CONSTIPATED?

Then read this letter from Audrey L. Robinson of Washington, D. C.

"I used to suffer a lot from constipation. Never seemed to get the kind of relief I wanted—every laxative I took was either too harsh or too slow.

"Then I heard about Sal Hepatica's gentle, speedy action from a friend. And let me tell you, Sal Hepatica is really wonderful. Why, many an evening when I've felt that logy, constipated feeling, I've taken Sal Hepatica a half hour before dinner and been my old self again by bedtime!

"And Sal Hepatica gives gentle relief—even though it is speedy. It really does the trick!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast, and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or take it in the evening ½ hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime. Sweetens sour stomach, too! So, keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Leaped From Chair

At one point in the evening Wheeler and Downs were startled when Mr. Jarman suddenly leaped from the chair in which he was sitting and said that he was going to hang himself on the apple tree in Wheeler's yard.

Both men said that in the past three months they had heard Mr. Jarman make similar statements and after their initial surprise at the unprovoked statement, they forgot about the incident.

A few minutes before midnight, Mr. Wheeler went to his home leaving the other two men watching a televised movie. At 1:30 a.m. Mr. Downs suggested that Mr. Jarman return to his Baltimore home, and the man left the house.

Last Time Seen

That was the last time that Mr. Jarman was seen alive.

On Wednesday morning as Mrs. Anthony, an expectant mother, was preparing to wash some clothes, she looked out of the window and saw the body swaying gently in the early morning breeze.

The screams of Mrs. Anthony attracted the attention of Mr. Wheeler who ran into the yard and saw his friend hanging from the tree. Mr. Wheeler summoned police from nearby Erndale and the body was removed from the tree.

Called Despondent

Mr. Wheeler said that Jarman had been despondent for several months because of ill health and his inability to work as a laborer for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

He said that Mr. Jarman had been paying visits to his home for a number of years and often slept there, rather than return to his Baltimore home.

The survivors of Mr. Jarman are listed as his wife, Mrs. Parthenia Jarman; a sister, Mrs. Carrie M. Dunn; a daughter, Mrs. Annie Waters, and a stepson, Willis Strickland.

Mrs. Waters said her father had been employed by the railroad for 32 years, but had not been working for the past few months because of ill health. She said her father was in his early sixties.

The tree on which Mr. Jarman hanged himself is in a yard, lush with flowers and a garden tended by Mr. Wheeler, who is a widower.

defeated, not for the one who won."

LACY—"What was the plan of the fight as mapped out in advance?"

MINTZ—"I think Charles followed a good fight and a well-planned fight, the way he was going."

"Of course, you must consider that when he got hit in the Adam's apple, that took a lot out of him, and by the last three rounds the kid was suffering very much pain. That's one of the worse spots you can hit, the Adam's apple.

Fouled Several Times

Of course, he was fouled several times in one round and my corner—of course I worked in the opposite corner, and I could not see that as well as they did there, and they did protest to the referee several times out he didn't pay any attention.

"Nevertheless, that part, you can forget about that. But it was the Adam's apple that caused Charles not to win the fight all the way."

LACY—"In mentioning those fouls, you have reference to that hooking with his left hand?" holding with left hand behind neck and punching with right.)

MINTZ—"That's right."

LACY—"I am mentioning that in my story and I am wondering about Ruby letting that go."

MINTZ—"He let him deliver it about three times in one round."

LACY—"You weren't talking about swinging after the bell?"

Marciano 'Foul Fighter'

MINTZ—"We know that Marciano is a foul fighter, not because he does it intentionally, it's just the way that he fights.

"But it was the Adam's apple that he got hit in the ninth round which really lost the fight, but if it wasn't for that I think Charles would have won the fight and even as it is, we think he won the fight."

LACY—"You are going to give him a rest now?"

MINTZ—"Yes we will."

LACY—"Were you able to carry through your plan?"

Adam's Apple Again

MINTZ—"Oh yes, he was fighting a perfect fight. There is no question there. He was doing all right. A good fight.

"When he got hit in the Adam's apple, naturally, he didn't fight the fight that he was fighting as he was going along up until that happened.

"You know when you get hit in a spot like that it changes a lot of things and that was the cause of him losing those last rounds like he did.

"The kid suffered very, very painfully and he really went through on his gameness more so than anything else. I mean the fight that he put up.

"I feel that he would have done far, far better if he wouldn't have got hit in the Adam's apple. He would have won that fight with plenty to spare."

active members of the committee.

Judge William Cole, chairman of the board, and Dr. Symonds, the new president, sat in on the deliberations.

Dr. Kaplan said his committee had not been asked to get an opinion from Attorney General Rollins before it acted, although the committee discussed the possibility of getting such a ruling.

Dr. Kaplan could not confirm an AFRO report that Judge Cole and the attorney general conferred on Thursday in the Mathieson Building.

Supreme Court slates new date for hearings on school ruling

WASHINGTON (ANP)—The U.S. Supreme Court last week postponed the date for hearing proposals on how to implement its recent ruling outlawing segregation in public schools.

The high tribunal originally had set Oct. 12 as the date for the hearing. It said last week that it will set a later argument date some time after the court reconvenes Oct. 4, to begin its fall term.

When the court rendered its decision on May 17 that segregation is unconstitutional, it invited the attorneys general of the various states to participate in a hearing on ways and means of carrying out the ruling.
