UNDER THE STARS AND STRIPES

The following interesting letter is from Sergeant Colin F. Duyer, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Duyer. Sergeant Duyer was one of the first Kent boys to enlist. The letter is as follows:

Received your most welcome letter of August 15 this morning (September 18) and was glad to hear that all were well. I received four other letters and of course today is one of the events of the season..

I received the Transcript for July 13 and 20. I saw where Irving Sparks had just returned from a trip to the Swiss border. That reminds me, Captain Jarman, who just returned from a machine gun school, saw Irving Sparks while he was away. He also say Geo. Titter. Both were well and very glad to see him.

One platoon in our company is full of fleas and lice and one of the fellows made up a little song about them entitled, "They go wild, simply wild, over me."

None of the men in our platoon have lice or "cooties," but fleas are surely plentiful. I am fixed very well so long as the Boches don't hit our billet with a "G. I. Can." That's what some fellows call the Boche shells.

While we were in the front line we were gasesd, shelled with high explosives and shrapnel. Some of the holes made by the shells were large enough to set a house in. Didn't say how large a house, though, but, nevertheless, they were some big holes. One shell hit about twenty-five yards from where I was sleeping and never awoke me. You know I am a pretty sound sleeper and they have to come closer than that.

I would like to be home for a few days to see everybody, but under the existing circumstances would rather be here than in the States at present.

I went to the hospital with a fellow who was shot one night and he died about half an hour after I left. The boy had plenty of nerve, though, and was conscious until after I left him.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlington L. Sparks received an interesting letter from their son, Sergeant Irving L. Sparks, on Monday. Among other things Sergeant Sparks said that he had just witnessed a splendid sight—115 American airplanes on their way to the front to bomb German forts.

Mr. Nick Denny, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hall Denny, of Chestertown, has been commissioned a captain recently.

The gum-shoe diplomacy and dark plotting of many years against the United States and other countries, have failed, and the result is that with friends all gone the Kaiser's hordes, with the reputation of bandits and looters and worse, are returning to their lands, driven hence at the point of the bayonet. The name of Germany is disgraced, and the country is bankrupt beyond the repair of a century.

Mr. Harvey Blyman, who is now in France, wrote his mother, Mrs. I. M. Blyman, a very interesting letter recently. He says he saw Frank Lambert recently, but as they were traveling in the opposite direction he did not have any chance to say anything to him.

Mr. Wm. Spear Brownley, well known in Chestertown, and a brother of Mrs. Wm. R. Pippin, has been commissioned a lieutenant in the United States Army.

—Everyone in Chestertown and the whole county should thoroughly disinfect their residences at once. This is especially urged in the case of those who have had the influenza in their houses. The trouble to do this is insignificant, and the benefits are invaluable. It is at such times as this, when the epidemic is subsiding, that the greatest precautions should be taken.

October In Kent County

October, 1918, will be long remembered as one of the most remarkable months Kent County has ever known. It was a month of unusual commotion, of patriotic exertion that became almost a frenzy, of a tragic visitation of disease, and of an extraordinary suspension of much of the normal activity of the people. During most of the time there was much excitement over the news which has been foreshadowing an early return to peace. The Liberty Bond sale gave rise, day after day, to intense anxiety while the feat of raising over half a million dollars in this county was going on. In the midst of it all, and almost suddenly, there came the influenza, which frightened a large portion of the population more than any epidemic or pestilence has done in forty years, ravaging life more swiftly than probably any disease in this county has ever done in the same space of time. There were many disconcerting and also alarming effects produced everywhere in Kent county, as consequences of the order which interferred with religion, with education and with public amusement. Thousands of people who have been in the habit of attending divine service on the first day of the week have been unable to get into their churches; thousands of children have been shut out of schools; thousands of people who go to theatres and other places of amusement in various forms of entertainment have been obliged to stay at home. The fact that more people have been swept into their graves in Kent county than have passed away in many years in the same length of time is alone enough to make this October a time that will be talked about in the future as exceptional in its stir and its sensations and its sorrows.

—Mr. Rufus Collins, of Queen Annes, near town, erected a unique device to keep crows out of his watermelon patch, which proved very successful. A scare-crow was erected in the center of the patch, and the patch surrounded by a high "fencing" of twine. Mr. Collins says the crows, while numerous in the nearby woods, never bothered his patch.

The country boys should pick up all they can and bring them to us instead of selling them to the junk dealers.
