Gadabouting In Baltimore

Seasonal plan-making chief concern of town socialites

with Lula Jones Garrett

The champine at the bit of townsfolk presages a sparkling social season this year.

Beginning so early as Sunday (the 20th) when the Cooperative Women's Civic League sets pace at a "Fantasia" (they've a program of music, fashions, teas and Flower Show that will be hard to follow . . . right on down to the last night's Martinique) repeat their "Evening in Paris" at Units Hall in Dundalk . . . and springing between with such doings as the Guardsmen's Thanksgiving weekend (dropped last year . . . scheduled this year) your social work is cut out for you.

SPEAKING OF THE Fantasia, fifty of the town's smartest matrons have pledged their chairman, Catherine Adams, that she can be at ease . . . that the food service they are arranging will be the prettiest that the city has seen . . . and they've backed it up with already having disposed of one thousand tickets. (They had that number sold when they met on Wednesday night). Mrs. Bernard Harris, under whose chairmanship the Flower Show is progressing, has the same sort of cooperation from her committee.

The fashions will be chiefly a showing of furs, and the program is to feature the organ. The whole has been wrapped up in a neat package to be opened at 3:30 in the afternoon on Sunday in the Carver Vocational High School.

THE MARTINIQUES are those business and professional women whose main objectives run to charity . . . and their personal objective to being topped dresses. Let me hasten to say that the first (charity) is their statement . . . the second, my observation.

They turned it on last year when they beat fashion to the punch by wearing wigs in the identical color of their frocks. I'm sitting on the edge of my seat to see what they will do, style - wise, this year.

In the group are Victorine Adams, Dorethea Foster, Ruth Paysour, Myrtle Thompson, Irene Harris, Hester Greenway, Alma Perry, Helen Tucker, Susie Moore, Justine Chandler and Dorothy Lee Davis.

OTHER DATE DATA include a garden party on Sunday afternoon given by the For Win Ash Garden Club at the Sequoia Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar (Isabelle) Manns; the "Newport Festival" by the Pyramids at the Coliseum on the 19th; and the Cossocks' Autumn Fiesta at the Armory on Oct. 3.

Both of the latter groups (all men) have the NAACP and the Baltimore Urban League as their special civic projects.

Also on the 20th Fannie Stanley Newton, lyric soprano, native Baltimorean, will be presented in a concert at the Union Memorial Methodist Church, at five in the afternoon.

Mrs. Newton, a graduate of Howard University, where she majored in voice, has appeared extensively in the eastern and southern states, has taught voice at the Baltimore Institute of Musical Arts and is soloist at the Grace Presbyterian Church.

Parties spark League session

THE WEDDING of Miss Lucile Elaine Paul and Lester James Wright took place in the Memorial Baptist Church, Baltimore, Sunday

By ROSEMARIE

WASHINGTON

Let the more serious-minded reporters tell the reading public about the weighty problems, the ponderous discussions and the learned addresses delivered by speakers and experts at the conference of the National Urban League being held at this week which has drawn leaders from all over the nation.

For my part I shall confine my scribblings to the lighter activities which contribute to the social aspects of the occasion — where the delegates and guests let down their hair, exchange pleasantries, meet old friends and make new acquaintances in the many reception rooms surrounding the main assembly hall.

THE TUESDAY LUNCHEON, was held in the Continental Room. This luncheon was called to attention by Lewis Chatelaine, Chairman of the D.C. Commission of Human Relation. Other guests were Mr. Theodore Kheel, President of the Urban League; the Hon. Robert McLaughlin, the good looking Rev. Shelby Rooks; Dr. R. Frank Jones, Dr. Clarence Nelson and the guest speaker, Mr. Robert Dowdy.

"Mr. Dowdy proved to be an excellent speaker. It was noticeable that this luncheon was dominated by the men, however, such faces as Betty Walker, the pretty Natalie Hinderas from Philly, the blonde Mrs. Choate, Margaret Duck added a brighter touch to the serious male countenances.

Mrs. Loretta Watty will assist the club with the kiddie program. Mrs. Daisy B. Jones and Mrs. Georgia Boston are among members who will also help.

MRS. ALICE FORD, president, was hostess. She was assisted by Miss Margaret Johnson.

Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Jones are among members who plan to attend the annual convention of the national body in Detroit next month. They are the elected delegates.

