Dukeland St. liquor application withdrawn

"This is proof that neighborhood groups can keep taverns out of their residential areas if they organize and work together.

"We are glad the applicants for the liquor license for 808 N. Dukeland St., have withdrawn their request. They could not have operated profitably with the neighbors opposed. . ."

This was the statement which came on Thursday from members of a group representing residents in the 800 block N. Dukeland St., who had petitioned the Liquor Board to refuse a class B, beer, wine and liquor restaurant license.

THEY REPRESENTED over 200 persons who were scheduled to appear at a hearing before the liquor board on Thursday afternoon to protest the application of Charles F. Harris, Helen M. Harris and William Kent Sr.

However, on Wednesday, the liquor board advised the protestants that the applicant had withdrawn their petition for the present time.

The applicants are presently operating a delicatessen at the location with a class D license permitting sale of only beer and wine.

MRS. Mildred Harriday, 811 Dukeland St., one of the leaders in the Dukeland Hill Street Improvement Association told the AFRO the group intends to strengthen its organization.

"We will find a meeting place where all the residents can gather at least once a month, and keep abreast of trends in the neighborhood," Mrs. Harriday said.

"We have paid too much money for our homes and want to keep the area a respectable, residential one.

"If we keep allowing taverns and businesses in our blocks, pretty soon we will have another slum area. We want a clean, decent neighborhood for our children to grow up in," she said.

Trash and garbage containers by law must be removed from the sidewalks within six hours after collection, according to the Baltimore City Code of General Ordinances.

Tenant arrested in death of landlord

A 25-year-old construction worker who was arrested in her his landlord was stabbed with an ice pick at their home in the 400 block W. Mulberry St., was ordered held without bail pending an investigation Wednesday.

Robert Felder is being held by Southwestern District police pending an investigation into the death of Edward Dixon, 58.

Mr. Dixon was stabbed last Friday and died three days later at Lutheran Hospital.

Prior to his death, Felder had been released in bail of $10,000 in connection with the stabbing and for allegedly choking and hitting the dead man's daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill.

Police withheld filing a homicide charge against Felder pending the outcome of an autopsy report.

In addition to stab wounds in the chest, the elderly man had a blood clot at the back of the head police said.

IN CONNECTION with the case, Mrs. Hill was charged with stabbing Felder with a pen knife and released in bail of $500.

Police said Felder admitted choking Mrs. Hill, but denied stabbing her father.

A further hearing has been scheduled for July 23.

2 assault each other; net 6 years

"The court finds no difficulty in arriving at the fact that Harris did slab Lucas. There is a conclusion as to how the incident arose. Harris was probably drunk at the time."

After a short deliberation Tuesday in Criminal Court Judge Edwin Harlan sentenced to a total of six years in the Penitentiary, two men each charged with assaulting the other.

* * *

ERNEST LUCAS, 28, was stabbed by James Harris, 33, about 8 p.m. June 14. A few hours later Harris was shot in the head by Lucas. Both men lived in the 1200 block N. Eden St.

* * *

LUCAS received four years and Harris was sentenced to two years in the Penitentiary. Mr. Lucas, represented by Harry Goertz, and Mr. Harris accused him of breaking into his room. Both men have rooms in the same house. A struggle developed, and, he said, that Harris shot him.

After being treated at the hospital, Lucas said he returned home, but saw Harris sitting on the steps. Lucas said he was frightened and went to his brother's home and got his rifle.

"I didn't aim to shoot him; I just meant to scare him off the steps," Lucas told the court.

Court testimony disclosed that Harris was sleeping on the steps and that the bullet fired from a distance of about 60 feet, entered one side of his forehead and went out another, also injuring his left wrist. He was hospitalized for 11 days.

Paul J. Feeley was defense counsel for Harris. Should the victim died, the state would then be compelled to make out a case of murder," Judge Harlan noted in the strange case in which both witnesses were also the victims.

