Pitchers: Some can't count, can't remember—Campy

NEW YORK—The many problems confronting a catcher in the major leagues are related in vivid detail by Roy Campanella in an interesting piece in the Saturday Evening Post.

The article, ghost-written by Milton Gross of the New York Post, carries the byline of the Brooklyn Dodgers' three - time National League "most valuable player." It says in part:

"TAKE THE simple matter of signs.

"Did I say simple? Well, it's hot.

"Some folks think we sign one for a fast ball, two for a curve, the way it used to be done on the sandlots. If that were the case, the other teams would know every pitch that was coming after the first few batters got up there.

"To confuse them you must be a little complicated, but then you run into the problem of how complicated you can get without confusing your pitcher, too.

"WHEN DON BESSENT'S pitching for us, I got to make it easy for him, He can't see too good. Karl Spooner sees good enough, but I can't use too many flashes in the sign. He says he misses the movement in my fingers.

"With Billy Loes, who had arm trouble this spring, I don't suppose it makes too much difference. When he gets mad he'll cross me up. With him, I got to be ready for anything.

"The pitchers aren't machines whose buttons can be pushed to make them do what you want. Some shake their heads indicating they have the sign. They step back on the mound and go into their windup, and when they get to the top of it they're already forgotten what was called for a split second before.

"SOME PITCHERS just can't count. Some don't even remember.

"I try to tell those who have that kind of trouble, 'If you have any doubt, why get on the mound and pitch? Give me some indication that you haven't caught the sign.'

"When I think of such lost moments, my experiences with Ewell Blackwell are clear.

"Here is a pitcher who should have been winning 20 games a season right along. He has the best curve, the best fast ball and he knows baseball, but he's stubborn and has ideas all his own. Many times I can't even guess what he's thinking about.

* * *

"ONE GAME last year against the Cardinals I see that Ken Boyer on first base is getting anxious. I figure he wants to go for second. We have signs for pick-off plays at the bases, and I flash to Loes to get the runner back.

"Boyer was third in the league in stolen bases last year, with 22, and a guy like that you got to watch.

"A catcher gets to know these things. Even somebody like the Braves' Eddie Mathews, who won't run ordinarily, will try for a steal if the pitcher relaxes. Billy Bruton will go all the time if he gets a running start.

"With a man like Richie Ashburn, of the Phillies, I'll hold up my sign to the pitcher and watch him a while. I can dared near say when Ashburn will run.

"Anyway, I flash one fake and the sign to check the runner on first, but instead he stepped on the mound immediately and threw to the hitter.

* * *

"TO THIS DAY I don't know how I caught that ball. I wasn't expecting it.

"I called time and walked out to the mound. 'You looking at me,' I asked Billy.

"'Right at you,' Loes says.

"'Didn't you see the sign to hold the runner on?'

"'I didn't see a thing,' Loes says, 'but tell you what—try me out again. Give me that sign once more and see how I make it!'"

Archie Moore in honeymoon hotel

Archie Moore breezed into London on May 8, 15 pounds overweight for his world light-heavyweight title defense against Yolanda Pompey, June 5.

Pompey is rested "a seaside gymnasium with a temperature of 65 degrees, please."

"I have four pounds a week to lose and I'll do it comfortably—if I can get some heat."

So Charlie Johnston, his manager, went out to the 450-room Ocean Hotel in Sussex, to set up a training camp.

There are over 100 honeymoon couples in the hotel now, but the manager said "we have accommodated Archie very easily in one of the wings."

* * *

ON HIS ARRIVAL, Archie told newspapermen, "I am 39, my passport proves it. I have had to postpone this match because of trouble in getting my weight down.

"Actually I have been waiting a little warmer weather, it has been too cold.

"If I beat Pompey, I will retire and concentrate on the world heavyweight title.

"I have beaten all the leading contenders.

"Since Rocky Marciano has retired, I cannot see how my claim can be disputed.

"I expect to fight for the world title next September.

"I think I am one of the best fighters in the world, and the only real blow Rocky gave me, was to my pride."

