Dodgers confident they can win title

By SAM LACY
AFRO Sports Editor

CHICAGO — This was the morning before the opening of the World Series.

In four different rooms of the Conrad Hilton Hotel — as everywhere else that players of the Los Angeles Dodgers were lodged — there was an air of satisfaction with what had passed and confidence in what was to come.

In No. 666 Junior Gilliam and wife, Edwina, were casually eating a breakfast of fruit juice, broiled chops, bacon, potatoes — toast and coffee for the Missus, milk for the Mister.

In Room 857, Maury and Mrs. (Gertrude) Wills were occupied with a movie camera which needed loading for the heavy schedule of picture-taking the young wife planned for the series.

Up in 1302-A, Mrs. Annie Neal was unpacking luggage—her own as well as that of hubby Charlie.

DIRECTLY overhead, two floors up in 1502-A, John Roseboro was yelling "okay, okay" from a busy shower as spouse Jerri prodded him to hurry along so that they might eat.

Three of the four wives—Mesdames Gilliam, Neal and Roseboro — had made the trip from Los Angeles on a Jet provided by the Dodgers management and called "The Little Women's Charter."

Mrs. Wills, who does not live in LA, flew in from their home in Spokane, Wash., at the club's expense.

"I THINK now, as I did last Spring before the National League race began," said Gilliam, "I think we've got as good a chance as the White Sox. We're both starting even."

"Gee," ejaculated Wills, "I nardly know what to say. I guess later on I'll be shaking like a leaf. Right now, I don't feel anything. I'm sure it's because it hasn't dawned on me yet what all this means.

"I think we'll win, though. I think that always we regard less of whom we're playing."

NEAL LAID aside the whodunnit he was reading and answered like this:

"Everybody say the White Sox are so fast, giving the impression they'll beat us with their speed.

"Well, I look at it his way: The Series (ain't) a track meet. And even if it were, I'm not so sure we couldn't hold up. We have a few horses on our side, like Gilliam and Wills and Wally Moon, and where are you gonna find a catcher whose quicker than Rosey (John Roseboro)?"

As for Roseboro he also is content with the LA chances.

"I think we can take 'em. I don't know in how many games, but we'll get to four first."

The series, as the reader no doubt is aware, is a best-four-out-of-seven playoff.

Mantilla play due to bring on hot issue

LOS ANGELES — The last play of the Dodgers- Braves playoff game probably will be kicked around all winter by baseball fans.

Carl Furillo, Los Angeles outfielder, smacked a hard-hit Bob Rush pitch through the box which pulled Felix Mantilla across second base. The Milwaukee shortstop made a fine stop, but had to make a hurried throw while off-balance.

AS A RESULT, the throw away from Frank Torre —enabling Gil Hodges to score the winning run from second.

The throw to first was the only play Mantilla had, said Milwaukee manager Fred Haney. Haney explained that if Mantilla had held the ball, recovered his balance and thrown to the plate, he could not have cut off Hodges anyway.

IT WAS "Oh, Happy Day" for the Dodgers and Los Angeles fans as the Bums found an uphill battle to clinch the National League pennant 6-5 in 12 innings.

Mantilla, filling in for injured Johnny Logan, was almost in tears while the conquerors celebrated in preparation to sharing the spoil-could not see the bodgers as a threat, even in their own league, as late as mid-August. So it has to be quite a turn around to be taking them in the league as late as mid-August. World Series against the Al Champion.

But the tremendous finish staged by Walt Alston and his crew was the convincer.

Los Angeles won eight of her last 10 games, beating the clubs they had to beat and coming off the floor in the ninth inning of a dramatic battle to pick up the three runs they sorely needed, then going on to complete the triumph.

IN THAT stretch drive, they downed the Milwaukee Braves three times and the San Francisco Giants twice. Not once did they lose to their principal rival of the moment.

The last time an American League team ran into such a foe was in 1934. The then New York Giants crushed the Cleveland Indians — with all their six victories — in four straight games.

