Shirley Matlock crowned 'Carver YMCA queen'

By BETTIE B. BRADSHAW

TRENTON — Comely Shirley Matlock, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Matlock, 41 Passaic St., was crowned "Carver YMCA Queen" on Aug. 31, at ceremonies held at the Y Center, 40 Fowler St.

She was adjudged winner of the first annual, intersuburban popularity contest for selling the greatest number of votes over eight other teen-age contestants.

She was crowned by Arthur Salvatore, representing Mayor Donal Connolly.

— o o o —

PRIZES TO Miss Matlock, who will enter her senior year at Trenton Central High School this month, are:

A diamond ring, donated by Samuel and Howard, jewelers; a gold expansion bracelet, gift of the Checker Stores; and a hair-cut and style by Dinkins Barber Shop.

All of the contestants received their prizes donated by local merchants.

Second place winner was Katharine Kellam, 16, of 91 Race St.

Her prizes were a jeweled bracelet, donated by Hamilton Jewelers, and a fountain pen, donated by David Silverstein, Mer-cer County under-sheriff.

Third place winner, Claudia Hubbard, 16, of Crusher Rd., Hopewell, received a Kerisler watchband donated by Charm-Aronson.

Other contestants in the order in which they placed were: Barthalee Young, Frances Barnard, Yvonne Inman, Bonnie Fields, Annetta Blackell and Cleon McElroy.

— o o o —

PRECEDING THE coronation of the queen, an entertaining program was held on the outdoor playground.

Following the crowning a semi-formal dance was held in the auditorium. The queen, other contestants and teen-age guests danced to the music of Johnny Coles' orchestra.

The entire proceeds will be used to secure new furnishings and equipment and to continue renovations and decorations at Carver YMCA.

Thomas L. Sanders is executive secretary.

Ride in hot car costly for janitor

A hot car, a few drinks, and a 500-mile ride through the country in a 1950 automobile, will be long remember by Paul O. Ferrell of the 1800 block Mulling St.

Although advised not to testify in view of the fact that he was facing a charge of larceny, the 20-year-old janitor told all Wednesday.

He never admitted, however, that he drove an automobile belonging to Mrs. Doris Hasel of the 3600 block Ravenwood Ave. to/from a garage where she had left it for repairs on Sept. 2.

But Ferrell expressed pride over the fact that while the car was in his possession, he had washed and greased it.

He told the court, "a friend loaned it to me for three days after I met him in a bar. When I finished I left it parked in the street."

Bail for Ferrell was set at $2,500 by Magistrate Vernon Wieland.

Seize two women in numbers raid

Two housewives were released in $2,500 bail Wednesday after being held for grand jury action on numbers charges before Magistrate Charlotte W. Maine at Pine St. station.

The women, Mrs. Rosie Barrett, 40, 700 block Portland St., and Mrs. Frances Cuff, 38, 1500 block Druid Hill Ave., were seized early Wednesday morning in a raid by Vice Squad officers on Mrs. Barrett's home.

The officers, armed with a search and seizure warrant and led by Sgt. Arthur McGee, kept a long watch on the house before starting the raid at 1 a.m.

A quantity of dream books, an undisclosed amount of money and numbers paraphernalia were allegedly found in the private house.

Officers assisting in the raid were Officers Wilbur Rose, Charles E. Richter, Edgar Kirby, John Huemmer, Timothy Patterson, and Robert Matthews.

Capital Transit sued for $20,000

Suit for $20,000 damages was filed in U. S. District Court Tuesday by Miss Gloria Harris, 241 4th St., SW., against the Capital Transit Company.

Miss Harris charges that she was injured June 5, 1954, when she was struck by a trolley of the CTC at 7th and K Sts., NW.

Bobby Jones-Martinez bout promises action

NEW YORK — Promoter Tex Sullivan announced last week that he has signed Bobby Jones, the world's fifth ranking middleweight, and Jimmy Martinez, of Glendale, Arizona, a classy combination boxer - fighter, for the TV feature bout from St. Nick's Arena, Monday night.

Jones, a busy, warning, windmill type fighter, carries a high rating with the television audience. As a matter of fact, Jones clinched the top ranking TV spot earlier this year first, by decisioning Gil Turner, and second, by knocking Gil out in a return affair, both fights telecast nationally from Philadelphia.

Just prior to coming East, Oakland, Bobby boxed Bobo Olson at the Coliseum Bowl in San Francisco. At the conclusion of their thriller, Jones received a draw on Referee Frankie Brown's scorecard. The two judges awarded the bout to the middleweight champion by a shade.

— o o o —

MARTINEZ ELECTRIFIED the boxing world just one month ago by beating Bobby Dykes in Phoenix before a record-breaking crowd.

According to George Ridge, boxing writer for the Arizona Republic, Jimmy smothered Bobby Dykes' famed left, with a furious series of body punches to score a unanimous decision.

And, according to Bill Nixon, sports editor for the Phoenix Gazette, Arizona's middleweight champion won his "must" fight with Dykes in surprisingly easy fashion.

