STROLLING THE AVENUE

Usually the celebration of Mardi Gras (fat Tuesday) recalls exotic dancing in the streets of New Orleans or Rio de Janeiro just before the Lent-ten Season.

Here in Baltimore you don't have to fly down to Rio or catch a fast train to Satchmo's hometown to join the fun. It's much cheaper than that, and the festivities are just as rollicksome.

The SPHINX CLUB olds its annual Mardi Gras celebration every year about this time.

In fact, the ninth annual celebration hit it off at a merry pace Tuesday night, and from 8 to 10 that night drinks were on the house, no less.

THE CELEBRATION at the SPHINX CLUB will wind up Monday night with the crowning of a king and queen to reign over things for the year. During the festivities three bars are in operation, and the Sphinx Club lanoy, provide the music for dancing and patting at the feet.

Peeking through the first-sighters we spotted Ted Johnson, 1602 Rutton, enjoying his favorite hangout.

Also, there were a couple of beauticians, Mrs. Vivian Scott, 1820 Bentalou, and Mrs. Inez R. Johnson, 1809 Wheeler.

While still on the subject of clubs we might as well pass on this announcement from proprietor Charles P. Tilghman. Here goes:

Biddy Wood has been named to handle the club affairs; the new manager is Clayton Jones; Clayton James is floor manager, and Mrs. Selby Lewis is the new secretary-treasurer.

Proprietor Tilghman says they are celebrating their birthday at the club from 8 to 10 Tuesday night.

THE PAUL BLEY TRIO still has two more weekends to go at the TIJUANA. If you're like friend Johnny Johnson, of Madison, and dig the Bley style of modern jazz you'll be sure and make it by before the end of the month.

Mrs. Marie Bailey is the genial barmaid at the TIJUANA.

Pick any clear spring night, and if you pass the CASINO between 9:30 and midnight scores of people can be seen standing in front of the picture window viewing the antics of disc jockey Hot Rod spinning platters.

Inside the CASINO barmaid Frances Ricks is one of the courteous persons despensing the spirits.

OVER AT THE COMEDY Club beautiful Comanche (Cherokee and Mohawk extraction) is still performing her heat-wave dance. No, she's not out to scalp you, just to entertain.

Wild May Perry and his Crazy Cats are still at the CLUB AMBASSADOR.

The rave of the RED FOX is the Andy Ennis Combo.

For a bunch of youngsters, you wouldn't think they had the experience and capacity to rock the place like they do.

If you like rock 'n roll the Melio Jacks over at the CLUB SARA are holding forth for your entertainment every night except Tuesdays.

The night also holds music at the following spots: The Three Cleffs at CHICK'S BAR AND LOUNGE, Alfonso Brown and his Tune Toppers at the CLOVER CLUB, and Johnny Torrell at RICH'S CARNIVAL LOUNGE.

Don't miss out on STEVE'S PINK PONY, THE CROSSROADS and the SUTTON.

When we stroll the Avenue and get hungry we go places like HILTON HOUSE, the ALHAMBRA and RICE'S INN.

Later, for the happenings.

MILDRED ANDERSON, recording star of "No More In Life," formerly with Bill Doggett Trio, will be appearing nitely with the new Fox floor show at the popular COMEDY CLUB in Baltimore (advt.)

Notes From The Sphinx Club

The Mardi Gras got off to a jumping start, Monday. It's our ninth annual and the royals are in a gay mood. Vince Delaney and his "Cubanist" keep things lively with a Latin American tempo. Of course that gay guy, Creston (Joe) Wolnpoint is in his usual rare form.

We crown the king and queen, this Monday, the 23rd, which is the last night for the Mardi Gras. No hints have been forthcoming about who'll be honored this year. Looking back through our album we find that Eleanor Gibson and Francis Griffin were the last to reign. They were crowned in 1948.

