Russian-American track duel looms as toss-up

PHILADELPHIA — The USSR-USA track meet figures to go either way when these two teams clash in an international match at Franklin Field tomorrow (Saturday) and Sunday.

A year ago at Moscow, in the men's competition, the United States forces scored a solid 126-109 triumph although Uncle Sam's forces lost one point when Gordon McKenzie was disqualified in the 10,000 meter race.

How close can the meet be this weekend? It figures out that the USA should wind up with 120 and the much improved USSR squad can total 116 points in the meet sponsored by The Philadelphia Inquirer Charities Inc., and the AAU.

Coach Frank Potts of the United States is counting heavily on his six Olympic champions to land first places. Included in this group are hurdler Lee Calhoun, shotputter Parry O'Brien, discus thrower Al Oerter, broadjumper Gregory Bell, high jumper Charley Dumas and hammer thrower Hal Connolly.

TWO-LE SCORING in the international match will be on the basis of 5-3-2-1 for the four places while the winner of the 440- and 1600-meter relays will receive five points each and the losers three points each.

Each team is restricted to two entries in each event. A total of 22 events has been carded, including the decathlon where Vasily Kuznetsov, USSR world record-holder, appears to enjoy a wide edge over his USA adversaries Dave Edstrom and Mike Herman.

* * *

AMONG THE OLYMPIC champions representing Uncle Sam, at least two are in danger of tasting defeat. Charley Dumas will have his hands full with Igor Kashkarov who has been jumping close to seven feet in the recent meets. Kashkarov defeated Dumas at Moscow last year, too.

The other Olympic king facing the stiffest of competition is Gregory Bell who came out of semi-retirement to earn a place on the team. He will come to grips with European champion Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, a steady 26-foot plus leaper.

There seems little likelihood that American prestige will suffer in the short races. Ray Norton looks like a certainty in the two sprints. Eddie Southern is counted on for five points in the 400-meter dash. Tom Murphy should be the class in the 800 meters while either Dyrol Burleson or Jim Grelle can dominate the 1500-meter class.

* * *

THE SAME is true in the women's events — which this year will be run as a separate meet — according to advance dope.

Uncle sam appears likely to dominate the short races, with Tennessee State University's Lucinda Williams, Wilma Rudolph, Isabelle Daniels, Barbara Jones and Martha Hudson heading the sprints and the relays.

Margaret Matthews will hold her own in the broad jump as will Shirley Crowder in the hurdles, and Earlene Brown, the Los Angeles housewife, in the shotput and discus.

THE UNITED STATES should prevail in both men's relay races while Lee Calhoun and Hayes Jones are the class of the hurdlers and newcomer Dick Howard has the ability to knock over Alexei Klenin in the 400-meter timbertopping event.

Pyotr Bolintinkov and Hubert Pyrnakivi figure to win the 5000 and 10,000 meter runs and the Russians can count for a certainty a 1-2 finish in the steeplechase with Simonyn Rihlashkin and Sergein Ponomarev, a couple of veterans over the obstacle course.

The invaders should also finish 1-2 in the 20 kilometer walk with Vladimir Golubnichy and Anatoly Vedyakov crushing Rudolph Haluza and Fred Timcoe.

* * *

ALTHOUGH the Americans should prevail in the running events nine to four, the USSR team looks much stronger in the field events and can walk off with top honors in five of the eight, plus the decathlon all-around event.

Connolly, Oerter and O'Brien the Olympic champions appears to be the only Americans capable of winning in field events.

Clowns and Flyers return for 2 games

The mirth provoking 30th anniversary edition of the famous Indianapolis Clowns is rolling along in high gear these days.

On the current Western swing, the Clowns broke attendance records at more than a dozen ball parks. They raised over $5,000 for charity and stimulated interest in cities where fans had never before seen an attraction like theirs.

Five important games are scheduled immediately after their current tour of the West. On Thursday July 23 they play the barnstorming Georgia Flyers at Griffith Stadium, Washington. In their last appearance in the Capital city, they drew 4,500 fans.

* * *

THE FOLLOWING night, Friday, July 24, the Clowns pull into Baltimore, for a return engagement with the Flyers at Westport Stadium. A special benefit appearance for Lou Gualtieri at Memorial Stadium, New York, Pa., follows on Saturday night. July 25 marks a return engagement in Philadelphia, Sunday afternoon, July 26.

NATUREBOY Williams, I'll see Grant Greene the switch pitching young hurler from Oklahoma A.C. and Rollo Stack, person with his dazzling pitching, gymnastics and strutting routines are but a few of the stars in the Clowns' big fun show which will be featured. Naturebuy has been a big hit with the fans, also Greene, who recently set down the equally great Georgia Flyers on two hits.

