Provident not to lose money

Bonding Co. covers all hospital workers

Provident Hospital will get back any funds misused or lost because business office employees are covered by a bonding company.

So far, auditors have uncovered an estimated $8,500 shortage in business office accounts during November and December 1953.

They have been busy at the hospital since early May making a further check on books for a period prior to November, 1953 to determine if the shortage is more.

The two business office employees who were separated from the hospital when the shortage was first uncovered were each covered by a $5,000 bond.

It is known that the State's Attorney's office is studying the matter to determine whether criminal charges will be instituted. Meantime, Edward N. Wilson, chairman of the hospital Board of Trustees, told the AFRO that there is a blanket bonding of all hospital personnel.

The hospital's board meets again on June 15, when it is hoped the auditors' investigation will be complete.

Theodore Perkins, acting administrator in the absence of John Procope, ill since March 9, has declined comment on the reported shortage.

No new assignment for Mrs. Parrott

Dr. John H. Fischer, superintendent of schools, told the AFRO, Thursday night, that there has been no chance in the position of Mrs. Lillian Parrott, that she still remains a special assistant.

The query was made of Dr. Fischer as a result of numerous inquiries that poured into the AFRO office.

Taking for granted that the post of special assistant to the assistant superintendent in charge of colored schools had been abolished along with the latter post, speculation ran riff as to what position Mrs. Parrott would be assigned.

No. 106 Speculation

Two posts seemed open to the administrator. One is the Harvey Johnson Junior High School No. 106, which has been observed to be a training post for top principalships.

Salary checks, however, indicated that such would not be a promotion for Mrs. Parrott.

It is also known that Mrs. Parrott has formerly declined the principalship of this school.

The other post in the talk of the week was the principalship of Booker T. Washington Junior High School, in the event of the retirement of the present principal, John N. Cotton. Mr. Cotton however, has not settled on retirement.

Tht Mrs. Parrott would not remain a special assistant was deducted from the fact that the only other special assistant in the system, Dr. Welsey N. Dawn, has been transferred, and is headed for a principalship.

Board moves for full integration

Detailed recommendations for carrying out the decision of the Board of School Commissions for complete integration of city schools were voted upon by that body, Thursday.

The recommendations were made by the board of school superintendents and followed previous standards and criteria of the department with the exception that all racial lines were abolished.

No Subterfuge

The unanimous approval of the board indicated, said Walter Sondheim Jr., president of the board of commissions, that it is that body's intentions to "discharge obligations without any subterfuge."

The motion to accept the recommendations, which were submitted by Dr. John H. Fischer, superintendent of schools, was made by Dr. Bentley Glass and seconded by John R. Sherwood.

Recommendations Listed

The recommendations stated:

In view of the policy on the elimination of racial segregation in the Baltimore Public Schools enunciated by the School Board on June 3rd, the Board of Superintendents presents the following recommendations to implement that policy:

Rules In Effect

1. All of the standards and criteria which are now in force with respect to the admission of pupils to schools, grades, or curricula shall continue in force except that the race of the pupil shall not be a consideration.

The present policy of the school system with respect to pupil transfers shall be continued. Under this policy, transfers because of changes of residence are routinely approved.

Transfers for other reasons may be approved by the two principals involved or by the appropriate Assistant Superintendent.

No Districting Policy

2. As in the past, no child shall be required to attend any particular school. Baltimore has never adopted a districting policy which requires such attendance. There is to be no change in the present rule of the School Board for establishing school districts.

This rule says, in effect, that where a building is overcrowded specific district lines may be established as required by building capacity and neighborhood population. No pupil who lives beyond such a line may then enter the districted school.

All pupils enrolled in any school prior to the establishment of a district line about that school are permitted to remain there.

On the other hand, any pupil who lives within such a district and whose parents desire him to attend a more distant school may be admitted to that school if it is no districted and if the reason for seeking a transfer is considered satisfactory. As population increses occur, it may become necessary in the future, as it has in the past, to district additional schools.