Baseball Globetrotters follow showmanship line

Built upon the same principles—sterling playing ability and brilliant showmanship — that have made the Harlem Globetrotters of basketball the hottest attraction in the sports world, the baseball Harlem Globetrotters will come to Griffith Stadium, Thursday night, Sept. 16.

Top man with the Globetrotters is the famous Leroy "Satchel" Paige, who will be the team's starting pitcher. Paige joined the club this season and has been going great.

— o o o —

THIS IS THE seventh season in action for Abe Saperstein's peppery Globetrotters of the diamond, and the celebrated mentor is authority for the statement that it's the best ball club he has ever put on the road.

After compiling a six-season record of 641 wins against only 132 defeats, the baseball Globetrotters were not placed in action last year as Saperstein was busy squiring his world-famed cagers on an all-summer tour of South America, Europe and North Africa.

— o o o —

THE DEMAND for appearances of this baseball club throughout North America was so heavy, however, that Saperstein decided to return it to action. He placed W. S. Welch, his ace baseball lieutenant, in charge as manager and a fine crop of ball players was assembled. The result has been a team bristling with power and hustle that has proved a hit everywhere it has thus far appeared.

Recognized universally as one of the top stars of the era, Saperstein, who demands that anything bearing his name be right, has left no stone unturned to make certain the baseball aggregation is a sure crowd-pleaser.

Dr. Simeon Lewis Carson, 72, former Freedmen's surgeon dies

WASHINGTON

Dr. Simeon L. Carson, noted surgeon for more than a quarter of a century, died Wednesday morning, at his home, 1431 Hamlin St., NE.

Funeral services for the 72-year-old physician will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. in Howard University's chapel.

The family has requested that friends send no flowers as tribute, but instead make contributions to the National Cancer Foundation.

A native of Marion, N.C., Simeon Carson was one of nine children born to Martin and Harriett Carson. At the age of seven an uncle who thought the Carson children could receive a better education out of the South, the Carsons moved to Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1898.

— o o o —

THE CARSONS settled in the North Side of Ann Arbor. In 1899, Simeon was graduated from the high school there and then went on to the University of Michigan to study medicine, where he became one of the first person of color, but also the first boy from the North Side to be graduated from the Institution.

Residents of the North Side, predominantly white, were so proud of Simeon that they gave him a furnished office for a graduation present.

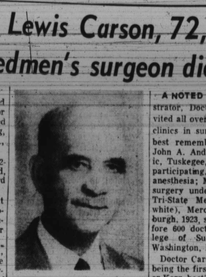
Doctor Carson practiced in Ann Arbor for several months, and then, following a state medical examination, was appointed medical officer in Indian service in South Dakota.

While there, he heard about Freedmen's Hospital in Washington and four years later, when a vacancy came, Doctor Carson took the Civil Service examination and topped 52 applicants for the post of chief assistant surgeon.

— o o o —

HE TOOK OVER his post in 1908 and in the 10 years he was at Freedmen's, earned a reputation for his skill and speed in surgery.

Already a breaker of precedents, Doctor Carson walked up another first when he was allowed to operate at Garfield Hospital in Washington.



DR. SIMEON L. CARSON

In 1918, Doctor Carson resigned from Freedmen's and a year later, established what is believed to be not only the first private hospital opened by a colored person, but also the first of its kind in the country.

Some 20 years later, in 1939, he closed Carson's Private Hospital and went into semi-retirement, doing some surgery at Freedmen's and at Adams Private Hospital, which he helped organize.

A NOTED lecturer and demonstrator, Doctor Carson was invited all over the country to hold clinics in surgery. Among those best remembered are the first aid at Jackson Memorial Clinic, Tuskegee, 1912, only surgeon participating, introduced ether anesthesia; Mahoney clinic, 1912, surgery under local anesthesia; Tri-State Medical Society (all-white), Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, 1923, spinal anesthesia before 600 doctors; American College of Surgeons convention, Washington, hernia operation.

Doctor Carson is credited with being the first to adopt the Parker-Kerr basting stitch to appendectomy, which has since become standard. At one time, he was clinical professor in surgery at Howard University.

An ardent sportsman, Doctor Carson was founder of the Deer Park Hunters and Hunters Club and won many trophies for trap and skeet shooting, including the National Trap Shooting Trophy in 1953.

His survivors include his wife, Mrs. Carol H. Carson, and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth C. Willston, director of social service at Freedmen's Hospital.

Storer to open fall session; integrated

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va.—Storer College will open its fall term Monday with several white students enrolled for instruction and an announcement that the institution welcomes "students of all races and denominations."

Nehru note to UN hit Malan regime

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — (ANP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India has forwarded a special memorandum to the UN Commission on the Racial Situation in the Union of South Africa, attacking the South African Government of Daniel Malan.

"Since the beginning of the century," Prime Minister Nehru asserts, "a systematic attempt has been made in South Africa to take away the limited rights of the non-whites with the distinct object of perpetuating their inferority to the Europeans."

"With the advent of the Nationalist Party to power in 1948 this process has been intensified. Dr. Malan's Government has been relentlessly building up a social and political structure based on the doctrine of apartheid.

