'First Run' Films of The Week in Review

"TRIAL" CONTINUES TO PLAY AT HARLEM MYTHEATRE

"Trial," new M-G-M offering showing at the Harlem Theatre, is a motion picture that will keep you rooted to your seat.

Filmed from the Harper's Prize-winning novel by Don M. Mankiewicz, with a hand-picked cast headed by Glenn Ford, Dorothy McGuire, and Arthur Kennedy, John Rodiak and Katy Jurado, here is a drama that delivers a high-voltag shock from its opening scenes, in which a high school girl is found on a beach, seemingly murdered, to the gripping courtroom climax in which a neophyte lawyer, vindicates himself and his protesees.

Glenn Ford is the law school in structor, David Blake, who gets his first taste of real criminal law practice when he accepts a job in the office of Barney Castle and immediately finds himself assigned to defend the seventeen-year-old Mexican boy, Angel Chavez, against the charge of having murdered the girl on the beach.

Convinced of Angel's innocence and aided by Barney's secretary, Abbe Nyle, Blake thwarts the attempt of a bigot-led lynch mob to storm the jail where Angel is held and works out a skillful defense for the helpless youngster.

It is not until he becomes involved in Barney's campaign to raise funds for the trial that Blake discovers he has been used as a Communist front.

And in the story's taut and suspenseful final scenes he delivers the knockout punch which saves Angel from becoming a martyr to the Communist cause.

MET FEATURE HAS JOEL McCREA STARRING

The struggle to impose law and order on a raw, reckless western frontier town supplies the plot elements of "Stranger on Horseback," new color film now showing at the Met Theatre through United Artists release.

Specifically, "Stranger on Horseback" concerns the determination of a young judge to uphold the dignity of the United States by conducting a murder trial despite the lawless and violent interference of a powerful cattle baron.

In the young judge's uphill fight for justice, his six-shooter is as much of a help as his copy of Blackstone.

Joel McCrea plays the role of Judge Thorne, and his co-stars are Kevin McCarthy and Miroslava.

The large supporting cast is headed by such noted feature players as John McIntire, John Carradine, Nancy Gates, Emile Meyer and James Bell.

Joel McCrea is an established veteran of the cinematic range and—in sight difference with the title of the film—no stranger at all to a horse.

BEST-SELLING NOVEL NOW ON REGENT SCREEN

Storming the town on an avalanche of unrestrained praise from every critic and audience it has played to, William Wyler's "The Desperate Hours" is now playing at the Regent Theatre.

Humphrey Bogart and Fredric March hold the top starring roles: Bogart as a deadly and merciless escaped convict who chooses a peaceful home for a refuge, and March as the tormented father of the family Bogart and his sadistic companions hold captive.

Co-starred with them are Arthur Kennedy, Martha Scott, Dewey Martin, Gig Young and Mary Murphy.

The screenplay, by Joseph Hayes, was taken from his own best-selling novel and prize-winning smash-hit Broadway play.

The first film in black-and-white VistaVision, William Wyler's "The Desperate Hours" will beyond a doubt remain as an undying and unsurpassed tribute to this two-time Academy Award-winning cinematic genius.

RAY MILLAND STARRING IN NEW ALBERT FILM

Ray Milland's illustrious career in pictures reaches brilliant new heights as he dons levis and a six-shooter for what is certain to be one of the most talked-about performances of the year in Republic's great drama, "A Man Alone," which is now playing at the New Albert Theater.

Filmed in Trucolor amidst the harsh splendor of western Utah, "A Man Alone" presents such notable co-stars as beautiful Mary Murphy and rugged Ward Bond supported by a talented list of featured players headed by Raymond Burr, Arthur Space, Lee Van Cleef and Alan Hale.

Not one can Milland accept honors for his fine emoting in this top-budgeted production, but for his debut as a motion picture director; his talent is easily recognizable in every scene.

The gripping story opens with Milland, a notorious gunman, coming across the bodies of six victims of a stagecoach holdup as he plods along on a western desert after his horse has died.

Taking one of the stagecoach horses, he rides into the nearby town of Mesa where, immediately suspected of the holdup and murders, he is forced to shoot his sheriff! Alan Hale when the self-important weekling pulls a gun on Milland without first identifying himself.

STAR-STUDDED REVUE FEATURED AT THE ROYAL

There's all great talent, they're all stars, and they're all in person.

What looks to be the biggest group of stars gathered at one time on the historic stage of the Royal Theatre will take over, starting Friday, Nov. 11, for one week, with extra midnite show Friday. On the screen is John Ireland in "Glass Tomb."

The All American rhythm-master Buddy Johnson from his giant band to musically background such stage and record greats as Chuck Berry and his "Maybelline" Trio; The Nutmegs of "Story Untold Fame" and the Four Fellows, equally well known for their "Soldier Boy." Ella Johnson, the girl whose "All Right, Okeh, You Win" became a hit record; Arthur Prysock, handsome star of "Woke Up This Morning"; Al Savage, the "Pardise Princess," personality, and Floyd Ryland, debonair songster.

