Pre-nuptial affairs abloom for Miss Elizabeth Allen

with Lula Jones Garrett

The pre-nuptial season opened formally for Sarah Elizabeth Allen, last night (Thursday) when she gathered together twenty-odd friends who will serve as hostesses at the reception following her wedding on the 19th.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Dr. Willard W. Allen, Grand Master of Masons, and Mrs. Allen. She will be wed to James R. Mallo, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey, in Morgan College Christian Center at two o'clock on the above date. A reception will follow in the Masonic Temple.

There were games and the loveliest embroidered hankies as tokens for all hostesses.

And Elizabeth was picture pretty in a long-torso full skirted print frock. Roslyn, who assisted her, wore navy polka dot silk.

Guests at the hostesses' party were:

Flossie Dedmond, Anita Johnson, Verniece Reynolds, Rosalie McGuire, Cleo Diggs, Vernice Matthews Courtney Valentine.

Also Nellie Buchanan, Maude Williams, Viola Wright, Lucille William, Edna Gray, Marian Carroll, Eula Watts, Emma Bright Frances Lockwood, Irma Dancey, Lillian Parrott and Lula Patterson;

Also Sarah Rayne, Yvonne Hardesty, Leanna Ferrell, Esther Johnson, Mildred Seaborne, Lula Barnum, Lillian Ross, Edith Bannister,

Also Maymie Joynes, Zelma Wallace, Ruth Goode, Katie Hunter, Aurelia Bush, Daisy Jones, Viola Morris and Emma Lyne Johnson.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Gladys Roane and Carlos Hines has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Roane of Reisterstown Rd.

Miss Roane and Mr. Hines are both students at New York University. Their wedding will take place on June 23.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ross Jr. have revealed the betrothal of their daughter, Theresa Jeanette Freeland, to Roland Brown, son of Mrs. Marie Williams of Washington.

AND WHILE this is not an engagement announcement, I think it follows in the proper place in this ditty.

When dashing Mrs. Etoka Carter returned to her home in Chicago, Saturday she was not only wearing Lester Norris's orchids, but bearing an armful of his yellow roses.

Now you know why he hasn't been available these last weeks. The lovely widow (she's in real estate in the Illinois city) has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Ruth M. Gross of Walbrook.

FAULKNER HUGHES (she's the daughter of W. A. C. Hughes, the attorney, and Mrs. Hughes) dashed off to New York City, Thursday morning, to be the guest of Edward C. Carroll Jr., at his graduation from Friend's Seminary and at the reception to be given at the Waldorf-Astoria by his parents, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Carroll (Sharp Street Methodist Church, here).

The son is the only non-white graduate in his class. The father delivered the commencement address . . . also a first.

WHEN OLD MORGAN GRADS had withdrawn from the flower-decked tables in the Refectory, Saturday, after the annual Alumni luncheon, many of them went on citywards for more festivities.

Take, for instance the Class of '31, which retired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson for a more intimate reunion.

And may I say that they "reun-ed" until 2:30 next morn?

They garnered a few others than classmates such as Dr. Norbert R. Davidson, the eminent physician and surgeon of Chicago, and Dr. Thomas Poag, head of the department of humanities at Tennessee State College . . . and of course, the husbands and wives of class members.

They sang and danced, ate and sipped, played cards and ate and sipped some more. They practically re-enacted their Class Day exercises . . . and then took a pot shot at such new dances as the Rhumba, Mamba, etc.

Having the fine, fun were:

Mr. and Mrs. Waters Turpin, Dr. and Mrs. James Carr, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Pindell of Philadelphia, Mr and Mrs. Robert Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Proctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Scott of Glenburnie, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Frazier of Jersey City, Dr. Susie Sharpe of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith of Zenia, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Patterson, Wardell Richardson, Mrs. Mary Jones, Mrs. Genevieve Harris, Miss Frances Proctor, Panio Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Rayner, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chester, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burt.

Out of the fun-packed evening, however, they took time to arrange to present a bronze plaque to the college in memory of Dr. Pezable O'Connell.

ALPHA WIVES gathered their husbands children, a few friends and huge baskets of foods and drinks, and betook themselves to the beautiful confines of the Johnson Farm at Reisterstown for a day of relaxation, Sunday.

At the affair were:

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gray, Mrs. Elizabeth Hodges, William Patterson, Mrs. Helena Hall, Mrs. Rubye Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt,

Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Dixon, Mrs. Harriet Jones, Mrs. Grace Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Todd, Billie Pierce, Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Adams, Ann and Nina Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sheppard,

Dr. and Mrs. B. J. Kimbers, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Perkins, Benjamin and Ricky Kimbers, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilkes, Fay Wilkes, Mrs. Lou Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matthews, Robbin, Bettye, Bonnie and Rodgers Matthews, Mrs. Bettye Phillips, Marie, Benjamin and Rachel Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Phillips, Kenneth Phillips,

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bruce Edemy Joy Edemy, Elsie Judge, Mr. and Mrs. Elson Higginbotham, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Skinner, David and John Skinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bracy, Charlotte and Joy Bracy, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hampton, Keith Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Culbreath, Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Mackay, Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, Philathea Hall.

THE HAMPTON chapter of the National Epicureans really made their convention the greatest ever . . . and to tickle townfies even more, two of the Baltimore members garnered national offices.

Merita Stokes is now the national parliamentarian, and Sylvia Henry, the national chaplain.

Even with a flock of business matters to be dispensed with, there were no dull moments, what with numerous cocktail parties, beach luncheons and a midnight dance by the bay.

