GRAND MASTER FROM GERMANY—Attending the 112th meeting of the Md. Grand Lodge of Masons was Charles L. Snipes, organizer of the Ernest Lyon Lodge No. 107 in Kaiserslautern, Germany. Mr. Snipes, a warrant officer on duty with the Army in Germany, was the first grand master of the lodge which is composed of 57 Americans living in Western Europe. Here, he presents photo of the group to Dr. Willard W. Allen.

Masons end 112th annual session

Maryland Masons, Prince Hall Grand Lodge, ended the 112th annual communication here this week in big spirits over the reelection of Dr. Willard W. Allen as Grand Master and looking forward to for 1960 when they will occupy the new $200,000 Masonic Temple, the former Oheb Shalom Synagogue located at Lanvale St. and Eutaw Place.

The organization has paid a total of $20,000 down on the new temple and expects to occupy the building in October, 1960 when the Oheb Shalom congregation moves to its new quarters.

More than 200 persons, including lodge members from the Eastern shore of Maryland, Western Maryland, guests and friends were present at the 9:30 p.m. Monday meeting, the final session of the two - day convention.

Held at the old Masonic Temple, Mosher and McCulloh streets, and oven to the public, the meeting saw lodge dignitaries and civic leaders heading Dr. Allen's reelection as Grand Master for the 37th consecutive year.

ALTHOUGH GRAND Master Allen in June announced that he did not wish to run again to head the Masonic group, members of the lodge drafted him in July to fill the office for another term so he could complete acquisition of the new temple.

Among those lauding the veteran Masonic leader was John Lewis, Most Worshipful Grand Master of Louisiana who stated that he had interrupted his first vacation in 27 years to attend the session and preside at the annual election.

Said Grand Master Lewis; "I congratulate you on the new temple. It gives me a deep inner satisfaction that you are doing something to establish the dignity of the race."

Grand Master Lewis also complimented the Maryland Mason for their valant fight for integration and equal rights.

DR. CARL MURPHY, AFRO president and member of the lodge also extended congratulations to Dr. Allen on his reelection and the acquisition of the new temple.

"In our new temple I trust we shall make special provision or our Masonic library and for the education of our young people in the history of Masonry and the African peoples."

Dr. Murphy added: "As Masons we have a special part to play in the education of ourselves and others.

"Let no man say for us the time is not ripe or the time is not right for you and me to be free or first class human beings.

"The time was right and ripe when you were born and for 10,000 years before that when our forefathers ruled the Nile Valley.

MRS. HELEN C. SMOTHERS, Worthy Grand Matron of the Order of Eastern Star said: "I congratulate you on your achievements.

"We have pledged you our support. We were the first ones to help pay on the new building."

William L. Fitzgerald, most worthy grand attorney, said: "Believe me, we're making history in Baltimore. Our work in Masonry is one of the biggest things in Baltimore."

Elmer T. Hawkins, Chestertown, reelected, deputy grand master, said: "I've learned a great deal from Grand Master Allen. He told the Masons, 'lets say we'll acquire the Temple and we will."

He added: "I assure you the new Temple will be kept in good condition."

Also speaking was Charles L. Snipes, past Master of the Ernest Lyon Lodge No. 107 who came from Kaiserslautern, Germany, to attend the meeting.

Mr. Snipes, an army career man residing abroad, organized the lodge in 1957. It now has 57 members who came from all sections of the U.S.

He said: "It is through the guiding light and foresthought of Grand Master Allen that we are able to do such a job.

"We would never have been able to accomplish what we have without our Grand Master.

Mr. Snipes presented Dr. Allen with a photo of the German Lodge.

Lem Foster, consultant in War Bonds Department brought greetings from the department "because the Secretary of the treasury decognizes Willard W. Allen as an important figure in the business of War Bonds"

"It doesn't make any difference who you are or where you are, the department responds to action."

William Jordan, Most Worthy Grand Master of New York also brought greetings and emphasized the need for unity among Masons in the fight for integration.

Also speaking were Mrs. Verda Welcome and Mrs. Irma Dix on, members of the Maryland House of Delegates.

SAID MRS. WELCOME: "I was happy to know Dr. Allen was reelected for another term as Grand Master. I congratulate you on your adventure in purchasing the new temple."

Mrs. Dixon said: "I agree that the membership should be congratulated on your great wisdom for keeping in office your most wonderful grand Master Allen.

He walks with humility, kindness and understanding. He is fearless and respects the people with whom he works."

Dr. Allen was presented a basket of flowers from the Eastern Star organizations and received sustained applause.

ON HIS RESPONSE, Dr. Allen said: — "We have struggled these 36 years. I stayed with you no matter what happened. God has been with us more than we deserve.

