THE LADIES' STORE,

CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND.

UNDER THE STARS AND STRIPES

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hall Denny received an interesting letter from their son, Mr. William Denny, this week. He is in France and well.

Mr. Herbert Usilton, of Richmond, Va., is home on a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Usilton.

A recent letter from Mr. Chas. Lee Gill says that he had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Irving Sparks recently in France.

Here is an interesting letter from Lieutenant Robert Ayres, who is now at Camp Greene, N. C. Lieut. Ayres will come back to Chestertown when his time of service is over. His letter, in part, follows:

Last Monday we left camp in heavy marching order and hiked it out to the rifle range and fired until Thursday afternoon, then hiked back to camp again. The distance each way was twelve miles, a short army distance, as you know, but some of these black boys were a little weary, but none of them fell out. Our hours were a little long as we arose at 5 a. m. and did not leave the range until 5.30 p. m. each day. I thought our trip to the range was a little early in the game for these boys, but I was surprised how well they shot, but I account for that by the quantity of game that is in North Carolina.

Just as soon as possible I am going to try to wend my way back to the people I love in Kent County; just how long it will be before I get there I do not know. It is needless for me to say that if I do not get across, I shall always feel as if I were a "Home Guard" in this conflict.

We are having lovely fall weather these days and I am thoroughly enjoying it. Our drill field is situated alongside of a field where "the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder is in the shock." On another side is a woods which displays its almost autumnal glow. Each morning there comes trooping up to my mind memories that are sweeter than song and will be an oasis, fresh and green, as long as life lasts and a picture before me grander than any artist can paint.

On November 11 there was an echo of the beagle of Kent county and I know that the fleet-footed rabbit was leading the chase. Somewhere in the "state of the long leaf pine, famous for its cotton and its corn" (N. C.) will be an "old soldier", trusting that his next war will be upon the game of Kent County and not the "influenza" of Camp Greene, N. C.

The following letter is from Mr. Earle Duyer to his mother, Mrs. Jesse Duyer, of Chestertown. Mr. Duyer is in France. The letter follows:

Am sure seeing a lot of France and although it is mostly afoot, find much that is interesting. The people here are an awfully hard-working class and save everything, and, believe me, we Americans can easily learn a lesson in frugality if we would but observe them closely.

I do not receive any papers here. If you will cut out some interesting news from the Kent papers and mail same in your next letter I can get some news that way.

I am writing this in a quaint old French house and the lady, who is about your age, is getting supper. They are having some potatoes, French fried, and a sort of substitute for coffee. There is no sugar and they live mostly on vegetables, with very little meat. They have lots of trouble getting bread and you should see them hoarding it up. I must bring this to a close now, as we cannot stay away from quarters long at night and must be getting over.

Public School Notes

The schools of Kent county opened Monday.

Every school boy and girl, over 11 years of age, within the next five weeks, is asked to earn $5 for the United War Work fund which is to provide cheer and comfort for our boys in France.

Miss Catherine Donahoe has been made principal at Golts in place of Miss Ahern.

Miss Mamie Donahoe has been appointed teacher at Massey in place of Miss Mary Wilkins, resigned.

Schools No. 10, Mill Branch and First District, having been closed on account of low attendance, made it possible to fill the vacancies.

Short Course For Kent Tractor Owners

There will be a three-day course in farm tractors given in Chestertown in the third week in January. There are twenty-five owners of tractors in Kent and there are about 100 more farmers interested in tractors. County Agent I. L. Burrell can furnish you with the particulars.

Checking up on the tractor at the end of the season is good business. It gives the owner a chance to find out many things that a loosely kept record would never disclose.

But the Agricultural Society is going to make it better business than usual this year by offering prizes of $25, $20 and $15 respectively for the three best reports or essays on tractor experiences and use during the year.

Only those owning tractors prior to August 1 will be eligible for this contest. They must have used their tractors primarily for farm work. Reports or essays must be turned in not later than November 30 to the Extension Service, College Park.

Saving of man and horse power, information regarding the cost and importance of tractor on the farm will be principal points on which the reports will be judged.
