Banks, Campy probable starters in all-star game; None on AL side

CHICAGO (ANP)—When the National League meets the American League July 10 in the annual All-Star game at Griffith Stadium in Washington, two ex-players will be in the senior loop's starting nine, but none in the American.

This excludes pitchers, of course, and there's a good chance that either Brooks Lawrence of Cincinnati, or Don Newcombe of Brooklyn, might get the call from Manager Walter Alston.

Ernie Banks, the Chicago Cubs' shortstop, is a virtual certainty to join a starting role for the NL in the poll of fans now being conducted. This will be the second consecutive year in which the slender shortstop will join the honor.

DESPITE THE fact that he is having a disappointing season, Roy Campanella, catcher for the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers, seems sure to open the game behind the plate. Since 1950, the fully pole Campy has been the NL's starting catcher.

Other NL fan performers could be included. Alston, who will pilot the team by virtue of the fact that his Dodgers won the 1955 pennant, may pick Willie Mays, the New York Giants' centerfielder; Henry Aaron, the Milwaukee Braves' rightfielder, and Gene Baker, the Cubs' second baseman.

As a sentimental gesture, Alston also might tap Jackie Robinson for utility duty. Currently riding the bench, Jackie is known for his inspirational value and his tremendous clutch performances. Thus Julie Alston could be swayed by emotional factors in picking Robinson, he also probably would have in mind that Jackie could step in at a moment's notice and lip the scales toward the NL.

* * *

THE AL contingent probably will include two more Yankees, the White Sox' outfielder, will likely be one of the reserve outfielders and either see action as a pinch hitter or in relief of Ted Williams in the late stages of the game.

While Aaron has been receiving much support in the balloting, Harry Simpson, rightfielder for the Kansas City A's, might receive a bid from Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees, who will be at the helm of the junior leaguers. Simpson, with a .306 batting mark, was one of the leading run producers in the AL, based on last week's figures.

Because Aaron has been having sub-par seasons thus far, Al Smith of Cleveland and Larry Doby, manager of the Sox in AL team, are likely to miss the mid-summer classic.

Britons make Althea 6 to 1

LONDON — British bookmakers on the eve of the All-England championships at Wimbledon, were quoting odds of 6 to 1 against Althea Gibson lo win.

The New York girl, winner of 15 tournaments in Asia, Africa and Europe during the winter and spring, was thus relegated to third choice in pre-tourney wagering on women players. Louine Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., the four - time Wimbledon champion, was held as an odds-on favorite, being quoted at 2 to 3 on the books. Beverly Baker Fleitz of Long Beach, Calif., was a 2 to 1 second pick.

Miss Gibson and Shirley Fry, of Akron, Ohio, were jogether in the 6 to 1 bracket.

The British quotations mean that in order to win a wager on Miss Brough, a bettor must place $3 in the books to win $2. A one-dollar wager on Mrs. Fleitz would net the bettor $2, plus the amount of the bet, and a dollar on Miss Gibson on the British books would amount to $7—the sum wagered plus $6 winnings.

Althea gagged, seeded fourth

WIMBLEDON, England — British lawn tennis officials on Tuesday advised Althea Gibson, classy Harlem woman player, to submit to no further interviews unless a member of their committee is present.

The ruling came after local bigwigs had read a controversial article in the London Daily Mail, reportedly based on an interview.

Later the same day, Miss Gibson was seeded fourth in the Wimbledon drawings.

In first place was Louise Brough, the defending champion. She was followed by Beverley Baker Fleitz of Long Beach, Calif., and Angela Mortimer of Britain, in that order.

Minoso lost to Sox ten days with toe fracture

CHICAGO — Leftfielder Minnie Minoso, hit by a pitched ball in the Tuesday night game here with the Baltimore Orioles, will be lost to the Chicago White Sox for "about ten days."

The Cuban-born flychaser was struck on the big toe of his right foot, and X-ray pictures taken on Wednesday, disclosed a fracture of the digit.

* * *

MINOSO PLAYED in only two games of the four-game series with the Orioles. In those two games, he was hit three times by Bird hurlers.