Those "Do Wha" sensations, the Spaniels are also a feature.

STROLLING ALONG THE AVENUE

One of the smartest night spots in town is CHICK's Bar and Lounge on Baltimore and Greene Sts. which recently opened the doors wide for everybody.

And the unique setup about this club is that no matter where you sit in the place, (yes even in the cozy secluded lounge section) you can see the Jolly Jax trio which packs 'em in each and every night.

The visual arrangement is done by mirrors set up in strategic places throughout the club. This idea was masterminded by the owner, Albert "Chic" Caplan.

NIGHT MANAGERS at the spot are Mike French and Carlo Gray. B. Benjamin takes over during the day. And on the bar is Inez Brown (she's wife of blues singer Tiny Brown.

Vivian (Shaky) Brown, who has held her own in the vocalizing department for the past two years, rounded out her term as barmaid at CHICKS this week. She's infanticipating. You'd never believe she has three sons ages 7 to 11.

Seattle J. C. Bailey is no longer host at that North Avie bistro. Sunday was his last night. He's now "at leisure."

Fleane's Skyvlite Room of the MELODY BALLROOM, 745 W. Baltimore St., will feature the Harptones tonight (Friday), Remember "Sunday Kind of Lovin" and "My Loving Baby" and "Life Is But A Dream?"

And tomorrow night (Saturday) 'twill be the El Dorados at the Skyvlite Room, with their hit tunes "At My Front Door," "My Loving Baby," "My Lovin' Baby."

The King of the Hammond Organ, Lou Bennett and his quartet, are turning them on at CLUB AMBASSADOR. Ditto for the Five Crazy Cats, featuring James (Wildman) Perry, at the Savoy.

HOLDING THE fort at JONES COCKTAIL LOUNGE these cool weekends are the Pyramids. And it's Alfonso Brown and his Tune Toppers at the Clover Club.

And of course Baltimore's sweetheart of voice, Ethel Ennis is wowing the fans at Red Fox. Can't blame George and Bobo Fox for busts' their buttons everytime Ethel steps before the mike. She's real great.

And you can't beat top entertainment when you've got Ethel backed by Monty Poulson on the bass and vocalist Billy Fox, "the personality kid."

* * *

HAVE YOU caught that floor show at the COMEDY CLUB yet? Leave it to the Dixon brothers (Howard and Tim) to pave the way for something new in night club entertainment.

Instead of having one big band, the Dixons now provide a variety of acts which are most entertaining. Heading the bill this week are Dorothy Lee, vocalist; Johnny Gardner, comic MC and Tina Ridgeway, dancer (on the exotic side, not the shake side. Ho Dixon says there's a difference between the two.)

It's Jimmy Smith at CLUB CASINO this week and Eddie Gough and his trio at the Knotty Pine. Jerome Washington is working on the stories over at the BEKUDA BAR.

AND ERROL GARNER is playing it real cool with his TV recording combo at the L.A.S VEGAS, Lexington and Warwick.

The steaks are logs at the ALHAMBRA GRILL which has recently undergone a remodeling job to the tune of $5,000. There's the lounge with the TV for the lovey doveys, and a family dining room for the crowd.

(Even a high-chair for baby! All the comforts of home manager Norman Bowers says.)

And for those who want to sip and nip a bit there's the bar at the front of the place.

"Ladies" sign on the side of the building doesn't mean anything. It's just a left over from those remember when days.

When it comes to Chinese food, RICE INN is the place to go. And after the theatre, you might drop in at the Patio at JERRY'S BAR AND CAFE, or the EDMONDSON CAFE.

* * *

TOP FILMS of the week are: "Trial" at the Harlem; "Stranger On Horseback" at the Met; "A Man Alone" at the New Albert; "The Desperate Hours" at the Regent.

Rody Johnson, Chuck (Maybelline) Berry and the Nutmegs open today (Friday) in a big stage show with other guests stars at the Royal.

And that's all for this week. See you at the "By-line" premier at the Regent Theatre Monday night.

Girls with razors put on probation

Two razor-toting teen-age girls were given suspended jail terms and placed on probation for a year each, Wednesday, in Criminal Court, for carrying deadly weapons and being disorderly at the Coliseum.

They are Cynthia Sellers, 16, 1700 block Mount St, six months' suspended sentence; and Natalie A. Pollard, 17, 1500 block N. Fulton Ave., three months suspended.

They had appealed 30-day jail terms imposed on Oct. 24 by Magistrate Linwood G. Koger Sr. in Northwestern Police Court.

JUDGE HERMAN M. MOSER imposed the stiffer sentences and then suspended them on the condition that the two girls stay away from one another.

Police Sgt. Violet Hill Whyte said that the girls' association was the core of their difficulties.

The two girls were among 10 teen-agers arrested during a disturbance at the Coliseum on Oct. 23.

Police said Miss Sellers had a straight razor and Miss Pollard had a razor blade.