Others who ascended to the Sphinx throne were Ada Smith and Bernard Rusk (1940); Mamie Talbot and John Lindsay (1950); Emma Stepney and Clifton Davis (1951); Ann Wallace and Nat Adler (1952); Juliette Carpenter and Carlton Douglass (1953); Ada Palmer and James Gaskins (1954); and Mary Brent and Purnell Carter (1955). Who will it be in '56?

The women's auxiliary which held its second meeting, Monday, agreed to have a brief meeting, due to closing of the Mardi Gras, this Monday, starting at 9 p.m. sharp.

This Tuesday, the 24th — Club Day — we (Charlie and Biddy) will cut the birthday cake between 8 and 10 p.m., which is also "free-loading" time. Don't forget, also, honored at that time will be other club members born under April skies.

It's all over but the shouting — Pretty Charlotte Ellen Johnson and Milton S. Hawkins Jr. (The Hawk), took vows Saturday.

At our first staff meeting, last Wednesday, new personnel changes were announced. Will Jones was introduced as the new manager, Clayton James as floor manager and Selby Lewis, secretary-treasurer. Bernard Rusk, chairman of the Advisory Board, sat in on the meeting and made a report to the board, Monday night. The next Advisory Board meeting will be on Monday, April 30, at 8 o'clock.

If you want a good chuckle, just keep an eye peeled for Bus Johnson who bought a new car this week and is now in his fifth day of learning to drive. Quite a sight to see. Bus parking in a space about 50 yards long. Only takes him about 10 minutes.

Speaking of driving and chuckles, board member Algernon Prestwidge tells this story:

Seems "Pres" was riding home one night with a friend who had been celebrating. The friend failed to observe several red lights and stop signs and almost struck a pedestrian. At this point, "Pres" cautioned: "Be careful, you almost hit that man."

"Darn," the friend retorted. "I thought you were driving."

Don't forget the Cheesecake Club cocktailer on Sunday between 4 and 8 p.m.

N.C. College tops Morgan tennis team

Coach Boo Brown's Morgan State College tennis team dropped its second meet in as many starts Wednesday afternoon, losing to North Carolina College, 4-2, on the campus courts.

Previously the Bears were beaten by Howard University (Saturday) by a 7-2 margin.

In the Wednesday duel, the rivals split, the four singles matches, but North Carolina swept both tests in the doubles. The results follow:

SINGLES—Leon Bowser (Morgan) d. Shannon Little (NCC), 6-3, 6-1; Earl Koger (Morgan) d. Dorian Parrott (NCC), 6-4, 4-6; Joe Alston (NCC), d. Conrad Williams (Morgan) 6-2, 6-4; Gilbert Riley (NCC) d. Charles Hays (Morgan), 6-1, 6-1.

DOUBLES—Alston and Little (NCC) d. Koger and Bowser (Morgan), 6-4, 6-4; Parrott and Riley (NCC), d. Williams and Hays (Morgan), 6-0, 6-4.

Aaron Perry in jail again

WASHINGTON

"We have had him in here a number of times. He's not new to us."

This is what Lt. John E. Sullivan of the District sex squad said Wednesday, after he had turned Aaron Perry, former District welter-weight boxing champion, over to Arlington County police on charges of criminal assault.

Perry, who has spent almost as much time in and out of court as he has in and out of the ring, will be arraigned, April 20, in Arlington County Circuit Court. The court action was continued from last Wednesday.

THE EX-FIGHTER was arrested Monday morning by District police less than 24 hours after he allegedly attacked a female companion following a dinner date last Sunday night. The attack reportedly occurred near the Halls Hill area of Arlington.

Lieutenant Sullivan said the suspect was arrested in front of his home in the 100 block of 32nd St., NE., upon the request of the Arlington police after the woman called to make the complaint.

Perry waived extradition to be tried on the charges, police said.

CONDUCT NAVAL TOUR

NEW YORK — Lt. Com. Dennis Nelson and Richard A. Gradick, journalist, USN, were among the naval press officers conducting tours aboard the USS Saratoga, the newest aircraft carrier, Saturday.

