Deny appeal of $250 fine

A $250 fine imposed in Traffic Court by Magistrate E. Everett Lane on a drunke driving charge, was upheld Tuesday in Criminal Court by Judge Joseph R. Byrnes.

William Ebron, 29, 1800 block Poplar Grove St., was the man who appealed from the fine last December on June 30, in upholding the magistrate, Judge Byrnes said:

"I think you got off light."

Officer Louis Spiker of the Northwestern District, testified that on June 26 Ebron collided with two automobiles in the 2300 block Madison Ave., and when officers tried to question him they found him too drunk to get out of his car.

Ebron's defense was: "I just had a couple of beers."

Motorist gets 15 years in shooting

For shooting an undertaker who cut in front of his automobile last July 9, Preston St., William Roosevelt Franklin, 30, of the 200 block Dolphin St., was sentenced to 15 years in the State Penitentiary Wednesday in Criminal Court.

As a result of the shooting which Franklin termed accidental, the victim, William H. Samuels, of the 1400 block Fairview Way was paralyzed from the waist down.

Judge Joseph Byrnes gave Franklin, a truck driver, 15 years on an assault to murder charge, and one year for carrying a deadly weapon. The sentences are concurrent.

Samuels was found unconscious in the 1200 block Hargrove Alley behind the cook Funeral Home where he was employed as an embalmer. He had been shot with a 25 caliber German automatic pistol.

Two witnesses told police they saw a car similar to Franklin's leaving the scene of the shooting.

IN A SIGNED statement given to police, Franklin admitted that he struck Samuels on the head with his gun during an argument and that the weapon went off as he struck.

He said he did not know the pistol was loaded.

He told police he was driving on Preston St. when a man in another car almost caused him to collide with a child on a bicycle.

Franklin stated that he, followed Samuels to Harrrove Alley. where he got out of his car and told the undertaker, "you almost caused me to have an accident".

When Samuels allegedly replied" you must be crazy," Franklin said he struck him on the head with his gun.

AFTER THE shooting Franklin drove to Lexington St., parked his car and got out to make a phone call. When he started to return to his car he found it surrounded by police.

He then walked to his home where he was arrested the following day.

Larence A. Clayton, a passenger in the car, said Franklin followed the truck after it cut in front of him.

When an argument started he said Franklin struck Samuels with the gun and it went off.

Mrs. Helen Godlove of the 800 block Jayden Ave., Dundalk, said she was leaving the Funeral Home when she heard shots and saw someone drive away in a blue Oldsmobile, similar to Franklin's.

Masked man enters and robs Lafayette Cts.

Holds workers at bay, takes $200

A slender masked gunman held four employees at bay in the Lafayette Court Apartments rental office, Tuesday morning, scooped up $200 from a cash register and escaped.

The office personnel which consisted at the time Mrs. Dorothy Mock, cashier, Miss Sadie Alston, stenographer; and Arthur Murphy and Jerome Jones, management aides, stirred to take the holdup as a joke who nhe gun man first entered the building.

Miss Alston who was in an adjoining room, laughed when the gunman called for her to come out and join the others.

Mrs. Mock said the holdup man had turned the building with a white handkerchief over his face and walked behind the counter before drawing his pistol.

MR. MURPHY was at the safe taking out some papers and was told to get back against the wall with Mrs. Mock.

After the staff was assembled the gunman snatched the $200 in bills from the cash drawer and asked if there was any money in the safe.

When Mrs. Mock told him that the safe only contained records, he grabbed a canister containing a motion picture film of a home management and ran out the front door.

TENANTS WERE not aware of the holdup until they were approached by the gunman.

Van Story Branch, manager of the project, was making an inspection tour of the area at the time and returned to his office a few seconds after the holdup.

The bandit was described as being about 25 years old, had light skin and was wearing light colored trousers.

Lafayette Courts, the first low rent housing project to feature elevator type apartment building opened early this year and is operated on an interracial basis.

Glasse took a stiff competitive examination and was selected from a group of city-wide working men and women nominated by 11 private concerns and city, state and federal agencies.

Dr. Forte is freed of abortion counts

The verdict and sentence imposed on Dr. Allen U. Forte, physical therapist, convicted of illegal operations, March 2, were stricken from the Criminal Court records, Tuesday, by Judge Herman M. Moser.

In recondering the five cases against Dr. Forte, Judge Moser entered a general order in the verdict. This means that there will be no verdicts, convictions or criminal records against the physical therapist to affect his standing in the community.

• • •

THE RECORD on file in the Criminal Court clerk's office reads: "Verdict and sentence imposed March 2, 1955 reconsidered in all cases and stricken out and probation before a verdict entered in all cases by Judge Herman M. Moser on Dr. Allan U. Forte."

