Miss Davis was taken to the first aid room. She was not taken to Graduate Hospital, where she was pronounced dead on arrival at 11:35 a.m., until the service was in session.

At the conclusion of the service, the congregation was informed of Miss Davis' death by the Rev. Joseph T. Kirkland, assistant pastor of Union Baptist and son of the pastor.

The junior Rev. Mr. Kirkland also gave the home of Miss Davis' cousin, James Davis of 2035 N. Eighth St., to tell the family of her death.

MISS DAVIS operated a rooming house at her home, 622 S. 18th St. She formerly worked in private family for about 30 years, the same period of time she belonged to Union Baptist.

Another cousin, Miss Virginia Springs, stated that Miss Davis had complained about being "full of aches and pains" during a telephone conversation on Thursday.

Mrs. Bryant to be installed

Mrs. Harrison J. Bryant, wife of the pastor of Bethel AME Church, has been elected second vice president of the United Church Women of Baltimore, a local group composed of representatives of all Protestant churches.

Mrs. Bryant will be installed along with 10 other officers May 4 at the fellowship meeting at Huber Memorial Lutheran Church, the Alameda and 29th St.

diction, Wednesday night.

The resolution referred to committee on the conference, was first introduced at the morning session.

A SIMILAR PROPOSAL was introduced by the Rev. Stanley Frazier of Montgomery, Ala., although some delegates seemed surprised at the early timing of the issue, many of them had been tipped off the night before.

The first delegate on the floor to oppose the Committee Study Plan resolution was Chester Smith, veteran lay delegate, New York, who termed the racial plank in the bishop's episcopal address, "a weak statement which soft pedals the issue."

He pointed out that in order to "hold the respect of the peoples of Asia," the Methodist Church can no longer remain a "segregated Church."

MR. SMITH later introduced a resolution urging the committee on the conference to write amendments to the church constitution calling for the complete abolishing of the Central Jurisdiction and incorporating five geographical areas of church.

This measure was referred to the committee on the conference.

The Central Jurisdiction delegates also introduced a resolution, which has been referred to the committee on publishing interests, calling for fair employment practices in the Methodist Publishing House.

The measure, offered by the Rev. C. Anderson Davis of Bluefield, W. Va., made special reference to the reported segregated conditions of colored employees in the Nashville, Tenn., plant. Those employees are allegedly barred from skilled positions because of race.

This resolution also grew out of the liberal wing of the Central Jurisdiction delegation, the AFRO learned.

THERE ARE 704 ministerial and lay delegates and 75 bishops attending the conference.

Over 100 proposals to abolish, alter or continue the segregated Central Jurisdiction are now in committee. This is reported to be the record number of proposals ever submitted on one issue.

The way recommendations made by the bishop in the episcopal address was that concerning inter-

Kelly cites need for new scientists

Science can serve as "an international language for developing understanding and respect among nations," Dr. Harry C. Kelly, assistant director of the National Science Foundation, said Wednesday at Morgan State College.

Dr. Kelly addressed a meeting of students and faculty members of the natural sciences division of the college in the Calloway Hall amphitheatre.

Appearing at the seminar with him was Dr. John W. Davis, a member of the board of the Foundation, who addressed assembly of the college at 10 a.m.

DR. KELLY also declared that we "need to develop scientists not just to advance our knowledge, but to help us solve our international problems."

"If we are to continue successful as a nation, we must develop friendships, and friendships exist only among equals," Dr. Kelly said, adding that "the process of friendship among the nations is never a one-way process."

On the matter of America's need for scientists and the efforts of the Foundation to stimulate basic research, Dr. Kelly made it clear that the American need is not just for more scientists, but for more and better trained scientists.

He pointed out that "United States technical leadership has been gained with only a small proportion of the population, and that actually more and more persons are going into the sciences.

"Between 1930 and the present time, the population has increased about 35 per cent, whereas the number of scientists has quadrupled and the number of engineers more than doubled."

IN HIS ADDRESS to the college, Dr. Davis, former Point Four Technical adviser to Liberia and president of West Virginia State College, declared that it is essential for Americans and peoples of the Western World as a whole, to "revise their current notions and ideas about the inhabitants of Africa."

"Old African superstitions and primitivism have been upgraded and the country today is ready to take its place among the nations of the world," Dr. Davis declared.

Girl slightly hurt in auto accident

"She ran into the side of my car and bounced off."

Clarence Byrd, 21, of 600 block N. Gilmor St., was describing an accident involving a 7-year-old girl injured slightly when she was hit by his vehicle in the 900 block N. Mount St., Wednesday afternoon.

The girl, Marilyn Brooks, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Brooks of 1427 Edmondson Ave., was treated for bruises at Lutheran Hospital and released an hour after the accident.

Mr. Byrd said he was making a right turn from Mosher St. onto Mount when the child darted into his car.

Belafonte tip wins top prize

A news tip on the barring of singer Harry Belafonte from a Baltimore Hotel resulted in a $5 prize this week for the first to call the AFRO city desk.

