5 guilty of 'operations'

Five defendants — one man and four women were convicted in Criminal Court Tuesday on charges of performing illegal operations.

One matron was charged with three cases, two were charged with two cases each, and the remaining two had one charge each against them.

Judge Edwin Harlan imposed a total of 15 years suspended sentences on three of the defendants and held sentencing until a later date for two others.

The defendants were:

Mrs. Beatrice De Loatch, 30, 200 block Colvin St., charged in two cases, received a five-year suspended sentence for each, plus 5 years probation on condition of good behavior.

* * *

MRS. CARRIE T. EVANS, 32 2800 block Woodbrook Ave., and Frederick Rubin, 30, 2700 block Spellman Rd., three years each, suspended on condition of good behavior.

Mrs. Mary Ann Byrd, 36, 900 block N. Wolfe St., charged in three cases, sentencing withheld.

Mrs. Pearl Harris, 36, 1900 block E. Fayette St., charged in two cases, sentencing withheld.

According to the charges, Mrs. De Loatch performed an illegal operation on a 25-year-old matron of the 200 block Asquith St. last April 16.

The case was reported from Johns Hopkins Hospital, April 20 when the woman went there to receive treatment for an incomplete abortion police said.

The second case against Mrs. De Loatch involved a 23-year-old matron who is mother of four children and lives in the 800 block Bethune Rd.

In this case, testimony was that the case was reported to police from Baltimore City Hospitals after an illegal operation April 11.

Mrs. De Loatch's attorney, Michael F. Freedman, said the defendant is mother of eleven children whose ages range from 15-7, and her husband is a $60-a-week clerk.

* * *

ASSISTANT STATE'S attorney Julius Romano said Mrs. Evans was arrested for an operation in May on a matron, 22, of the 1800 block Appleton St.

Testimony was that the matron made arrangements with Mrs. Evans through a mutual friend.

Mr. Ruffin was charged with operating illegally on a 20-year-old unmarried woman who was brought to him by a mutual friend.

Represented by Mr. Freedman, his defense was that he "only did it as a favor."

MRS. HARRIS, represented by George L. Russell, was charged for an operation in 1958 on an unmarried mother of five children who lived in the 1600 block Mulliken St.

Police women reported that Mrs. Harris was out of town when the mother's case was reported from Johns Hopkins Hospital.

They said it took them until this year to contact the defendant.

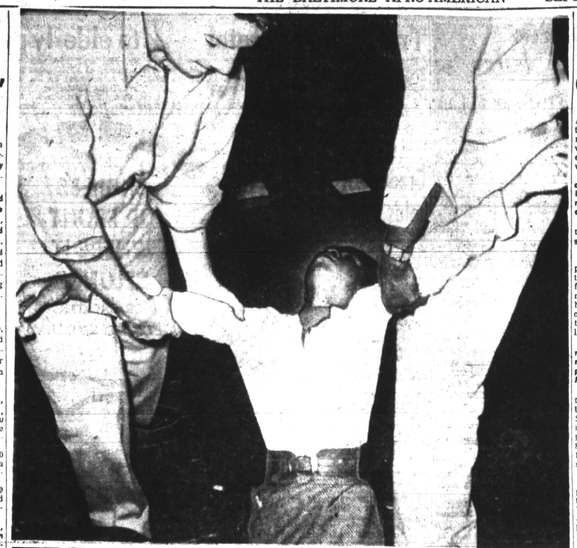
Mrs. Byrd, with three cases against her, was charged with operating on a 32-year-old matron of the 700 block W. Fayette St., a 16-year-old unmarried girl of 205 Polaski St., Sollars Point, and a third woman whose address was not listed.

She was represented by Mr. Freeman.

Two of the cases against her were reported from University Hospital and one of them from City Hospitals, police said.

It is the practice of all hospitals to notify police in cases involving illegal operations.

Policewomen Ethyle Driver and Mildred Gross were investigating officers in the cases.