Staff Assignments

3. In the assignment, promotion, and transfer of staff members, the present policy of respecting relative merit shall be scrupulously observed. As in the past, it shall be the purpose of the Department of Education to assign each employee to that position in which he is likely to render his best service to the school and to the community. No person shall be denied any opportunity because of his race.

Shooting, suicide linked to jealousy

Girl shot by sportsman will recover; his funeral on Sat.

Jealousy has been listed by police as the motive behind the near-fatal shooting of a young woman and the suicide of her sweetheart on Tuesday in an attractive home in the 1800 block of Dukeland st.

The alleged motive was uncovered during an investigation into the death of Angelo Evans, 34, and the shooting of Miss Rosalie Chavez, both of the Dukeland St. address.

First reports identified Evans as a grocery clerk, but a further check revealed that he was a prominent East Baltimore sportsman who recently moved to the west side of the city.

Will Recover

Miss Chavez is confined to Lutheran Hospital with bullet wounds of the neck, chest and back. She was reported out of danger on Thursday and physicians said they expect her to recover.

Funeral services for Evans are set for Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church. Bond and Jefferson Sts., according to Mrs. Lillian Chavez, mother of the wounded girl.

As a result of their investigation, police reported that Evans shot Miss Chavez when she threatened to break off their three-year relationship.

Miss Chavez was shot in the kitchen of the home. Her mother, who was in an upstairs bedroom, heard the sound of the shots and came down to the kitchen in time to see Evans standing near the body with a gun in his hand.

"I'm Going Crazy"

Mrs. Chavez said Evans was shouting "I'm going crazy, I'm going crazy." She said Evans ran to his bedroom on the second floor while she went to the front door to call for help. A few moments later, Mrs. Chavez said she heard the sound of another shot and went to Evans' bedroom where she found him lying on the floor.

Evans was pronounced dead on arrival at Lutheran Hospital.

Police reported they found a note bearing out the theory that Evans shot Miss Chavez because of jealousy. Contents of the note were not divulged.

Mrs. Chavez said her daughter and Evans had been sweethearts for three years and had never engaged in any violent quarrels.

$5 Tip Fannon suspends 3 trash collectors after Clean Block workers protest

Three men forming a truck crew in the Bureau of Sanitation were suspended Wednesday after it was reported they had collected $5 from Clean Blockers of the 500 block Oxford Street to remove a load of trash.

The men suspended were:

JOHN SHOWELL, 1077 Ellicott Drive; a chauffeur who has been with the department since January 20, 1949;

JAMES H. ROBINSON, 2912 Clifton Ave., a light duty laborer, with the department since Jan. 27, 1953;

WILLIAM E. HAYES, 2518 Arunah Ave., a heavy duty laborer, with the department since October 20, 1953.

Reported On Saturday

Two Clean Blockers, Marian Boyd, 14, a captain, and Norman Wiley, 17, both of the 500 block Oxford St., first reported the matter to AFRO Clean Block officials on Saturday.

The Clean Blockers had collected the trash from the back yards and the alley of the block and the Bureau of Sanitation truck had removed one load.

When the truck crew returned for the second load, the youngsters said a suggestion was made that the three men be paid $5 for the service.

Marian, a student at School No. 122 and Norman, solicited their parents and neighbors for the money and reported they turned it over to the truck driver who, it was later alleged, divided it among the other two crew members.

Fannon Notified

The children reported the payment to Mrs. Francis Mackay, Clean Block Director and on Monday morning she contacted William P. Fannon, sanitary engineer of the city.

An investigation was begun immediately under George E. Burke, superintendent of the

THE BLOOD FLOWED as the action neared conclusion in the 15-round world heavyweight title bout at Yankee Stadium Thursday night. Ezzard Charles, left, is staggered by Rocky Marciano. Both fighters were covered with blood, most of it from a cut that was opened over the champion's left eye as early as the third round. Through the last five rounds, however, Marciano proved much the stronger, won a unanimous decision. A crowd estimated at close to 40,000 saw the bout.