In addition to Dr. Allen and Mr. Hawkins, other officers elected were:

T. Norwood Brown, Annapolis, relected senior grand warden; George H. Fitzhugh, Baltimore, reelected treasurer; Alvan S. Stanley, Baltimore, reelected grand secretary and Fred T. Hicks elected assistant secretary succeeding William A. Jones.

Samuel Daniels, Baltimore was elected to the trustee board to serve three years and also appointed to the post of District Deputy Grand Master to succeed the late Robert B. Croxton, who died July 29. He had served as deputy grand master for 24 years.

Douglas Allen, Cambridge; Benjamin Wheatley, Nanticoke; Charles E. Horn, Crisfield; Walter Hardesty, Annapolis and Walter Woods, Montgomery County.

Dr. Murphy, Baltimore, and Norwood Brown, Annapolis have been appointed as consultants to the new building board of directors.

The Masons opened the communication Sunday with memorial services at the New temple center annex at 3 p.m. with the Rev. W. L. Clayton, pastor of Macedonia Baptist Church, as guest speaker, in place of the Rev. A. J. Payne, Enon Baptist pastor, who was unable to attend because of illness.

Participating in the memorial services were Dr. Allen, grand master; Alfred Dixon, grand chorister and Alvan S. Stanley, grand secretary, with music furnished by the Masonic choir.

More than 450 persons were present at the services which memorialized 31 deceased members who have died in the past year.

JOHN LEWIS
Most worthy grand master of Louisiana

A VISITOR in Baltimore this week was William L. Snipes, most worthy grand master of New York, who attended the session of the Prince Hall Grand Lodge, F and AM.

I, too, will miss Charles Miller

By BILL SLATER

Everybody knows that, and I should, most of all. During my nine months at the AFRO, I have been assigned to cover numerous funerals, and write many death notices.

But very few deaths have affected me as the death of Charles Miller, a very good friend.

MR. MILLER died Friday at University Hospital after undergoing a serious heart operation. He was 33.

At first, I dreaded the assignment because I had heard that Mr. Miller was a tough man to get along with.

But I soon learned this not true.

WHEN I met "Miller," we seemed to hit it off like we had been knowing each other all our lives.

I found him to be kind and understanding to a cub reporter new and scared on the job.

He had a pleasant attitude, and most of all, a delightful sense of humor.

Provident soon became an assignment I looked forward to daily, because I knew when I reached the emergency room, Miller would have another funny joke to tell me or another harmless prank to play on me.

I didn't mind his pranks, for cussed our problems. (I disthan a contact, he was a good friend.

WE ENJOYED many jokes together and sometimes dis. I knew that Miller was more cussed mine, he never seemed to have any.

He was preparing to leave work and go home. He was due in the hospital Thursday. The operation was set for Friday.

Then, he turned to me and said jokingly:

"I know you'll be glad to get rid of me for a couple of weeks, but I'll be back in here to give you the devil soon."

Miller was my friend, a good friend.

Like many other people who knew and admired him, I too, will miss him.

GRIEVING MOTHER—Mrs. Lillian Miller, is being escorted into Grace Presbyterian Church by Dr. Effie Ellis of Provident Hospital. The occasion was the funeral service for Mrs. Miller's son, Charles, who headed the out patient department at the hospital.

Charles Miller, 33, buried Wednesday

Grace Presbyterian Church was quiet Wednesday save for the constant cry of a bereaved mother, moaning the loss of her only son.

Lying lifeless in a brown casket at the foot of the altar was Charles Miller, age 33.

Around him, were dozen floral pieces encased the casket which bore an American flag on its lid.

THE CHURCH was three quarters full. Some 250 friends relatives, and fellow employees, were in the church to pay their last respects to a fighting courageous man.

Standing on the pulpit the Rev. E. McKay Miller spoke.

"When we come to an occasion such as this, our souls are somewhat cast down when we think of our friend who has just passed.

"This is an occasion which each one of us has to experience one day or another.

"When we think of the tender age of 33, those years he labored and toiled, and his suffering during the last months of his life, we assume that he is now walking in the light of the Apostle Paul."

MR. MILLER lost his gamble for life Friday at University Hospital, two weeks after undergoing a delicate heart operation.

Doctors told him that unless he had the operation, he would die, and even if he had the operation, there was no guarantee that he could make a successful recovery.

Knowing that Mr Miller went ahead and had the operation performed.

His death was a shock to everyone for physicians had announced his operation a surprise.

The employees of Provident Hospital, where Mr Miller was supervisor of the Out Patient Billing Department, sent a resolution

Other survivors include an aunt, Mrs. Althenia Brown; a step grandmother, Mrs. Marie Miller of New York and a step great grandmother, Mrs. Lottie Miller of New York.

