Mom who left tots in NYC sought here

A mother who left her five children in New York City Saturday, to drive to Baltimore, is being sought by the baby sitter.

James Edmonds of 566 W. 142nd St., New York, asked for help on Wednesday in finding Mrs. Clevionne Lissey, 20, who came to Baltimore Saturday with three friends.

With Mrs. Lissey somewhere in the city are Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Hardy and her brother, Billy Lee.

MR. EDMONDS, who is the superintendent in the building where he lives, says he can't work and look after the five children who range in age from 18 months to six years.

He says the baby is sick and must be taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Lissey was described as about 180 pounds, light skinned with short black hair.