By SAM LACY

With Charlee ahead in the ninth round, Marciano nailed him with a freak blow to the Adam's apple, Jake Mintz told the AFRO this Friday morning.

From then on said Mintz, Charles could no longer fight according to plan.

Full text of the Mintz interview follows:

LACY—"Do you think Charles got the bad end of the decision"

MINTZ—"He thought he'd won the fight, and I did too. He was way ahead. Of course he lost the last rounds down the stretch but according to our sheets, he was ahead.

"I wouldn't say he was far ahead, but I thought he had won the fight.

"Of course, you know he got hit in the Adam's apple.

"We put him to bed last night and he couldn't talk. He had to write with a pencil to his wife and so forth to us. He got hit in the ninth round."

LACY — "This was later on, that he used a pencil?"

MINTZ—"Yes. At home. He used a pencil at home. He could hardly talk. When he talked to you in the dressing room, it was by force.

"He got hit in the Adam's apple in the ninth round and that was the cause of him losing speed through those last three rounds.

"I think if he hadn't been hit in the Adam's apple, I think he would have won it all the way.

Credit To Marciano

"But, nevertheless, we must give credit to the champion, Marciano. I think he is a great fighter, A far greater fighter than some people thought on account of his crudeness.

"He is a good puncher, a game guy, and a great hitter, a good fighter."

LACY — "You agree with me that Marciano is improving"

MINTZ—"He's improving not a little, but a lot. He's a fellow worthy of being the world's heavyweight champion."

Wants Return Bout

LACY—"Do you think you will get a return fight?"

MINTZ — "According to Jim Norris and everybody else, in fact all the newspapermen, I can't see what else they can do?"

LACY—"I think he deserves another one."

MINTZ — "I think a return match is a million dollar gate, probably more."

Fight Grosses Over $,200,000

The crowd was around 48,000 people.

LACY—"Well that's a pretty good gate for you?"

MINTZ—"The gate was around 540 some thousand dollars.

"I think the net will be about 475 thousand, around that.

"That's not counting the theatres, and not counting the radio, which almost amounted to around 700 thousand.

"And then this moving picture, of course we can't disregard. This being a great fight, the picture is worth the money. How much, that's something we can't tell.

Only Two Heavyweights

"All I can say is that Christenberry and Jim Norris both came over to me immediately and told me that we won't lose anything.

"And Harry Markson came over, too, and the way the thing looks, it looks like that match will go back in again, because there is nothing around today that could come anywhere within 50 per cent that would equal a gate between those two fellows.

"In other words, there are only two heavyweights today that you can talk about, and that is Rocky Marciano and Charles.

"Naturally, they say maybe we have had too many chances at it. I don't think we did.

"There doesn't make any difference how many chances a man should get to regain the title if he is worthy of that chance, which I think Charles proved that he is worthy of another chance. I believe 95 per cent of the newspapers will agree with me."

Wants No One But Marciano

LACY — "Do you have any plans to go back in with Harold Johnson or Nino Valdez?"

(Charles lost to these men previously)

MINTZ—"No. We are not interested in that at all."

LACY—You and Ez both agree that except for the Adam's apple he wasn't hurt?"

MINTZ — "That's right."

LACY — "Do you have any plans made as yet for your next fight?"

Press Conference For Loser

MINTZ—"No, not right now. I can't say what we are going to do.

"Especially that we are having this press conference and here is something for the first time, they are having a press conference for the one who was

"We are free to announce that, as our committee recommended, colored teachers who will apply to the University of Maryland for admission to the summer school will be admitted, if they are qualified," Dr. Louis L. Dr. Kaplan said, "in our poll of the board members, the majority have replied by wire, including those who were members of the committee, and there was no dissenting vote.

