Bears face stiff drills to prep for Relays

"The Queens - Iona meet proved to us that we've got to really work hard to get in shape for the Penn Relays — and that's what we'll be doing."

Morgan State College track coach Eddie Hurt was speaking at mid-week as he surveyed the results of the Bears' performance in the Queens-Iona Eastern Championships, held Saturday, in New York.

Competing outdoors for the first time this year, the Bears won one first place, tied for another and placed in three other events.

Winning handily was the freshmen mile relay team composed of Verion (Si) Keller, Plainfield, N.J.; Roland Merriweather, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hosea Smith, Jersey City, N.J., and Nick Ellis, New Brunswick, N.J.

Bob Barksdale jumped 6 feet 6¼ inches to tie for first place with Phil Reavis. Third was Morgan's George Dennis who jumped 6 feet 4½ inches.

* * *

COACH HURT said the meet showed the Bears, who've been hampered in outdoor practice by inclement weather, were not in shape.

He disclosed that the squad will forego the Easter vacation and will practice twice a day to get ready for the Penn Relays scheduled for April 26-27 at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

Receiving special attention as the Bears get ready for the annual Carnival are the varsity mile relay team and the 440 team.

* * *

THE MILE RELAY team has traditionally been a strong asset of the Morgan squad. While showing considerable progress throughout the indoor season, the team ran only a fair race in the opening outdoor meet, coming in third behind Villanova, whose time was 3:19.1 and Manhattan.

"We think the boys can do much better than they did, and they're determined to try," the Bear mentor said.

Running on the team are Benny Rogers, British Guiana, S.A.; Herbie Hollon, Teaneck, N.J.; Gerald Harrison, Lancaster, Pa.; and Bob McMurray, Norwalk, Conn.

WITH THE prospect of defending the Quartermile Relay Championship of America, which Morgan has won for the past four years in the Penn Relays, the 440 team faces an even more rigorous get-ready campaign.

The team placed second to Manhattan in the Queens-Iona meet in a slow 43.6 race, and so far Coach Hurt has not decided who'll replace Ed Waters and Ken Kaye, great runners of the team who've been lost through graduation.

Regulars of the team, Linwood Morton of Baltimore, and Bobby Gordon of Columbia, S.C., are coming along nicely, and may be helped by recruits from the varsity mile relay team.

Coach Hurt said that Morgan will be represented by a full squad in the Penn Relays.

Turnout for Kennedy, Fernandez

By EARL VANN and RUTH JENKINS

PHILADELPHIA

A 22-piece band, a fleet of new cars, a bevy of popular models, a group of dignified community leaders, a police-escorted motorcade, breakfasted at the plush Postal Card—

These all figured in the AFRO - AMERICAN hearty reception which welcomed the Phillies home Monday morning, particularly honoring two new additions to the team, Chico Fernandez and John Kennedy.

'Twas a bright sunny morning, the air was brisk and cool. The scene was the North Philadelphia railroad station. The time was 7:29 a.m.

As the train pulled alongside the platform, the nattily attired drum and bugle corps of Tresville Post No. 6700, VFW launched lustily into "Here Comes the Gang."

* * *

THE CROWD of enthusiastic baseball fans and well wishers lining the platform surged forward in cheering greeting to Kennedy and Fernandez, Their teammates through the train windows made good-luck approval signs.

In addition to the official AFRO family and newsboys, the welcoming committee included:

Charles Shorter, NAACP executive; Lewis J. Carter Jr., Armstrong Association executive; Al Bishop of the Cliveden Award Club; the Rev. W. L. Bentley of Emmanuel Institutional Baptist Church;

Dan Wooding and Billy Yancey, team scout, representing the Phillies; his wife, Mrs. Louise Yancey; Mrs. Carrie Williams, the noted gospel singer; Helen (Curl) Harris, charm school director;

A spring chapeauxed group of belovlies including Thelma Thomas, Emily Thomas and Esther Edwards.

Waiting outside the station were a banner-drapped full grown bus and a fleet of new Chevrolet convertibles provided by the Potamkin Chevrolet Company, Inc. of 1101 S. Broad St.

This firm was represented by Victor Potamkin, owner; Nate Shoeman, general sales manager; Sonny Portman, assistant sales manager; Harry Mattia, Used Car manager; Ted Grant; Chris Harris, Owen M. Wallace, and Freddy Bonaparte, sales representatives.

* * *

ANOTHER BANNERED car bore the slogan "The Flying Phillies Are Here To Stay, And So Is Earl's Flying-A."

This referred to Earl's Flying A Service Center at 34th and Lancaster Ave. which was represented by the owner, Earl Smith and his son, S/Sgt. Clarence Smith, a judo instructor in the U.S. Air Force who is on furlough from the Wright-Patterson base in Dayton, O.

There also were Howard Banks, Johnny Whitehead, Lewis Page, Henry Reid, and a score of topnotch AFRO newsies like young Mr. Jerome Riley.

