes out Sunday and the next artist in on Tuesday is Candido. Remember the recent Stan Kenton concert. If you do, then you will remember the excitement Candido stirred up with his bongo drums.

He plays bongo like nobody else. It's an education just to watch him and on his TIJUANA date he will be backed by the Cubanos. Sounds like a whale of a show.

Closing time now, so let's say goodnight . . . Have Fun.
