
TOPS IN SERVICE—The young lady behind the bar is Mrs. Margie Scales, 2016 Madison Ave., who has graced Jones Cocktail Lounge, 1724 W. Lanvale St. The cutomer is Miss Katherine Winborne, 720 N. Fulton Ave., who says of Jones: "one of my favorite places."

STROLLING the AVENUE

Competition in the night club and bar business is getting keen of all the time. Take it from Lee Kuperman, He's manager of the Club Ambassador at Fayette and Wolfe Sts.

If your place of business hasn't got good live entertainment these days, you practically don't rate.

Because of the stiff competition, most spots are falling over themselves to get in the swim of things.

The Ambassador for example closed off one section and turned it into an intimate lounge.

The club will have its grand opening this Friday with free souvenirs for all along with Wild Man Perry and his Crazy Cats. Bus Green will be on the drums.

A Rock and Roll outfit, Perry, and his merry men will also be on hand for a jam session Sunday from 4 to 7.

• • •

AFTER AN ABSENCE of more than a year, Dorothy (Tex) Moore has resumed her bar duties at the Ambassador.

She's from Houston and quite curvacious.

Blues shouter Wednesy Wendell asked her about measurements the other a.m. and all but fell off the bar stool when she whispered "36-22½-42."

A steady customer at the Clover Club on Fayette is Donald Brown. When he's not blowing trumpet there on the weekend, he's busy making the night spots, sometimes in company with the attractive Francis Cuff.

Joseph J. Thompson has tried to keep pace with the pair but finds the going rough.

• • •

MEET DIXON STOKES and Roland Jackson and they will talk all night about their singing group, the "Honey Boys."

Something new in the way of looks has been added to the New Bel Air Cafe at 1100 Orleans St.

Bernard Greenblatt has gone all out to redecorate the place in pink. The Bel Air is a cafeteria on one side and a package goods counter on the other.

It stands a good chance of catching some of that heavy traffic going out Highway 40.

• • •

THAT HOT ROD'S at it again. They wouldn't let Lou and his helicopter on top of the Royal, but he's determined to get some place without using his feet. Here's his latest wrinkle. . . .

On April 9th, he's presenting the first Rhythm and Blues dance and show at the Coliseum.

At 9 p.m. sharp he plans to arrive there astride a burro. Did someone say he's eccentric?

The noted impersario is featuring Choker Campbell, the Cadillacs, Fats Domino, Little Richard, the Turbains, Joe Medlin, Al Jackson, the Clovers, Ruth Brown, and the Two Sweethearts.

• • •

REMEMBER Joe Medlin? The congregation of the Mount Olive Baptist Church in Norfolk, was impressed with the working of fourteen year old Joe when they found him doing solo work at that young age.

They would have been very surprised, had they also heard at the time that young Joe Medlin was singing nightly with a local swing band.

It was this early start with such musicians as Taft Jordan, the Griffin Brothers, Clint Turner and other now famous show people, that formed the background for the style of vocalizing everyone praises Joe for.

The Turbans are four fellows from Phillly, they are Mathew Platt, Charles Williams, Andrew Jones and Albert Banks. They were all holding various jobs such as shipping clerks, etc., and managed to get together at night and practice as a group, occasionally singing in small clubs in and around Philadelphia.

In late spring, they pooled their resources and made a demonstration record of the now popular "When You Dance" which was written by Andy Jones of the group.

• • •

EVERY SINGING GROUP can claim adherents among teenage group. Few, however, like the fast-rising Cadillacs, are praised by university professors and singled out in schoolboy compositions as improving the nation's race relations.

What makes them click? Any number of things.

Like the sleek auto from which their name comes—the Cadillacs feel that they are the "class" of their field. And in feeling this way, they act the part.

Choker Campbell, a student of musical dynamics who has mastered the complete range of reed instruments, says he can't remember when he didn't have a band of his own.

His first ideas about swing music were greatly influenced by Andy Kirk and his rocking style of blues is the result of listening to the Blues Boss of the Blues Big Joe Turner.

Chokers recordings can be found on Fortune, Atlantic, Lucky and Chess Records, and he is the favorite band of such headliners as Ruth Brown, the Clovers, Joe Turner, Lowell Fulson and Connilees others.

