3 S.C. coeds ousted on 'morals' charges

ORANGEBURG, S.C. — Three S. C. State College coeds, all seniors and one scheduled to have graduated Monday (May 28) were expelled last Tuesday.

The other two would have graduated this summer.

One of the trio, charged with spending the night off the campus without permission, was reportedly criminally molested but no charges have been brought against the male suspect three days after the expulsions.

Following a meeting with the faculty council group, President Benner C. Turner sent letters of expulsion to the trio.

CAMPUS SOURCES said the young women had signed out of the dormitory presumably for a visit to the library or a movie, but instead left the campus for an establishment.

It was here that the alleged assault on one of the women occurred. One of the three wasn't at the place at the time, but the other student quickly fled back to the campus in fright. All were said to have been drinking.

THE INCIDENT was discovered the next morning when the attack victim failed to show up in her room. Subsequent investigation disclosed that she had been housed in a cottage at another establishment "to sober up and had not awakened until morning."

President Turner's letter said the dismissals were made because the three had left the campus without permission, had been intoxicated in a public place and that one had spent the night away from the campus without permission.

Mud-slinging growing political happenstance

MIAMI, Fla. — An advertisement in the Washington AFRO-AMERICAN "brought about the Stevenson victory over Senator Kefauver in the Washington primary."

Donahue made this statement at a luncheon of the Miami Young Democrats, May 24. He held up a copy of the AFRO and read portions of the advertisement which he said showed Stevenson is more dedicated to the welfare of colored people than Senator Kefauver.

He reminded his audience that three of the twelve major convention delegates pledged to Adlai Stevenson in Washington are colored.

THE ADVERTISEMENT, Donahue stated, claims Stevenson as governor of Illinois and called out the National Guard to protect colored people of Cicero, Ill., during race riots.

Donahue is a Kefauver aide, former Florida governor, Millard F. Caldwell, a Stevenson supporter, read an editorial from a Richmond, Va., newspaper which declared that Stevenson is a moderate, while Kefauver is a sycophant (one who seeks by flattery) for the colored vote.

'He threatened me, I left him' plea wins divorce

"I left him because he threatened me with something that looked like an ice pick. He said he was going to kill me."

Mrs. Margaret Harrison, seeking a divorce from Riley Harrison, testified here with technical desertion in Circuit Court No. 2, Monday.

"And it was an ice pick," added her grandmother, Mrs. Margaree White, "and I've got the weapon right here in my pocket-book."

Mrs. Harrison, who gave her address as 1022 Carlton St., was given a divorce and custody of their three children, and he was ordered to pay $20 for support of the youngsters.

The couple was married on Dec. 3, 1944 and separated on July 3, 1955.

MRS. ANNIE GILLIAM of 1005 Washington St., who also testified that she had been deserted, won a divorce from Wilson M. Gilliam.

"We received an eviction notice and were to be set out on the street on Jan. 15, 1948. The rent was five weeks overdue. The day before, he packed his clothes and left," Mrs. Gilliam said.

She was given custody of their son, and the father ordered to pay $15 per week for the child's support. Mr. and Mrs. Gilliam were married August 27, 1942.

A HUSBAND, Harry M. Lewis, 2030 Baker St., added his complaint of desertion to the list.

He told the court that Mrs. Evelyn Lewis became dissatisfied with their marriage.

"She kept going out and staying two and three days at a time, and finally left altogether," he said.

A DIVORCE went to Mrs. Gertrude King from Prince King, who, she said left her in Sept. 1933 after their marriage on July 13, 1922.

"He said he was through with married life and left," Mrs. Mary Wise of 1410 N. Pulaski St., and a member of the faculty of School No. 148, testified.

Her marriage to Nolan Wise on July 8, 1948 ended on April 2, 1954, she said. The divorce was granted.

Dr. S. J. Carter heads noted Legion post

NEW YORK — Dr. Sylvester J. Carter, an Army Medical Corps captain during World War II, has been unanimously elected commander of the celebrity-filled Theodore Roosevelt Jr. American Legion Post 1753.

Probably the first person of his race to hold top rank in a predominantly white Legion post, Dr. Carter, 48, is to be installed into the office on June 14.

PAST COMMANDERS of the post have included Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion of the world; Gen. Hugh J. Casey, former Transit Authority chairman; and Col. Edward P. F. Eagan, former state boxing commissioner.

"Pleasantly surprised" at his election, Dr. Carter has called upon the Legion to "lead the fight against subversion."

Joe Louis tax relief bill filed

Rep. Alfred E. Sieminski (Dem., N. J.), introduced in the House, Tuesday, a resolution for the relief of Joe Louis, who owes the Government over $1,000,000 in back-income taxes.

The resolution would relieve the former heavyweight boxing champion of all federal income taxes he owes the Government from Jan. 1, 1939 to Dec. 31, 1954, including penalties and interest.

SIEMINSKI'S RESOLUTION recites that Louis gave his entire purses from two fights in 1942 to war relief agencies.

