HYMN OF THE MONTH:
'Meet Mother In The Skies'

Words to Live by

By ROBERT T. NEWBOLD

A recent press release implied that certain pills can bring one peace of mind. The assertion that the pills can help ease tension leaves me without doubt.

The best of being able to "quiet nerves" does not prompt questions on my part. But, to suggest they can bring peace of mind is very doubtful because of the following reasons.

In the first place, peace of mind cannot be obtained by giving attention to the physical part of man while ignoring the spiritual.

While a pill may soothe the physical and psychological—according to the findings in the area of psychosomatic medicine—the spiritual part is still left unattended.

* * *

FREQUENTLY, the reason for failure to sleep at night is not a disease germ which irritates the body but a sense of guilt which disturbs the soul.

Many a person suffers inwardly, not from an illness discovered by a physician — but from fear that his secret sins will be discovered by his friends and foes. The trouble then is not something which a pill can ease.

A pill can help man physically. However, when the malady is in the area of the spiritual, a mere pill will not suffice.

IN THE SECOND place, peace of mind cannot be prescribed by the family physician. True, he can help ease or prevent pain from making the body uncomfortable.

But the aid of the Great Physician must be sought if one is to obtain freedom from the disturbances of the soul.

The Gospels record frequent reference to the healing ministry of Jesus. Lame men walked. The blind were restored to sight. The mentally disturbed were made whole. Many were the miracles of the Master.

Often in the performance of the miracle Jesus would say: "Thy sins be forgiven thee." In so doing he indicated that the Basis of the malady was more than a ruptured organ in the body; it was a ruptured relationship with God.

Prescriptions, therefore, by a physician can never substitute for those of the Great Physician.

MOREOVER, there is no short cut in the experience of peace of mind. The manner in which some citizens are eagerly seeking pills indicates that modern man it trying to find an easy way to this greatest of all experiences.

He seems to forget that Jesus emphasized the fact that peace of mind is the result of three disciplines:

The discipline of the mind, the discipline of the will, and the discipline of the body.

* * *

IN SUMMARY, this simply means that those who would obtain this great prize should think clean thoughts.

In the words of Paul, they should be influenced by the thinking of Christ Jesus. They should strive always to give priority in their choices to the will of God. They should bring their bodily desires and appetites under control.

No pill can accomplish these. The matter then, in the final analysis, remains with the individual and his relationship with God.

Only one pulpit change as 94th Methodist Conference ends

PHILADELPHIA

"Stewards of God's Variety Grace," Peter 4:10, was theme of this year's 94th session of the Delaware Annual Conference of the Methodist Church that closed Sunday at Tindley Temple, Broad and Pitzwater Sts.

Bishop Edgar A. Love presided over the six-day assemblage in which there was no significant changes throughout the five districts. There was only one in Philadelphia.

The Rev. Noah W. Moore Jr. was host pastor of the conference which opened on Tuesday. The Rev. Leon S. Moore is district superintendent; Hally F. Johns, conference lay leader, and Roy L. Cordery, district superintendent.

The Rev. C. J. Williams was transferred from the pastorate of Bethsaida Church, 1219 Fitzwater St., to Cape May, N.J., in the Wilmington District.

* * *

THE REV. A. L. SCRIBER, formerly pastor in Quinton, N. J., also in the Wilmington District, was appointed as the Rev. Mr. Williams' successor at Bethsaida.

Resignation of the Rev. A. E. Martin marked one of two changes in officers of the conference. The Rev. Joshua E. Licorish of Jersey City, N.J., was elected to the secretarial post vacated by the Brooklyn, N.Y., pastor.

The Rev. Samuel E. Parker of Frutland, Md., was elected statistical secretary. He succeeded the late Rev. James A. Fassett of Orange, N.J.

Most compelling of the resolutions adopted by the body was the one to implement General Conference's plan to eliminate within the next four years the central jurisdiction, and thereby secure segregation from the Methodist Church.

* * *

CENTRAL jurisdiction is one of the five areas of the church. Overlapping the four other areas, all of which are based on geographical locations, it is predominantly colored.

The General Conference's admission of women to pastorates was well received by the body.

Last year's two million dollar raising of funds was matched this year. Of that amount, $225,863 was reported from connectional work. For retired ministers, their widows and orphans $30,007 was alloted.