Last March 2, Dr. Forte was given a suspended 10-year sentence, $4,000 fine and placed on five-year probation by Judge Moser.

The disposition followed Dr. Forte's guilty pleas, Feb. 4, to four charges of illegal operations and one charge of unlawful practice of medicine.

• • •

THE CASES involved four teenagers, two colored and two white, and a 35-year-old white woman.

Past records show that Dr. Forte was convicted of abortion charges in 1942 in North Carolina and pardoned by the governor of that state in 1948.

A native of British Guiana, Dr. Forte came to the U.S. in 1914. He is 65 and lives in the 1500 block Biddle St.

Jail seaman official in man's fatal heart attack

A National Maritime Union official, was arrested and charged with the death of a girlfriend when her white employer's father slurred her with racial epithets, Tuesday.

Judge John T. Tucker in Criminal Court jailed Charles Guidroy, 38, of the 600 block N. Carey St. on charges of assaulting Samuel Solomon, 72, a retired man, died the same day at Luthern Hospital after suffering a heart attack.

• • •

IN A statement which Guidroy gave to police, he said Mrs. Bernice Taylor, 38, 2300 block Whittier Ave., called him early on July 15 at the local headquarters of the NMU where he is employed as a master-at-arms.

"She said Mr. Solomon had called her a name and she slapped him and he slapped her," the statement said.

Police explained that Mrs. Taylor had been employed as a clerk in a home improvement office in the 3000 block Westwood Ave., which was owned by one of Mr. Solomon's sons.

• • •

GUIDROY SAID that later that afternoon, Mr. Taylor called him again and he obtained the address of the office and went there in a taxi.

"I asked Solomon why he had hit Bernice and I slapped him twice with my open hand. He (Bernice and himself) went into the inner office and called Bernice's mother and Solomon came in and tried to take the phone. I told him I didn't want any more trouble, and he went back into the outer office.

"When we came out we saw him lying on the floor," Guidroy said. He also said that he attempted to revive the man but failed. He left his name with one of the other office employees and went back to his hob.

• • •

LATER IN THE day, Guidroy said, he called his home and learned that a police officer was there waiting for him, and he immediately went to the house and surrendered.

Guidroy's story was backed by Mrs. Taylor who emphasized that Guidroy had only struck the older man with his open hand.

In convicting Guidroy, Judge Tucker noted that the autopsy had disclosed that Solomon died a natural death shortly after "This does not excuse this being a premeditated assault with tragic results."

Prior to his appearance in Criminal Court, Guidroy had appeared in Northwestern Police Court where Magistrate Linwood Gist, Jr. Sr., ordered him held for the grand jury with the words:

"Because you might feel that my being a colored magistrate might have something to do with my decision, I am sending this case downtown."

Koger lectures to 5 pupils on crap game charge

"The heat is on. Tell your friends gambling will not be tolerated on the campus or in any other public place in this district."

So Magistrate Linwood Kidgar warned Forty Douglass High School pupils when they appeared before him as a disorderly conduct charges Tuesday in Northwestern Police Court.

The defendants, four boys and a girl were arrested when police found a game of dice on the ground beside them.

• • •

THE CHARGES against Clayton M. Tucker, 16; Phillip N. Hinton, 17; Frank A. Wilson Jr., 16; Harry R. Hicks, 16; and Edna L. Lynch, 16, were dismissed by Magistrate Koger with the warning.

"In the language of the comic strip detective Dick Tracy, I want you young people to be crime stoppers," Magistrate Koger told the teenagers.

"Tell your friends it is wrong to shoot dice anywhere and the condition will not be allowed to continue.

"No other defendant, if he is found guilty will be allowed to go home free as you are doing. I'm going to make sure that gambling is cut out."

• • •

MAGISTRATE KOGER said he was going "go get in touch" with the principal of the school "and have him tell all Douglass pupils that no one else will be let off in this court.

"Although this has little to do with the case I want to get this point across," he continued. "I am ashamed of the way you pupils have been keeping the Douglass campus.

"Just the other morning I had to saw the grounds littered with ice cream wrappers and other debris. You should be ashamed of yourselves to let the campus get in that condition.

"I started and parents were asked to recall attending a PTA meeting before the school term to assured that the campus and building would be kept up to date. You pupils should make sure that it is," he admonished.

Desertion listed as main divorce cause

Joanquin Bello of 3229 W. Pratt St., has learned that "absence doesn't make the heart grow fonder."

Mr. Bello won a divorce this week from Mrs. Corrine E. Bello, now of Waterbury, Conn. on grounds of desertion. He testified that his wife deserted him on May 7, 1953 because his working hours were too long.