NO WAY TO TREAT A LADY — Afro photo made about 7:30 p.m. Monday at intersection of Pennsylvania Ave. and Dolphin St. Note lower photo shows woman out cold on pavement with passers-by looking on. In top photo, two men identified as attendants from Ambulance Co. No. 4 remove her. Records show she was a Madison Ave. resident who had too much to drink. She was treated at Provident Hospital for intoxication and released. J. T. O'Malley, secretary of the Fire Board, which supervises municipal ambulances, said it is contrary to policy to drag people by the arms. He said he would look into this incident after he sees photo.

Hopkins Hospital-Union dispute at a standstill

The Johns Hopkins Hospital-AFL-CIO Union tiff enters its third week here without settlement in the dispute which involves 1,100 non-professional employees, 85 per cent of whom are colored workers.

On Thursday, Hopkins officials were said to be "deliberating" and union officials reported "no breaks yet either one way or the other."

The union has asked that a third party, agreeable to both sides, arbitrate the dispute.

* * *

WILLIAM A. MILLER Jr., publicity director at Hopkins told the AFRO: "There is no final word at this point but the matter is in the hands of the hospital officers and the board of trustees and you may say there will be an answer shortly."

Meantime, a union spokesman disclosed that a mass meeting of the hospital employees has been called for Monday, Sept. 28.

Scheduled to take place at the Seaman's International Union Hall, 1216 E. Baltimore St. the meeting will be held in two parts. One group of employees will assemble at 8 p.m., and another at 11:45 p.m., the spokesman stated.

* * *

THE HOPKINS-AFL-CIO dispute came to public attention last week when Oliver W. Singleton, AFL-CIO Region 4 director, disclosed that Hopkins employees in dietary, housekeeping, maintenance, nurses aide service, service, laundry and labor departments had asked for union representation.

In a letter to Dr. Russell Nelson, the Hopkins Hospital director, Mr. Singleton stated that a majority of the 1,100 employees had chosen the Building Service Employees International Union, Hospital Employees Local No. 401, as their collective bargaining representative.

In his reply, Dr. Nelson advised:

"We do not believe that a majority of the employees specified in your letter have no desire to join the Union or desire to join the above mentioned union."

And the hospital trustees issued a policy statement which also denied employees desire union representation.

The statement added: "We are determined to oppose vigorously any effort by this union or any other union to impose restrictions and uncertainties of collective bargaining upon the hospital and its employees."

Elderly man acquitted in 'pool cue' death

"My father was so long getting a girl that he named me Bess after his sister."

That was the smiling comment of an elderly gray haired man just before he was acquitted of a murder charge Tuesday.

In Central Homicide Court, 60-year-old Bess Willerson of the 400 block Calvin St., was charged with assault by striking a fellow tenant, Frank Myers with a pool cue.

Mr. Wilkerson was permitted to go free when an autopsy report disclosed that Mayes died from a heart attack following a violent argument last July 17.

* * *

BEFORE Chief Magistrate Joseph Kolodny the state contended that through "hearsay statements," it was at first believed that Mayes had been struck with a pool cue or a walking stick.

Later it was learned that the deceased had been under treatment for a bad heart.

The only testimony in the case was given by James Ray, a tenant in the home where Wilkerson and Mayes resided. Mr. Ray testified:

"I was about to read my Bible when Frank came into the house and carried his radio down stairs. He connected a cord from the second floor hall way to the front to listen to the ball game.

"I heard Mr. Wilkerson come in and Frank say, 'Man, can't you see that cord's Mr. Wilkerson told him no because it was dark and Frank answered, 'You will see it.'

"Bess told him, 'Frank, other people live here' and then Frank runs upstairs I go in to see if anyone was getting a knife.

"I heard a bottle break and then Frank yelled out the window and dared Wilkerson to come up stairs.

"He (Wilkerson) said, 'I've got to Frank. I live here.'

Within five minutes Bess started up the stairs and the next thing I knew Frank started.

"When I saw Frank he had a walking cane and one slick. Bess didn't have anything. He hit at Wilkerson with the cane and got a 7-Up bottle and started whirling around.

"Before I could get back in to the house I met Frank in the door with a bottle. He was bleeding near the eye.

