Dried beef, mushroom soup in hearty bake combination

An unusual combination of flavors in Hearty Beef Bake results in a very pleasing effect. Dried beef and mushroom soup have appeared together before, but never in company with cauliflower in a macaroni casserole.

Hearty Beef Bake is made with four ounces elbow macaroni, one and one-fourth cups broken noodles, one jar (2½ cups) chopped dried beef, one can (10½-ounce can) condensed cream of mushroom soup, three-fourth cup milk, one cup diced beef (2½-ounce jar), cut into pieces, one and one-half cups cooked cauliflower (one-half medium head), two tablespoons chopped green pepper, dash of pepper, one quarter cup grated Parmesan cheese, buttered bread crumbs.

Add two teaspoons salt and macaroni to three cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for two minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine soup and milk, mixing until well blended. Add dried beef, cauliflower, green pepper and pepper. Mix to combine ingredients. Rinse macaroni with warm water and drain well.

Fold macaroni into dried beef mixture. Pour into one and one-half quart casserole. Mix grated cheese with buttered bread crumbs and sprinkle over top of casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes.

Makes four servings.

$5,000 in gifts at new market

More than 350 valuable prizes will be given away by the Pennsylvania Ave. Lafayette Market Association during the grand opening of the new Lafayette Market which starts on Thursday, Nov. 7.

Lennie Moore, star of the Baltimore Colts football team and a popular disc jockey will act as master of ceremonies free gifts which will be held at the stand adjacent the Lafayette Market on Thursday evening between 7 and 9 p.m.

The first drawing for the more than 350 free gifts will be part of the Open House at the new market.

DURING THE 15 days of the grand opening, many of the gifts will be awarded at the stand.

If the winner of a prize is present at the time his name is announced at the stand he may win an additional bonus prize just for answering one of the simple questions printed on the backs of the entry tickets.

The array of items to be given the public is valued at more than $5,000. All gifts were selected because of their utility value as well as their beauty.

Among the hundreds of items to be given away are 17-inch portable television sets, transistor radios, table radios, 17 jewel men's watches, cocktail sets, pop up toasters, electric percolator coffee sets and stage clocks.

Also included are 17 jewel watches for ladies, vanity lamp sets, brass lamps, men's two-case Texoleather luggage, women's three-case Texoleather luggage, wrought iron coffee stands, sets of hostess lassies, casserole buffet sets, Kitchen clocks, and Sampson folding bridge tables and folding chairs.

ALL ITEMS to be awarded will be on display at the corner of Pennsylvania Ave. and Laurens St.

Anyone adult may get a free entry blank merely by asking for it at any PALMA member store or market stall. All that is required is that the entrant write his name and address on the stub and deposit it in any of the official containers which will be found at all PALMA member stores and market stalls.

MARJORIE EPPS, who became the bride of Paul DeNard on Saturday, entertained an out-of-town guests here for the wedding, at a dinner party in her home on Friday evening.

The guests included Mrs. Betsy DeNard, mother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carr, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick DeNard and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller of New York; Dr. Charles Epps of Washington; also Mrs. Charlotte Shorter, sister of Miss Epps; James Lee and Robert B. Epps.

Later, the same evening, Marjorie was hostess to the girls who were to be her bridal attendants and hostesses at the wedding reception, at a bridal supper.

The latter got their last-minute instructions from the bride - elect, as well as a chance to see her gifts.

Enjoying the fun were Susie Rae Epps, June E. Williams, Shirley Hargrove, Ida Chisholm, Helene Miller of New York, Frances C. Hayes, Jean Tabb, Josephine Grant, Elimira Washington, Lusie Rene Garvin, Twilah Williams and Nora Etheridge.

PHYLLIS ALLEN, whose marriage to Robert Diggs takes place Saturday, was the bride-elect for whom Bernadine Harrison and Stevie Harris entertained the past Saturday.

The party was in the Cheasapeake Club, with guests fetching miscellaneous gifts, playing shower games, sipping martinis and manhattans, with the necessary go-alongs.

The honoree and Anne Evans garnered the prizes.

Having fun were:

Llewellyn Walker, Claire Parker, Evelyn Peck, Ethel Hunter, Louise Gilliam, Ethel Harris, Louise Robinson, Ann Evans, Frances Wood, Nicki Randolph;

Anita Harris, Elise Clarke, Juanita Harris, Juanita Kelson, Helen Burwell, Berine Gail, Elsie Scott and Olive Williams of Washington.

POT-POURRI: Dr. and Mrs. J. Douglass Shepperd have returned from Detroit, Mich., where they welcomed their second grandson, George Alan, born Oct. 3. The new baby is that of their son-in-law, and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Andrew Rhinehart of Detroit.

Alpha Gamma Chi held a rush party on Saturday in the Calverton Heights home of Mary Utley . . . with the sorosing sisters being shered by Winifred Lonesome, Etta Williams, Nettie Carey, Jessie Dixon, Charlotte Downie and Emma Smith.

Mrs. Marie Murphy and John Golston were delegates from the Putt and Pitch Club, of this city, to the sessions of the United Golf Association in Pittsburgh, Pa., this week.

A hundred and fifty children frolicked at the annual Halloween party of the Buttons and Bows, in Morgan Community Center, Saturday. And just to show you how popular fancy catches on, practically all of the little boys came as "Zoro," and the little girls as princesses.