WHEREAS, DIVINE PROVIDENCE has lately taken from our midst Charles Lee Miller and

WHEREAS, Mr. Miller had been employed at Provident Hospital for the last three and one half years as supervisor of the Out Patient Billing Department, and

WHEREAS, He worked diligently and conscientiously with fair and cheerfulness, and

WHEREAS, He was considered a friend by his co-workers and all who knew him

BE IT RESOLVED:

That we shall miss him, but the place he created in our hearts is not vacant. For to live in the hearts of those left behind is not to die. The things we loved in our friend will remain with us, in our memory until eternity.

We extend to his devoted mother, and family our heart felt sympathy, for we know what it is to suffer the loss of a loved one.

May bless his spirit as we lay away in reverence his earthly remains The Lord giveth and The Taketh away.

PHILADELPHIA — Commencement speaker at William Penn Business Institute at Zion Baptist Church Sunday was Dr. Jerome H. (Brud) Holland, president of Dela-ware State College. Some 67 students received diplomas.

JEEPERS CREEPERS—This was the scene at Druid Hill Ave., and Dolphin Saturday when two army jeeps driven by Robert Missouri and Robert L. Miller, 22, of the Richmond Armory collided. Miller was treated for a chest injury at Provident. Parked cars owned by Joseph Wilder, 1205 Druid Hill Ave., and Raymond A. Pinderhughes, 1011 Wheeler Ave., were damaged.

TOASTING THE CHAMP—A smiling Archie Moore lifts a glass of milk in toasting the "winner and still light-heavyweight champion of the world" himself after Wednesday night's 3rd round kayo of Canadian Yvon Durelle at Montreal.

'You've got plenty of company'

MONTREAL, Que — "Don't worry, fisherman, there were 127 others like you. You've got plenty company."

That was the kind of consolation Archie Moore whispered into the ear of Yvon Durelle at the height of the celebration toasting Moore's third round knockout of the Canadian light heavyweight here at the Forum Wednesday night.

Archie's reference was to his all - time record for any boxer — 128 knockout victims among the 176 wins he has scored in 296 fights over a 23 year span.

THE SMOOTH - TALKING champion, fresh from his eighth successful defense of the 175-pound title, offered his verbal balm to the disconsolate challenger before the eyes of an estimated 12,000 cash customers and millions of television viewers.

Although his words were inaudible, Moore's gesture of embracing the disappointed Durelle and speaking a soft word of cheer was plainly visible.

THE AFRO questioned him about the brief exchange during a Thursday morning interview, granted by Moore just before he and his wife checked out of their Croyden Hotel suite.

"I saw he was pretty dejected," Archie explained, "so I said what I thought might lift him out of the dumps, at least for the moment.

"'Don't worry, fisherman,' I said, 'there were 127 others like you, so you've got plenty company.'"

AND WHAT WAS Durelle's reply to that?

"He said it didn't help much to know that He said I deserve to be the champion and something else. I don't remember, then he wished me luck.

"I told him he's a good boy and he shouldn't let it get him down. I reminded him that the other 127 guys who got knocked out, a lot of them couldn't make a living any other way but by fighting. I jugged him in the ribs and told him he could do it, ways go back to his boats."

Durelle is a fisherman by trade. He plies the St. Lawrence River in a 11 - foot boat. Archie had boasted of a thrilling 11 - round standoff before losing via knockout last December. It was natural, therefore, that he had looked forward to winning this rematch.

INSTEAD OF dropping the scheduled 15 round affair, Archie had done in their previous meeting. Yvon himself was forced four times before being counted out by referee Jack Sharkey here Wednesday night.

What was behind the story that the Canadian government had put up two purses — Moore's guarantee of $175,000 and Durelle's $70,000 share?

"Oh, there's no mystery in the planted Moore. "It's just a technicality. They have no reason to hold up my money. I don't owe anybody anything — Uncle Sam or anybody else — and if I do, they can take it. It's as simple as that."

WHAT IS NEXT on the champ's agenda?

"Well, Jack (manager Jack Kearns) has cabled a million-dollar guarantee to (Ingemar) Johansson to defend his heavyweight title against me.

"He told Johansson that we're prepared to deposit the money in a European bank the moment he says the word. I'm not at liberty to say who is behind us in the offer and we haven't reached the stage where any definite location is in mind, but you can quote me as saying the whole thing is legit."

Does Archie think he can take Ingemar?

"You can quote me as saying I sure do."

DURELLE'S DOWNFALL Wednesday night began much earlier than the fatal third round. Actually, the muscular Canadian was started on the road to oblivion midway of the first stanza.

