Cooking Is Fun

By FANNIEJOE REID

Those lusious tomatoes, which are now so plentiful in the markets, and which are familiar to all of us as used in salads, sauces, and soups, combine with most meats . . . and deliciously, too.

So, today, let's talk of some unusual ways in which they may be combined for those one-dish meals that are life savers for busy homemakers.

TAKE CURRY OF meat with green tomatoes, for instance.

For this delicacy you will need a large sliced onion; three tablespoons meal drippings or other fat, such as butter; a quart of sliced green tomatoes, three cups of chopped cooked meat, one to two teaspoons curry powder and an eighth teaspoon of pepper.

Cook the onion in the butter. Add green tomatoes, cover, and cook until tender. Add meat and heat thoroughly.

If the mixture is too thick, thin it slightly with meat broth, gravy or water. Season to taste with curry powder and salt. Serve with flaky boiled rice or noodles.

THEN THERE are green tomatoes and meat stew.

I make this with a pound of beef chuck, cubed, a teaspoon of salt; an eighth teaspoon pepper, four tablespoons fat (you may use the fat from the beef for this) a half onion, chopped, three and a half cups of water, three medium sized green tomatoes, two cups cubed potatoes and one and half cups sliced carrots.

Roll the meat in a mixture of the salt, pepper, and two tablespoons of flour. Brown in the fat. Add the onion and cook until slightly browned.

Pour in two cups of water, cover and simmer about one hour or until meat is almost tender.

Wash, remove stem ends and quarter the tomatoes, add with potatoes, carrots and one cup of water to the meat. Cover and cook until vegetables and meat are tender.

Add more water as needed. Blend remaining two tablespoons flour with the one-fourth cup of water. Add to the stew and cook until slightly thickened.

SPANISH LIVER is another dish that owes much of its deliciousness to the addition of tomatoes.

This is made with a pound of sliced beef, lamb or pork liver, one and a half tablespoons of flour, two tablespoons butter, a fourth cup chopped onion, a fourth cup chopped green pepper, a half garlic clove, chopped.

Also a half cup sliced mushrooms, if desired, two and a half cups fresh or canned tomatoes, an eighth teaspoon pepper, two cups cooked noodles or spaghetti and a cup of soft bread crumbs.

Sip liver slices in flour and cut in cubes. Brown liver in the butter, add onion, green pepper, garlic clove, mushrooms, tomatoes, salt and pepper.

Cover and simmer for 10 minutes. Add cooked noodles or spaghetti and cook 10 minutes longer.

Paprika shrimp

We always think of shrimp as being bright pink. The color is part of its appetite appeal.

However, when blended with cottage cheese in a ring mold, the color is often lost. Paprika is the answer to such a situation. A teaspoon of paprika, stirred into the mixture, adds the blush we are accustomed to seeing in shrimp.

Paprika shrimp and cottage cheese mold is made with two cups creamy cottage cheese, a fourth teaspoon salt, an eighth teaspoon ground black pepper, a teaspoon paprika, a fifth and a half ounce can, or one cup of fresh cooked shrimp, diced, two envelopes unflavored gelatine, a third cup of cold water, a third cup of cold water, two tablespoons fresh lemon juice, a bunch watercress and paprika for garnish.

Combine first five ingredients. Soften gelatine in cold water and fresh lemon juice. Dissolve over hot water and add to cottage cheese mixture. Mix well.

Rince a five - cup ring mold with cold water. Fill with cottage cheese mixture. Chill until ready to serve. Turn out onto a large serving plate. Fill center with watercress. Garnish with paprika.

J. Coy Davis' widow asks will interpretation

Mrs. Ethel F. Davis, widow of and executrix of the will of J. Coy Davis, real estate dealer, has filed a petition in Circuit Court to have his will interpreted.

The bill is directed against herself, Mr. Davis' son, Everette; Ethylene Davis and James Davis, grandchildren.