Babe's pre-game show keeps fans on the edge of their seats.

Birds miss chance to gain ground

The Orioles dissipated an excellent chance to move closer to the American lead Thursday night, dropping a 4 to 3 decision to the last place Kansas City Ataletics.

A double loss by the Cleveland Indians provided the Birds with opportunity to pick up a game and a half on the faltering Tribe but they were unequal to the task.

Home runs by Gus Triandos and Walt Dropo also went for naught as Baltimore fell behind and never made it up.

THE BIRDS wind up their home stand—the last for the month of July — with the series beginning tonight (Friday) against Detroit. And this could be a climactic one for Paul Richards and Co.

At their last appearance here, a month ago, the Tigers were knocked down four times in five outings with the Birds in final game being a comeback from behind effort in which the Birds KO'd a 5-2 Detroit lead to win, 7-6.

Their unfortunate experience on this visit have split the Tigers from the first division and threw them into a tailspin that led to sixth place.

THAT, TOGETHER with the fact that Baltimore holds a 6 4 edge in the ten games played to date, can stir up some definite fireworks for the local playground.

On Tuesday, the Orioles open a 12-day tour of the West at Cleveland, and on this trek hinges Baltimore's hopes of remaining in the pennant fight.

After three days in the camp of the league leading Tribe, the Birds move to Detroit, then into Comiskey Park, Chicago, to take the second-place White Sox head on. The tour closes in Kansas City on Aug. 2, and the Birds return home for an August 4 invasion by the pesky Sox.—SAM LACY.

Belair race track scene of July 24 prize fight

BELAIR, Md. — Promoter next Monday night, July 24, and Al Flora of Baltimore is busy considerable interest is all converting the Belair Race Track into a prizefight arena. Today is the homerun of Lester Hedgepeth, who last winter whipped Morgantic Bert Whitehurst for the Maryland State heavyweight title.

The rematch is scheduled for some Bethea has tangled with some of the world's top heavyweights. Including him, his opponents have been ex-champ Ezzard Charles, the current No. 3 contender Zora Folley and the large Cuban, Nino Valdes.

Lester ordered by his handlers to take a rest following the loss to Bethea, has been on a comeback trail since. He hopes to cap a 5-fight win streak with a victory before his hometown admirers.

Turkeys, hams, prizes in Falcon club shoot

WATERLOO, Md. — Neighboring clubs joined with the Falcon Rod and Gun Club of Baltimore in staging an old time shoot Sunday afternoon at the Falcon Club grounds here.

Twelve teams of ten men each competed for prizes of turkeys and hams. The program had to be curtailed when afternoon rains washed out the shooting of handicaps and doubles.

THE LADIES Auxiliary of the Falcon Club served chicken, ham and crab cakes with potato salad and Boston baked beans, with lemonade and soft drinks.

Competing were representatives of the Deep Sea Angler Club of Cambridge, Md. and Patuxent Gun Club of Sandy Springs, Md., in addition to the Falcons.

* * *

BIG WINNERS in the shoot were J. C. Townes of Deep Sea Anglers; P. Edwards and F. A. Saunders of Falcon.

Edwards took home two hams and a turkey. Townes picked up three hams and the Saunders emerged with two turkeys.

Others to win hams were R. Snowden, T. Snowden and W. Duvall of Patuxent; H. A. Gates and H. Frazier of Deep Sea, and R. Walters of the Falcons.

P. Edwards, also of the Falcons won one of the turkeys.

THE FOLLOWING were among the participants in the affair:

From Deep Sea — W. N. Phillips, R. Smithwick, E. Sijams, C. F. West and J. D. Thompson;

From Green Meadow— D. Clash and H. Green; from Patuxent— D. Johnson.

From Falcon — T. W. Anderson, J. T. Camper, J. DeCerillo, C. Cornish, J. T. Dorsey, W. Eaton, J. Ford, L. B. Gamby, O. Gee, J. Hill, H. A. Macer, J. H. Murphy Jr., W. Nash, H. Rollins, J. W. Saunders, H. Sydnor, F. J. Sykes, G. Winborn, J. Watters and R. Watters Jr.

Strong 65-team field in baseball tournament

Sixty-five amateur baseball teams will be eligible to participate in the Cardinal Gibbons Memorial Trophy tournament this year.

The series which is slated to get underway during the first week in August should have its largest number of entries in its 14 year history.

A rally to stimulate interest in the tournament will be held on Wednesday evening July 22, at 17 East Preston street at 8:30 o'clock. All junior teams in the metropolitan area will be invited to this gathering.

* * *

THIS YEAR'S series should be hard fought from start to finish, as the junior nines appear more evenly matched.

The final game of the Cardinal Gibbons tournament will again be played in Memorial Stadium as part of Junior and Cub Baseball Day.