Yes, White Sox have great speed. Speed, while it is an asset over a stretch, means much less in a short series. Moreover, it can be very much overrated.

The fleetness of the Sox is reflected in the club's record of stolen bases. Chicago's total is 113 Pilfers for the year, when it is observed, however that one man — Luis Aparicio — stole 56 of those bases, it removes some of the sheen from the mark.

THE DODGERS Show 84 steals, 29 less than White Sox. The over- all balance in this department, however, is in the Dodgers' favor.

Five of their men, including the catcher, are credited with seven or more. Three — Junior Gilliam, Charlie Neal and Wally moon—have in excess of 15 apiece.

Another thing to be taken into account is the fact that the Lads don't have the Ted Kluszewskis and Sherman Lollars and Billy Goodmans to flutter up the basepaths as do the Sox.

The NL pitching is deeper and its hitting embodies more power.

If the Al lineup boasts more experience, then the NL representative looks a menacing group that figures to steadily the greener boys.

Old pros like Gilliam, Carl Furillo, Duke Snider and Gil Hodges know the feeling of living in a pressure cooker.

Dodger shortstop once was outstanding pitcher

CHICAGO — "Gee, that' a tough question — Harry Wills had been asked whether he preferred playing shortstop to pitching. And the young man whom fans in Baltimore and Washington best remember as Sonny Wills of Cardozo High School, let his eyes wander towards the Comiskey Park outfield.

"Pitching is still my first love," he said after a brief pause. "But I like to play every day.

"I guess that's what got me here — the urge to be in the ball game playing, rather than on the sideline waiting three or four days for a turn to pitch."

THE ROOKIE shortstop of the Los Angeles, Dodgers then went on to explain why he felt the position in which he was outstanding in high school and semi - pro ball around Washington, D.C.

"I went to a tryout camp held by the Giants at Havre De Grace (Md.) in 1950," the recalled. "Later I tried out at a camp set up by the Dodgers.

"Between them, they had me pitch eight innings and I struck out everybody I faced.

"Naturally I couldn't understand why nobody became interested.

"Sometime after that, I had word from the Dodgers telling me they hadn't seen enough and if I wanted to report to Vero Beach (Fla.) at my own expense, they'd see that I got back home.

"WHEN I showed at Vero," Wills continued, "I discovered they had about 200 pitchers and about 50 or 60 shortstops.

"Nobody was on second base, so I just grabbed my glove and went out and stood on second.

"Fresco Thompson (Dodgers farm director) said, 'I thought you were a pitcher?'

"Who me? You must be mistaken. I'm a second baseman.'

"Well, I made it to Hornell (N.Y.) in the Pony League; then to Pueblo (Western) then Fort Worth, Seattle and Spokane.

"It's been a long haul, but here I am.

"Pitchings my preference as I said earlier — but it would have been awful hard making all those stops, just playing every fourth, fifth or sixth day.

"By now, I'd not only be rusty — I wouldn't be in the World Series I'm among!" — SAM LACY

'I know you,' says the fan in ticket line

CHICAGO — If a section chief in the Interior Department in Washington, D.C., has a clerk off the job on "emergency annual" leave, he (the clerk) may be the fellow interviewed by the AFRO outside Comiskey Park Washington evening.

He is light brownskinned, with a touch of gray to brown hair, weighs about 160 pounds and stands about 5.11, while appearing to be in the neighborhood of 40 or 42 years.

"I know you, I've seen that pan in the papers" he greeted the AFRO reporter." But you don't know me and you don't need to. I'm not for letting Interior know where I am.

The unidentified gent was well-placed in a line that stretched around the block from the Comiskey Park bleachers window.

LOUIS KLEPPEL, of NYC, and Cornelius Blackman, also 59, of Chicago were second and sixth in the line.

Kleppel said this standing around bleacher entrances was "old hat" with him.

"I used to be a Giant fan when they were at the Polo Grounds," he said. "I knew Willie Mays, Whitney Lockman and Monte Irvin personally," he added.