One evening of listening to Choker and his great orchestra will make a confirmed fan out of any music lover.

DOMINO CAME up with sensational hit after hit, including such songs as "Baby Please" "Where Did You Stay" "Please Don't Leave Me" "I Live My Life" "Thinking of you" "I Know" "You Can Pack Your Suitcase" "Rosemary" "Don't You Know" and many others.

With his record sales soaring higher and higher, and his outstanding personal appearances, Fats Domino has become an established name among Rhythm and Blues fans.

The biggest break (if all) however, came with his recording of "Ain't That A Shame," which after climbing to the top spot on the R and B popularity charts and staying there for six consecutive weeks, moved over into the popular record listings.

Have you caught the dynamic Andy Jones at the Red Fox Lounge? Someone said his outfit plays like Basie's. It's true. Andy is the brother of Ethel. You know her. That top notch Thrush who got her start at the Red Fox.

Don't take another outing without visiting Chick's bar and lounge at 525 W. Baltimore St., Mr. Cummings, etc., and hear the Tijuana, the "Messengers" with Art Blakey at the drums; Horace Silver at the piano; Donald Byrd, trumpet; Hank Mobley, tenor; and Doug Watkins on bass are the talk of the town.

One of the most entertaining floor shows in is being held over at the Comedy Club.

On the bill with Art Hall, football player turned singer, comic—N—Brian stepin Alice Fields. Three floor shows are held nightly at the Comedy Club plus a matinee on Sunday

Looking for something different? Visit Perry's Circle Bar at 2443 E. Preston St. situated on the other side of town; it's the perfect hide-a-way.

For a really good breakfast or dinner for that matter, don't pass up the Edmondson Cafe in the 800 block Poplar Grove near Edmondson.

Arthur T. Rivers in Honor Flight

The 2044th Airways and Air Communications Squadron, serving the Headquarters United States Air Force Communications Center, Washington, D.C. has announced the appointment of Airman Second Class Arthur T. Rivers, communication center specialist to the Honor Flight for the month of February 1956.

The Honor Flight is composed of those airmen whose progress and diligence in the performance of their assigned duties make them outstanding among their fellow airmen and merit for them this recognition award.

Airman Rivers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rivers of 1410 Monroe St., attended Briscoe Vocational School. Airman Rivers entered the United Stars Air Force on September 13, 1954 and was assigned to duty in the Pentagon in October 1954.

12 Practical nurses complete training

Twelve practical nurses were graduated from the School of Nursing at the University of Maryland Hospital recently.

Among those comprising the class which began March 1955, were:

Anne Muriel Adams, Hortense Lucille Jackson, Margaret Chambers Johnson, Mary Henderson Jones, Elizabeth Kelly, Mattie Rogers Pollard, and Elsie Esther Weaver.

Members of the March 1956 class were: Maude Bell Alexander, Ruth Gloria Bagby, Ethel Mae Gordon, Edna Virginia Miller, and Marie Louise Trench.

• • •

THE PROGRAM in practical nursing at University has been approved by the State Board of Examiners of Nurses, and classes which start in March and September can be completed in one year.

Selection of students is made from applicants in a wide age range. Graduation from this school is desirable but individual selection by the Committee on Admissions considers the scores made in a preliminary test given by the school.

A practical nurse is trained to care for subacute, convalescent and chronic patients requiring nursing services at home or in an institution, and works under the direction of a licensed physician or a registered professional nurse.

A practical nurse may also be employed by health agencies, industries or by the public.

Housewife bitten by dog in street; requires 23 stitches

"I was passing the house. The dog jumped up on me. I thought he was playing. He bit me! . . ."

That report was made to Northwestern police Thursday by Mrs. Ruth Mapp, 35, of 1104 Myrtle Ave., a housewife, who wore a bandage on her chin. She said 23 stitches were used to close the wound at University Hospital.

Mrs. Mapp told police she was bitten Wednesday morning by the dog of Mrs. Margaret Brown, 652 W. Hoffman St. as she passed along the sidewalk.

Notes From The Sphinx CLUB

The welcoming mat was out this week for pretty Sallie Gallie, Baltimore thrush recently returned from Miami Beach, Fla., where she won the plaudits of the critics. After a two-week hiatus, glamoral for Sallie to let loose her charms and talent in Havana, Cuba.

