Mother's Day Tributes

McLAREN — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our mother, ELIZABETH R. who passed away January 5, 1930:

Today is Mother's Day, dear mother.
A present we always did give
But God has taken you far away
In a much better place to live
You were such a wonderful mother.
So kind, unselfish and true;
Our proudest possession, dear mother.
Was no one — other than you
Daughter and Son-in-Law
DOROTHY and BERNARD SMITH

MIMS — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our dear mother, EMMA MIMS, who passed away August 22, 1926
What is home without a mother?
All things the world may send,
But when we lost our darling mother
We lost our dearest friend
Your Three Daughters:
REBECCA McDOWELL KATH-RYN VERA

MURPHY — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our loved one, CATHERINE S. MURPHY, who passed away February 8, 1935:

On Mother's Day, the world become
The prettiest kind of place.
And thoughts of you enrich each hour
To give it added grace.
The flowers we place upon your grave
The sighs against the blue,
Seem trivial compared that they were because
Because we are forever thinking of you.
THE FAMILY.

OLIVER — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our mother, ELEANOR, who passed away December 7, 1965
The white carnation that I wear
Is just a token of my respect,
I love for you dear mother,
And I never will forget.
For you were mine and I remember
The trials you pulled me thru,
The white carnation that I wear
Dear Mother is my tribute to you.
SON and DAUGHTER

PAGE — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our dear one, CARRIE PAGE, who passed away June 30, 1958:

We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind.
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
If all this world were ours to give,
We'd give it, yes, and more,
To see the face of our loved one
On this Mother's Day more.
Loving — DAUGHTERS AND SON
— GRANDCHILDREN, GREAT-GRANDCHILDREN, GREAT-GREAT GRANDCHILDREN

PITTS — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our dear mother, ELSIE A., who passed away May 4, 1947.
Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of tears;
Oh, how we miss you, Mother, dear
None but God in heaven can see
Some, say time heals an aching heart
But no, it isn't true
For twenty-three long years have passed, dear
And our hearts still ache for you.
Loving Children:
HELEN, ELSIE, SADIE and HARRY

POWELL — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our dear mother, RATHY, who passed away May 31, 1937.
Today is Mother's Day, dear mother.
A present we always did give
But God has taken you far away
In a much better place to live
You were such a wonderful mother.
So kind, unselfish and true;
Our proudest possession, dear mother.
Was no one — other than you.
From Loving Daughter:
CLARA
And Son — ARTHUR
And Grandchildren — CHRISTINE, JOANNE, and BETTIE

HUGHES — Happy Mother's Day in loving memory of Mrs. ELIZABETH HUGHES, who passed away April 13, 1958.
A MOTHER'S DAY PRAYER
Our Father in Heaven whose love is divine,
Thanks for the love of a Mother of mine.
And in my great mercy look down from above
And grant this dear Mother the joy of your love — MRS. CARRIE GREEN.
And, Father in Heaven, Show me the way
To lighten her tasks, and brighten her day.
And bless her dear heart with the insight to see—
See—that here love means more than the world to ME.
Loving Mother — Mrs. LOUISE HUGHES
— and Three Children — MICHAEL HUGHES, LARRY HUGHES and YVONNE HUGHES

PERRY — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of my mother, SADIE BLEDSOE PERRY, who passed away February 14, 1963.
Dear Mother, on this Mother's Day
What words can we impart
That would tell the true devotion
We have within our hearts.
No words can tell love's message
But this we know is true;
There's no one like a mother,
No mother quite like you.
DAUGHTER and FAMILY

PRESTON — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our loved mother and grandmother, MARY PRESTON, who passed away May 10, 1947.
On this Mother's Day, Mom, dear
Remembrance sheds another tear
We see your smiling face again,
Our heart's great yearn finds no relief
Yet hope is not beyond belief.
That we will clasp each other's hand
Somewhere, sometime — we'll understand.
Daughters: GENEVIEVE FIELDS, ROBERTA CURRY and GRANDCHILDREN

REED — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our dear mother, LILLA M. REED, who passed away January 18, 1930.
Today is Mother's Day, dear mother.

REED — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of my dear mother, ESSENE REED, who passed away November 8, 1967:
Mother's Day brings back memories
Of wonderful times we knew,
A Family Day together
For then dear, I had you.
And all these recollections
Of the happy days long gone,
Brings sadness and a heartache
As Mother's Day morning dawns.
LOVING DAUGHTER

RICHARDSON — A Mother's Day Tribute to the memory of our mother DAISY RICHARDSON, who departed this life December 9, 1961:
Dear Mother, on this Mother's Day
What words can we impart

BON SECOURS COMPLAINT

Electrician claims he lost job because he wouldn't join union

Clarence E. Smith, the only black electrician at Bon Secour Hospital, filed a formal complaint with the Community Relations Commission last week charging the hospital and Hospital Local 1273 with unlawful discriminatory practices relating to race and employment.