"They were entertained at all sorts of games . . . with 25 of them winning prizes.

Hosts included Mrs. Nicki Randolph and daughter, Bonnie; Mrs. Julia McDaniels and son, Robert; Mrs. Bernadine Harrison and son, Gai;

Mrs. Helen Burwell and sons, Michael and Albert; Mrs. Mabel Grant and daughter, Linda; Mrs. Dolly Walker and son, Douglas; Mrs. Arnetta Lottier and daughter, Sadie;

Missing from the host list was Mrs. Philathea Hall, who is recuperating from an illness, and her daughter, Philathea, who is visiting her North Carolina kin.

Mrs. Rena Taylor entertained at dinner, Sunday, for the Rev. Mrs. Irene Dutton of Philadelphia. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Thornton, Mrs. Elizabeth Marshall and Mrs. Maggie Patten.

Mrs. Roberta Ole, of Chicago, aunt of Mrs. E. Everett Lane, died at their home, last Tuesday. Mrs. Ole will be remembered as the former Roberta Scott. She was formerly married to Dan Credit, a school principal in this city.

On Saturday night the Twenty Women's Club will don their best bibs and tuckers and play hosts to friends at the New Albert Auditorium, where they will have a cabaret dance. They've garnered Jimmy Smith to provide the music, and Gwendolyn Biddle to dance. Mrs. Queenie Lane is president of the group and Mrs. Beatrice Pitts is business manager.

COOKING IS FUN

Improvising in the kitchen heightens cooking pleasure

Cooking for feeding sake is one thing. Cooking for fun is another. And I always seem to get more fun out of improvising than out of religiously following a cookbook recipe.

Of course you have to be reasonable and not give way to brainstorms too often, or you might call down the wrath of your family.

I would like to pass on to you a few of the tricks I have gathered from here and there.

* * *

FOR INSTANCE, to perk up green beans, serve them with a soy-ginger butter. This is a quickie, too, for canned or frozen beans are delicious in this manner.

Simply combine soft butter with a little soy sauce and finely chopped preserved ginger. Serve with fried or baked salmon and fluffy mashed potatoes for an unusually good supper.

* * *

A HANDFUL of celery slices and a tablespoon of instant minced onion cooked with sliced carrots add enticing flavor.

Which reminds me that coarsely grated carrots mixed with plump raisins and crushed pineapple is a delicious tossed with mayonnaise and served on crisp greens. Or, mold the mixture in a lemon or lime gelatin base to make a colorful spring salad.

CRUSTY BROWN pieces of oven friend chicken become a gourmet dish when served with a thin sour cream gravy accented with chunks of ripe olives and slivered roasted almonds. Serve with steamed rice and a simple green vegetable.

AND SPEAKING of chicken, don't confine your preparing to just one or two ways. Branch out.

Cranberry Chicken is especially tasty and flavorful. Saute disjointed frying chicken. Pour off about half of the fat used for sauteing. Add minimum amount of water. Cover. Cook slowly over low temperature about 20 minutes. Add crushed whole cranberry sauce seasoned with cinnamon, ginger, black pepper and whole cloves to the chicken. Simmer slowly until fork tender.

For a touch of the exotic, Chinese Chicken will be the thing. Dredge disjointed frying chicken in paprika, salt and pepper seasoned flour. Saute. Add pineapple juice, orange juice, salt, ground cloves, nutmeg, salt to the chicken. Simmer until fork tender. Serve with gravy made from drippings, to which pineapple tubes, sectioned fresh orange and slivered almonds have been added. Serve chicken on bed of fluffy rice, covered with the delicious gravy.

And for a dish somewhat off the beaten track, Devilled Chicken will be just right. Dip disjointed frying chicken in flour. Then in beaten eggs to which prepared mustard and dip chicken in paprika-seasoned dry bread crumbs. Saute in butter. Add diced onions to your butter before sauteing to give additional flavor. Fry to a brown. Cover and simmer until fork tender.

These recipes come in especially handy this week because chicken is selling at a very reasonable price.

Poppy seed spoon bread

This special bread spooned from a baking dish will insure the success of a buffet or company meal!

Just before serving, it's placed under the broiler so the top takes on a glorious paprika red and cheese - browned look. The poppy seeds contribute an intriguing crisp and nutty texture.

The family will appreciate your fixing this hot bread for them! Since it's made ahead of time and is easy, you, too, will enjoy having it often.

INGREDIENTS are two cups water, one cup uncooked white corn meal and one-half teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon black pepper, two teaspoons prepared mustard, one cup grated sharp cheese, one cup milk, one egg, beaten, one tablespoon poppy seeds, two tablespoons margarine or butter, one-half teaspoon paprika.

METHOD: Early in the day, put the water, rice and salt in a two-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat.

Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer slowly for 15 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat, but leave the lid on 10 minutes. Stir the black pepper, mustird, one-half cup of the cheese, milk and egg into the hot rice.

Spread evenly in a well greased shallow glass baking dish, about 10 inches by six and one-half inches or in a ring plate. Sprinkle on the poppy seeds and the remaining one-half cup of cheese.

Cut the butter or margarine over the top. Cool. Cover and refrigerate.

AT MEALTIME . . . remove from the refrigerator and bring to room temperature. Sprinkle the paprika over the top. Place in the broiler until heated through and browned on top. To serve, spoon from the baking dish.

This recipe makes 7 to 8 servings.