The championship contest is scheduled for Saturday September 5th.

All amateur baseball teams are invited to take advantage of Junior and Cub Baseball Day. The sale of 100 tickets to this affair will net the seller a profit of $02.50.

SPENDING long summer afternoons at home with his fingers crossed awaiting the signal from government officials for the Arctic trip, is globe-trotter, Herbert Frisby.

Thoroughly enjoying quite hours cataloging priceless materials and artifacts gathered in his travels, Mr. Frisby states that he will not be disappointed if he does not journey after from home— he's at last doing what he should have done a year or two ago.

Off for a honeymoon in Michigan is wonderland of deep blue lakes and quiet forests are Betty Jeanne and Sterling Stokes by whose wedding here last Saturday proved to be one of the most beautiful and exciting in many moons.

The newlyweds arrived in Chicago by plane Saturday evening, stopped by their newly decorated apartment at 7949 Drexel Ave., and then leisurely planned the trip.

MEANTIME, IN Baltimore, Betty's Jeanne's aunt, Mrs. Mattie Julian Brown, suffered sudden illness Sunday and is confined to bed at the home of her brother, Dr. Emerson Julian, on Arunah Ave.

Mattie's husband is Dr. Warren Brown, distinguished professor at New York City College. The two of them just returned from two years in Syria and Egypt on United Nations business.

Dr. Percy Julian, noted scientist, was the only one of the Julian clan not present for the wedding. He is recuperating from illness in Chicago.

Betty Jeanne's mother is the former Miss Elizabeth Julian, hence her brothers and sisters were on the scene for the Saturday affair.

In addition to Dr. Emerson Julian, Dr. James Julian, brothers, and Mrs. Brown, sister, present was Mrs. Irma Dunlap Julian Cooper of New York, wife of undertaker, Cottrell Cooper.

Taking active part in all phases of the wedding including the parties was the Julian mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Julian, who wore the softest, loviest pale blue outfit.

* * *

SPEAKING OF high fashion in summer frocks, the smartest seen anywhere were those worn by Mrs. Dudley Lee and Mrs. Walter T. Dixon as well as those donned by Tillie Young and daughter, Tillie Pair.

Fashion-plate Tillie Pair, tall, sleek as a Paris model, also wore dark glasses, movie-star like.

The swimming party at Dr. James Julian's Pikesville estate Saturday night went into the wee hours, was something else, with more than 30 guests.

SPEAKING OF wedding, the July 26 marriage of Dr. Hayes Strider, Morgan's music department head, and his bride-to-be, Miss Mary Hudson, promises to be a lovely affair.

The reception will be held at the Druid Hill Ave. home of her aunt, Mrs. Helen Gallen Lewis, at 5 p.m.

Afterwards the newlyweds will journey to Lexington Ky. where Dr. Strider's late father, R. Hayes Strider Sr., was for 49 years the town's jeweler.

Expected to attend the wedding here are Dr. Strider's mother, his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Strider.

Dr. Strider, a brilliant musician, was a member of the Fisk Jubilee Singers when we attended Fisk University. He made the world tour with them in 1940.

Although he vows he does not care too much for music, Dr Strider taught the subject at New York University where he received a Ph D degree.

The bride-to be sings on the choir at Providence Baptist Church where she is a member.

SAMUEL TORSELL, for 50 years the Catonsville AFRO correspondent, is bringing in bouquets of dahlias for friends next week.

His expert care has brought forth some of the best blooms he's ever had, he says, and Adds: "The rain this week was just what the doctor ordered for flowers."

One of the most ideal couples you could wish to know celebrated their marriage vows last Sunday.

The bride is Miss Esther Brown, 42, 2417 Eager St., member of St. Johns AME Church for 20 years. The bridegroom is John H. Cook, 73, a retired stationary engineer.

The ceremony took place at the St. Johns parsonage with the Rev. I. M. Gray officiating.

Mrs. Cook wore a pale blue frock, matching hat, gloves and slippers of satin.

* * *

MR. COOK, four times previously wed, has been a widower three times and divorced once. This is Mrs. Cook's first marriage.

On the second day after the wedding, Mr. Cook told the AFRO: "A fellow gets tired of being around alone and then he makes up his mind to find someone to love."

He was first married in 1901 when he was 21 years old. Being lonely without a wife, he states that he knew Mrs. Cook was "the one" when they first met four years ago.

Delighted and happy as any bride could be, Mrs. Cook told the AFRO: "We met informally— I don't know just where— but he said he was lonely and I said 'I am too.'"

Mr. Cook has been a member of Morning Star Baptist Church 12 years.

His children are Mrs. Naomi Gilmbles, 1122 E. 20th St., and William Cook, No. 3 Bernice Ave.