Led by Motorcycle Policemen Nick Yancen and Bill Foster, the gaily decorated caravan attracted many cheery hails as it traveled down Broad St., to the AFRO office.

There the honoree Phillies newcomers posed for innumerable pictures and were besieged for autographs. They were most accomodating, Kennedy with his warm sincerity and Fernandez with his exhilarating personality.

The motorcade then proceeded to the swank Postal Card Restaurant where they were hosted at breakfast by Mrs. Lauretta Adams, owner.

In this luxurious atmosphere the group relaxed. There were more pictures, more autographs for baseball fans who were attracted by the motorcade banners outside.

* * *

OF COURSE, the talk got around to baseball. Some whiz kid asked "Well, now that you're on the team, where do you think the Phillies will place this season?"

Kennedy modestly played it safe by answering "Well, I don't know."

Fernandez took it up. "What you mean, you no know?" he chided Kennedy. "The first diveession. Always say the first diveession whether you theenk so or no, hey?"

He conceded, however, that the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Phillies' contender in the season's opening game at Connie Mack Stadium, Tuesday night, "is goot team."

Fernandez ought to know. He was a rookie player with Brooklyn last season, batting .227 in 34 games. A native of Havana, Cuba, the 25-year-old shortstop was christened Humberto Perez Fernandez.

Kennedy, also a shortstop, was bought last summer from the Kansas City Monachs, having previously played with the Birmingham Barons.

The Phillies signed him to his first major league contract after his brilliant performance in spring training camp.

* * *

A NATIVE of Sumter, S.C., Kennedy was reared in Jacksonville, Fla. He is 22 years old, stands five feet ten inches tall and weights 172 pounds.

Their welcome reception was staged by the AFRO staff including Ruth Jenkins, editor-manager; Glenna Bannister, advertising manager; Arthur D. Williams, advertising salesman;

James J. Hayes, circulation manager; Ruth Bolen, reporter; Marilyn Zeigler, receptionist; and Earl Vann, sports columnist. But photographer Leroy Brown had the toughest job.

The drum and bugle corps which lustily proclaimed the team's arrival at the station is directed by Nelson Bradley.

Members, including drum majorettes, are:

Claudine Malrey, John Ray, Betty Bouie, Harold Taylor, Walter Hall, Willie Ray, John Swinton, Raymond Punderburk, Aaron Richardson, Charles Herndon;

Chico said "The first diveession"—well, we certainly wish them luck.

NEW PHILLIES TEAM MEMBERS—John Kennedy and Chico Fernandez (center) got the royal carpet treatment upon their arrival at North Philadelphia station, Monday morning. In the group of the AFRO reception committee are Earl Vann, AFRO sports columnist; the Rev. W. L. Bentley; Billy Yancey, Phillies' scout; Charles Shorter, NAACP executive secretary; and Lewis J. Carter Jr., executive director of the Armstrong Association. In rear (with eyeglasses) is Dan Wooding, host to the players during their stay in Philly. (See other picture on Page 14).

AT AFRO OFFICE—Chico Fernandez and John Kennedy (kneeling) new shortstops with the Phillies baseball team, give autographs to members of the Robert Tresville Post, VFW drum and bugle corps, which welcomed them musically upon their arrival Monday morning. The corps is directed by Nelson A. Bradley, left.

Allen downs SC State 5-4

ORANGEBURG, S.C. — Sam Alston, great freshman shortstop from White Plains, N.Y., saved the day for Allen U. with a diving catch when the winning runs were on with two out last week, to give Allen a 5-4 decision over S.C. State.

Only an inning before, centerfielder Wilson Bickley made a sensational shoestring catch to cut off another pair of runs.

* * *

CAPTAIN JOE DUNCAN homered in the eight to give Allen a 2-2 tie and then the Jacks scored three times in the top of the ninth. State got two back before Alston saved the game to give Allen her 8th victory of the season.

Duncan had three hits and winning pitcher Leroy Hicks (4-0) had two for Allen. Preaseau had three hits and Green two for State.

Rigney sees Mays as .380 batsman

NEW YORK (ANP)—In a remarkable show of confidence, manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants said this week that Willie Mays could win the National League batting title, possibly with a mark of .380, and the two other titles as well.

Rigney was elated because the "Say Hey" Kid has been spraying the field with hits, after heeding the manager's advice to quit "going for the fences" and to swing for base hits. Apparently, Rigney has convinced Mays that he doesn't have to win the game all by himself.

RIGNEY WANTS Mays to meet the ball instead of swinging for the fence in pursuit of homers. He feels that Willie can dump a lot of hits in right field and that his home run production will come natural, anyway. Regarding this, Rigney said: "Mays is such a superior batsman that he can hit to right and get his homers especially in the Polo Grounds, there, too, especially in the Polo Grounds, where there is a rightfield target for quite a distance from the foul line."

Last year Mays, anxious for home runs to power his anemic club, sacrificed his batting average. His average dropped from .319 in 1955 to .296, and his home runs production from 51 to 36. He also drove in only 84 runs as compared to 127 in 1955.
