Clowns, Yankees dated for Stadium June 15

The New York Black Yankees invade Westport Stadium Friday June 15, facing the nationally famous Indianapolis Clowns.

Managed by the veteran Bill Walker, who took over the helm of the club in the middle of last season, the Yankees present a collection of outstanding diamond stars, many of them labelled "can't miss as big league material."

Some of the more recent graduates of touring colored clubs, who have in the past appeared at Westport Stadium include the fabulous Willie Mays of the New York Giants; outfielder Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves; the Brooklyn Dodgers' sensational rookie second baseman Charley Neal; and the National League's all-star shortstop and ace of the Chicago Cubs, Ernie Banks.

The cugrent New York Black Yankees look every bit as solid as last year's nine. Down the middle they are strong with Chet Moody behind the plate, second baseman Billy Morris and shortstop Don Feabry to handle the keystone duties; centerfielder Eddie Lawrence and a mound crew of manager Walker, his brother Herb, Dan Miller, Don Wilson and Johnny Williams.

The famed Clowns again have their great troupe of top flight ball players and a five-star Rock 'n' Roll comedy act, featuring the ageless King Tut, his midget sidekick, Spec Bebop and Ed Hamman.

Also first baseman Nature Boy Williams and third sacker, Prince Jo Henry.

Phoenix Ariz., go for Ezzard Charles

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The local softball park will be the site June 26, of the next bout for former world heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

Promoter Paul Clinite, of this city, announced last week that Charles has been signed to box Zora Folley, of Chandler, Ariz. here that night. Folley, a former All Army heavyweight champ, has won 24 of 26 pro bouts.

Crack field awaits Lee time for golf

PHILADELPHIA

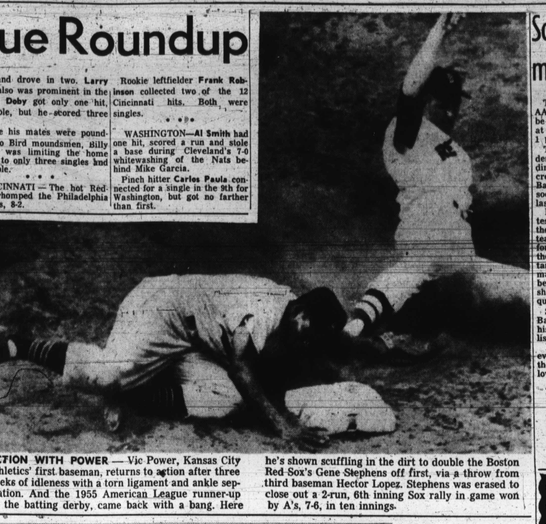
A star studded field of the nation's top golfers is expected to invade Philadelphia, June 21-24, for the second annual $20,000 Daily News Open at Cobbs Creek Golf Course.

George Fazio, the tournament director, has issued invitations to such standouts as Jimmy Demaret, Mike Souchak, Leo Diegetti, Fred Hawkins, Charlie Sifford, Ted Rhodes and last year's winner, Ted Kroll. All are signified their intentions of playing here in the classic.

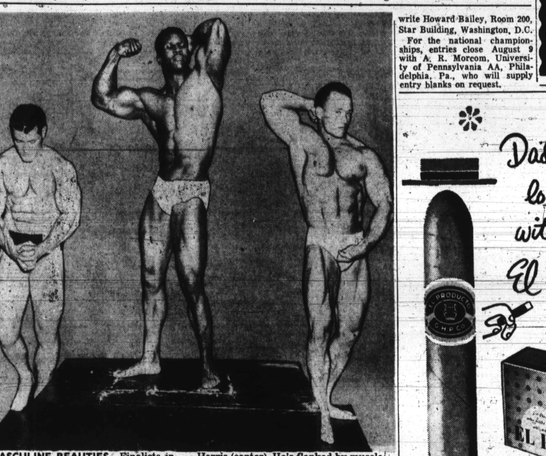
In addition to the touring pros who are expected, a record turnout of contestants from the Philadelphia section of the PGA is anticipated.

Interest in the tournament is building up to such a point that last year's record crowd of fifty of 55,000 is in danger. Charity organizations report a brisk sale of advance tickets for the event.

Groups doing church, welfare or charity work are selling tickets to the tournament and entitling 100 per cent of the proceeds. Last year approximately $100,000 was raised by such a method for charity.



ACTION WITH POWER — Vic Power, Kansas City Athletics' first baseman, returns to action after three weeks of idleness with a torn ligament and ankle separation. And the 1955 American League runner-up in the batting derby, came back with a bang. Here he's shown scuffling in the dirt to double the Boston Red Sox's Gene Stephens off first, via a throw from third baseman Hector Lopez. Stephens was erased to close out a 2-run, 6th inning Sox rally in game won by A's, 7-6, in ten innings.



MASCULINE BEAUTIES—Finalists in the annual "Mr. America" contest, held last week in Philadelphia in connection with the AAU weightlifting championships. Winner was Arthur Harris (center). He's flanked by musclemen Robert Hinds (left) and Raymond Shaffer. Shaffer was second and Hinds third.

JUST LIKE A TEAM—San Jose State's Lang Stanley (nearest camera) presses Villanova's Ron Delany to the utmost as the two race like a team to the wire in the 880-yard event of the Pacific AAU meet at Stockton, Cal. Delany eventually forged to the front to cop the title in 1:49.5. The former Irish champion had taken the mile in 3:59 the previous night at Compton, California.