Stokes-Kelson case is dropped

A housing case was dismissed by Judge William T. Tippett on Wednesday in People's Court after an agreement had been reached between the landlord and the tenant that the tenant would move.

The landlord, Horace Stokes, 1500 N. Appleton St., had granted an order for ejectment. Mrs. Harold Kilson to move out of his home but the order had not been observed.

After Mr. and Mrs. Kilson pleaded that they were trying to move into their own home at an early date, the case was dropped.

Verdict delayed in shoemaker's case

"He swung a fifth of wine at me and fell into the knife," Robert 'Buddy' Jones, 48, a shoemaker of the unit block Arch St., was speaking Monday in Criminal Court before Judge Edwin Harlan.

He was charged with the April 28, fatal stabbing of Robert Alston, 38, 700 block Bradley St.

Judge Harlan held the case under advisement, after William H. Murphy, counsel for the defendant pointed out that a statement read by police and signed by the defendant, was not reliable, because of the defendant's hearing difficulty.

On Wednesday Judge Harlan said:

On Wednesday Judge Harlan said:

"If we accepted in full this statement he gave police, the defendant would be guilty of murder in the first degree . . . but in as much as the defendant is hard of hearing, the court will give him the benefit of the doubt.

He found Jones, guilty of second degree murder and sentenced him to 12 years in the Penitentiary.

* * *

DEFENDANT 'Buddy' Jones testified that the deceased and his sister had been close friends. He said that the deceased had come to his home on Arch St. and asked why he had cut his sister's coat.

An argument resulted. The deceased left. About an hour later, Mr. Jones said he and the deceased met at Myrtle Ave. and Sarah Ann St. He said that although he attempted to avoid Alston, the man followed him.

"He hit at me so hard that he couldn't balance himself. I had my knife in my hand; he fell right into it," Mr. Jones explained.

During 1956, the Philadelphia Department of Health made 1,000 inspections investigated 21,481 reports of health and safety hazards.

Two youths held in car theft

Two 16-year-old youths, caught by a mentally police man who said he saw them run after pushing an auto against another parked one, were held for grand jury action under $1,500 bail each in Northwest Police Court Wednesday on an auto theft charge.

They are Alvin West, 700 block N. Fulton Ave., and William Whitley, 800 block N. Fulton Ave.

Officer Clifton H. Wright told Magistrate Linwood G. Roger, Sr., he was on his way to Northwestern District headquarters for duty Monday evening, when he saw two youths pushing a car in the 1500 block W. Lanvale St. that rammed a parked machine.

He said he sensed something was wrong, when they ran. Officer Wright said he pursued one of the youths several blocks to Harlem Ave. and Stricker St. before he caught him. This led to the arrest of the other, he said. The auto belongs to William H. Boone, 900 block Fulton Ave., Magistrate Roger was told.

PALMA Sale now going on

The July PALMA Days Sales take place this weekend. Friday and Saturday at all the member stores of the Pennsylvania Avenue-Lafayette Market Association in the 1500 to 1800 blocks of Pennsylvania Ave.

The two day sale will be one of the best bargaining periods ever offered by the PALMA merchants, according to Walter Hendin, chairman of the promotion committee.

Because the PALMA days sale coincides with the summer clearance period, many items which might normally be sold at regular prices are being reduced.

Every merchant in the Association has prepared for this sale by marking down hundreds of items.

"EACH REDUCED item is guaranteed as advertised," noted Mr. Hendin. "Members of PALMA are pledged to honest values. You can shop at any PALMA store and be assured that the entire PALMA street is your guarantee that the merchandise is as represented."

PALMA days sales have become almost a tradition on the Avenue. Although these events were started a mere two years ago, many of the customers of PALMA merchants have asked when the sales will take place. This confidence in the Merchants and in the goods they offer has meant hundreds of dollars in savings to the many who shop 'where they see the PALMA sign.'