That was when Archie put home a solid righthand lead that bounced off the then fresh jaw of his opponent. Seconds later, the old champ exploded a left in Durelle's midsection and the Frenchman's mouth popped open momentarily.

Yvon showed no distress but the damage was a definite sign that Moore had hurt him.

THE THIRD round was barely over when the champion crashed a left hook against the side of the challenger's face. It was the beginning of a combination that was to see Archie pound home a right, another right, a left to the body and still another right as Durelle teetered and started his first descent to the canvas.

Up at the count of nine, Yvon showed unmistakeable signs of wilting as he sought to back away. Archie would have none of that, however, and pressed forward in tigerish fashion.

THE CROWD cheered through this classic exhibition by the Old Master. But it went into a frenzy moments later when Durelle flurried in retaliation. It was, obviously, the dying man's grasp at an elusive straw.

In all, Durelle was down four times — twice for nine counts, once for seven and then for the count. It could have been 20, what with Yvon prone on the floor even after the celebration had started in the ring.

No-spectator rule KO's golf tourney

ATLANTA, Ga. (NNPA) — The New Era Club Saturday called off a golf tournament scheduled for a desegregated city park because of an official ruling that no spectators

Mayor William B. Hartsfield told a group of protesting white residents in the park area that the colored golfers could not legally prevented from using the course so long as every person on hand was a bona fide golfer.

But it was decided that the rule would be enforced requiring everyone on the golf course to have a bar a minimum of five clubs and a ticket. The rule is enforced on all golf courses except during white tournaments.

members of the New Era Golf Club at first decided to proceed with the tournament with the contrants playing as individuals.

The club later decided to cancel the tournament but declined to give its reason for the change in plans.

THE CLUB had invited about 100 players from such points as Nashville, Tenn., and Jacksonville and Miami, Fla. to take part in the tournament at Adamson Park Wednesday through Friday.

T. D. Hawkins, club president, said the club had not given authority to make public the reason for the cancellation.

Alfred "Top" Holmes one of several plaintiffs in a suit that resulted in a court order directing municipal golf courses here was among persons questioned by police as a result of the incident.

Peaks, Jacobs probable starters for Eagles

HERSHEY, Pa. (NNPA) — Philadelphia's football Eagles kick off the 1959 exhibition season Saturday night in Hershey Stadium as they meet the New York Giants before a capacity crowd.

Last year, a dismal season from the viewpoint of both Philadelphia and Pennsylvania, "Buck" Shaw, is being hailed as an example of how not to play football and the current crop of rookies is making the others step to hold their positions.

ALREADY THE axe has fallen on some young hopefuls with Rollie West, former Chelten Ham High and Villanova player and halfback Severn Hayes of Montana being among the first to go.

Coach Shaw and his assistants, are pleased, at the moment, with the play of veterans Clarence Peaks, who last year won the Bronko Nagurski Trophy as the outstanding defensive lineman in Baton Rouge and Art Powell, a halfback from San Jose California.

Among the rookies who have impressed are John Burroughs, tackle, from Iowa; Harold Jacobs, end from Michigan State; Dick Williams, also and end from Southern University in Baton Rouge and Art Powell, a halfback from San Jose

Gray's hot in pursuit of State softball title

When Gray's softball team takes on Olin Mathieson in one of several Sunday games of the Maryland State tournament, it will mark the farthest any colored aggregation has yet gone in state softball play.

The contesting teams are now in the third round and Gray's, the lone Ian entry in the playoffs, looks forward hopefully to copping the title.

Gray's won the Easterwood championship by beating Flagg Brothers two games, Club Paree twice, the Cosmopolitans three times and Social Security and Preston Brothers twice.

THEY THEN annexed the Carroll Park title, defeating Coast Guard, A and P Gypsies, County A. C. twice each, and Polo's four times, trice during the regular season and again in the playoff last Tuesday.

Gray's now leads the Post Season League, having won two of three from Lansdowne, two of three from Grill and two straight from Champs.

The club lost an exhibition decision to Johnny's, 1958 state champs, but has not been able to another match.

IN ALL, Gray's has a 34-4 season record. The team roster follows:

Herbert Smith, coach; Edgar Smith, Joseph Kelly, Lorenzo Meadows, Nathamel Brown, Alfred Jackson, Ronald Jenkins, Herman Gray, infielders; James Johnson, Gillie Phillips, Jeremiah Brown, James Green, outfielders;

Children at Chick Webb visit park

The Saturday Arts and crafts class was conducted at the Chick Webb Memorial Recreation Center by the same three Morgan students, as a part of their community work program.

Most of the articles will be displayed at the Center when the Open House is held, August 20.