"I told him" Frank, you brought this on yourself." He sat down to get his slippers and fell right on over. I saw Bess with nothing."

Lottery car unclaimed; 3 'owners' charged

It is a nice little car—a 1952 sedan—but three people, who said they had the auto in their possession at one time or another, refused to claim ownership in Northeastern Police Court Tuesday.

Police said the car was found with lottery slips and other numbers paraphernalia in it.

Magistrate Jerome A. Dashner sat through an hour and 15 minutes of testimony and arguments on the point of ownership, and then ordered the three persons held for grand jury action under $2,500 bail each.

The trio, charged with operating lottery from the car, are:

Mrs. Mary Allisen Corley, 31, 1700 block Appleton St.; Raymond Thomas Torain, 39, 1000 block Springfield Ave., and Joseph Henry Morton, 36, 1700 block Rutland Ave.

Sgt. Michael McKew told Magistrate Dashner he received a complaint about the auto at 11:20 a.m. September 17 and found it parked and unoccupied in the 700 block Willow Ave.

Sgt. McKew said lottery slips and paraphernalia were practically everywhere in the auto, including eight lottery tapes representing as many pick-up stations.

* * *

SHORTLY AFTER returning to the station, Sgt. McKew testified Mr. Torain called him to inquire about the car, but said he had sold it to Mr. Morton, when he was brought to the station to look at the machine.

He said he had bought the car two years ago from Mrs. Curley in whose name the car was still registered and titled.

Mr. Morton agreed that he had purchased the auto from Mr. Torain, according to testimony, but contended he had not seen it since September 13, when he had parked it on Durham St. and gone to North Carolina.

Magistrate Dashner was told the license plates on the alleged lottery car belonged on another machine owned by Mr. Morton.

Alan H. Murrell, attorney, pointed out that the only reason Mr. Torain inquired about the auto was because a policeman had stopped at his house the night before the car was seized by police and left word for him to move it.

Mr. Torain's name and address were on an old service tag in the car.

"It's a contention of guilt by association with an auto," Mr. Murrell complained, "It's a wonder they didn't bring in the people who made the car.

Woman, 31, held in death of friend

Mrs. Dorothy Mabel Porter, 31, 600 block W. Fayette St., was held without bail for action of the grand jury Tuesday on a murder charge.

Before Chief Magistrate Joseph Kolodny in Central Homicide Court, Mrs. Porter entered a not guilty plea in connection with the fatal stabbing of a long time "friend," Bracie LaBorde, 39, last June 17.

Patrolman Robert Austin of the Southwestern District testified that when he arrived at the defendant's home, he found Mr. LaBorde leaning against a radiator bleeding from a stab wound of the left chest.

The officer added three persons, including Mrs. Porter's 13 year old brother reported that they heard a disturbance in her apartment.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles E. Moylan Jr. introduced a statement which he testified Mrs. Porter had signed.

In summing up the statement Mr. Moylan quoted Mrs. Porter as saying that LaBorde entered her apartment and started cursing her.

J. THOMAS ALLEN

Successful Organizer — Successful Businessman

★ 20 years on the waterfront of Baltimore as a "gang" carrier and organizer.
★ Member of Local No. 858 — International Longshoreman's Association.
★ During his two decades on Baltimore's Waterfront, Mr. Allen has organized 5 "gangs" — three of which are still operating in the jobs as created by Mr. Allen. "Sol" Lee, Quinzy Adams, John Jackson are, at present, leaders of "gangs" originally started by "Captain" Allen, as he is known by fellow longshoremen.
★ Instrumental in having Negro "gangs" assigned to jobs heretofore reserved for groups of other races.
★ Well known fraternal man — member of Masons — member of past exalted rulers council of Elks.

Mr. Allen is a native of North Carolina and is a graduate of the State Normal Institute at Elizabeth City, N.C. For many years he was chief engineer of a mail and passenger boat sailing between Edenton, N.C. and Anoka, N.C. After coming to Baltimore he worked as a rigger at Sparrows Point before becoming a longshoreman. Mr. Allen is married and has one child, an present serving in the armed forces.