Mr. Davis, who died on June 23, 1954, said in the will:

"Wherein my son, Everette Jesse Davis, has proven unworthy of my trust, he is hereby bequeathed $1 as his total and final inheritance from my estate.

"I make, constitute and appoint Ethel F. Davis, my beloved wife, to be the executor (executrix) of this my last will and testament.

"The properties, except real estate and insurance business cannot be disposed of except by court order.

"My granddaughter, Ethylene Davis, of 2119 Prospect St., Kansas City, Mo. who is the daughter of June Davis and my grandson, James Anthony Davis of 1015 Appleton St., Baltimore, who is the son of Marita Davis, are to receive 15 per cent of my estate and income (in the future from said estates) the same to be administered by Ethel F. Davis.

* * *

"IT IS FURTHER decreed that the real estate and insurance business should be continued and operated by someone selected by my wife, who is able to secure necessary license, if the business will be disposed of as she sees fit.

"The above applies to all properties except 1638 N. Monroe St., which shall be willed to Ethel F. Davis in full."

* * *

MRS. DAVIS and her attorneys, U. Theodore Hayes and William H. Murphy, point out that the will is not clear, concise or definite.

Mrs. Davis has heretofore filed an inventory which shows that Mr. Davis left an estate of $11,300 She has also listed debts amounting to $4,388.50.

The estate consisted of an automobile valued at $150; properties at 917 N. Caroline St. and 554 St. Mary's Street, $3,800 and $4,600, respectively; and cash from the Veterans Administration, $2,750.

PEARLIE'S PRATTLE:

Date book shows full days ahead including home show

WASHINGTON

Well, here 'tis Cooking School time.

Missed 53's thrill when so and so left Uline Arena with the AFRO's grand prize, a brand new automobile. (I was in Piney Woods, Miss" building a campus newspaper for Dr. Lawrence C. Jopes's school, and helping a class get dramaminded.

But you won't count me out this time.

My date book is full, of course.

* * *

THERE'S the "Hackney - Pixley wedding in town, and the reception honoring Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, author, teacher, lecturer and former member of the Board of Education and former member of the Board of Education.

There's the partying for the Barristers' Wives at Deale, Md. with the Richard R. Atkinsons as hosts, he's president of the National Bar Association, she's president of the Women's Auxiliary;

And there's the big get-together at Highland Beach with Dr. and Mrs. William H. Foster entertaining.

* * *

BUT JUST the same I've got to watch Florence Duncan as the "Let's Eat" gal fixes those dishes right in the AFRO's kitchen with you and you looking on.

I'll have to see Sallie Blair and hear her too; help the kids yell with joy at Pick Temple; see which Honeymooners get a trip to Nassau; and which Beauty Shop scores number one, or whose cake is counted one, or whose cake is counted the best.

* * *

AND I simply must see all the Fashion Shows that the Morton Stores will put on, with the wife of the owner, Mrs. Lebowitz, herself, on hand to help.

For I remember with pride the old fashion show days when Pearlie and her "pals" gave 40 or more shows in less than two years, using Morton's clothes and serving in schools from Birney to Howard University, and in churches too nifoy to name.

And I certainly expect to be somewhere around when Dr. Carl Murphy, head of the AFRO AMERICAN Newspaper chain, or some other Murphy, or maybe Samuel Hoskins, the Washington editor, hands over the keys of that new two-toned Ford automobile to the 1956 winner.

* * *

MUCH FUSS

Never, as October nears, does Asbury Church forget to think of celebrations.

The church will observe its 120th Anniversary this year, the theme, "Asbury Church of the Future."

Dr. John H. Lovell, Jr., Howard U. faculty member, is in charge of the birthday doings. And what do you s'pose? The professor, already extra smart, has just come back from California where big celebrations are every-day affairs. With his wife, the former Marion Mouzon, a D.C. teacher along, Dr. Lovell gathered many ideas.