Mr. Smith says he was fired April 29 because he refused to join Hospital Local 1273 in open defiance of the "grandfather" clause.

Article 111. A, which is a so-called "grandfather" clause, states that all hospital employees with less than ten years service must join the union or be discharged from their duties at the hospital.

He charges Hospital Local 1273 advised Bon Secours Hospital that Mr. Smith refused to become a member of the union as required by the collective bargaining agreement existing between the hospital and the union.

Local 1273 reported that he was $12.50 in arrears for February, March and April, 1970.

Mr. Smith said, "I insist that under this contract I am being discriminated against because of race."

A 48-year-old retired seaman, Mr. Smith had been employed by Bon Secour for about a year.

"Ten years ago, Bon Secours was fully segregated and only white people are exempted from joining the Union," said Mr. Smith. "I was the only black craftsman at Bon Secours.

"There are three electricians, three painters, three carpenters, three plumbers and a dozen mechanics and I was the only black in the maintenance department."

Furthermore, Mr. Smith stated that on January 9, 1970, the hospital signed a contract with the Laborers' Union under questionable circumstances.

"There was no collective bargaining election and the employees were not consulted about the contract," said Mr. Smith. "I believe that this contract was signed to avoid recognizing Local 1199E, the Union that has organized other hospitals in Baltimore and which is predominantly black.

"The President of the Union, the Secretary Treasurer, the Recording Secretary and the Chief Shop Steward are white members of the Maintenance Department.

"They were appointed under this dubious contract, rather than being elected."

On April 16, Mr. Smith said that he received a notice telling him that he was on leave without pay until further notice.

He asserted that the notice said that this was "...to avoid possible confrontation between himself (me) and union members..."

Contrary to the notice, Mr. Smith stated that he had gotten along well with his white colleagues and had no disciplinary difficulties.

AFRO attempts to contact the hospital administrators proved futile. Sister Theophane, head of Bon Secour, had the matter transferred to the hospital's attorney and board member, Edward O. Clark.

However, Mr. Clark, in Rockville, Md., on the day, was unavailable for comment.

Jurist says 'poor, black' homes don't excuse female attacks

On Wednesday, Judge Solomon Liss told a public school teacher that because a pupil of his may have come from "poor and black" environments, the circumstances can not excuse his criminal conduct.

The jurist stated, "I came from poor white and a poor black neighborhood but that could never be excuse for me, whatever my conduct.

"It's easy to say poor, black neighborhoods. But I do not believe it reason to grab a lady and ravish and assault her.

"If a woman can not walk on the street without being pulled onto a vacant lot and abused in this town, then we ought to blow it up."

The talk Judge Liss gave with obvious deep feeling was concerning the case of Aldino Divers, 19, 1800 block Barclay St.

Divers, an 11th grader at Edmondson High School, was accused of criminally assaulting a young woman along with an accomplice last July 14.

Records before the court show the girl was sexually abused on a vacant lot, later in the 1100 block Homewood Ave. and again in a vacant house in the 700 block Mura St., all the same night.

Police apprehended Divers an the other young man hiding in the house.

They were attracted to the scene by the young woman's screams and entering the house discovered her coming down the steps nude.

Her clothing was found in the second floor room where the attack was made.

Medical records showed she suffered bruises, scratches and other injuries.

Divers, who said he and the boy with him had shared a fifth of whiskey and a pint of wine, admitted he slapped the girl.

Records show he was found in a closet with no shorts or shoes on.

Divers said he enrolled at Edmondson High, "miles away from his house" as Judge Liss said, because he wanted to "meet new people." He testified he started drinking when he was 16.

The Edmondson High teacher, Sanders Askew, testifying for Divers, said he had never been in any misconduct as far as he knew.

However, he did state that he had observed Divers under the influence of alcohol "once or twice."

In response to Judge Liss' question, "How do you let kids stay in school like that?" the teacher said it was a question of whether to let the boy stay quietly in his seat or go into the street "under the conditions."

Judge Liss response was, "It's certainly a new day from when I was a boy."

The discussion of environment came after the teacher said he nevertheless felt that Divers "is worth saving" and credited his conduct to coming from "poor, black" enviornment.

Clarifying, Mr. Askew said he did not condone Divers' conduct but felt that his environment did have some effect on his behavior.

In conclusion, Judge Liss stated, this time to Divers, "I must have thorough reports, medical and probation Department, on you in order to decide what to do with you.

"I don't want you to get your hopes high. You have to be sent to prison to be taught you just can't do this sort of thing. So, know that you will receive a prison term."

No date was set for the sentencing. Meantime, Divers has been returned to City Jail.

