THEY DIDN'T FORGET:

5,000 honor their dead at Mt. Auburn Cemetery

By B. M. PHILLIPS

If the approximately 5,000 persons who visited Mt. Auburn Cemetery on Memorial Day are typical of people all over our land, there is a reawakening in this generation—a reawakening to the realization that more people honor their loved ones and take time to remember.

From early morning, until late at night, Mt. Auburn was crowded with people. They came equipped with garden tools to clean up the debris left from the winter.

They carring flowers, and flags, prayer books and Bibles. Some brought lounge or beach chairs so they could sit in quiet meditation, and enjoy the warm sun.

Thanks to the Rev. Edward G. Carroll, new pastor of Sharp Street Methodist Church which owns the cemetery, the high weeds which visitors normally find were already cleared away.

The cemetery has purchased a $5,000 gravier digger machine. It also has plans for a perpetual care program to which lot owners would contribute.

* * *

AT 11:30 a.m., the Rev. Mr. Carroll conducted memorial services which were broadcast over a loudspeaker. Bells tolled taps. Very impressive.

Also about, his brother, the Rev. Julius Carroll, who was named assistant pastor to his brother last week. He comes back to Baltimore for Georgia.

"I have never been at home at this time of the year before. This is a real inspiration to me," said the Rev. Julius Carroll, as he walked about greeting old friends.

Only your note — the city decided to complete street paving in the area, so that the streets surrounding the cemetery jammed for blocks were blocked off, and only one entrance to the cemetery was open for cars to enter. That's what you call poor planning — Mr. Barnes!

And, with that traffic jam right under their noses, two police officers in a police car No. 800 with license no. 74 sat under the shade of tree right off of Nevada and Maisel Sts.

* * *

Largest family group I saw at the cemetery was that at the graveside of Mary and Moses Carter and their son, Frank.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter died in 1951, within eight months of each other—he in May, and she in December; and their son Frank, died in May 1954.

Among those about here were Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan, 260 Robert St., sister of Mrs. Carter, and the Carters' sons, daughters, sons-in-law and grandchildren.

The children were: Rosie Adams, Cora Williams, Evelyn Cockrell, Helen Whaden, Emma and Paul Carter, Ruth Dillard. The sons-in-law were: Vernon Wheaden, Kenneth Adams, Ivory Dillard, and a daughter-in-law, Gloria Carter.

Also, these grandchildren: Brenda Walker, Roselyn Cockrell and Paulette Carter and three-month-old Joan Carter.

Dr. Willard Allen, grand master of Maryland Masons, and his daughters, Elizabeth and Rosalind and his sister, Mrs. Florine Burle, were there to decorate the grave of the girls' mother, Mrs. Thekla Allen. She died in October 1920, at the age of 35. Remember?

Elizabeth, by the way, is readying for her June 23 wedding to James Robert Nalle, the postal worker.

It is scheduled for the Christmas Center at 2 p.m., with Methodist Bishop Edgar Love performing the rites. A 3 p.m. reception follows at the Masonic Temple.

Decorating the grave of Mrs. Mamie Holmes, who died two years ago, were Mrs. Lillian Beekman who came down from New York; Oliver Taylor and his son, Cyril of 1717 W. Lanvale; and Mrs. Holmes' widower, Jimmy Holmes, and Mrs. Ethel Saunders, wife of the Rev. William Saunders.

The Berrys and Butlers and Halls were out as usual—at the grave of their mother, Mrs. William T. Berry, who died in 1945; and their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnston, who died in 1948 and 1955.

* * *

In the group were: Alton (Chippy) Berry who came down from Philly; Dr. and Mrs. Berkley Butler, Mrs. Mamie Hubert, Mrs. Edith Cavanaugh, Mrs. Lillian Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Hall.

By the way, Mrs. Butler (Audrey) still has her right arm in a sling. Remember when she fell and fractured it back in March while she was attending the YWCA Conference in Detroit?

"We haven't missed coming here for 22 years," said Mrs. Charles Pinderhughes of Washington. She and her husband and her mother, Mrs. Emma Washington, of 2502 13th St., NW Washington, were at the graveside of her father, John Washington who died in February, 1938.

