'Went to look for a job 5 years ago . . .'

Mrs. Pauline Craver went to look for a job five years ago and hasn't returned since, according to her husband, Isaac, of 1531 W. Lexington St.

Divorcing her on grounds of desertion Mr. Craver said:

"All I know is that she said she was going to get a job and live in. She left, not even taking her clothes. That was on Feb. 14.

"In May 1951, I received a letter from her. She told me not to try to get in touch with her, that she would get in touch with me.

Asked "What did she say about your marriage?" the husband answered: "You are the first I heard from her to talk about it. She didn't even come back for her clothes."

Baby falls 3 stories 'no injuries whatever'

"Lord, if I'd been here when that baby fell out of the window, they would have had me to worry, because I would have gone after him."

Mrs. Clarence E. Johnson of the Plymouth Hall Apartments

Mrs. Clarence E. Johnson of the Plymouth Hall Apartments was talking about her 23-month old son, Gordon who was sitting in the lap of Miss Bundy, 58, who had caught the toddler as he plunged toward a back alley from a third floor window.

"I saw him leaning out of the window from the sill, and the screen was out," said Mr. Bundy, a stout elderly huckster who had been driving down the alley with a wagon load of peaches when he saw the child's danger.

"I yelled to him to go back in the window and call his momma." said Mr. Bundy as he stopped to wipe his face with a big, white handkerchief, "but in a second he was hanging from the sill by his hands."

DOWN IN THE street, stories below, people still poured up at the window and marveled that the child had lived.

• • •

"I JUMPED OFF MY wagon and started throwing garbage cans away from the space beside the house so I could get under the window," Mr. Bundy continued, "and I fell over the last one and I was lucky enough to get underneath him and he hit me in the chest.

"I guess it's good I'm fat, because he didn't even start crying until the lady over at the beauty parlor (Miss Mayme Tilghman of 321 Wilson St.) came over and took him. He'd knocked the wind out of me.

Little Gordon, who had climbed to the window sill when his baby sitter, Rosslyn Harris, 17, of 816 E. Preston St., went to get a towel to dry him after his bath, sat comfortably on Mr. Bundy's lap and sucked at his thumb.

In the excitement nobody had thought to put dry clothes on him after his bath and his fall, but he was the calmest person in the room.

At Provident Hospital where he was taken later for a check-up, attendants said that he had received no injuries whatsoever.

"I just thank God Mr. Bundy was there," Mrs. Johnson said.

Matron hit by stray pellet reported fair

University Hospital officials reported at press time that the condition of Mrs. Edith Bean, 36-year-old mother of three children, who was accidentally shot Tuesday night, was fair.

Mrs. Bean was shot in the right side as she sat on her front steps in the 1900 block of Pennsylvania Ave. with her children, when two men began shooting at each other.

Mrs. Bean told police at University Hospital that she did not know either of the men involved in the shooting.

• • •

ACCORDING TO police the two men stood in the middle of Pennsylvania Ave. about a block apart shooting at each other, when Mrs. Bean was struck.

Both men escaped uninjured and unshot. One suspect has been apprehended and is being held for investigation.

The second suspect is still at large.

One pellet struck a passing Baltimore Transit bus. No one on the bus was injured.

'Live a good life and set an example for your children'

"She jumped up with a knife and stabbed me . . . grabbed her, took the file from her and broke it up. That's what I did."

Edward Ligons, 33, 800 block N. Fulton Ave., charged with assaulting and striking Mrs. Rosalie Ligons of the same address was speaking Thursday in Northwestern Police Court before Magistrate Lionel Koger.

Magistrate Koger fined Mr. Ligons $50, after advising the defendant to "try to live a good life and set an example for your children."