Baltimoreans attending included Nikki Randolph, Phyllis Allen, John and Merita Stokes, Alphonso and Barbara Bennett and Miles and Bernadine Harrison.

Back from the convention, members of the Baltimore chapter met, this week, and elected local officers.

The new slate includes:

Barbara Bennett, president; Bernadine Harrison, vice president; Shirley Butler, secretary; Elva Matthews, treasurer and Dorothy Johson, chaplain.

Guest at the meeting was Blanche Hubbard, president of the New York chapter.

HEAR YE! That the semi-formal dance given by the Modern Ladies civic club of Fairfield Homes on Saturday night was quite an affair.

The gals really looked chic—take for instance — the blue trumpet style frocks worn by members Dorothy McCutcheon and Jeanette Brown, figure flattering, to say the least. Rosalee Ivory in yellow, polka dotted nylon silk and Mary Scipio in blue and white organdy were very pretty.

Tina W. Parker, very tiny indeed, in a white, rose embroidered, full skirted dress and Dolores Jeffries chose beige lace, a smart two piece affair. Tina and Dolores are the recreation leaders and act as advisors to the club. The club secretary, Sally Burroughs, was eye catching in a black and white printed cotton with a huge portrait collar.

Pink seemed to be a favorite among the girls, too. President linen sheath, as did Mattie Rankin. Naomi Williams wore pink nylon over a taffeta slip. Robert F. Ferguson is the Housing Manager and Clyde Clark is Management Aide at Fairfield Homes.

LES FEMMES gathered together a few of their friends and their husbands Saturday a week back for an evening of fun and gayety in the club room of the Sphinx Club.

Beautiful decorations, plenty of Relicious food, tall cool drinks and rollicking music made the evening a pleasure able one for the gang.

Les Femmes officers and members are:

Their husbands James Phelps Francis Pullen, Earl Jackson, James Pendleton, Lonnie Spruill, amos Wright, Richard Willis, Robert Chester, Charles Bullitt.

Guests included:

Naomi Nash, Ethel Murray, Rosita Uncles, Gladys Parker, Hortense Smith, Queenie Lane, Paula Greene, Lucille Williams; Delta Pi, national honor society in education and is a former national president of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and a former division chairman of the Maryland State Council of Civil Defense.

Mrs. Sheppard is the wife of Dr. J. Douglass Sheppard of Baltimore and the mother of Mrs. Andrew Rhinehart, medical social worker of Washington; and J. Douglass Sheppard Jr., a student at the University of Maryland Medical School.

Marshall, Rhinehart babies christened at Madison Street

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus W. Marshall Sr., 2543 McCulloh St., entertained at a dinner party followed by open house, Sunday, following the christening of their granddaughter, Dauna Marie Marshall.

The baby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Marshall, of Washington, and also the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. Emerald B. Spencer of Cleveland, Ohio.

The Sunday parties had a three-fold purpose, to honor the new parents, to introduce Dr. and Mrs. Spencer and to celebrate the christening.

Dauna Marie was baptized following the morning services at Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, at which time the four-month-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Joe Andrews Rhinehart, of Washington, was also christened.

THE LATTER, named Stephen Douglass, is the grandson of Dr. and Mrs. Douglass Shepperd of this city.

For her christening, the Marshall baby wore an ensemble of white nylon, with lace edge yoke of embroidery, and minutely pleated skirt, worn over two crinolines and ruffled panties. The dress, etc. was the gift of Mrs. Marshall.

Over this was worn a dotted swiss hat and coat, gift of her maternal grandmother, who also gave her an add-a-pearl necklace.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. Rhinehart was dressed in a white suit.

The Rev. Reginald Daniels officiated.

Godparents for the little girl were Mrs. Faye Duffie of Washington, and her uncle, Cyrus Marshall Jr., of this city.

Stephen Douglass had as godparents, Elwood Terry of Howard University Law School, Washington and Miss Jean Turner of this city.

MRS. MARSHALL was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Pearlie Pennington, Mrs. Molly Taliaferro, Mrs. Charlotte Jordan, Mrs. Edith Marshall and Mrs. Ethel Wallace.

The hostess wore a rose beige taffeta with pearl and crystal head embroidery at the neckline and a huge bow at the side. Her shoes matched her gown and her jewelry was of rhinestones.

Mrs. Spencer wore turquoise beaded linen with matching accessories.

The mother of the baby selected a pure silk navy blue polka dot, with four-inch band of pleated white tulle at the off-shoulder neckline.

Mrs. Jordan was in rose lace, with which she wore ultra-violet shoes and bag and rhinestone jewelry. Mrs. Edith Marshall wore pink linen with pink accessories. Mrs. Wallace, pale blue printed cotton with blue shoes.

Mrs. Pennington wore Dior blue taffeta with blue kid sandals, Mrs. Taliaferro, a frock of gold nylon paisley print, with shoes to match and Mrs Duffie, gray and white silk.

Guests who attended the christening ceremony included:

Mrs. Ella Brown, Mrs. Elizabeth Parker, Mrs. Ralph Cook, Dr. and Mrs. McKinley Reeds, Mrs. Margaret Jordan, Mrs. Elizabeth Brooks.

Mrs. Florence Wright, Miss Bessie Gray, Mrs. Reba Butler, Mr. and Mrs Cyrus Griffin, Mrs. Rais Ringgold, Mr. and Mrs. John Berry.
