U. S. MUST MAKE GOOD SHORTAGE IN SUGAR CROP

When Tennyson wrote of The Charge of the Light Brigade "Theirs not to reason why," he used a motto that holds good in any army but is too undemocratic to be used in the relations between the Food Administration and the civilian population of the U. S. A. Better results are obtained by making a request and backing it up with the facts. That wise policy bridged the wheat crisis—and it will bridge the sugar crisis, too.

The amount of sugar available for all the Allies was seriously reduced when the Germans over-ran the beet fields of Belgium and France and shattered scores of refineries. Ships could not be spared to bring in the far-off Asiatic supplies. Therefore, the West Indies had to be counted on to supply not only this continent's needs but also those of its European friends.

An International Commission this spring surveyed the field. Great Britain, France, and Italy were asked to name their minimum requirements and the American and Canadian representatives agreed that that should be the first charge on the Allied store. What remained was to be distributed equitably between ourselves and the Canucks.

Unfortunately, the crop failed to measure up to early estimates—it is an unfortunate habit crops sometimes have. There developed a shortage of over a quarter million tons which fell, under the Inter-Allied agreement, upon the shoulders of Canada and the States. Then the submarines got busy and sank a number of sugar ships; in the recent drive 13,000 tons were lost. This, too, had to be made good by further economy on this side of the Atlantic.

A great deal has been used, too, in the manufacture of condensed milk and jams for army consumption and in addition thousands of pounds are sent over by relatives and friends of the "Sammies."

Consequently, the amount available between now and December is considerably below expectations, though ample for actual needs.

Wastage and hoarding must be fought tooth and nail. Every household, in common fairness to every other household, must cut its consumption to the limit, which should not exceed two pounds per person per month. The hoarder will be harried and the reporting of illegal stores is a service to the State. It is not upon primitive measures that dependence is placed by the Maryland Food Administration, but upon the loyal and intelligent co-operation of all good citizens to show of what stuff democracy is made.

There are some victories that General Pershing doesn't report but that are just as vital steps to final triumph as actual exploits of arms. The housewives of America handed Kaiserism an almighty wallop when they saved enough beef to rescue the Allies from the tragic danger of a meat famine.

There are 100,000,000 sugar bowls in the U. S. A. Keep the waste away from YOURS.

Some people have found that they could not substitute more than 50 per cent of syrup in cakes, preserves, etc., and get agreeable results. The only reason for not using all syrup has been the flat flavor. If this is avoided in some way by using spices or nuts and raisins a perfectly satisfactory cake may be made without any sugar, real cake, too, not a bready thing.

DON'T WASTE SUGAR.

Don't waste sugar at the fountain. Sugar for sweetening 500,000,000 soda fountain drinks has been sent to the bottom of the sea by submarines.

CAN VEGETABLES.

The green vegetables are your best "summer visitors." Can or dry them for next winter whenever more than you can use are ripe and ready. Keep it up until the frost comes, you will need them all.

TRY DRYING VEGETABLES.

Dehydrated (di-watered) vegetables and fruits retain the flavor of fresh products, you need no sugar to preserve them. Try drying your vegetables and fruits this summer.

FISH FRICASSE.
(Official Recipe.)

Fish (haddock or other fish), three-quarter pound; onion, sliced, half cup; paprika three-quarters teaspoon; salt, one teaspoon; bay leaf, half; green pepper, chopped, one-quarter cup; water, one-third cup; tomatoes, canned, two-thirds cup; fat, two tablespoons.

Fry onions until golden brown in the olive oil; add fish, cleaned, boned and cut into small pieces, fry until brown. Add chopped green pepper, paprika, bay leaf, tomato, salt and water. Cover tightly. Cook for about 30 minutes. A garnish of sliced lemon may be used with this. Yield, four servings.

Use the war garden to the limit—for every pound of vegetables and fruit consumed saves its equivalent in wheat and meat for those who fight.

Timothy Turnip he lives downstairs,
No one could say that he puts on airs;
He lives in a box that's made of wood.
Very simple, but strong and good.
And mother can always depend on him
If she thinks the dinner is kind of thin;
He's a fat old thing, but he does combine,
And he makes boiled dinners uncommonly fine.