Preceding Sunday's reading of appointments, as ordination service of deacons and elders was held. Assisting Bishop Love were District Superintendants Moore, M. O. Ballard, C. W. Derrickson and W. L. D. Lyght;

THE REV. J. W. ELBERT chairman, Board of Ministerial Training, and senior marshal, who presided; the Rev. D. R. Fletcher, registrar; the Rev S. L. Jones, chairman, committee on Conference Relations; the Rev. J. O. Shockley, chairman, Board of Conference Claimants, and the Rev. H. T. Johnson, junior marshal.

Granted recognition were: William A. Peterkin, deacon; James C. Whittington, Robert A. Adams Leroy L. Hamilton, elders; J. O. Griffin, W. C. Thomas and Isaac Bivins, relinging.

Diplomas were presented to Mrs. Jessica Hickmon, Paul R. Hilton, John B. Jackson, Theodar Murray, Hester Oppie, James M. Parnell, Eugene R. Randolph and Issac H. Thompson.

Noble Henry, J. C. Collins, Frank Ferrare and J. T. Ayres were approved as supply pastors.

Presented as prospective ministerial candidates were: Merton D. Hinte, James H. Roberts, Charles Warmsley, Thomas Snowden, Bernard Nottingham, Kenneth Jackson, William L. D. Light Jr. and William Stewart.

BISHOP EDGAR A. LOVE, resident bishop of the Baltimore area, states some of the things he would like stressed to Rev. Noah W. Moore, host pastor, at morning assembly of the 94th session of the Delaware Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, Friday, at Tindley Temple. Rev. Leon S. Moore, superintendent of the Philadelphia District; Rev. W. R. Hazzard, superintendent of the Eastern District; Rev. M. O. Ballard, superintendent of the Dover District; Rev. W. L. D. Light, superintendent of the Wilmington District; Rev. C. F. Ferguson, of Sumter, S.C., and Rev. C. W. Derrickson, superintendent of the Salisbury District, surround them.

MINISTERS' WIVES Association of the Delaware Conference, Methodist Church gifted Mrs. Edgar A. Love, wife of the bishop during annual meeting luncheon in Philadelphia last week. Left to right, Mrs. Love of Baltimore, Mrs. Edmond B. Presley, Mrs. Florence Crompton, Mrs. D. W. Irvin Bishop, and Mrs. Gladys Williams, luncheon chairman, all of Philly.

Newbold declines St. Louis pastorate

The Rev. Robert T. Newbold, pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church, was offered—but declined the pastorate of an interracial church in St. Louis.

"I think the challenges are just as great here as they appear to be there," he told the AFRO, "and the opportunities for effective Christian witness are just as great."

"The primary factor, however, is the fact that I have just recently come here and am beginning to organize for effective service.

"I will have been here three years June 4."

Of the church he was offered, the Cote Brilliant Presbyterian Church in St. Louis, the Rev. Mr. Newbold said:

* * *

"THE WORK seems to be challenging. Nu offers a very good opportunity for somebody to do an effective piece of work (especially in the area of race relations."

The church is all-white at present but colored members will form a large part of the future membership.

The Rev. Mr. Newbold said that the former pastor, the Rev. Alfred C. Crouch, had retired, having reached retirement age.

"The white church is to move out," he said, "but as I understand it, 15 (white) present members will remain."

Rev. Payne tells Isis of '3 marks'

"We have many things to be thankful for, in spite of the possibility of global war."

The Rev. Arthur J. Payne, pastor of Enon Baptist Church, was speaking Sunday evening at the annual thanksgiving service of Jerusalem Court, No. 1, Daughters of Isis, held there.

Continuing he said: "During this past week I read E. Stanley Jones' book, "Mastery," a book of devotions. In this book he discusses the marks of the Cross on the church at Antioch.

"The three marks are:

1. The Mark of Fellowship
2. The Mark of Love and
3. The Mark of Sacrifice.

LOOKING AT his audience of approx. 350 persons, many of them resplendent in their ceremonial dress, the Rev. Mr. Payne spoke on:

"The Daughters of Isis excell in Fellowship. Fellowship makes us respect one another. It brings us together and makes us look out for one another.

"Love breaks down denominational barriers, it puts brothers and sisters on a common level," he concluded.
