UNDER THE STARS AND STRIPES

Mr. Barney R. Cooper, of Worton, has left for France, we understand.

Mr. T. Kemp Bordley, of Camp Meade, was home for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rust had a most welcome letter from their son, Private Loice M. Rust, this week. Private Rust has received but few letters from home, for some unknown reason. He said in part: "We are in no danger whatever, in a very quiet little town and spending the day very easily and most always in bed by 9 or 9.30 p. m. and I must say it is a far different life than what I ever expected to have on this side and really I dont know how to spend my evenings. We can find plenty to drink, but I can truthfully say I have no desire for it any more. I hope this will put your dear heart to rest and stop you from worrying."

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Newton received a very interesting letter from their son, Corporal Bryan Newton, who is in France with Uncle Sam's fighting forces. Corporal Newton says he is well and happy and that the army life has done wonders for him. He says it is a common sight for him to see airplane battles. The other day, he said, a German airman and a French airman engaged in a aerial battle and that the German was soon brought to earth. Corporal Newton says the country is very beautiful where he is now stationed and the people good to the soldiers.

Though Fritz is on the jump his fate now is all the more certain. Peter er Charon, of New Haven, official frog catcher for the laboratories at Yale University, has enlisted in the Marine Corps. "There isn't much doing in the frog line now," says Charon. "Before the war you used to hear them churning out their cries of 'Jug of rum! Jug of rum!' but now you can't find any of the creatures down our way. Besides there's no market since the laboratory men have all gone to war." Charon is six feet and one inch in height. The Marines consider him a good addition to their fighting corps.

The following poem regarding the new draft of 18 to 45 may be interesting to some:

Eighteen to forty-five—the word is spoken;
They must go forth, the ones we hoped to hold,
Doing their part until the grip is broken,
The Hun defeated, crushed and backward rolled.
Into the home it brings new pain and sorrow;
Partings to bear—but hope to keep alive;
Fear to subdue, and courage new to borrow,
So young—eighteen—so steadfast—forty-five.

Eighteen to forty-five, the boys we cherish;
So lately clustered—children at our knees;
Is there no way to save them—must they perish?
We have been brave, but oh, to part with these
Wrenches our heartstrings; nothing more is left us,
Only to wait and hope and pray and strive;
Wisdom to see in that which has bereft us
Taking them all—eighteen to forty-five.

Eighteen to forty-five, soon they must gather,
Leaving their life work, breaking cherished ties,
Brother and son, the husband and the father,
Laid on the altar of our sacrifice.
Yet we shall let them go, with cheerful faces,
Humbly petitioning our God to guard
Our best and bravest through war's stormy places,
And bring them safely to their great reward.

Mrs. Jessie Duyer received a welcome letter from her son, Mr. Earle Duyer, who is in France, last Wednesday. Mr. Duyer is well and likes France.

Sergeant-Major Edward Blackway writes home that the Yankee boys are doing great work on the fighting line.

Mr. W. W. Clendaniel has enlisted in the military aeronautical department and will leave for the Carnegie Technical School in a few days.

Lieut. Norman S. Crouch, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crouch, recently took part in his first air battle and brought down a Hun plane and put another one to rout.

Mr. Frank Turner, of Camp Meade, is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Turner, suffering with bronchitis, having been taken ill while at home on a short leave.

Sergeant Colin F. Duyer recently saw an airplane battle between several German airplanes and a French airplane, in which the French airman was forced to the earth.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Gill received a letter from their son, who is in France, last week. He is well.

Word has been received by his relatives that Sergeant-Major George R. Crowther has arrived safely in France. Mr. Crowther was editor of the Washington Collegian last year and is a young man of exceptional ability.

Mr. Samuel Hicks received on Saturday night from his son, Leon, in France, a French shell made into a flower vase. It is a work of art and an interesting souvenir. The vase is on display in the window of Toulson's Drug Store.

Dr. A. L. Sterling received a very interesting letter from his brother, Sergeant Elmer Sterling, on Tuesday. Sergeant Sterling, who is in France, writes that he recently received several local papers, which though a month old, were welcome visitors.