"Phone us if you need us"
A girl's best friend is often her telephone—whether she's twenty-five or five.
When you're twenty-five, the mother of a five-year-old, and going out for the evening—it means a lot to know that your favorite baby sitter can call you by phone should anything unusual occur to worry her.
That silent phone says, as clearly as words, that all's well at home.
Sometimes the calls that aren't made (because they aren't needed) add as much to living as those we like to make. Perhaps that's what makes a phone worth so much more than it costs.

Islam Holy Temple nears completion

The Muhammad Holy Temple of Islam No. 6 now under construction at 314 Wilson St., is nearing completion.

Members of the congregation expect to move into the $50,000 edifice on Oct. 18.

Under the guidance of the spiritual head, Messenger Elijah Muhammad of Chicago, and the local leader, Minister Isaiah Karriem, the Baltimore congregation boasts it has 10,000 members, many of them business and home owners.

* * *

THE ISLAM Temple had its beginnings in 1947 when a small group from the Washington Temple No. 4 came to Baltimore and, meeting in Harlem Square, gathered five converts.

After a later meeting in one of the member's homes here, more converts joined and the group rented a small room in the 400 block of Ensor St. and established the Temple.

From the Ensor St. location the fast-growing congregation moved to the 1600 block of Ashland Ave. and when the membership overflowed then moved to the 700 block of W. Lexington St.

LATER, AN even larger meeting place was selected on Madison St. in East Baltimore. When the group outgrew this site, they moved to the 1000 block Pennsylvania Ave. where the Temple remained for 10 years.

The University Of Islam, dedicated to the teachings of the spiritual leader, Elijah Muhammad, is also located at the Pennsylvania Ave. address.

Here, leaders say, more than 5,000 young people are instructed in observing the Golden Rule, are educated and taught the history of their race and religion.

* * *

THE NEW Wilson St. edifice will also house the University as well as the church quarters. The large auditorium is planned to seat more than 5,000 persons.

The public is invited to visit the Wilson St. Temple to watch the building grow.

Minister Karriem says: "This building marks a mile post in our great stride for freedom, justice and universal brotherhood. It will be a place where you may bring friends and relatives and it is open to all, spectable men and women in all walks of life regardless of race or religious teachings."

REV. WALTER E. PAIGE

Rev. Paige to receive degree Sun.

The Rev. Walter E. Paige, pastor of Faith Baptist Church, Ashland Ave. and Bond St., will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity on Sunday.

The degree will be conferred at the 8 p.m. services by Dr. M. C. Allen, president of the Virginia Theological Seminary and College, Lynchburg, Va.

Scheduled to take part in the ceremonies are a number of the city's Baptist ministers.

* * *

THE CHURCH, with a membership of 2,000 persons, has made phenominal progress since the Rev. Mr. Paige was called as pastor in 1954.

He succeeded the Rev. Simon Williamson who died in 1953 after pastoring the church 40 years from 1913 to 1953.

A graduate of Douglass High School, the Rev. Mr. Paige took theological training at the Baltimore Jones Williams Theological Seminary and studied at Morgan State College.

During his pastorate the church has added a $27,000 air conditioning unit and had renovated the church edifice to increase it to the present value of more than $150,000.

In August of this year, the congregation purchased five houses adjacent to the church for cash and plans have begun for the $200,000 community center to be constructed in 1960.

* * *

ANNUALLY THE membership contributes to the Red Cross, the Community Chest Fund, the AFRO Clean Block Campaign, the Heart Fund and city-wide health and charity organizations and hospitals.

The annual Vacation Bible School enrolls more than 1,000 children.

Faith Baptist has also made annual contributions to national Baptist organizations with funds going to the Lott Carey Convention, the Lynchburg Seminary and College, Virginia Union University, the Missionary Society, Baptist Home for the Aged and other causes.

The Rev. Mr. Paige and his wife, Mrs. Irene Paige, reside at the 1521 Payson St. parsonage.

They were married in 1941 and celebrated their 18th wedding anniversary this year. They have no children.