Iris and Thersa Weaver and their father John Weaver, 1336 Druid Hill Ave., decorated the grave of their mother and wife, Alma Stewart Weaver, who died in 1934; and their grandmother, Theresa R. Stewart, who uncumbed in 1954.

Another Washington group there included John Hall, and members of his family, of 2403 Twelfth St. NE. They were joined by his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Hall of 2813 W. Mosher St., and came to decorate the grave of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Henderson who died in 1925; and Mrs. Hall's sister, Mrs. Margaret Watts who died in 1940.

John Rich and his sister, Alma, are regular visitors. They cleaned and decorated grave of their father, John Rich Sr. and a sister, Bernice, who died in 1916.

At the graveside of the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Matthews — (remember he was the longtime Methodist minister, 42 years) and parents of Ralph Matthews, the former AFRO writer, were a son, Clifton; a daughter, Nellie Matthews Tarter and George Tarter and Frances Eubanks.

Among others seen were: Randolph (Ranny) Waters' widow, Theresa, and his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. T. Henry Waters Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Shelton Coles and her mother, Mrs. William A. Lynch at the graveside of Mrs. Lynch's husband, who died in 1924; and Mrs. Lynch's mother, Mrs. Airy Hunter, who died just this past March.

* * *

The Rev. Fairfax King, the new assistant pastor of Metropolitan Methodist Church, his sister, Mrs. Amaza Briggs of Washington, and his daughters, and son, Imogene King and Hermione Weaver and Francis King; and a grandson, Kenneth Weaver.

Also, Lawrence Rawlings, 602 N. Arlington Ave.;

Samuel R. Owings, the school principal, who lost his wife, Marie in that tragic boating accident, went to her grave in Arbutus and then came to Mt. Auburn where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stokes and his mother, Mrs. Maggie Owings are buried.

He will be off next week for Meharry Medical College where his son, Samuel Jr., gets his degree.

* * *

Others seen included: Mrs. Mary B. Thomas and her sister, Mrs. Crs. Carrie B. Hill, and their brother, Harvey Brown, busy decorating the grave of their parents, Isaiah and Martha H. Brown and a sister, Mattie Wilson, who died last year. Mrs. Thomas is the well known school principal.

Also, Mrs. Marie Turner, 2024 Braddish, and her daughter, Mrs. Florence Carter and son-in-law, Herman Talbert, at the grave of Mrs. Turner's father, Spencer Patterson, who died in 1920.

The late Mr. Patterson was also the father of W. Leroy Patterson, the postal worker, and husband of the AFRO's Lula Patterson.

The Roland Hensons (Anita), and his mother, Mrs. Ellen Henson were there at the grave of Anita's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Keller and their grandparents, the Isaac Kellers.

Also, Miss Nellie Spriddle, 822 N. Carrollton Ave., at the grave of her mother, Mrs. Martha Spriddle;

And, Mrs. Redith Robinson, 1106 Argyle Ave., at the grave of her husband, Charles Robinson. She was accompanied by a nephew, Lee Jones.

Also about, Mrs. Marie Edwards, 1721 W. Lafayette Ave., recalling that it has been 21 years since her oldest son, Alphaeus, died. Remember he was the Morgan graduate and the brother of Anita and Marie?

Also, Mrs. Nora Jackson, 1120 W. Mosher, who was decorating the grave of her husband, James J. Jackson who died in 1946, at the age of 72.

And, at the grave of AFRO Founder John H. Murphy Sr., where are buried his wife, Martha Elizabeth; sons Daniel and George B., daughters, Rose and Nettie—and grandsons, Houston Murphy and Harry Gilbert—and son-in-law, George Gilbert Sr.; we said a minute of prayer.

The minister was married to Miss Idell Watkins in 1932. They have one son and two grandchildren. Mrs. Payne is counselor at the Booker T. Washington Junior High School.

In 1923, Dr. Payne came to Enon. He is the former president of the United Baptist Convention of Maryland, vice president of the National Baptist Convention and a member of the NAACP, Urban League, Alpha Phi Alpha, Frontiers, and the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.