Mr. Bello testified that he was holding two jobs, driving for a car loading company during the day, and a cab company at night. The couple was married on June 6, 1945. U. Theodore Hayes was attorney for the husband.

MRS. ANNIE BURDNELL of 400 Cummings Court divorced Frederick G. Burdnell, who, she charged, deserted her on July 7, 1953.

The wife, a worker at the Social Security Bureau, said they were married on July 15, 1944, and that her husband told her he was tired of being married and left.

A six-year-old daughter was given into custody of the mother.

• • •

ALSO WINNING a divorce on grounds of desertion was Oliver Wilson of 915 N. Fremont St. from Mrs. Laura Wilson of 214 Dolphin St. Married on June 15, 1939, she left in Oct. 1946, he alleged.

• • •

DISAGREEMENT ON whether or not their daughter was old enough to entertain young men broke up the marriage of Joseph P. Hickman according to Mrs. Aigle L. Hickman of 119 W. Burte St., this week.

She and her daughter, Bernice, thought she was old enough for company, the father maintained that she was too young. The two against one was too much for Mr. Hickman. He left.

Mrs. Hickman was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion, with the daughter, Mrs. Bernice Marriott, as witness for her mother. U. Theodore Hayes was attorney for the wife.

• • •

MRS. CLAUDIA Mae Williams, 302 N. Pine St., told the court that her husband Dennis deserted her in 1947, and that she particularly wanted a divorce in order to be married to Ishmal Gallop.

The wife, who testified that she was married in 1942 and became the mother of two sons by Dennis Williams, said that he refuted to support her and the children. She took him to court, she said, and he disappeared for two years.

When he showed up that time he was sent to prison for 18 months on a non-support charge. He did not return to her, she said.

Burglary first in Youth Court

Almost half of the offenders under 18 years of age who appeared in Youth Court during the May term were either charged with burglary, larceny or receiving stolen goods. This was revealed this week in a report to Judge Herman M. Moser from the Probation Department.

This crime grouping accounted for 43.8 per cent of the cases involving defendants under 18, and as followed by the theft and unauthorized use of an automobile which accounted for 26 per cent of the cases.

While the greatest number of defendants were either sent to a reformatory or placed on probation, four youths under 18 were sentenced to the Maryland Penitentiary and four over 18 were sent to the same institution

• • •

THE YOUTHS sent to the penitentiary, Maryland's maxium security prison, were regarded as either too dangerous or too far past any hope of rehabilitation to send to any of the other institutions operated by the state.

A total of 41.2 per cent of the defendants under 18, and 43.5 per cent of those over 18 were placed on probation, while 23 per cent of those over 18 were allowed to remain in their own communities under the supervision of a probation officer.

• • •

OUT OF THE average case load of 420 youngsters, there were only 28 violations of probation reported during the May term.

Probation is granted in youth court on the theory that the defendant can best be rehabilitated in his own community rather than sent to an institution.

In the group of defendants under 18, it was found that 8 per cent had previously appeared in juvenile court, 13 per cent had appeared in adult courts and 22 per cent had records in both juvenile and adult courts, making a total of 74.5 per cent of these teenagers with previous court experience.

• • •

A TOTAL of 96.7 per cent of the youths under 18 were charged with serious crimes embracing burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods (43.8 per cent); theft and unauthorized use of automobile (26 per cent); robberies (11.5 per cent); assault to murder, common assault (9.45 per cent); sex offenses (5.6 per cent).

In contrast only 85.5 per cent of the offenders over 18 were charged with the same offenses.

The court disposed of 291 cases during the term, including three youths under 16 who could not be handled in the training schools. There were 157 defendants under 18, and 131 in the 18-20 bracket.

The court also made use of the new physiatric facilities at the Patuxent Institution by sending 8.4 per cent of the convicted defendants under 18 to that institution, and seven per cent of those convicted youths over 18.

Moved by movie, shipyard worker 'walks' to jail

James Arrington become carried away Sunday by the dramatics in the movie "Love Me or Leave Me" at the Biddle Theatre.

But when Arrington, of the 1009 block N. Central Ave., started walking the aisles of the theatre he temporarily lost himself into a jail cell.

Stopped by a special officer as e argued with a ticket taker bout coming back into the theatre, Arrington was fined $25 and costs for disorderly conduct, and $10 for carrying a pen knife.

Special Officer James White testified in Northeastern Police Court that he gave Arrington an opportunity to leave the theatre, but had to arrest him when he became boisterous and appeared to fight with his hands in his pockets.

The officer said a search revealed that Arrington, a shipyard worker, had a knife open in his pocket.