Each week the AFRO has $25 to give to alert readers who are first to phone in their news tips when they witness a newsworthy happening.

Other news tip prize winners who were sent checks this week included a reader who received $3 for a tip on a running gun battle in which a 7 year old boy and a bolsin suspect were shot.

CHECKS FOR $2 each were paid to tipsters on an East Baltimore suicide, the death of a paperhanger in a West Baker St. explosion, and a fire at School No. 139.

Other checks for $1 were sent to AFRO readers who called on: Child struck by car, 900 Block N. Mount St.; man jumped from bridge, Fallaway; fire at Security Laundry; three sisters enlisted in WAVES.

Also: Women in shooting affray at Ashland and Gay Sts.; fire, 1800 block of Lorman St., child hit by car, Lafayette and Gilmore and a fire in 800 block Edmonson Ave.

Your news tip may also be worth money. Call Mulberry 5-6015, MUlberry 5-1812 or MUlberry 5-1813 and ask for the city desk and say, "I've got a news tip." If there is no answer at these numbers call LAfayette 5-2424.

Music major Jean A. Gaither 'would rather sing than eat'

If the Morgan State College Choir is successful in its Lyric Theater debut Sunday, May 6—and it's working hard to be that—not a small part of the credit will be due a young music major from McKeesport, Pa., who'd "rather sing than eat."

Jean A. Gaither, senior and coloratura soprano, is president of the choir and such is the group's chief administrative officer, morale builder and faithful critich short of J. Orville Moseley, the director.

Working with other officers who form the choir cabinet, Jean has to plan tours, plan meetings, send out notices of meetings, preside at meetings and as she says, "do just anything and everything that has to do with the organization and functioning of the choir."

FOR THE LYRIC concert alone Jean has worked with both Mr. Moseley and the bandmaster, Dr. R. Hayes Strider, in addressing and mailing letters to prospective program patrons, in building up choir and band spirit for the big moment at the Lyric.

Possessor of one of the best voices in the 75-voice choir, in the opinion of Mr. Moseley, Jean is specializing in voice at Morgan, but she plays cornet in the symphonic band, and can also play the violin and viola.

Learning to love music early, she played the viola in the orchestra of the McKeesport Technical High School and took private lessons in voice from Mrs. Maudowa Johnson in Pittsburgh, Pa.

She appared in concert in her hometown in 1952 and 1955. She won an award from the McKeesport Music Club and upon entering Morgan in 1952 won first prize in the college talent show of that year.

At Morgan she's continuing her study of voice under Mrs. Dorothy H. Bailey.

THE DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Gaither of McKeesport, Jean has also taught about 30 students how to play string instruments under the direction of Rodney Mercado faculty-organizer and director of the Morgan Symphony Orchestra.

She's a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, co-president of the Federation of Presidents, a member of the staff of the 1955 "Promethean," senior yearbook, a member of the Baptist Club, and treasurer of the Morgan Chapter of the Music Educators National Conference.

Jean, who'll be graduating in June, thinks that "the choir and band should be good in the Lyric recital."

Lucky Pic winner to be June grad

"I was surprised when I saw my picture. I had been looking for it but someone else told me first."

That's what Miss Celia Lofton of 1704 Prestiman St., said when she found her picture circled in the AFRO this week.

A member at Bethel Holy Tabernacle Church, she is a senior at Douglass High School.

Her ambition is to attend Morgan State College to major in business administration and return to Douglass to teach.

Miss Lofton says she plans to use her $5 prize money for graduation in June."

$200 in prizes for 'honor mothers'

Two hundred dollars in prizes will be awarded to the winners of PALMA'S 'Honor Mothers' contest and to the winner's churches according to Arnold Kurland, chairman of PALMA's publicity and promotion committee.

"Realizing the great need that many churches experience in helping the less fortunate of their members," Mr. Kurland said, "PALMA has devised a way to help both the church and the needy."

This is the way the contest works: In each PALMA store and Market Stall there will be "HONOR MOTHERS" coupons. They are absolutely free. Anyone over 14 years of age may get one.

All that person does is tear off the stub and deposit it. The box which will be in every store. On Monday May 14, a grand-drawing will be held to determine the three "honor mothers."

The winning numbers will be published in the AFRO on Friday, May 19, and will also be posted at all PALMA members.

THE FIRST prize winner will receive a merchandise certificate for $50 good at any one or any combination of PALMA stores. Second prize will be a merchandise certificate for $30 and the third prize will be a merchandise certificate for $20.

Each of these prizes will be duplicated to the winners' church to be used for the needy. In this way we hope that the churches will be able to help those in need.

Contestants may enter the Honor Mothers contest as often as they wish. Coupons must be presented. The holder of one of the three winning numbers may take his coupon to any PALMA store or market stall. After the coupon has been verified the name and address and the name and address of the contestant's church is taken and the merchandise certificate sent by mail.

Any son or daughter may enter, but only the mothers can win prizes.