* * *

SO, INSTEAD of a simple celebration, there'll be an "anniversary festival" lasting a week! Eves the head D.C. Commissioner, Robert McLaughlin, will be a featured speaker. And among other noted guests will be Dr. James P. Brawley, president, Clark College, Atlanta, Ga.; and Bishop J. W. E. Brown, Atlantic Coast Area.

* * *

A WHIRL FOR DOROTHY—

Off for Chicago the other day was Mrs. Dorothy Shaed Proctor, D.C. teacher and president of the Women's Auxiliary of Freedmen's Hospital. Her bag packed with elegant dresses, and accompanied by Mrs. Albert L. Hawkins (she's clothes-conscious too) Dorothy left town to attend a convention.

This was the 38th annual convention of the American Hospital Association, and the 9th annual conference of Hospital Auxiliaries.

The sessions were held at the International Amphitheater.

And so that a grand report could be made in the Freedmen's "Auricle," William T. Parker, Public Relations Officer at Freedmen's, flew to Chicago for the Convention. And to make his trip the pleasanter, Dr. Parker, past president of the Capital Press Club, took his wife along, the former Ella Wesley, retired schoolma'am.

* * *

SENIOR MATRONS DINE —

Saturday at the YWCA, the Senior Matrons of Asbury Methodist Church rang a dinner bell. Their husbands heard the noise first. And, figuring rightly that they'd miss the meal together if they stayed at home, they helped to crowd the place.

Mrs. Florence Duncan, charming head of "Let's Eat" set-up, had charge of the service.

Mrs. Lebowitz, wife of the owner of Morton's Stores, and as trim as any of the models the former wore, staged a fashion show, featuring designs from Morton's five stores.

* * *

ORGANIZED by the late Rev. R. M. Williams 20 years ago, the group was named the "Junior Matrons." But the members kept counting birthdays; their children kept growing up; finally some of the members achieved the grand mother status; and that was the day they dropped the "junior" and became the Senior Matrons. But a lot o' folks say, and I agree, that many a gal in the crowd could easily have kept the original title.

* * *

HEADING the group is Mrs. Beulah Rose, and among former presidents are Mesdames Bertha Shepard and Blanche Meade, both of whom reigned for years.

Among those enjoying the hours were Messrs. and Mesdames Otto Scruggs, Claude Willford, Johnson Gaskins, Elvin Sheppard, Marshall Swader, R. W. Harrison, Samuel Green, Clarence M. Brooks, Herman C. Tardd, Boyd A. Clarke;

Dr. and Mrs. Alexander K. Bell;

Mesdames Mary Turner, Order Eaton, Ethel Holt, Carrie E. T. Johnson, Thelma Butler, Mattie Curtis, Isabelle Aiken, Beulah Rose, Sara Jenifer, Beulah Jacobs, E. Flood, Cassie Chambers, Lillian L. Banks, C. Lomack, Lucille Chambers, Ethel Hackley, Viola Dyson, C. Lomack, Mary B. Stanback, Carrie Hackley, Violet Lyles, Ada Coleman, Marie G. Jumper, Beatrice Jackson, Carmellia Harmon, Marie G. Harrison, Augusta Bennett, A. M. Clarke, Harriette Williams;

Mesdames Corinne Jones, Connie C. McIlwain, Louise Flood, Dorothy Flood, Patricia Fisher;

Messrs. Russell Hackley, Wayne Bradley, George F. Coleman, Eldridge Birak; also Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Strother of Cuba, house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Gaskins of here and Columbia Beach.

WHAT A CAR! — Little Miss Muffett, didn't care for the legendary Tuffett, so instead she's seated on the 1956 Ford Mainliner, 4-door sedan, which will be awarded by this newspaper at the final show of the mammoth Home and Food Demonstration Show at Uline Arena, Saturday night. Little Miss Muffett, a singer, is one of the entertainment attractions.