CHICK'S NIGHT CLUB draws out-of-town patrons such as the Robert Blacks of New York who stopped in to chat with head barmaid Bessie Ross, recently. The Three Cleffs are supplying the musical entertainment as the fashionable spot located at Baltimore and Green Sts.

'Twas a great day in Flatbush history

NEW YORK—Opening day of the 1956 season in Brooklyn was undisputedly the most extraordinary in the 44-year history of Ebbets Field, and in some respects in the annals of organized baseball.

As Happy Felton enthused in his role as pre-game master of ceremonies this was "the biggest day in the undying memory of Flatbush."

In all the years that have passed since the park was opened in 1912, no world series flag has ever been raised for its faithful fans.

• • •

AND AS THE victory banner was being hoisted, Organist Gladys Gooding symbolized the fact that no team prior to the '55 Brooks had lost the first two games and come back to win a world series. She did so by playing "You Gotta Have Heart."

Then fitted into this day of "never before" was the unique night of a major league baseball club opening its world championship defense with a team composed of more than 50 per cent colored players.

With Don Newcombe pitching, Roy Campanella catching, Jackie Robinson at third, Charley Neal at second and Junior Gilliam in left, the Dodgers had five tan faces in their nine-man starting lineup.

The half-time pre-game ceremony at Ebbets Field's 1956 National League opening here Tuesday, was highlighted by sundry presentations.

Leading the long list was that of "Most Valuable Player" to Roy Campanella. The Brooklyn catcher, receiving the award for the third time in five years, was told by President Warren Giles:

"Campy, no speech seems necessary for this presentation. Giving this Kenesaw Mountain Landis trophy to you is getting to be a habit instead of an occasion."

• • •

IN HIS ACCEPTANCE, Roy graciously paid tribute to the rest of the Dodgers.

"It is an honor to receive this," he said, "but I wish so much that each of my teammates could have a piece of it."

Aside from the fact this was Campanella's third MVP, it marked the fifth time in the last seven years that the award has gone to a colored player.

• • •

JACKIE ROBINSON was cited in 1949, and Willie Mays in 1951.

Following the presentation to Campy by Giles, the rest of the Dodgers were awarded their world championship rings by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Don Newcombe, handed his first, accepted with a doff of the cap, tossed it to Junior Gilliam and trotted off to begin warming up for his chore as opening pitcher.

Gilliam and Sandy Amoros were cheered on being called up as, of course, was Campanella.

But the two biggest roars of the afternoon greeted the introductions of team captain, Pee Wee Reese and Jackie Robinson, great ball player and "still the third baseman."—SAM LACY.

Mims loser in close TV ten-rounder

CHICAGO — Holly Mims of Washington, D.C., dropped a split decision to local middleweight Bobby Boyd in their televised ten-rounder from Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The verdict in favor of Boyd was hastily booed by the spectators who obviously felt as did the AFRO that Mims deserved no worse than a draw.

The scoring, under the Illinois 10-point-per-round system, had the referee, Bernie Weissman, and one judge, Spike McAdams, tallying for Boyd, and the second judge, Johnny Bray, voting for Mims.

Weissman counted his ballot, 97-92; McAdams, 98-90, for Boyd, by Bray's tabulation was 93-90 for Holly. The AFRO card was 95-94 for Mims.

• • •

THE WASHINGTONIAN, conceding height and weight to his opponent, stood out at the superior boxer in the early rounds. After a first stanza of "feeling out" on the part of both men Mims used his left jab to pepper Boyd through the second, third, fourth and fifth rounds.

In the fourth, he shot over a long right that shook Bobby perceptibly.

• • •

BOYD'S FIRST solid punch of the fight landed in the sixth and sent Mims to the canvas. He was up immediately but had to take the mandatory eight count. Between the rounds, Holly's corner complained to Weissman that he had erred in ruling it a knockdown instead of a slip.

Thereafter Mims resorted to counter punching and tying up his man.