"I WAITED at Ebbets Field, Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds. I love it so I'll be there again."

Blackman, a retired mail man, declared:

Tiger upsets Joey Giardello

CHICAGO — Dick Tiger of Nigeria, British Empire middleweight titlist now campaigning the United States, decisioned favored Joey Giardello in a nationally televised bout Wednesday night.

It was Tiger's third win since coming to America. He was decisioned by Rory Calhoun, however in his last outing.

Giardello, who suffered his 14th defeat in 101 fights, was in command of the bout for the first five rounds. Tiger, however, came on fast in the last half of the contest to take a unanimous decision.

Voting under the five point scoring system, referee Walter Brightmor called it 48-45, Judge James McManus, 47-43, and Judge John Schreiner, 47-45.

Walker Dragons meet Huntington

Maggie Walker's Green Dragons will try to break in to the win column, Oct. 9 when they tangle with Huntington High eleven of New Port News.

Walker opened the season last Friday by holding Phenix High of Hampton, to a 6-6 tie.

Jackie lauds Don for rights stand

CINCINNATI —Jackie Robinson praised Don Newcombe here this week for the forthright manner in which he is supporting the fight for civil rights.

Mr. Robinson, a member of the NAACP's national board of directors, addressed the Freedom Fund Dinner of the local branch at the Gibson Hotel.

"The NAACP needs the moral support of all Americans from every walk of life. In the fall campaign, which is currently in progress, I am appealing for support of this great organization everywhere I go," Mrs. Robinson said.

He then praised former Brooklyn Dodger teammate Don Newcombe for voluntarily coming to the NAACP and asking what he could do in the fight for freedom.

Don Newcombe deserves a lot of credit for the courageous forthright manner in which he is supporting the fight for civil rights by joining and working with the NAACP," Mr. Robinson concluded.

Dr. Paul Fletcher is president of the Cincinnati branch.

NEIGHBORS REMEMBER to get your report into the campaign office of the NAACP. The next scheduled meeting night is Friday, Oct. 2 at Sharp Street Methodist Church in the lecture room.

It will be good to see many of our Eastsiders become members and help this worthy cause.

The NAACP office is located at 1234 Druid Hill Avenue and is open daily except Sundays.

The officers and members of the Hannah B. Moore Wesleyan Service Guild of Christ Methodist Church, met the past week to begin plans for their fall and winter program.

The aim of the Guild is to meet the need and interest of employed women in the church and help her to make a specific contribution as a christian citizen in the church, community and in a business field in which she works.

Programs are planned for each month. For the month of September it was "The Role of the United Nations in World Affairs."

The Guild meets the third Sunday in every month and is an organization in all Methodist Churches.

Officers of the Wesleyan Guild of Christ Methodist Church are Mabell Carver, president; Mrs. Evelyn Keene, vice president; Mrs. Yvonne Payne, secretary; Mrs. Louise Green, treasurer; Mrs. Georgine Rollins, chrisian social relations; Mrs. Gladys Baird, local church activities; Mrs. Josephine Maxwell, status of women; Mrs. Henrietta Holloman, in charge of music; Mrs. Cora White, secretary of promotions; Mrs. Frances Chatman, spiritual life secretary; Mrs. Nora Bennell, coordinator.

Membership is always open for new members.

Others attending the recent session were: Mesdames Mercia Carter, Geraldine Wardell, Martha Brown, Blanche Davis, Louise Green.

The Rev. Edgar A. Hall is pastor of Christ Church which is located at Washington and Chase Sts.

MANY EASTSIDERS are mourning the recent death of two well known civic workers.

Namely, Mrs. Martina Carey and Mrs. Georgie Lyle.

Mrs. Carey was a faithful member of St. Paul Baptist Church and a member of an old Eastside family. She will always be remembered for the good work she did for her church and her family. She is survived by her husband and five children and many relatives and friends.