On Monday, Bill Wight struck him on the leg. The following night, Ray Moore struck him on the left shoulder and shortly thereafter Don Ferrarese clipped him on the right foot. It was this last blow that broke the toe.

* * *

ALWAYS ONE of the most-frequently hit batsmen in the American League, Minoso was struck on the head by Bob Grim in Yankee Stadium last season. He had a miserable year after that, his worst in the majors.

The three times he was struck here brought his number of HBP's for the season to 11.

* * *

ACCORDING TO rival managers, Minnie risks being hit every time he goes to bat. All they say, he stands too close to the plate — sometimes with parts of his body over the dish — and refuses to duck until the last second.

"That is the way I feel," declared Minoso, who also rarely accuses opposing pitchers of throwing at him.

MINNIE MINOSO

At the Ringside

By CHARLES J. LIVINGSTON MOORE TO WIN

CHICAGO (ANP) — After watching Floyd Patterson trying desperately to knock out the troublesome, tough, but wide open "Hurricane" Jackson, it is this Ringsider's opinion that Floyd lacks the punch and experience to cope with a cagey, ringwise battler like Archie Moore.

Let me make it clear, though. Patterson put up a good fight, and although he didn't stop Jackson, he cleanly outboxed him, punching inside his wide swings with short, pumping hooks.

But even when Jackson was groggy in the fifth and eleventh rounds, Patterson couldn't finish him off, although he struck the Far Rockaway, N.Y., fighter with everything except the ring posts. He will have to do a great deal more than that to cope with Moore.

I am not trying to belittle Patterson, as the Brooklyn kid has great potentialities.

However, one must call 'em as he sees 'em, and from this corner it looks like Patterson lacks the steam to beat Moore. Don't forget that Moore himself has the punch to take an opponent out of there at an instance notice.

He even floored the ex-champ Rocky Marciano in their heavyweight championship tussle. And Marciano is tough — real tough.

$50 bond for Oriole homer against Sox

Baltimore — The oriole who hits a home run over the fence on Friday, June 29 when the Birds return from a long western trip to meet the Boston Red Sox, will profit to the extent of a $50 bond.

That is the prize which the Railroad Community Committee of Baltimore has set for any home-team slugger who helps provide a batting climax to Railroad Baseball Night.

The occasion is being promoted by the six railroads which serve Baltimore to mark their appreciation of having a big league ball club which has produced interesting baseball. It is the railroad equivalent of saying, "Stick with those Birds."

31 tan athletes already qualified for tryouts

LOS ANGELES — Thirty-one colored track and field athletes have already qualified to compete in the final tryouts for the U.S. Olympic squad, to be held here. Friday and Saturday, June 29-30.

These young men became eligible as a result of qualifying finishes in events at the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) championships at Berkeley, last weekend.

* * *

OTHERS ARE likely to be added to the number following the National AAU competitions at Bakersfield, Cal. Several, including one of the nation's leading sprinters, Jim Golliday, did not participate in the NCAA affair.

The first six men to finish in the various sprint and field events of the two meets, are qualified for the Olympic trials.

Actually, 35 of the places among NCAA qualifiers are occupied by colored contestants. Four of the 31 were "double" qualifiers.

These are Ken Bantum of Manhattan College, Ken Kave of Morgan State College, Rafer Johnson of UCA, and Al Thompson, formerly of Columbia University.

Bantum will try for berths on the Olympic squad in the shot-put and discus. Kave became eligible for both the 100 and 200 meters dashes. Johnson has a chance to make it as a high hurdler or as a broad jumper. And Thompson goes in the shot-put and discus events along with Bantum.

Only white Amoco-Gas guarantees no lead fouling
Power loss between the pump and the pavement is caused by Lead Fouling. That's a gamble you take with any leaded gasoline. Lead deposits on pistons, plugs and valves can waste octane power, cripple engine efficiency—and that's true of any leaded gasoline regardless of fancy color, fancy pump or fancy name. And no additive will remove those deposits once they form.
Amoco-Gas alone can guarantee no lead fouling... because it contains no lead, it can never leave the slightest lead deposit. Amoco is all gas. It can all burn, it's all power. 100% POWER! See the difference for yourself when you buy it—Amoco-Gas is clear white. See the difference when you use it—watch that mileage record improve!