"The majority of the board is in favor of the unanimous recommendation of the committee and I am sure the official announcement will be made June 25.

Railroad worker hangs self in tree

Friends didn't believe him when he threatened suicide

An apple tree in the neat backyard of a Patapsco Park home served as gallows early Wednesday morning for James Jarman of the 800 block Edmondson Ave., whose friends didn't believe him when he threatened to commit suicide.

Mr. Jarman's body was discovered by Mrs. Hallie Anthony of 221 Shenandoah Ave., when she looked out of the window of her second-floor bedroom shortly after 7 a.m.

The death has been listed by Anne Arundel County police as an apparent suicide. Around the man's neck were wrapped a length of cloth covered wire and a belt. Near his feet was an overturned box.

Kicked The Box

Police believe Mr. Jarman stood on the box, looped the wire and belt around a branch of the tree, tied the loose ends about his neck, and then kicked the box away.

The time of death was set at between 1:30 a.m. and 7 a.m. on Wednesday.

The yard in which Mr. Jarman committed suicide belongs to Robert J. Wheeler, a friend of some 20 years. Mr. Wheeler told the AFRO on Wednesday that he was unable to say why Mr. Jarman had chosen the apple tree in his back yard as a gallows.

Mr. Wheeler also said that Mr. Jarman had been in the habit of paying frequent visits to his home and was well known in the Patapsco Park area.

The last time Mr. Wheeler saw Mr. Jarman alive was on Tuesday night at the home of Robert B. Downs of 215 Shenan-

Marty's plea denied again

Liquor Board refuses license

The Liquor Board once more denied a class "A" beer, wine and liquor license for Marty's Delicatessen, 1301 Broadway, today (Friday).

The decision was made following a rehearing of the case, June 10.

Judge Herman M. Moser, of City Court, had ordered a review of the case, May 3, when the proprietor, Martin Bondroff, said he had additional evidence to submit to the board.

The new information concerned a survey showing that there had been a sufficient increase of residents in the neighborhood, from January 1951 to warrant the license.

Mr. Bondroff first applied for the license March 22 at which time the board ruled in favor of the protesting residents in the area.

Appealed Decisions

The proprietor then appealed the board's decision to City Court. Judge Moser refused to hear the case, however, pending the board's decision on the additional evidence

In its second ruling, the board said that it is "still of the opinion that in view of the number of outlets in the area; the number of denials in the area . . . and also protests from the residents, the granting a new class "A" beer, wine and liquor license at the premises is not necessary for the accommodation of the public."

The board also pointed out that Mr. Bondroff's survey did not prove a sufficient increase in the neighborhood to warrant the license.

The case will now be returned to Judge Moser who will hear the evidence in the case and determine whether or not Mr. Bondroff shall get the license.

Child shot in hip, police seek assailant

A nine-year-old child who failed to heed her mother's warning Thursday night, was shot in the hip a few feet from her backyard.

Police today (Friday) are seeking the person who fired the gun. The bullet, which entered the right side of the youngster's hip and passed through the left side, had not been recovered at press time.

The child, Lillian Lauderdale, 749 W. Vine St., was wounded about 9:30 p.m. while taking a short cut through a backalley on her way home from the store.

Blood needed to pay $1,085 hospital bill for police victim

Parents of James Broaddus Jr., killed by a policeman in his own backyard on May 18 are faced with a $1,085.60 bill for the hospital treatment given their son during the seven hours before he died.

The University Hospital bill includes $750 for 15 pints of blood. Hospital officials said that this debt can be paid off by contributions of blood.

First Volunteer

Frederick Fenwick, an insurance salesman of 1827 N. Monroe St. is willing to become the first blood donor, reporting that he will visit the hospital this weekend.

If there are 14 other such public-spirited citizens, the hospital bill for the grief-stricken Broadduses will be reduced by $750.

The hospital is located at Redwood and Greene Sts.