Disappearance of Dr. McNeel remains mystery

Drug trade goes on; J. Carrington's departure unsolved

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON

Where is the "Port of Missing Men?"

Wherever it is, that is where the answer lies, for a mystery which observed its second anniversary on Wednesday of this week.

— o o o —

IT WAS exactly two years ago, Sept. 8, that Metropolitan Police received the report that Dr. William Henry McNeel, Publisher and head of the Doctors' Pharmacy, 1112 W St., NW., had disappeared.

Three years ago the popular pianist, Jerome Carrington also dropped out of sight.

— o o o —

TWO YEARS later, there is still not the slightest lead to the whereabouts of the vanished pharmacist. Even the Missing Persons Bureau of the police department admits it is stumped.

Not one word has been heard from Dr. McNeel since he was last seen getting out of his automobile in front of the pharmacy around 3:30 p.m. on Aug. 19, 1952.

— o o o —

EVEN WHEN his mother, Mrs. Gertrude McNeel, died in Kansas City, Mo., last June, Dr. McNeel did not show up for her funeral. Still the Bureau kept on file a Missing Persons Bureau says Mrs. McNeel's death was reported to his bureau just three or four hours before her funeral.

— o o o —

"WE JUST didn't have time to do anything about it, to get the word around so Dr. McNeel would learn of it wherever he was," Detective Cooper said.

Everyone was sure that when his mother died, Dr. McNeel would definitely make his appearance — if he were alive. Surely such an occasion would bring him out from wherever he was, everyone thought.

— o o o —

BUT THEY were wrong. He didn't appear. Perhaps, as Detective Cooper said, he did not hear about his mother's death in time to show up in Kansas City.

His wife, Mrs. Madeline A. McNeel, heard the last word from him in a letter she said she received shortly after his disappearance saying he was well.

— o o o —

THERE HASN'T been a word from him since, to his family or his close friends. The earth seems to have swallowed him up.

What has happened to Dr. McNeel?

Captain W. H. McHaney, head of the Missing Persons Bureau, believes he is still alive—somewhere.

"IF HE were dead, we certainly would have been advised about it, provided he wasn't weighted down with iron around his ankles and dropped into a river," said Captain McHaney.

"We sent out an interstate telype on him when we disappeared," the captain added.

That meant that every police department in the 48 states had word of the disappearance of Dr. McNeel and his description.

— o o o —

NOT A single lead, so painstakingly tracked down by the police, has panned out. Dr. McNeel's whereabouts are as much of a mystery today as they were two years ago.

What caused the popular, well-liked and hard - working pharmacist to take himself away from everything here, wife, son, home, business, friends? Nobody knows the answer except Dr. McNeel himself.

— o o o —

DR. WILBERT GRANDY, an associate at the Doctors' Pharmacy, said: "We all liked Dr. McNeel; he was good to work with, easy to get along with, never had too much to say, and was just a good fellow."

Dr. Edward C. Mazique, prominent physician with offices in the medical center which houses the pharmacy, spoke in warm friendly terms of Dr. McNeel:

"He was a hard - working man, probably worked too hard," Dr. Mazique said. "He hadn't had a vacation for at least five years. I really liked him. He was nice, and easy - going."

— o o o —

"NONE OF us have been able to figure out why he disappeared," Dr. Mazique continued. "It was revealed that Dr. McNeel's affairs were in excellent shape, and he was facing no known difficulties. His home at 4301 18th St., NW., was a fine one; his wife and son were well provided for.

What happened to bring him to the decision he finally made? Only he — wherever he is — can answer that question.

— o o o —

THE STRANGE dropping from sight of popular Jerome Carrington, pianist - organist deluxe, formed another strange enigma during the past three years.

It was in November, 1951, while Jerome was playing at the Stage Door Bar and Grill, next door to the Howard Theatre.

Without a word of warning about what he planned to do, the great musician quietly went around paying up every debt he owed. "He even paid up his number writers," said Herbert (Boofus) Saunders Jr., whose father owns the Stage Door.

— o o o —

WHEN CARRINGTON had paid all his bills, he bade his friends goodbye — and vanished.

During the months that have gone by since that November, 1951, none of his friends in Washington heard anything from him.

— o o o —

WHERE WAS the man who had thrilled thousands at the organ and the solovox at Jean Clore's popular rendezvous, the Old Rose Social Club, upstairs at 1846 7th St., NW?

Mrs. Clore — now Mrs. Herbert E. Jones — engaged Jerome's nimble fingers and soothing voice as her star attraction and music-hungry Washington-ians flocked to the Old Rose every night to hear Jerome as he crooned into the microphone atop his organ and piano.

— o o o —

HE WAS one of the first entertainers to use that technique. Every time one hears Wild Bill Davis, Wild Bill Doggett, Michele, and other organ virtuosos, thoughts of the pioneering Jerome Carrington come to mind.

For twelve years or longer he was the star at the Old Rose.

IN JUNE, 1947, when Herbert Saunders Sr. opened his swanky Stage Door, Jerome
