Langston field goal defeats Tennessee

LANGSTON, Okla. (ANP) — Sparked by a pass interception by Albert Sonsley, pivot center, the Langston University Lions downed a highly favored Tennessee State University team 7 - 0, here last Saturday.

Sonsley intercepted a Tennessee State pass on State's 20-yard line and carried it to the 1 before being brought down. After two attempts by the Lions through the Tennessee line, Curtis Clay, Langston's triple-threat halfback, kicked a field goal from the 17 for the only tally of the game. The score came with 1:10 left in the third quarter.

Morgan Bears busy ironing out defects

The Morgan State College Bears won't tackle another opponent until they launch conference competition Saturday, October 15, against Howard University in D. C.

But, the Bears aren't resting by any means.

Tripped from the ranks of the undefeated by Morris Brown College last Friday in a night game played in torrential rains, the Bears are trying desperately to get in shape for the conference meets.

Morris Brown's Wolverines bettered the Bears by an 18-13 score and showed, the entire Morgan coaching staff believes, plenty of weaknesses in Morgan's offense and defense.

"We certainly don't intend to alibi the Morris Brown loss. The weather conditions were awful. But Morris Brown had a good team, and we fumbled badly. Our timing was all off and our ball handling was anything but smooth," said Coach Eddie Hurt as he promised that the Bears will be better.

THE FIRST week of rest from coaches working furiously to improve timing and ball handling.

Moreover the coaches are working to "fire the Bear eleven" to "get in there and fight," describing Morgan's playing in the Atlanta game as "pretty listless."

"We've always had spirited teams; we've been fortunate in that respect. We know the weather certainly didn't improve the boys' morale and we know they're new for the most part. But the coaches believe the boys can hustle a little more than they did in Atlanta," Coach Hurt said.

The Bears followup the Howard encounter with a home meeting against West Virginia State in the annual Capital Classic October 22, in Griffith Stadium, then return to Baltimore on October 29 for a homecoming tilt against the North Carolina A. and T. Aggies.

Jesse Owens mobbed on India visit

NEW DELHI, India — This country's newspapers are full of Jesse Owens, the former Olympic dash champion.

Owens, 42 years old and visiting here as a goodwill ambassador for the United States government, appears to have overshadowed all the diplomats and politicians who have been sent here previously on a similar mission.

Virtually mobbed by newspapermen of the nation's leading publications, Owens (who once ran 100 meters in 10.2 seconds) took more than 10 minutes to cover the distance of 50 yards between the plane on which he arrived here and the customs shed.

He was battered with questions at the airport, in the lounge of the shed, on the highway into the city when his car had a flat tire, and in his hotel room.

The natives were much impressed by the interest Owens showed in the large number of athletes who turned out to greet him. He asked each to tell him what was his best time at his favorite distance, and other questions pertinent to his career.

He spoke freely of Christianity and sportsmanship, and said he felt women have no business in athletics. It was at such times as this that the one-time "world's fastest human" demonstrated that he is not cut out for politics.

And the Indians loved him for it.

Coach Talmadge Hill NAIA district chairman

Mr. Hill

Morgan State College coach and health and physical education professor Talmadge L. Hill has been selected chairman of District 29 of the National Association of Inter-collegiate Athletics.

Coach Hill, known throughout the intercollegiate world as "Marse," heads a district comprising at present some 45 institutions. He was selected almost unanimously for the key post from a poll of eight different conferences.

The native New Jersyite has been a member of the Morgan coaching staff since 1930. He is a graduate of Morgan and holds the master's degree from Columbia University.

He has been an active force in the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association and formed the CIAA's annual basketball tournament.

Bears, Yellow Jackets tied 3-3 in grid series

WASHINGTON

Morgan State College and West Virginia State will be out to break a 3-3 deadlock in their seven - year interstate rivalry when the two teams clash in the Capital Classic at Griffith Stadium on Saturday night, Oct. 22nd.

After last year's thrilling contest in which the Bears came from behind with three touchdowns in the final period to win 32-26, in the greatest game in Classic history, the two arch rivals were booked for the 14th renewal of this annual event.

THE TORRID competitive series between the Bears and Yellow Jackets began in 1945 with West Virginia winning 20-0. Morgan won 13-12 in 1946, then there was a three-year interruption.

A 6-6 tie marked the renewal of hostilities between the teams in 1950. West Virginia moved ahead with two straight victories in 1951 and '52, winning by scores of 20-13 and 13-0, but Morgan evened the series with triumphs in 1953 (13-0) and last year, 32-26.

As usual, the game will be augmented by a spectacular halftime show, this year featuring a circus of hands with Morgan musicians and the college queens,

Dunbar High School won its opening game last Friday afternoon as the Poets eked out a 7 to 6 victory over Spingarn of Washington in Morgan College's Hughes Stadium.

Dunbar made its touchdown in the first quarter on a drive spearhed by Elmore Jones and halfback George Gaines.

Jones scored on a two-yard plunge. George Collins, right end, scored the extra point that means the game for the Baltimore eleven.

Spingarn finally tallied in the third quarter when Quick Bill Chase broke loose on a 30-yard sprint. The Washingtonians failed to make the extra point.

The Poets have no games scheduled for the next two weeks.

Quinn Tigers down Bethune-Cookman

WACO, Tex.—The Paul Quinn Tigers handed the Bethune Cookman Wildcats a 12-7 defeat, in a game that saw the Waco lads shut the door twice in the face of the Florida aggregation within the yard and one-foot.

Archie Bush's 4 yard scamper culminated a 74 yard march by the Quinn Tigers, in which buck Long did most of the ill carrying. Bonnie Bell ! Leroy Callahan for Quinn's cond tally on a pass play, good ! 35 yards.

Credit for Quinn's victory must be placed in her defense, which held the Wildcats to just 3 ! 9 first downs against 15 and a fast charging line which caused Bethune Cookman to fumble 7 times to Quinn's two.