Patterson in camp switch

MONTICELLO, N.Y. — Floyd Patterson, young heavyweight title contender from Brooklyn, launched a new phase of his training program here, Thursday, moving from Greenwood Lake.

The 21-year-old former Olympic champion is preparing for an elimination contest against Hurricane Jackson. The bout is slated for New York's Madison Square Garden June 8, and is designed to lead to a successor to Rocky Marciano who retired last month.

Floyd admitted he came here as a money saving move. He said the quarters at Greenwood Lake were more than he could afford.

Patterson and his manager, Cus D'Amato reported that for the three weeks Floyd was lodged at the Greenwood Lake Inn, it was costing the fighter a minimum of $108 a day to maintain his retinue.

5 leading cycle riders in Vista races Sunday

The five top point scorers of the season at the new Vista Park Speedway, will make their appearance at the half-mile oval Sunday afternoon, when the D.C. Thrills & Twisters Motorcycle Club presents its third card of the season.

Leading the "lead shoe" artists is Billy Tyler, of Stafford, Va., number one man last year. Tyler has scored two "grand slams" this season. At the Laurel and Sea Sportsmen Club.

Reno Coletti, of College Park, Md., and a student at the University of Maryland, is riding a hard second.

* * *

IN THEIR last race at Manassas, Va., Dan Du Pree, of D.C., went down with Tyler crashing into him, and Coletti crashing into Tyler has scored two "grand slams" in the hospital with injuries to his right arm that required 16 stitches. Coletti remounted and swept the field.

Chapel Oaks Hawk, of Chapel Oaks, Md., No. 2 man last year, is in the third spot, with Marvin Shaw, of Philadelphia, 1954 high point scorer, holding fourth position. Suicide Pollard of D.C. is the man in No. 5 spot.

OVER FORTY other well known riders will take part in the events. They include Bobby King, Bobby Mitchell, Dan Dedino, Dan Du Pree, James Breent, Richard Jackson, Billy Bell, Bill Joy, Raymond "Hot Rod" Lloyd, Harvey Higgins, Fred White, Glamour McGert, and the Drexel Blvd.

Alertness pays off for Minoso in car accident

CHICAGO (ANP) — Quick thinking on the part of Orestes (Minnie) Minoso saved the Chicago White Sox outfielder from serious injury when he was struck by an auto on Chicago's southside Sunday night.

Minoso, who suffered only minor injuries, was struck as he alighted from a taxicab at 43rd St. and Drexel Blvd.

He was preparing to pay his fare when he noticed the automobile speeding toward him. Quick as a flash the Cuban Comet jumped on the fender to avoid being struck flush.

Taken to Provident Hospital for treatment and X-ray, Minoso was reported to have suffered injuries to his right arm and leg but they were not serious.

The car which struck Minoso was driven by Mose Jones of Chicago. He told police he was only traveling 15 to 20 miles per hour.

In Memoriam 1

BASKERVILLE—In loving memory of our dear son, GEORGE, who passed away five years ago, May 26, 1951.
No one knows how much we miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain.
We have suffered since we lost dear George.
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweet, tender, and true.
There is not a day, dear Mother That we do not think of you.
Loving
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

DORSEY—In loving memory of my husband, Joseph T., who passed away one year ago, May 25, 1955.
Memories are treasures that no one can steal.
Your death was a heartache, that no one can heal.
I'll not forget you, now that you have gone
But always remember you, No matter how long.
Loving Wife,
LOTTIE.

In Memoriam 1

PURVEY—In loving memory of our dear father, HENRY PURVEY (TINEYMILL), who passed away, May 23, 1950:
You are always in our thoughts, No matter where we go;
Always in our hearts, dear Father,
Because we loved you so.
Loving Children,
BENNIE PURVEY,
ROSE POINDEXTER,
LEON D. PURVEY,
MADISON R. PURVEY.

WHITE—In loving memory of the late CLEOPHUS WHITE, A. WHITE who departed this life, May 29, 1950:
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear.
Loving
DAUGHTER