Sallie missed by a few days, an old friend and admirer — Joe Louis. In town to referee a wrestling match, "The Champ" had a case of the sniffs, with his side-kick—D.C. sportsman Alvin Barnes —took care of the serious cocktailing for the evening.

A committee was formed and Miss Mary B. Wiseman, a Bates High School teacher, was elected secretary and Mrs. Larkins, treasurer.

"I'LL NEVER forget Mrs. Larkins to the day I die," Mr. Peters said, adding that she and Mr. Peters were grateful to all who helped them.

Mr. Peters, a former cement block maker, is in ill health. What income the couple receive comes from old age assistance given them by the County Welfare Department.

The couple built the home seven years ago with the help of Mrs Peters' son, William Smith, by a previous marriage. The mortgage resulted when plumbing facilities were installed in the house three years ago.

'It was the most amazing thing . . .'

PAROLE, Md. — "It was the most amazing thing. I had no idea they would get all the money; I thought they would get enough to finance the property."

"When the ladies got the report in Monday night, they had $700. I went to the committee meeting Monday night and they had $1,000 . . ."

T. Norwood Brown, a Parole alderman, explained Thursday how community goodwill and cooperation saved the home of an aged, penniless couple.

Friends raised $1,000.28 within less than two weeks to pay off the mortgage on the cinder-block bungalow home of Daniel Peters, 71, and his wife, Mrs. Georgianna Peters, 58, at 15 Ridge St.

MR. BROWN said the drive was sparked by Mrs. Lucille Larkins, a laundry worker. Others who joined in leading the effort included:

The Rev. Joseph Grant, pastor of Mr. Olive AME Church, of which Mrs. Peters is an active worker; the Rev. John T. Chambers; Walter S. Mills, principal of Parole Elementary School, and Alderman Brown.

'Dickie' Mondie found innocent

TOWNSON — Ruling that the arrest of Russell (Dickie) Mondie had been illegal, Judge Michael P. Smith found the Durham Station sportsman not guilty on a lottery charge Thursday in Circuit Court.

Judge Smith said Policemen Thomas Earl and George Sayer had no right to search Mr. Mondie since they had not seen him commit a crime, and hence the alleged lottery paraphnalia seized in his automobile could not be admitted as evidence.

The arrest of Mondie was made more than a month ago after the officers reported found 34,069.No. a counter of numbered slips and an adding machine in a car which Mondie had been driving.

The officers said their attention was drawn to the car when they saw it drifting alone down the street with the doors unlocked and the ignition key in the switch. Mondie was represented by Irvin S. Friedman.

Man guilty of manslaughter

Melvin Johnson, 31, 1306 block N. Chester St. was convicted of the Nov. 6 manslaughter of Mrs. Noel Sydnor, in Criminal Court, this week.

Judge E. Paul Mason withheld sentence however, pending a probation report.

Mrs. Sydnor was killed when she was thrown from the car in which she was riding at the intersection of Johnson Ave. and Bond and Ashland Ave.

The driver of the automobile was Miss Bernice Schuster, 19, 2900 block Strathmore Ave., who was charged with manslaughter. Mr. Johnson was traveling South on Bond St. when the accident occurred.

"My wife left me in May, 1955. I found out the following week; that she was living with another man on Westwood Ave. I went to see her and I found my wife and the man there. She admitted her misconduct."

The husband said that they had been married in 1948. The divorce was granted.

Mr. Gordon was represented by Dearing and Teodvine, attorneys.

• • •

She added that the last was the fourth time. Mr. Elliott had deserted her and their children.

Along with a divorce she was given custody of their four youngsters.

• • •

According to testimony they were married on Aug. 2, 1952 and the union ended on June 1, 1954.

Said Mr. Benns: "She left while I was at work and took her clothes and personal effects with her. I learned she had moved to 772 Bruce St.

"I went to see her. She told me that she had been planning to leave for a week. She said she would let me know about coming back to live with me. She has never been back."

MRS. CATHERINE BULLOCK of 1331 N. Carey St. was granted a divorce from John R. Bullock, now in the N.C. State prison, Goldsboro.

Their three children were given into her custody.

