PASTOR HONORED—The Rev. M. W. Wilkerson, pastor of Zion Baptist Church receives the congratulations of Dr. M. C. Allen, president of Virginia Theological Seminary after receiving the Honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity during the pre-convention session of the United Baptist Missionary Convention held this week at the church. Those shown are Dr. Allen, the Rev. Dennis Barrow, the Rev. Mr. Wilkerson and the Rev. W. L. Clayton.

GRIEF STRICKEN—Being assisted to a car is Mrs. Armstead Powell, grief-stricken mother of the slain Mrs. Minnie B. Neal whose funeral was held Wednesday. Twelve year-old Samuel Neal Jr. (back to camera) and his sister, Virginia, 4, witnessed the fatal stabbing of their mother.

Rites held for slain mother

"I want all the members of this family to know that my soul shares with you the passing of your loved one . . . All the good things she has done will live as long as those who knew her."

These words of consolation were spoken in quiet dignity Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. Mr. W. Lyndral Pitts Sr., pastor of First Mount Calvary Baptist Church, at the funeral of Mrs. Minnie B. Neal, 32.

Mrs. Neal was stabbed fatally shortly before noon Saturday at the corner of Shifleds Pl., and Lafayette Ave., while her 12-year-old son, Samuel looked on in horror.

Held for action by the grand jury in connection with the slaying is her woman's husband Samuel Neal Sr., 37. Mrs. Neal was stabbed several times in the chest, according to police.

"BEFORE RETIRING each night she read the 23d Psalm," the Rev. Mr. Pitts said of Mrs. Neal, the mother of two children.

The Holland Funeral Home, 1600 block Druid Hill Ave., was crowded with bereaved relatives and friends of the dead woman. And as the minister conducted the service, both men and women could be seen wiping tear-stained eyes.

"We pray gracious God to forgive us for our sins and give us the power to overcome our weaknesses," the Rev. Mr. Pitts said. "We pray that that kind of faith surround this family."

The minister told the grief-stricken family that there are some people who suffer although they never seem to do anything wrong.

"There are others who do anything that passion arouses in them and they seem to do well," he continued. "Her God has a tomorrow."

Ending his sermon, the Rev. Mr. Pitts said, "He (God) alone smoothes out the roughness of the life in which we live."

The body of the dead woman was shrouded in a pale blue dress. A bank of flowers was arranged around the grey casket, the referring to the wreaths, the Rev. Mr. Pitts pointed out that they were an indication that "life is manifested all around us."

POLICE REPORTED that Mr. Neal surrendered himself to officers John Brown and Leroy Prediger in a bar located in the 1600 block Pennsylvania Ave. after the slaying.

Describing the fatal encounter, Samuel Jr. said, "He took a dagger from his pocket and stabbed my mother in the heart. I saw him do it . . ."

A neighbor, Mrs. Elsie Parroff, 1410 Argyle Ave., told the AFRO that the Neals had not been getting along during the 13 years of marriage. She said Mr. Neal drank and would beat his wife, adding:

"She would have left long ago, but for the children's sake she told me she was going to try to make out the best she could."

In addition to her son and daughter, Virginia, 14, Mrs. Neal is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Armstead Powell; two brothers, Harold and William Powell; two sisters, Mrs. Ella Black of Baltimore and Mrs. Jane Banks of Washington, seven nephews, two aunts and a great aunt.

WORK BENCH:

Flashbulbs and dictators

By CLARENCE MITCHELL

So many flash bulbs go off at the Capital that I did not notice what enterprising Theodore Gaffney was doing on Wednesday, May 16.

Newspapers around the country would do well to remember what he did and what happened after he did it.

There had been a long hearing on civil rights bills before the Senate Judiciary Committee which is under the chairmanship of Mississippi's James Eastland.

Suddenly, the hearing ended and senators began to dash to the floor.

* * *

EASTLAND WAS not in the room. Senator Olin Johnston, (Dem., S.C.) was presiding at the time. I tried to get Senator Johnston to continue the hearings long enough to let Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, testify.

Mr. Wilkins had come down from New York. Common courtesy should have made the senator from South Carolina willing to get his testimony in the record.

But Senator Johnston insisted that the hearing was over for the day and "all the senators had gone."

A few were still standing around the room, but Senator Johnston didn't seem to see them.

* * *

OUT OF THE corner of my eye I saw the faint flicker of a flash bulb, but I did not pay much attention to it. Senator Johnston was paying attention. He saw the camera held by Mr. Gaffney trained on him while he was talking to me—a colored man.

This is election year for Senator Johnston and the nearest thing to political poison in South Carolina is having one's picture taken with a colored man for any reason.

He probably saw himself being covered out of office by a write-in vote, because he does not now have any opposition for reelection.

The senator gave instructions to a guard to seize the Gaffney film. This, of course, is exactly what would have happened if Mr. Gaffney had taken a picture of the Kremlin or East Germany. But this picture was taken in Washington.

* * *

AS USUALLY happens when the wicked persecute the righteous, there was a slip up. The guard grabbed the wrong film and got a blank plate.

Senator Johnston did not know this and for that reason, he said the film was seized because it had been taken when the committee was in session.

During the hearing a white photographer, following a common practice, wandered into the room with his camera and flash equipment. He almost leaned on the shoulder of Senator Everett Dirksen, (R., Ill.).

Slowly he focused his camera and took a picture of Attorney General Herbert Brownell who was testifying at the time.

* * *

HE GOT his picture because he is white. Mr. Gaffney was given the secret police treatment because he is colored. Senator Johnston would not have dared to try such a trick on a photographer for one of the large daily publications, but there are other senators who will.

Every newspaper of consequence in the country should call upon the senate to halt such abuses of freedom of the press. These are the opening wedges of dictatorship and should not be tolerated in our country.
