"There's the Telephone!"

Promptness in answering a telephone call is a mark of courtesy shown to the caller. It is also a help to the operator, for it enables her to complete the call and give her attention to others. Folks should answer calls promptly if only for a selfish reason, for sometimes the calling person gets tired of waiting—and "hangs up." Should this occur, don't blame the operator when she asks you to "Excuse it, please."