A divorce also went to Howard Brown of 1005 Carrollton Ave. from Mrs. Annie Brown. The husband said that they voluntarily separated on March 30, 1945, after their marriage in July, 1939.

SMASH JIM CROW CAFE

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands — Operating the owner of a cafe here refused to serve them because of their race, a Marine and eight sailors wrecked the tavern and fatally beat a contractor and resident during a brawl here last week. The servicemen were unidentified by police.

'Your honor, I don't want to go to jail for Easter'

"Your honor, I don't want to go to jail for Easter. If you put me on probation, I won't come back again."

Joseph Ellis Jr., 20, of 2412 Calverton Heights Ave., was speaking Thursday in Northwestern Police Court. He stood before Magistrate Linwood G. Koger Sr. on charges of disorderly conduct and having a fifth call.

"I don't like to send you to jail," Magistrate Koger said, pondering the case of young Ellis, who stated he had just been released from jail nearly two months ago after conviction on a disorderly conduct charge.

"All right," Magistrate Koger said. "I know I may be doing wrong, but I'm going to try you." He gave young Ellis a 90-day suspended jail sentence and put him on a two-year probation.

'Impressing girl friend' expensive for soldier

"He was in the second car. While making out my report, I called his car No. 2. He said, 'Don't call me No. 2.'

"Then he started carrying on, pulling on my coat. It appeared that he was trying to impress his girl friend who was driving the car. . . ."

A police officer was testifying Thursday in Northwestern Police Court against Preston Johnson, Sr., 24, a Pvt. Hawaiian soldier, charged with disorderly conduct and assaulting an officer.

The charges grew out of a two-car accident Wednesday night at Biddle and Howard Sts.

• • •

AFTER PVT. JOHNSON was released at Northwestern in $500 bail for further hearing, he and his girl friend, Mrs. Ruth Odessa Jackson, 2054 Clifton Ave., were fined in Traffic Court.

Mrs. Jackson was fined $50 and costs on each of two counts of driving without license and reckless driving. Pvt. Johnson was fined $100 and costs on a count of reckless driving as an unlicensed person drive his car.

"We are planning to be married soon," said Mrs. Jackson, whose light brown face looked calm under the bruise on her forehead. She added in the corridor at Traffic Court that "I'm getting a divorce."

As a policeman led her toward jail, the composed expression didn't change on her face. Pvt. Johnson was locked up at Central District Police headquarters.

• • •

Suspend term for blond man

TOWSON—Following the filing of a probation report in Circuit Court on Thursday, James Garlick, 24, was given a suspended sentence of two years and then placed on probation for two years in the shooting of Mrs. Vonetta Morgan 2900 block Ortha Ave., Edgeserve.

The blond man had previously been convicted in the shooting of the attractive mother of four children, but sentencing was held up pending the completion of the probation report.

Garlick was also ordered to pay Mrs. Morgan's medical bill and fined $250 for possession of a deadly weapon.

THE SHOOTING took place on the night of Feb. 11 when Garlick admitted that he had gone to a house in the 200 block Woodlawn Ave., Edgeserve, looking for a "colored girl."

Mrs. Morgan said that when she went to the door of the house, where she was visiting a friend, Garlick grabbed her, pulled her off the porch of the house and then fell himself.

The mother said that as she ran toward the house, Garlick shot twice with one of the bullets hitting her in the chest and the other lodging in the left arm.

She was taken to City Hospitals for treatment and it was at this same institution that Garlic was arrested when he appeared for treatment of a bruise of the head.

Injured when he fell four stories from a lodge as members of the narcotics squad entered an apartment building in the 1700 block Madison Ave., last January 17, Owens suffered fractures of both ankles.

A medical report stated that he is expected to suffer permanent damage to his limbs. Owens was confined to Provident Hospital for eight weeks.

IN THE raid, police arrested James Stewart, 32, stevedore, of the 1700 block Madison Ave., and Sylvester Lynch 26, car washer, 1700 block Madison Ave.

They were also given a five-year suspended sentence and placed on probation by Judge Joseph L. Carter.

Lt. Joseph Carroll testified that when he and his men entered the premises, they found a hypodermic needle, syringe and spoon, and blood streaming from the right arms of the three men.

In placing them on probation Judge Carter warned the men not to associate with known addicts or they would find themselves in trouble again.