Finch heads UNCF local campaign

Walter G. Finch, prominent Baltimore patent lawyer, has been named Maryland Campaign Committee Chairman for the 1970 United Negro College Fund.

Mr. Finch is donating his time to help the UNCF achieve its fund-raising goal of $125,000 for 1970. The Fund provides assistance to 36 black, fully accredited, independent colleges and universities.

Higher education is one subject Mr. Finch is well acquainted with, having earned his Bachelor and Master of Engineering Degrees from The Johns Hopkins University; Bachelor of Laws and Master of Business Administration degrees from Temple University as well as his Juris Doctor of Laws degree from Temple; and his Master of Laws degree from George Washington University.

He is married to Mary Roberts Finch, who is a professional artist and writer as well as the "Poet of the Year" for Maryland 1969-70 — resides in Catonsville with their four daughters, Dolly, Bonnie, Robin and Ruth.

Man On Move

Gilbert Dalley, head of the Department of Theatre and Speech at Coppin State College and president of the Greater Baltimore Arts Council, will discuss the May 14-17 Arts Festival on WBAL-TV's "Man on the Move" Sunday, May 10, at 5:30 p.m.

"Man on the Move," an Ecumenia and TV-11-Community Service Department production, will also feature classical guitar music performed by Peabody Conservatory students.

In addition, there will be an explanation of Roman Catholic Liturgical changes by Fr. William Hills, Professor of Sacred Scripture at St. Mary's Seminary.

Junior Oriole numbers swell to over 15,000

The Oriole Advocates have announced that over 15,000 youngsters have joined the Junior Oriole program this season.

John L. Swarm, president of the Avocates and Donald J. Blum, chairman of the Junior Oriole Committee urge all area boys and girls, 18 and younger, who are not yet members, to join as soon as possible.

Membership ranks are still open, even though the season is underway, and youngsters are urged not to miss this opportunity.

By sending $1.75 to Junior Orioles, Box 4075, Baltimore, Maryland 21212, each youngster will receive tickets to see the Orioles play 9 home games, an official decal and bumper sticker, a TV schedule, 10 free games, an official Junior Oriole membership card, a free subscription to "Bird Call" (the official publication for the Juniors), valuable certificates for food, beverages and discounts on sporting goods and the opportunity to enter contests and win prizes at each of the 9 Junior Oriole games.

Proposed Greenspring school faces zoning

An appeal asking the erection of a public school at 3750 Greenspring Ave. is among the cases scheduled the coming Tuesday by the Board of Municipal and Zoning Appeals.

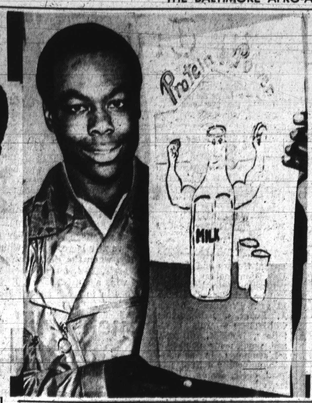
The school is to be a six-story elementary level, under order by the Department of Education.

Also scheduled beginning at 1 p.m. in Room 231 City Hall are these cases at the following locations:

1758 Park Ave. — Use first floor for cleaning pressing shop 1160 Homestead St. — parking and storage of cars and trucks. 3030 and 3032 Walbrook Ave. — Fire escapes; 1501 W. Saratoga St. — first floor grocery and confectionery store, with second floor one roomer and two families.

Board approval was given the past Tuesday, among the appeals heard, to these requests:

851 N. Bentalou St. — retain bakery; 1612 Ashland Ave. — convert building into a two-family dwelling; 3323 W. Belevedere Ave. — to house three families.



RETURNING TO ACTION—The Baltimore Braves, winners of two unlimited titles in Bureau of Recreation play, returned to action Saturday in the Inter-Club League, after playing independently last season. Left to right, first row — Charles Hebron, Henry Arthur, James Parham, Joe Turner, Joe Taylor, Andrew McCarkill; second row — Robert Lomax, Curtis Major, Bill Harnes, Joe Sievers, Jesse Owens and Fred Lomax. The team is coached by Skeeter Watkins, former infielder of Newark Eagles in Negro National League.

Do you have a frog!

The Baltimore City Bureau of Recreation is looking for Frogs, 4 inches in length from the nose to where the tail should be (not counting the rags).

Frog owners should call Miss Virginia S. Baker at MU. 5-5626 for entry blanks for the 4th Annual Mayor's Frog Hop.

Frog and Jockey must be present at the Patterson Park Playground on Saturday, May 9, 1970 at 10:30 a.m. Jumping contests begin at 11:00 a.m. sharp.

The winning frog will represent Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro III at the International Frog Jump in Calaveras County, California, on May 16.

Prizes (supplied by the International Frog Jump) will be given in the years of the frog.

Only Natural.
The beer to call your own.
