Scholarship head dies suddenly

Dr. Ivan McDougle, 63, for nearly 20 years chairman of the committee which awarded out-of-state scholarships to Maryland students, died suddenly this week of a heart ailment.

He was a charter member of the Morgan State College Trustee Board and continued to head the scholarship committee after its duties were transferred to the Morgan trustees.

Dr. McDougle attended the trustees dinner meeting last Thursday and afterwards joined in an inspection of the campus and joked with his colleagues.

HE SERVED on the faculty of Goucher College for 31 years and lectured at regular and summer sessions at Johns Hopkins University.

He was stricken with a heart attack last year and again this week in his classroom at Hopkins where he died at his desk.

He was active at one time in the Urban League and other interracial organizations.

At Clark University where he received his doctrate, he was a classmate of the late Dr. Thomas I. Brown, for many years a teacher at Morgan.

A wife, Hazel, a daughter and three grandchildren survive.

'Miracle Boy's' rites colorful, impressive

By ARTHUR RANDALL

"Lord, help me to bear it," was the agonizing cry of 3-year-old Joseph W. Everett's mother, as the family entered New Shiloh Baptist Church, at 2 p.m. Tuesday, for the funeral of the "Miracle Boy."

Beauty characterized the solemn ceremony before the frail corpus of the child, who had resisted death for five painwracked years, was tenderly placed in its final resting place in Carver Memorial Park Cemetery.

On the right of the pulpit sat red robed Choir No. 2 of New Shiloh Church. On the left, the Young People's Choir filled the loft in their blue gowns with white collars.

Flanking both of them, in front of the church, were members of the Young Children's Choir—the girls on the right and the boys on the left, all clad in gleaming white blouses.

MORE THAN half of the nearly 900 persons who attended the simple funeral were children. Twenty-seven cars were in the funeral procession.

A dozen of the adults among the mourners were fellow clergymen of the Rev. James A. Everett, father of the deceased boy.

The small, white coffin of the "Miracle Boy" was almost lost in the fragrant bouquets of flowers which banked it before the pulpit.

It had been open from 12 noon until just before the ceremony began, with Explorer Scouts, in their green uniforms with khaki accoutrements, standing at either side as guards of honor.

How is (the coffin cover) was closed forever over Joseph's smiling face, curley hair and mischievous bow tie, which had been so proud of in a happier time.