Mr. Colin F. Duyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence E. Duyer, of Chestertown, has been made a sergeant for active trench fighting. Sergeant Duyer has recently returned from the front line trenches, where he has been for several weeks, and saw some real front-line trench fighting. He states that he saw many wounded, but none of his company, although they were in the thickest of the fighting.

Lieutenant Robert Ayres writes from Camp Green that all goes well.

Embarkation of American soldiers for all fronts overseas now has passed the 1,750,000 mark, General March announced recently. He said military news during the past week from all fronts has been continuously good.

At last the Holy Land has been wrested from the Turk, and where once the Crescent of Turkey waved, now the flag of Great Britain, which is the very embodiment of the Christian religion, waves in triumph.

New editions of revised selective service regulations issued Saturday fix August 5 as the date from which draft boards shall disregard marriage of men who registered on September 12 as ground for exemption. The so-called slacker marriage provision says: "The fact of dependency resulting from the marriage of a registrant of the class of September, 1918, who has married since the date of the introduction in Congress of the act requiring his registration, to wit, Aug. 5, 1918, will be disregarded as a ground for deferred classification."

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Russell received welcome letters from their son, W. F. Russell, Esq., who is in France, this week.

Applications of civilians to the Field Artillery Central Officers Training School are being received at the office of the Maryland League for National Defense, in the Garrett Bldg., Baltimore, Md. All men within the new draft limits, regardless of classifications, may now be admitted to this School. Men in Class 1 and men in deferred classification on industrial grounds will be required to enlist for the period of the war. Men in other deferred classifications, except for physical disability, will be allowed to go to the Schools and, should they not win commmissions, they will be permitted to return to civil life on completion of the course. This is of very great importance to men who have held back from entering these schools on account of their families.

The Field Artillery is in need of officers who have had a scientific and technical education, but this is by no means a prerequisite to selection of candidates. It is essential, however, that every candidate should now have or be fitted, through previous studies, to reacquire at the School a thorough understanding and working knowledge of arithmetic, algebra to include quadratic equations, and plane geometry.

Civilians must be graduates of a high school, or have pursued an equivalent course of study. While at the School men will receive the pay of privates.

GEORGE L. VERLANDER,
Civilian Aide to the Adjutant General

A letter from Mr. W. F. Blyman, who is in France, is as follows:

I don't know how to begin to thank you for your kindness in sending me The Transcript and can say that I am always eagerly awaiting it, for I certainly do enjoy reading the news from dear old Chestertown and Kent Co.

Have any of your boys come across yet? Mamma tells me that Harvey has arrived safely overseas. I would love to meet some of the boys from home, although one hardly expects to run across anyone in another outfit, but it is possible.

Give my regards to all.

When a wounded soldier is dying, his last words are usually, "Tell Mother." A last message from a U. S. Marine who was killed in France has just come to Washington, for the "greatest mother in the world." Private Edmund B. Rowe, of the 81st Co., Machine Gun Battalion, U. S. Marines, wrote from a little town in France on July 14th, Bastile Day, to an American Red Cross official, telling him that the soldier has learned to love that banner as well as he loves the Stars and Stripes.

"If you could only see," he continued, "the expressions of comfort and cheer which your generous donations bring to the dirty, weary countenances of recipients, you would feel highly remunerated for your outlay of time, labor and money. I want the American people and especially all members of the Red Cross to know just how every soldier feels toward your great organization."

The letter bore this postscript from Lieut. Bower, of the Marines:

"It is with great sorrow that I add these few words. Private Rowe, a member of my section, was killed in action several days after he wrote this and before he had an opportunity to mail it. He was a fine soldier and a real man."

Chocolate Fruit Cookies
(Official Recipe.)

One-quarter cup fat.
Three-quarters cup syrup.
Two tablespoons grated chocolate.
One egg.
One and two-thirds cup barley flour.
One teaspoon baking powder.
One-half cup nutmeats.
One-half cup raisins chopped fine.

Beat the fat and syrup together thoroughly and add melted chocolate and egg. Add dry ingredients sifted together, then fruit. Drop from spoon on a floured tin and bake in a hot oven until brown.