Mrs. Carey was a faithful member of St. Paul Baptist Church and a member of an old Eastside family. She will always be remembered for the good work she did for her church and her family. She is survived by her husband and five children and many relatives and friends.

Mrs. Lyle was a good neighbor of my family for many years and a devoted wife, mother and Christian.

Her four children all attended Dunbar and two are in the city school system.

Our heartfelt prayers to both families.

STARTING OFF their season with a bang are those swelegant Elegant Ladies Saving and Social Club. The gals met with chic Ida Petty at her beautiful home, 306 E. Lafayette Ave.

The Elegant Ladies are well known for their very excellent job they do every year helping the poor and needy. We can expect great deeds again this year.

In attendance were: Marie Smallwood, Viola Jones, Ella Daniels, Elsie Knight, and Sarah Scott.

Speaking of chic Ida Petty, has been dashing to both Virginia and New York City while on her vacation from her job at the Chick Webb recreation center. Have fun pal.

Those popular club matrons, the Commuters met at the pretty domicile of Mrs. Maggie Hayes of 327 E. 23rd St. last week.

Don't know what the ladies are up to, but, you can bet it will be good.

The members of this lively group have been together for many years and really work grand together.

During the holidays they have much fun and see that others do the same.

Led by fashionable Mrs. Ada Spencer those present were Mesdames Eliza Mae Oglesby, Rebecca Gregory, Betty Arvin, Katie Henderson, and Maggie Logan.

OUR GOOD Neighbor of the week is Mrs. Margaret B. DeShazo who resides at 1646 Ruxton Ave.

Mrs. DeShazo is the lovely wife of Alexander DeShazo, an employee of Bethlehem Steel.

She is a native of Durham, N.C. and is a graduate of the Hillside Park High School and North Carolina College, both located in Durham.

Mrs. DeShazo is an active member of the Faith Baptist Church.

She is a member of the Senior Choir No. 1, also the sick committee.

She likes working in church, reading her Bible and working with children.

She is also the stepmother of Greta and Simon DeShazo, who are the youngest grandchildren of the late Rev. Simon Williamson, the former pastor of Faith Baptist Church.

Our good neighbor's hobby is cooking and she does it very well. Her favorite dishes are Crab Imperial and corn pudding.

REMEMBER TO cheer our sick and shut-ins.

Seek win in opener after loss

WASHINGTON

Still smarting from an 36-0 opening - day defeat at Virginia State last Saturday, Howard University will try to bounce back tomorrow (Saturday) amid the sympathetic atmosphere of its first home game.

The Bisons entertain Virginia Union at 2 p.m. at the stadium. The visitors, with two CIAA victories to date, are rated slight favorites.

COACH BOB WHITE has indicated five starters changes for this one.

Halfback Ted Hillman, who saw some action last week, will take over for Johnny Ware, whose fumble at State, one of four by the Bisons, led to one of the touchdowns against Howard.

Sophomore Dave Means and Freshman Jim Shelton will take the field in place of Sid Banks and Reggie Taylor. Frank Austin got the nod at end, replacing injured Bob Reed, and Elsworth Wiggins will see action at guard in place of Ed Peeples.

Saturday's melee will also mark the 32nd meeting between Howard and Union in a rivalry which began in 1900.

Howard leads in the series with 17 wins against 14 ties. But the Bisons have not fared too well against the Virginians in recent years, dropping five games in a row before the series was interrupted last year. In their 1957 meeting Union blanked the Bisons, 26-0.

UNION, WITH an 8-0 win over Elizabeth City (N.C.) Teachers and a 14-14 tie with Shaw University of Raleigh thus far, figures to be a 7-point favorite.

and she loves baking cakes.

She is a baseball fan and naturally her favorite team is the Orioles.

She is also a football fan and her favorite teams are the Colts and the North Carolina Eagles of N.C. College at Durham.

Mrs. DeShazo has one daughter, Mrs. Edna W. Rainey, and two very handsome grandsons, Leland F. Rainey Jr. and Michael A. Rainey.