Miss Lucille E. Paul becomes bride of Lester James Wright

Miss Lucille Elaine Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James I. Paul of Wilson Park and Lester James Wright were married Sunday.

The wedding took place in Memorial Baptist Church at two in the afternoon. The Rev. Edward Brown officiated.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore an ensemble in white lace, made on princess lines and featuring a chapel train. Her veil was held by a coronet of the lace, embroidered in seed pearls and sequins. She carried a Tiedal bouquet of mixed white flowers.

Miss Sandra Paul, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bride-maids were Miss Sylvia Wright and Mrs. Esther Brown.

The attendants wore gowns of nylon organza in yellow, blue and pink, respectively, and carried bouquets of pink flowers.

Sheila M. Hughes, flower girl, wore a frock of white nylon over a skirt of tiers of yellow, pink and blue taffeta. Her basket, which held flower petals, was pink.

Two-year-old Bryant Johnson was ring bearer.

MR. WRIGHT, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wright of 1220 N. Broadway, had as best man, his brother, Eugene Wright.

Ushers were Robert Wright and Nathaniel E. Paul.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Wilshire of 5213 Kenilworth Avenue.

Brown-Goins rites held

By CHARLOTTE W. DOWNIE

The wedding of Miss Ella Louise Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brown of 335 Back Neck River Rd., Essex, Md., and John Ellsworth Goins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Jr. of 1806 Poplar Grove St., took place Sept. 5, at St. Stephans AME Church, Essex. The Rev. Reginald Boston performed the ceremony.

A reception was held at the Masters Beautician Center.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in an imported white lace dress length gown, and wore a fitted lace jacket with tiny sleeves with gathers at the waist line. Her fingertip veil was of matching lace.

She carried a small white Bible with six white roses on the top.

Mrs. Beatrice Scurry attended her sister as matron of honor and wore an aqua blue evening dress with beautiful large rose inset.

With this she wore a tiny blue veil and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of six yellow roses.

Zacharian Waters Jr. was best man for the bridegroom. Mrs. Cato Atkins was at the organ and Mrs. Clemintine Cheateam was soloist.

Miss Beverly A. Brown married to Iboo Mohamed

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

Of much interest to Annapolis and Washington was the recent marriage of Miss Beverly Anna Brown, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brown Jr. of Washington and Iboo Mohamed (Ayube), the son of Mr. and Mrs. Shan Mohamed of British Guiana.

Two impressive ceremonies, Moslem rites, which were held at the Islamic Temple and Protestant Episcopal rites united the couple on Friday and Saturday.

The Episcopal ceremony was performed by the bride's minister, the Rev. James O. Westbrier Jr. at the Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church on Saturday.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of Dumbarton College of Holy Cross in Washington, where she received her bachelor of arts degree, having majored in English.

She is an editor in the Foreign Area Studies Division of the Special Research Office at Catholic University.

The bride comes from one of the oldest and most prominent families of Annapolis, where her father was born and where she spent much of her childhood.

BEFORE her parents moved to Washington, her mother, Mrs. Cynthia Brown, was a member of the faculty of Bates High School.

Her paternal grandmother taught a number of years in the public schools of Anne Arundel County, and her paternal great - grandfather, the Rev. William H. Brown, a native of Annapolis, was a businessman here for 40 years. He pastored the Mt. Nebo AME Church in Prince Georges County for 17 years.

The bridegroom is a third year student in the School of Dentistry at Howard University. The couple is now at home to friends at 4311 Second St., NW, in Washington.

Among out-of-town guests who attend the rites were: Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brown Sr. of Annapolis, paternal grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. James Brown of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Brown Sr. of Annapolis and son, Errol, all great uncles and aunts and cousins of the bride;

THE REV. Mr. and Mrs. Booker S. Watkins of Sharon Hill and Philadelphia great uncle and aunt of the bride, and Miss Delia Brown of Annapolis, a great aunt of the bride;

Also Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Butler, Mason Alsop, Thomas Baden Jr. and Harry Thompson and son, Harry Jr.; Mesdames Wilhelmina Allen, Ethel Wilson, Lulu Hardesty, Mary B. Thompson, J. Burnette Browne, Phillip Brown Jr. and William H. Richardson, all of Annapolis;

Also Mr. and Mrs. Adrian D' Aguilar, maternal aunt and uncle of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian D'Aguilar Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Keith De'Aguilar, cousins of the bride, and all of New York City;