The Navy Relief Society related $89,000 from his fight with Buddy Baer on Jan. 9, 1942 and the Army Relief Society got $47,000 from his fight with Abe Simon on March 27, 1942.

In a statement accompanying the resolution, Mr. Sieminski said:

"JOE HAS done a lot for the U. S. Government. Now he has a serious problem. He has given American youth more than just the show of a fighting champion, more than just words that tell of his prodigious feats in the ring.

"Whenever he was called upon, he was there to help. I hope the Congress will see fit to help him."

WORK BENCH:

Stool pigeons turning over

By CLARENCE MITCHELL

Stool pigeons who worked at their trade for years and went to their rewards without collecting a cent must be turning over in their graves as they listen to reports that Mississippi will now put informers on the payroll.

A number of interesting possibilities occur to me as I think about the latest action of mixed up Mississippi. One has to do with the matter of social equality.

Suppose there is a big interracial party going on with all kinds of fancy drinks served and much mixing. When the Mississippi stool pigeon turns in his report on this he must say that he attended, if what he says is to have real meaning.

This will put the Mississippi legislature in the position of paying people to attend interracial parties.

NO DOUBT there will be venturesome stool pigeons who will fly beyond the borders of the state to assemble data in Atlantic City, N.J., New York and various parts of California.

What will happen when these migrant information gleaners turn in their expense accounts showing that they were staying in the best hotels with white people and lolling around on beaches where the bathers are colored and white?

SUPPOSE THE colored informers get a particularly sensational piece of evidence on a white person. Under Mississippi's ground rules so court is supposed to take the word of a colored man against a white man.

If the ground rules are broken and the colored informer's statement is used to convict a white person, doesn't that put the state in the position of undermining white supremacy?

One of the favorite arguments of southern congressmen against a Federal FEPC is that it would send hordes of investigators into places of business and even private homes.

Apparently the idea of having a horde of people on the public payrolls has stuck in the minds of those who first used it. No doubt they are wondering why they did not get a state horde going sooner.

THE MISSISSIPPI project is a politician's dream come true. He can put his cousins, aunts and friends on the state payroll without requiring that they come in to pick up their checks.

Some may not even find it necessary to leave their plantations to earn their pay. They can spend their time investigating their colored employees.

It will be only a matter of time before the Mississippi investigating machinery will become so extensive that it will be in need of help. Of course its sponsors will then turn to the Federal government for a grant to help meet the salary needs.

When that happens, I am sure that the same northern people who want to give Mississippi Federal money for their segregated schools, jim crow hospitals, ghetto housing and unlimited price supports for cotton will be glad to hand over Mississippi's share of the Jersey's money for snooping services in Vicksburg, or Belzoni.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG

Armstrong Gets year in fatal crash

And before word could be circulated in town as to his whereabouts, the famed trumpeter was arrested.

IN BETWEEN times, he was no shrinking violet. He blew out the stars over Chesapeake Bay as he and his band entertained an ultra-exclusive party for the benefit of a fund for cancer-stricken youngsters.

The ermine-draped guests were a marked contrast to the lion-clothed, African Gold Coast natives who formed Satchmo's last previous audience.

"They're all cats to me," he said.

Melvin Johnson, truck driver, who was involved in a fatal automobile accident, last Nov. 6, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction for manslaughter in Criminal Court, Thursday.

The sentenced, imposed by Judge E. Paul Mason, will run concurrently with the one-year-term Johnson received in traffic court for failure to stop at Bend and Ashland St. where the accident occurred.

Killed in the accident was Mrs. Rosel Shuster, 3900 block Strathmore St.

2 youths fined $500; 7 traffic violations

"This Armstrong boy is not a lily white character."

Magistrate Richard Gilbert made this observation in Traffic Court Thursday morning after checking the police record of Arthur Armstrong, 29, 1100 block E. Lanvard St., and pointing out that the young man has been convicted of assault and disorderly conduct this year.

Armstrong and another youth, Roy Lee Dillow, 20, 200 block S. Exeter St., were in court on a total of eight traffic charges. They received fines totaling $500 and costs and suspended fines of $100.

ARMSTRONG WAS fined $150 and costs for dunken driving; $100 and costs for failure to stop after an accident; $50 and costs suspended for operating without a license, and $25 and costs suspended for reckless driving.

The white youth was fined $50 and costs for drunken driving; $100 and costs for failure to stop after an accident; $25 and costs suspended for reckless driving, and was found not guilty of permitting Armstrong, an unlicensed person, to operate his car.

Officer Benakle said the two were arrested Wednesday night after Armstrong ran into some steps and a pole in the 1100 block Sterrett St., and Dillow sideswiped two parked cars when he took control.

The officer's testimony was corroborated by Sam Leonardi, 31, 300 block S. High St. and Daniel Mitchell, 21, 1700 block Millican St., both passengers in the car. Both men said the four of them had been drinking.
